

Two days ago, the University Press Club published a small pool of Ivy Club's 2017 bicker cards. The quoted cards highlighted many of the problems inherent to the bicker process.

Today, the rest of Ivy Club's 2017 bicker cards can be found below.

I hope that reading these cards will not tempt anyone to learn how to become a better bickeree, but instead allow us to understand the eeriness of writing about one's peers based on a circumstance not conducive to camaraderie, companionship, or community—what happens within the belly of an exclusive and judgmental system.

I also hope that these cards create meaningful discussions about bicker and lead us to reconsider the ways in which we treat each other.

CARD: {"member": "Julia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I would like to use profanity in this card bc I am so obsessed with [REDACTED]. Holy f*%k. I was completely lost in our conversation, and I couldn't believe how much time had passed when we finished. We talked about everything from dinosaurs, to artificial intelligence, to antibiotics, and it came out so organically. I didn't want to end the conversation, but felt bad because I was using her entire bicker slot. I cannot imagine her not getting along with anyone in this club, and I feel like this card is not doing her justice. This is the first five I have given out, and it is because she was an absolute standout. It would be disgraceful not to accept her. PAINT HER FUCKIN GREEN", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Melissa [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "she's an art history major and she analyzed the busts in the ivy dining hall and was making fun of ivy stereotypes and having lots of fun with it. none of her teammates are bickering and seems like the type of person that would sit down next to anyone and have a conversation. does a lot on campus and has a lot to offer the club like GOING TO BFAST i'm biased though. really liked her, a little nervous but so sweet and fun to talk to and witty.", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Adam [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I almost wanted to keep [REDACTED] for a much longer bicker because I enjoyed talking to her so much. She told me about how she is looking for someone to travel with her to Egypt this summer, where she wants to work in a library educating Egyptians about the ancient Egyptian culture. This trip came from her desire to be uncomfortable, to push herself, and be challenged. This trip fits in perfectly with her Art History major and her Archeology certificate. The authenticity of her passion and curiosity about the world struck me immediately but came out more dramatically the more she spoke. Even if she weren't to get in, I would seek her out to chat more. Get her in.", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Sara [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a really interesting and engaging person. I enjoyed hearing about her summer plans doing archaeology in Egypt and her experience at the Women's March in NYC, and I found her really easy to talk to. I think she would be a great member--definitely someone you would want to sit next to and talk to at a meal. I'm not the best conversationalist, but she made the task a lot easier, and I loved hearing about her experience growing up in a family of artists (since I have the same experience). I definitely would like to see her in the club.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Nicole [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is definitely an oddball. She is very high energy and scattered in a sweet way. Even though there were some awkward moments in our convo, I was impressed by her apparent commitment to being fully upfront and genuine. She seemed like she has truly loved getting to know new people and the things that make them tick during this bicker process, encouraging me to blab about my thesis, for example. For that reason, I think she'd be an incredibly engaged listener/conversation partner as a member, whether at meals or at the beer pong tables that she likes to frequent on nights out. [REDACTED] struck me as a fun, energetic, cheerful and delightfully weird gal; can't go wrong with more of that in Ivy.", "score": 4}

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Charlotte [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I think I fell in love...aside from his beautiful accent and deep brown eyes, [REDACTED] is my dream. One of the first things he told me was that he is Iraqi but lives in London, and I immediately wanted to know more about him. He told me about growing up in London, dealing with having a twin brother, and his love of Jack Nicholson movies. As we got deeper into conversation, however, he told me that he doesn't drink, but that has never stopped him from having a fun time at Ivy and 'going mental'. I only felt positive things about [REDACTED] during our conversation, and hope everyone else can experience all the great things he has to offer the club.\"\", \"score\" : 5}"

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"James [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"My interaction with [REDACTED] was very pleasant, we had an extremely casual conversation about camera less photography, athletics, Princeton, and bicker. She was a notable bickeree for me because not only did she maintain conversation with me about the topics I brought up, she actively engaged me in conversation as well. This left me with the impression that she would be an excellent addition to the club, this conversation was fairly similar to what a typical dinner conversation would be like, and [REDACTED] crushed it.\"\", \"score\" : 4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Gonzalo [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is such a sweet girl. I really enjoyed talking to her about classic rock, traveling in [REDACTED], and the relentless pursuit of a lower resting heart rate through cardiovascular training (she rows). [REDACTED] was extremely enthusiastic, and perhaps endearingly awkward at times (but superlatively enthusiastic nonetheless) and, on several occasions, remarked on how enjoyable the process has been for her. I totally believe her. [REDACTED] injected extraordinary energy and life into our conversation, which is difficult considering my otherwise stiff demeanor. I'm confident others had great experiences bickering [REDACTED]; she would make a great member.\"\", \"score\" : 4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Liting [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Loved her! So easy to talk to. So purely passionate about learning about other people. So energetic. Would contribute to lively discussions. Would contribute to a great night out. More importantly I bet she would make everyone she comes into contact with feel comfortable and willing to express their thoughts and views. Love that, it's what makes ivy so special. Get her in the club because everyone deserves to have a chance to talk to her. We talked religion. Art history. What it means to learn. Free will. Great!\"\", \"score\" : 4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Gianna [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"My absolute favorite bicker so far! Awesome guy we must paint him green! [REDACTED] had such an easy going, honest, and laid back personality. It was SUPER easy to talk to him. Our conversation ranged from music preferences, to changing Ivy's wrongful stereotype, to the the difficulties of acclimating to Princeton's academics. It was genuinely great to hear him open up about some tough times he went through last year. Despite that, he seemed cheerful and set on enjoying all aspects of life here. A cool dude who knows how to get turnttt, he will hands down be a swell addition to the club :)\"\", \"score\" : 5}",

CARD: {"member": "Christopher [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is an awesome guy. Immediately I knew I'd like him when right off the bat he offered me some dokha. [REDACTED] got a great sense of humor. Tom Facs and I were double bickering with another bickeree and when I asked [REDACTED] to roast the other kid he had some great material. I think [REDACTED] would fit in great in the club", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Laura [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] has been my best bickeree so far; he would fit into Ivy absolutely seamlessly. Our conversation was stress-free and very, very interesting. I loved hearing about his opinion on siblings and only-children. [REDACTED] made it very clear that he is his own person, and he appears to be the calmer, more introspective twin. I can imagine that some people might be concerned about him being an active member, but he told me that he is very committed to enjoying and engaging with Ivy. I found myself talking to him for much longer than expected because it was simply so easy: any member would be lucky to spend time with him.", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Colleen [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "After a long day of superficial and trying conversations.... [REDACTED] was a very nice way to end my day. He was easy to talk to, not awkward at all and was the right balance of funny/deep/genuine. We talked for over 45 minutes about his international upbringing, his love for all things French, and his Princeton experience. He was very candid in his critique of the Princeton freshman experience, which nicely segued into his interest in joining Ivy because he feels that the people here are chill, interesting, and fun! Not only does he have a killer fashion sense, but he's a sweet, funny guy who will for sure be a positive addition to our club.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Alexander [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I had a good conversation. He's from Iraq but grew up in London, and we talked about his transitions in life and difficulties he has had. He suffered from an unfortunate medical accident freshman year that really set him behind, and he talked about how it was tough, but the fear of retaking writing sem helped him persevere. He wants to do Ivy because he thinks it's really chillllllll. Didn't really seem passionate about anything, which was a little off-putting, but I'd like this kid in the club and think he could have a good conversation with anyone. He does not like to talk about himself much tho. Talking to him is relaxing and easy-flowing and I think he'd be a solid member.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Camila [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was genuine and very easy to talk to. Honestly he has a super pleasant voice like I would like for him to narrate my life. [REDACTED] campus as sophomores which make me a little concerned about whether or not he'd come to meals. He was good at articulating what he likes about Ivy, which is the chill vibes and the fact that you can be anyone that you want here. He doesn't like fakeness or people who try too hard and I felt like he was very honest and transparent which was refreshing. Didn't have a lot of academic or extracurricular passions but I still would love to get a meal with him and hangout on a night out.", "score": 4}

CARD: "{"member": "Megan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was incredibly chill and definitely someone I want to get to know better. We talked about instinctual responses to tricky situations (he kept saying he's a small dude and definitely couldn't win a fight), his internship working for a Republican congressman, how we hate talking on phones, and what kind of Ivy member he'd be. I can tell he's easy-going and has a sense of humor, though - Zeeza and I did a double bicker and made him and another bickeree do a slo-mo karate fight down the main staircase. I enjoyed it thoroughly. I would really love to see him in the club - can definitely see this guy being a good balance of interesting but also fun to go out with." , "score": 4}, CARD: "{"member": "Adam [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Had a fun conversation with [REDACTED]. He is Iraqi, and we had a fascinating conversation about the travel ban. He decided to stay in the US this break just in case.\n\nIt came up that he had some health problems last semester (2 collapsed lungs) and it sounds like he is resilient as anything. He told the story of his health problems in a hilarious way with no self pity at all. \n\nHe is very friendly, easy to talk to, and I think he would fit in well. \n\nOnly criticism: seemed a bit one dimensional - world traveler, partier, does not do a ton around campus. " , "score": 4},

CARD: "{"member": "Conner [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Reminded me so much of Phil Cooke in the most complimentary way possible. Unwilling to put up some sort of bicker performance, opting to be a little apologetic about saying he'd never had many hobbies and wasn't involved in a lot on campus. I was impressed that he'd acted so blatantly against form and still was likable and friendly. We shared a common interest, astronomy, and chatted about the pronunciation of "Cassiopeia" and decided it was just a W. He liked the relaxed attitude of Ivy, and said he loved the fact that all his bickerers were so accomplished but acted so normal. I could see him coming off as a little bland, but I hope that isn't the case - I really want him in." , "score": 5}"

CARD: "{"member": "Diego [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is an interesting dude. The conversation was pretty interesting, however I was a little surprised he couldn't say a single thing about ivy besides being a chill place with good vibes. I'm sure he was a little nervous when I asked him for his reasons for doing ivy, but I think he should've mentioned something more. That being said, I think he would make an active member and fit in well with the club. Neutral tbh." , "score": 3},, CARD: "{"member": "Kial [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was really easy to talk to and very cool. I think she'd be really fun to have in the club and I would enjoy having conversations at dinner with her. Very fluid conversation and I'd like her to get in!" , "score": 5},

CARD: "{"member": "Michael [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was super easy to talk to and super friendly. We were able to connect on a lot of different levels. She's very passionate about her interests which helped spark stimulating conversation, something I believe is a great part of the Ivy culture. She wants to be a part of Ivy because of its strong sense of community and I believe she would be able to contribute positively to that aspect of Ivy. She already has friends in the club and will be able to get along with almost anyone and for that I believe she'd be a great addition. " , "score": 5},"

CARD: "{member": "Samuel [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] would fit in here very well. She quit TI because TIs shit (good call), and I think she genuinely wants to be here for good reasons. She's friends with lots of people here so I know that she'll be in with a strong chance despite her being a Junior. She has a fascinating insight on life after having her epilepsy resurface and I think it's impressive that it hasn't caused her relationships or her ability to connect with your average Princetonians to falter. I know she has a lot of people on her side already, but for what it's worth I believe she'd do really well here.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Aubree [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] makes the best eye contact out of anyone I have ever met. I am in love with her. We talked for a over an hour and I was so impressed. She is easy to talk to, engaging, funny, and an all around fascinating person. Any one of us would be #blest to sit next to her at any meal or talk to her on any night out. We talked about our perfect nights (including cooking for friends, puzzles, boardgames, and ending with a spliff and always sunny), and both of us said basically the same thing. I want to be best friends with this girl. We gotta paint her green or we would be making a huge mistake. [REDACTED] is a true homie.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Manuel [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a great conversation with [REDACTED]. She was funny and super easy-going and seems genuinely excited to join the club. We also talked a little bit about bicker and how she would change it, and she was really thoughtful and smart. All around a really fun bicker, I have no doubt she's going to be an awesome member.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Thomas [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Wow. What an awesome girl! She is passionate, fun and generally just a really cool person to talk to... [REDACTED] would definitely belong in Ivy! :) I also respect the fact that she dropped a club to bicker as a Junior, that takes lot of guts. She is very involved in volunteering at local prisons to help young offenders turn their lives around and managed to make it to Princeton despite not being able to read until 6th grade, this lady is driven and has a big heart and I love every second of it. She can also maintain eye contact for 10 minutes straight... pretty cool. I think this is where I say something like \"paint her green\", \"score\": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Kevin [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is super chill, and an engaging person to talk with. To be honest, my initial impressions of her in our conversation weren't great (got an \"everything is awesome\" vibe from her), but she won me over with how passionate, genuine, and funny she is and I would like to hang out with her at Ivy. Her greatest weakness is \"fomo\", and she loves rowdy music and jazz. She made me crack up about her experiences in Florence, and helped me craft the perfect day in NYC. [REDACTED] also mixed in great humor and positivity to the political issues and themes going on right now, and has a levity to her that is rare at Princeton. I think she'd be a strong member\", \"score\": 4},

CARD: "{"member" ":"Samantha [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]"", "content":"Had a great conversation with [REDACTED] this evening. [REDACTED] is a junior and she was really open about her experience joining a different club last year and realizing it wasn't the right fit for her. I really appreciated how candid she was about coming to the decision to drop that club and bicker here, and it made her reasons for wanting to join the club seem really genuine. We also spoke about what it's like to have a sibling on campus and how special it is to share the Princeton experience with family. I found [REDACTED] to be very poised and mature, and would love to have her as a member of the club!", "score":4}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Vera [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]"", "content":"[REDACTED] was really nice to talk to, I think we spoke a little too much about why she dropped the previous club she was in but I think she would be an enthusiastic member. It was really interesting talking to her about SPEAR and the work she does with prison reform education. She was really open about herself, about how she struggled with dyslexia growing up and what it's taken to get her here. Appreciated the effort even though I was her last bicker and we were tired but would be happy to see her in the club!", "score":4}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Furman [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]"", "content":"[REDACTED] is a rare gal. In all honesty, I expected [REDACTED] to be like every other girl from New York at Princeton and who's in Ivy. To the contrary, the energy with which [REDACTED] pursues her passions became apparent to me after I ended up in two classes with her last Spring, in the process getting to know her quite well. I remember [REDACTED] going on long tirades about Donald Trump's candidacy, glad for once that I wasn't the only one annoying people with incessant talk about politics. I soon learned [REDACTED] cares deeply about criminal justice issues, including doing Petey Greene and SPEAR on campus, and interning at the ACLU last summer. Simply put, the joy with which [REDACTED] lives her life is sufficient enough reason to give her admittance into the club serious consideration. Anyone who knows [REDACTED] knows she is brimming with energy, and smiling and/or laughing every time you see her. Don't let [REDACTED] into Ivy just because "liberal Furm" thinks it's cool she proudly stands for progressive values and went to the Women's March a few weeks ago—although a rich white girl who cares so deeply about civil rights is dope and #woke, so kudos to her for that. But let [REDACTED] into Ivy because her unique spirit would undoubtedly brighten the club up a little bit...and the good Lord himself knows this dark place needs a little more light...\r\n"}",,,,,,,,, CARD: "{"member" ":"Liting [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]"", "content":"Best bicker of my life. Talked religion, leaving Australia, what it means to develop a close friendship, what it means to be scared, what it means to be vulnerable, what it means to have fun, what place religion has in helping us figure out our morality. He was willing to shoot the shit and then discuss extremely personal topics. A quality that is rare to come across at bicker and something that ivy would wholeheartedly benefit from. I'm left sad that I won't actually spend meals together with him, but I so dearly hope he will be a member. ", "score":5}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Charles [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]"", "content":"[REDACTED] - really solid guy. Had a great conversation. As someone who is banned from the United States due to his Iraqi heritage, I think it would send a strong message to the Administration to let him in the prestigious Ivy Club. Unsurprisingly, he is very interested in politics, inspired by his uncle who is a Conservative MP in her Majesty's Government. Couldn't have played to his audience better on this one. I think that will make an excellent member. He wants to be in Ivy because of the patio and the people - good answer.

"" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Sophie [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""ABSOLUTE LEGEND. I simply adored this kid, he HAS to get in. Like seriously best bicker ever. He paid for my starbucks even though I insisted he didnt, like what a fucking gentleman. So intelligent, so smart, so much to say about life. Like honestly Ivy needs more kids like this. I would be so disappointed if he didn't get in - it would be a total disservice to the membership. He has [REDACTED], had so many incredibly nuanced and sophisticated ideas about [REDACTED], I was fascinated the whole way through our conversation. Plus we agreed to go backpacking through Thailand on a journey of far eastern cuisine. LOVE THIS KID. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Ayesha [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Had a great conversation with [REDACTED]. He's quite funny and definitely seems a little quirky/ eccentric but in a good way and is a self professed 'emotional guy'. [REDACTED]. We also talked about tennis, tea, polo, his interest in Politics and him potentially going into politics in the future in [REDACTED]. He wants to join Ivy primarily because he really like all the people he's met here. Overall I think he would be a great member and would add a unique perspective/ personality to the membership. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : "" Sarah [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was great! I thoroughly enjoyed my conversation with him and I loved the way he was so comfortable even when I had trouble finding things to ask him.(it was my first bicker soo I was a little awk) I feel like I barely skimmed the surface of who he really is, but I would love to get to know him better at an ivy lunch. This kid is kinda weird and I like that. We also had a shared interest in public policy which was dope. Basically, I think he would be a great fit for ivy and I would be saddd if he didnt get in. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Julia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""My conversation with [REDACTED] has been one of my favorites. We talked about a diversity of topics-- our families, his step parents, the natural history museum, [REDACTED], politics, teachers, what makes for a great friendship, our mood swings, favorite memories of growing up, the first impressions we give. He was honest and the most natural of anyone I've spoken with. Yes, he mentions he goes to NY a lot and it sounds like he eats at Agricola every night. Will he be another rogue ivy member? I do think it's something to consider. I guess at the end of the day, I personally enjoyed speaking with him enough to outweigh that concern. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Alexander [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is a super outgoing guy and would be a great fit for the club. Really easy to talk to and chill, passionate about his interests, but not great at pool. We talked about how he helped his brother through hospitalization. As he is banned from entering the US if he leaves, I say we let him use Ivy as a new home. Solid guy who deserves to be in. Anyone could have a great conversation with him.""", "score": 5}",

CARD: "{member": "Peyton

[REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a super nice dude with a very interesting life experience. His interesting fact was definitely the most interesting one I came across because he is banned from reentering the country if the department of justice loses the prevention of the immigration ban. He seems like a super chill dude and he would get along very well with the members already in the club. """, "score": 4}",

CARD: "{member": "Eduardo [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "my favorite part about being an ivy member are the dinner conversations in which I get to learn about someone's thesis, project, world view, or recent adventures. [REDACTED] was able to bring all of these aspects to our conversation. [REDACTED]. I want to continue to learn about Islam and would be more than excited to walk in a room and sit next to [REDACTED]. \r\n""", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Chandler [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Really good kid - cool and confident demeanor while being warm and easy to connect with. At every question I asked he had an immediate witty response that was funny every time, then stepped back and answered more thoughtfully with something genuine. I would say that our conversation stayed closer to joking around on the surface than getting deep into anything in particular, but he had me laughing consistently throughout. When we did talk more seriously about his grandparents' experience with a changing [REDACTED] and his outlook on the rest of his time at Princeton, he was knowledgeable, sensitive, and sincere. Definitely liked getting to talk to him and think he'll fit right in.""", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Hannah [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I think we were both tired at this point. There wasn't a lot of energy in our conversation from the get go, but it was also stymied by the fact that it took about 10min for her to describe her day, and while I'm all for a wild story, i wasn't super impressed by minutiae of lunch at the CJL. I wanted to hear more about her name (She's the fourth [REDACTED] which is given to the first born woman every other generation in her family) and also her interest in psychology but we just never quite got there. I could be convinced of her enthusiasm for Ivy by others but wasn't convinced myself really at all. """, "score": 3}",, CARD: "{member": "Serena [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "This guy was super laid back! Enjoyed my conversation with him - it was really natural and genuine. We spoke a lot about London and our favorite freaky clubs lol (shout out to Cirque). I think he'd be an active member and great addition to the club.""", "score": 4}",, CARD: "{member": "Nicolas [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Awesome girl. Very easy to talk to and witty personality. Said her favorite bachelor girl is Danielle the quiet taylor swift looking one. Snowboards, is involved in fasion shows on campus. Very fun to be around. """, "score": 5}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Elizabeth [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I LOVED [REDACTED]! From the start she was so open and gregarious and willing to speak so readily about the things she is passionate about. She's got some amazing stories from her gap year and favorite times at Ivy and shared them readily. I can see her connecting with anyone she meets in the club and being an extremely active member. She was interested to find out more about the club and wants to be in it for some of the best, most genuine reasons. I wanna eat dinner next to this girl every night! I want everyone in the club to meet her and know her and love her too! \", \"score\" : 5} \",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Gianna [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I had an amazing chat with [REDACTED]. We talked about her gap year in South America, her time working in the film industry, and her love of pandas. The conversation went smoothly and I know she'll make a great member, especially at meals! Cool girl who would definitely branch out and get to know people in the club. Let her in! \", \"score\" : 5} \",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Adam [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Awesome conversation. We spoke about a range of topics from skiing to the bachelor to what she does on campus. We disagreed strongly about the outcome of the most recent episode of the bachelor. [REDACTED] was by far the most comfortable and conversational bickeree I have spoken to today. She seems like the kind of person that makes people around her happier. I only asked her a few direct questions, as the conversation flowed well, but she turned the questions back on me in interesting ways (did not just repeat back the questions). I would be very happy to sit next to her at dinner! \", \"score\" : 5} \",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Arthur [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Had one of the best conversations with [REDACTED]. Right off the bat she was cracking jokes and landing punchlines with Mike Tyson force. The type of person who will make the club a more enjoyable experience for everyone, because she'll be sure to go out of her way to interact with everyone. No brainer. \", \"score\" : 5} \",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Jack [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Awesome girl, absolute sweetheart. I did a double with her and Paul and this girl [REDACTED] or something and we all just had the best time sitting on the floor in the Great Hall and telling stories from her youth. [REDACTED] did Princeton Bridge Year, and I did the same program, so I had a great time exchanging stories and comparing our experiences. We talked about lots of other stuff, but my main takeaway was that she is just great to talk about anything with. She quite literally filled my belly with joy. Even after we wrapped up our bicker convo we kept talking in the lobby for a good 5 minutes...just couldn't get enough :o \", \"score\" : 5} \",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"George [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is a chiller and a great conversationalist. She let me rant about Honduras when I asked her about her gap year partially spent in Central America and had great answers for some of my kookier questions, like what she would do on her first day of a five year sentence in maximum security prison. She and I split some Tums which is the sure sign of a future Ivy badass. Tums help regulate the stomach like nothing else and it has that great chalky taste. If she doesn't get in, the Ivy class of '19 will be worse off without a doubt.

"" , ""score"" : 5 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""Lydia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was really nice and super engaged. We talked a lot about NYC vs. her experience growing up in Wyoming. I appreciated her answer to my question, would you prefer to have multiple little houses all over the world or one really nice one because she came at the question seriously but from a different perspective than I had. Our conversation didn't lag at all, but it felt fairly surface level. I feel though that was as much my fault as hers and it reminded me of some of the convos I had when I bickered...i.e. perfectly pleasant, vibed with the person, etc. I'd definitely love to get to know her more!"" , ""score"" : 4 } , CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""Alexandra [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""I had a very nice conversation with [REDACTED]. She was interesting and seemed like a genuine person. She clearly knew a lot about the club, and seemed committed. I think she would be a good addition.

"" , ""score"" : 4 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""Sophia

[REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] and I had a nice conversation and she seems like someone who would easily be able to have a pleasant chat with anyone.

[REDACTED] is originally from [REDACTED] and now lives in [REDACTED], and we talked about our love for skiing and how fun it is to do something athletic whilst immersed in beautiful mountains. Her favorite spot on campus is the tables by the Woody Woo fountain in warm weather, and we talked about the incredible Ai Wei Wei sculptures by those tables and the other valuable art around campus. She is interested in Latin American Studies, who has worked in film and travelled, but she didn't seem amazingly passionate about her experiences, although she is an agreeable person who was very sweet. "" , ""score"" : 3 } , ,

CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""Visala [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""I really liked talking to [REDACTED]! He was super nice and really funny especially when he showed me pictures of surfing in a bodysuit. It was a refreshing conversation because he joked around a lot and didn't take the process too seriously. He would clearly be a dedicated Ivy member and people would enjoy getting to know him. He seems to appreciate the nights he's been out here, meals he's had, and the different kinds of people in the club. He clearly has friends in the club and expressed that but also talked about how he cares a lot about getting to know new people. I could have talked to him for much longer and I think he'd be a great member! "" , ""score"" : 5 } , CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""Deana [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was an incredible bickeree and made me laugh many times throughout our conversation. He LOVES cats and showed me several pictures with him and his cats-- he took his senior pictures with his cat and he also has a cat phone case. I would say that's pretty cool. He was on the volleyball team, but suffered an injury so he's excited to branch out. He declared electrical engineering and it was nice to see him so excited about that major and his work. He also talked extensively about why he loves Princeton in comparison to his high school, which gave me a new perspective on why I should appreciate my college experience. He would be a joy to see around the club. "" , ""score"" : 5 } ,

CARD: "{member": "Isabel [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I literally just fell in love. [REDACTED] is a dream. He is so charming and funny, as well as full of fun facts. I bickered him for almost an hour because I just didn't want the conversation to end. He is incredibly into philosophy and had really interesting things to say about the academic portfolio that Princeton offers. We discussed sensory deprivation chambers (we both want to go, maybe together!!), studio art and thesis topics. His reason for joining Ivy was incredibly compelling and he gave me the impression that he would be a very active member. I love this boy - I will actually weep if he doesn't get in, and not just because I think I've found my soulmate. ", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Cason [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I LOVE THIS GUY. he is my soul mate. he admitted that he was very tired but despite that we kept up a very balanced, energetic, and peppy conversation that ranged from surfing in the snow to naked jacuzzi parties (something we both love). He seemed like he'd be a super active member who would engage beyond his affiliations and he spoke genuinely about his desire to branch out after dropping the volleyball team this year. I'm really pumped about [REDACTED] and I'm really hoping he gets in. Conversation didn't lag for even a second and it was the perfect balance of lightheartedness and real talk. \n\np.s. This didn't effect my bicker/score but OMG HE IS SO ATTRACTIVE. GET HIM IN.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Brett [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was super laid-back and easy to talk to. Seemingly the stereotypical Southern California surfer/skiier/outdoorsy guy, he also revealed that he performed in musicals all through school (starring in Les Mis as a senior in high school) and was recruited here for volleyball, which he recently had to stop due to a knee injury. A self-starter and super enthusiastic about surfing, he just started a Surfing Club here and dared the ice-cold Atlantic over Intersession. He had great reasons for why Ivy -- branching out and expanding his circle; I particularly liked him saying, \"there's no one type of Ivy person.\" We also talked about his interest in electrical engineering, and overall I think he's really interesting, easygoing, and would make a great member! ", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Matthew [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Seems like an easy-going guy, conversation flowed naturally. He seems genuinely interested in Ivy - has come for a number of meals, literally couldn't decide when I asked him what his favorite night was. A nice guy who would fit in well and contribute to the club. ", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Julian [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Overall very chill guy. Could instantly tell that he was a Californian (which we need more of in this club). He has a very laid back personality and was instantly comfortable making fun of himself and admitting that he loves cats (not easy to do). He had a good sense of humor, was very comfortable, but also attentive and a great listener. I think he would be a great addition to the club, I can tell he would be a great person to have at your table at dinner. ", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Christian [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "When I read [REDACTED] two interests - \"cats\" and \"surfing\" - I was worried. Thankfully the conversation quickly turned away from his feline friends. [REDACTED] is clearly passionate about surfing and is in the process of starting a surfing club at Princeton. More than that, he starred in Les Mis his senior year of high school and played volleyball here before getting sidelined by a chronic knee injury. He's someone with diverse interests and one of the rare breeds who would be as comfortable sitting next to [REDACTED] as [REDACTED] at meals. He'd make a great addition to the club. "", "score": 4},, CARD: "{ \"member\" \"Ana [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I LOVED THIS KID!!! He actually made me laugh so hard. Right off the bat, there was a sparkle in his eye. The conversation was so easy, I barely had to put in effort cause he was so responsive and curious and wanted to get to know me. After some small talk, [REDACTED] and I talked about siblings, his ideal day, and what his ideal three course meal would be. He said corn bread, chicken teriyaki and oreo ice cream. What a star. He's honestly somebody I would choose to sit next to every day and Ivy would be lucky to have him. Aside from his natural charisma, he's someone who would be insanely fun to party with. What a dude!!!!!! \"\", \"score\": 5}\", CARD: "{ \"member\" \"Aubree [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was the best bicker i have ever had. hands down. if he doesn't get into ivy, i would honestly be really upset. we had an effortless hour long conversation about everything from favorite albums to listen all the way through to the steph curry vs. lebron debate. we also built our own \"mount rushmore of favorite entertainers\" on his suggestion. i loved loved loved talking to him. he is a super open and cool guy, totally down to hang and talk about whatever. i see him being a stellar member of this club. i would honestly give him my own spot if i could... wow what a homie. 10/10. super duper strong up from me to him. \"\", \"score\": 5}\", CARD: "{ \"member\" \"Charlotte [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"After being thoroughly distracted by [REDACTED]'s stunning good looks and melodious accent, I had a very lovely conversation with him. He described himself as friendly, fun-loving, and ambitious which is definitely part of what a good Ivy member should be. In addition to that, he told me that his dream job would be to open a foundation in Ethiopia in order to preserve the land, and give as many people jobs as possible. Beautiful man with a good heart...sign me up. Nothing hurt more than hearing him talk about his girlfriend, but I think [REDACTED] is a great guy and would do very well in the club. \"\", \"score\": 4}\", CARD: "{ \"member\" \"Justine [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] is one of those guys I knew I liked after just 10 minutes with him. He is very passionate about international monetary policy and genuinely interested in foreign relations and how policy affects everyday life. He would donate money to Princeton for admissions to reach out to under-represented countries and educate kids in order to prepare them to get to Princeton later in life.\\n\\nI have been asking people all day what their ideal day would be and he was the first one to seem so interested in many things. He had a clear idea of what activities he would use his free time for, from clubs to specific restaurants and \"reading in Notting Hill\"! Would be great to sit next to at dinner. \"\", \"score\": 4}\",

CARD: "{ \"member\" \"Hannah [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] began our conversation with a description of his perfect day, with the most endearing story he told about his future son saying \"I'll love you daddy.\" I was utterly blown away. We were invited to an impromptu dance party, and [REDACTED] absolutely killed it. He would def be the first one on the floor on nights out. [REDACTED] is a charismatic presence, and full of genuine compassion. He was thoughtful and great at holding conversation about politics or drake. [REDACTED] is great. A perfect fit for ivy and it would truly be a disservice to the club to not have his exuberant warmth as a presence in the club. \r\n\r\nHe's passionate about politics \"\", \"score\":5}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Samuel [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] a sound lad. Absolutely could see him at Ivy, convo went smoothly and he was very approachable and adjusted to the tone of the chat quickly. He's engaging to talk to and has a facility with people that makes him quickly likeable but not at all obtrusive. Good to chat with him, pretty sure he's not gunna have any troubles. Also swapped last minute from cannon cos he realised they're shit. Nice one, [REDACTED]. Would love to see him here. \"\", \"score\":5}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Vera [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I liked [REDACTED] a lot. He was very easy to talk to, really funny, and was telling me about all the great questions he got during bicker and why he was enjoying it so much. We started by asking what he would write if he wrote a vagina monologue and he was really thoughtful, talked about he was raised by his mom and with lots of sisters and has always been interested in how and why men and women are socialized in different ways. When asked why Ivy, he gave the most personal answer I've heard, so I think he'd be invested in the club and a good member!\"\", \"score\":5}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Alexander [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Whatta dude. One of my best bickers for sure. felt bad keeping him on since I was his last bicker but he was really cool and the conversation just kept going. Lived in Canada, loves drake, teaches prisoners, dope earrings. Im sure this guy killed bicker so ill leave it at that but we def need this kid in the club and I would be extremely shocked if he does not get in.\"\", \"score\":5}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Benjamin [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I genuinely enjoyed my conversation about music with this person. He laid out his own opinions and didnt seem like he was waiting for my approval, which I appreciated. More importantntly, I think he has the right reasons for wanting to be in the club, namely that he appreciates the variety of people we have here and the quality of interactions and friendships that we establish here. I think he would make a very good member of the club.\"\", \"score\":4}\",

CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Nicholas [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] led a strong, varied conversation. We talked about his multicultural family and his upbringing in New Jersey. [REDACTED] explained how he originally intended to go to college in the south to pursue basketball, but that he applied to Princeton to challenge himself. He showed great humility here. We talked about how small turns like these can alter our life paths. Most of our conversation revolved around how we keep in touch with friends, and this is when [REDACTED] demonstrated maturity and conscientiousness. He will make a strong member. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Julia [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I really enjoyed talking to [REDACTED]. I thought he was funny, personable and interesting. We talked about academic interests, his relationship with different family members, our childhood, what makes for a perfect day and our hopes for the future. I felt that he was a bit more focused on presenting himself than listening, and was at times a bit rehearsed. But in fairness, there's a lot of emphasis in bicker on getting your personality across, and he did ask me questions in our conversation, so it wasn't entirely one-sided. And in general I thought our conversation was great and would love having dinner with [REDACTED]. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Peter [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was really pleasant to talk to. He was lovely and is also very well dressed. I really enjoyed talking to him, but he wasn't my best bicker. He didn't ask me any questions about myself and his answers to my questions felt curated -- he was trying to give me the answers he thinks he wanted me to hear (which we obviously do during bicker, but in his case it felt obvious). He gave a very honest answer to my 'why ivy' question, which I appreciated. Don't feel too strongly about [REDACTED] one way or another but am curious to know what other members think of him. """, ""score"":3}",, CARD: "{""member"":""Charles [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Wow. [REDACTED] is the type of kid everyone in ivy would like. He's worldly; he just spent two years in [REDACTED]; that's a fucking savage if i've even seen one. He's funny, he likes to party and he is keen to be an active member of the club. His past experiences, his intellect and his love of having fun would make him someone that any member of this club would like to sit at a meal with. Please get this kid in. """, ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Nina [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I had an awkward, stilted conversation. I think he was trying to act confident but it came across as a bit rude. I liked that he was energetic and I admired his frankness about not knowing very much about Ivy but being attracted by the club's community and wanting to be a part of it, but I couldn't really see him in Ivy. """, ""score"":2}", CARD: "{""member"":""Nina [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""This was the best bicker conversation I have ever had. [REDACTED] was smart, engaging, interested, and really thoughtful. We spoke about his time serving on a peace keeping mission with the UN in South Sudan while in the Korean army. He said his time off had caused him to look at Princeton differently, and he gave some really interesting insights into Princeton's culture that I wish I could remember because they were so accurate and eloquent. We talked about everything from the flaws in international development strategy to the differences between the English and American education systems. I want to be this guy's friend and we could have spoken for another hour if he'd had time. He would bring something new and different to Ivy. """, ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{member": "Gabrielle [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I apologize for giving so many 5s but this person is honestly incredible and I am in awe that someone as sweet and intelligent exists in the world. He is endearing and I was absolutely captivated by his ambition and charm. I laughed so hard at his quirky stories and was fascinated by his desire to create an intelligent computer. He wants to be in Ivy for all of the right reasons and none of his answers were rehearsed--he was just wonderful and it would be sad for the membership to not be able to get to know someone as spectacular as this. I will probably message him later to remain friends because I love him.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Carolina [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "This was easily my most interesting bicker. Apart from doing a super funny skit, [REDACTED] had one of the most interesting life stories I've ever listened to. He grew up in the UK away from his parents since he was 5 out of own volition. He also spent time in the Korean army (which he described as 'life-developing', which I greatly appreciated as opposed to simply 'life changing') then serving as a UN peacekeeper in South Sudan and learnt about how foreign aid is a complicated matter. I also loved that [REDACTED] was a superb listener, asking me about my own experiences. His way of thinking and talking was captivating, and I am sure he would be down to be an bright, active member.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Fabian [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I really enjoyed my conversation with [REDACTED]. More than any other so far bickeree he made our conversation natural and fun. We talked about a wide variety of subjects ranging from the challenges faced by UN aid groups to studying at this Uni when much older than everyone in your grade. I would very much enjoy having him in the club.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Nicholas [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a very interesting and unique individual. He was forced to leave school and serve in the Korean military for 2 years, and he said this provided him with a unique learning experience. Additionally, [REDACTED] was awfully funny. I found myself constantly laughing at his tone and accent. I believe he would fit well in Ivy because he was well versed and would provide an interesting perspective from the life he lived. [REDACTED] made clear that he very much so wanted to meet people from a wide variety of backgrounds, and Ivy would help him achieve this goal. In total, [REDACTED] was enjoyable to talk to, and I think the club would enjoy his presence.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Olutobiloba [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "It was good meeting [REDACTED]. He had a lot of interesting perspectives and isn't scared to speak his mind. While he often dominated the conversation, he was still an attentive listener and overall a good dude to talk to. He also served in the military for 2 years and worked as a UN peacekeeper which is sick.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Laura [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "When I first started talking to [REDACTED], I incorrectly assumed he might not be the best fit for Ivy. But he surprised me: we had a fascinating conversation about his time off from Princeton, which he spent in the Korean military and bringing aid to South Sudan. We spoke about how true teaching is asking questions, rather than providing answers; he is planning on creating a program that understands this. [REDACTED] has spent time all over the map, but his recent military draft brought him back to the insular culture of South Korea. He wants to break that insularity by meeting new and eclectic people in Ivy, and I think everyone would enjoy hearing about his impressive worldview of peace, conflict, and the technological future. "", "score": 4}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Isabel [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED]\" is awesome. He served in the Korean army and worked with the UN in South Sudan and had the MOST interesting things to say about how the UN functions, as well as his time in the army. He wants to join Ivy to meet new people and because he has a sense of the close community, which I think is very valid. Educated in England like me, we hit it off really quickly and could share all sorts of jokes about English food and school life. He was very easy to talk to and kept the conversation very upbeat and light in tone, in spite of the gravity of some of the issues we were discussing. Seems like he'd be an interesting addition. \"\", \"score\": 4}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Ruben [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED]\" is a very interesting dude. He's from South Korea so he had to take two gap years after his freshman to serve in the Korean army. He spent 9 months out of those 2 years in Sudan, which sounds miserable.\\n\\nIt was very easy to have a conversation with him, he travelled a lot, educated in the UK, etc... I think he will really fit in ivy.\"\", \"score\": 4}",, CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Christian [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED]\" has a disarming personality. She shared a heartwarming story with me about her highschool ballet career, and in particular one performance where she fell but returned to the stage to finish her dance (what she recalled as her \"proudest moment\"). At Princeton, she has found a home with PUB and Business Today. What she has valued most about both organizations is the time she spends with them outside of the \"work\" they do - I think this will translate well to spending time in Ivy both at meals and throughout the day. Lastly, she has a fascinating grasp of human behavior (from her psychology studies) which made me question my own actions when speaking with her (in the best way possible). \"\", \"score\": 5}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Nick [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED]\" was a very kind person. One of my favorite bickers of the day. We had an awesome conversation regarding topics that many members could relate to. I believe [REDACTED] would be a perfect fit for Ivy. She seemed very excited to get to know many people from different backgrounds, and I believe her talents would be very well suited for Ivy. As a dancer she seemed to know many people throughout the club already, and her smile and tendency to greet as many people as possible made her a very likeable person. I know she would fit well into the club, and the members would very much enjoy a chance to get to know her! \"\", \"score\": 5}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Manuel [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED]\" is a great girl. She rapped a verse from Chance's Cocoa Butter Kisses, which is a great song, for everyone in the great hall, and she had it down perfectly, so pretty impressive. She told me about her interests in psychology, rap, and dance. She just has a lot of cool interests and is easy to talk to. "", "score":5}",

CARD: "{member": "Alexandra [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] should definitely be in the club! She is incredibly fun and bubbly and I truly enjoyed our conversation. She showed genuine interest in Ivy and I think she is the type of person that everyone will love. She already knew a lot of members and had been to the club several times, and I could tell she would be a very active member. I think Ivy would greatly benefit from her enthusiasm and charisma, and any club would be lucky to have her! "", "score":5}",

CARD: "{member": "Alexander [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] has been my best bicker BY FAR. She is so incredibly personable, down-to-earth and is the perfect fit for this club. Hosing her would be the biggest mistake Ivy has ever made. She is destined for greatness, I have 0 doubt. I could even see her leading this club in the future. She is exactly the kind of member we want: open, welcoming, articulate, compassionate, intelligent and an absolute joy to talk to. From speaking about who she most admires on campus to why she wants to be in this club, she aced every answer with thoughtful, compelling responses that weren't generic. We even found out we roomed in the EXACT SAME room freshman year. If that's not a sign, idk what is. "", "score":5}",

CARD: "{member": "Paul [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was great to talk to. She talked about her experience in PUB (specifically that [REDACTED] occasionally shows up drunk/\"possibly high\" to practices) and her interest in Ivy for the diversity of the club. She has a really enthusiastic and bubbly personality that would make her an involved member who would come out and contribute to the club. "", "score":4}",

CARD: "{member": "Julia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] grew up in Princeton (went to school in Lawrenceville) and is interested in psych. She's in Business Today and interested in majoring in psych. She is an only child. We had some interesting discussion about her psych class and talked a lot about how we perceive ourselves differs from what others think about us. [REDACTED] is friendly and totally capable of carrying a conversation. I liked [REDACTED] and enjoyed talking to her but didn't feel like our conversation got going beyond surface level. "", "score":4}",

CARD: "{member": "Ana [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] put a smile on my face! Forreal. I was in sort of a bad mood and she was just in such high-spirits and so kind that I left our conversation smiling. She rapped two different Hamilton songs for me, put on a skit with another bickeree, and answered all my questions with depth and eloquence. I learned about how her parents met, how she would describe her best friend, and how she loves chocolate. I would say my favorite part about her is her enthusiasm. It's clear she's generally a very energetic person and can cheer anyone up. She was also very honest and made me laugh at points. I think she'd be awesome to have around. "", "score":4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Litig [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Such a great conversation. We talked critically about race, about our responsibilities, about our role as citizens and what it's like navigating conversations about race as minorities who come from predominantly white backgrounds. Appreciated her thoughtfulness and how much she engaged with me. Made me really believe she has the ability to engage in an interesting and fun manner with all people in the club. Give her the chance to contribute, people would like her!\", \"score\": 4} \",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Nicholas [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was my first conversation today, and one that will be hard to beat. He is a fascinating, conscientious young man. [REDACTED] detailed his family background in [REDACTED], and how he tries to keep in touch with friends there. He explained, with much thought, how he hopes to use entrepreneurship to improve the economic prospects of his fellow countrymen. Above all, his honesty shone through today. He recognized that we are all a part of a 'bubble', in one sense or another, and talked about the different ways he tries to overcome that. I strongly recommend [REDACTED] for admission, and have no doubt that he will make a fantastic member.\", \"score\": 5} \", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Charles [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Other than his name, I can think of three big reasons why this lad should be an Ivy member. 1. He is a citizen of the world. [REDACTED] by descent, born in [REDACTED], lives in America. Has some good stories. 2. One of his favorite things about Ivy is the length of the beer pong tables. Didn't give some bullshit about the seating plan. 3. He was great at delving deep but keeping things lighthearted. My kind of guy. Get him in the club. Also has a sensitive side and talked about his spirituality which was cool.\", \"score\": 5} \",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Nicholas [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was an awesome kid. In my opinion, he is one of the coolest kids I have met in a long time. His previous life before Princeton was very unique, and I think this gives him an interesting perspective to bring into the club. I am so confident he would be an ideal pick up for Ivy, and I sincerely hope he gets in so I spend more time with him. [REDACTED] was super intelligent, chill, funny, just overall a great prospect for ivy. He had a lot of similar interests, and I know he would be an excellent member of this club. He was very excited to be at Ivy, and I know he would be a great addition.\", \"score\": 5} \",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Megan [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"AMAZING. This kid is 'all sorts of confused' in the sense that he's from a million different places, and I liked that he called it 'confusing'. I wish I could've talked to him longer. I asked what he would do if everyone sitting around him finished their food before him at dinner (re: seating policy), and he said he would just get up and sit at the next table as if he'd just gotten there (THIS SHOULD BE THE RULE!). We talked about photojournalism (always psyched to meet photo people) & his time in Madagascar. It would literally be a privilege to have him in Ivy. If you have a set bicker quota of Zetes or whatever PLEASE keep him as like #1.\", \"score\": 5} \",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Christian

[REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is sick. We had a ton of fun together - he taught me how to juju on the beat. He was extremely comfortable answering some of the more fun questions I threw his way (he said he'd marry Lauren in a heartbeat). I was more impressed by his conscientiousness, however. He has spent extensive time learning about the history and current political reality in Madagascar and aspires to be the US' ambassador to the country. He even started a photojournalism project capturing the effect rampant unemployment has had on the nation and hopes to return one day. I considered the decision to give him a 5 heavily since I'd already given 3, but giving him a lower score would have been an injustice. "", "score": 5}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Elizabeth

[REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] needs to be in this club. He has so many interesting points of view and stories that he would bring in every time he walked in the front door, and I feel like every single Ivy member's lives would be made better by his friendship. We talked about everything from photography to politics in madagascar and I wish our conversation could have lasted longer. He is so warm and the best conversationalist and has the most noble aspirations for his life. He thinks that Ivy would be a place where he can grow as a person, and I think that we are very lucky he wants to be in our club. "", "score": 5}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Madeleine [REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Wow into this kid. Touched my knee and I swooned. So cool, so smart, so suave. He's got some in's in the club so he won't have a hard time getting in, but if for some reason he is contested I will fight to get him in. He is #soivy. International but also from NY, dresses a little too nicely but flirts with you just enough to make up for it. We both love photography and he's smart about the way he shoots. Big thing: he mentioned how he wants to stay in touch with the people he met, even if he doesn't get in. I hope he doesn't stop talking to me when he realizes how cool he is, zete's don't ruin him please!!!!!!!!", "score": 5}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Ruben [REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Super chill guy, very interesting and genuine. He's into languages and likes photography for some cool reasons. Conversation with him was very easy and he seems like the kind of guy that members would love to sit with during meals and go out with at nights out. Hope he gets in.", "score": 4}",

OUTSIDE CARD: "{"member" ":"Lauren

[REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "This is my favorite person I've ever bickered in my life. Mark better watch out because I seriously might be in love. [REDACTED] made our interaction feel like a genuine coffee chat to get to know each other rather than a superficial bicker interview. His personality and values correspond exactly to what I feel makes an active Ivy member: completely down to earth, knowledgable about the club and its members, and seemingly ready for a good time. He would add a really unique perspective to the club, as he comes from a family with 7 half sisters and a mom from [REDACTED] and a dad from [REDACTED]. His background has inspired him to travel back to his home countries and capture its history through the lens of photography - pretty damn cool, am I right? What I truly loved about our conversation, though, was the way he seemed genuinely interested in getting to know me just as much as I was him. He asked me really intriguing questions about my background, interests, and overall experiences throughout Princeton. If [REDACTED] doesn't get into this club, I will actually shed tears. We need to paint this dood green 1 hunnit or else lb will strike back""}"" ,,,,,,,,

CARD: "{""member"" :""Justine [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"" :""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"" :""[REDACTED] was so kind! A true gem. He was so easy to have a conversation with and I truly think he would shine at Ivy as he is so easy to get along with. He's really passionate about health policy and really wants to make movies for everyone to see what lives outside of our own bubble is like, something he seems eager to do himself as well. He really values meeting people different from him, and that's what's driving him to bicker even though he doesn't know many people. To break down barriers and to show that \"belonging\" in Ivy is about personality and interests and not socio-economic background.\"", ""score"" :5}" ,

CARD: "{""member"" :""Rachel [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"" :""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"" :""[REDACTED] is amazing! He was extremely easy to talk to and I could really see him having engaging conversations with members at meals. He was great at telling stories about himself as well as asking me questions in return, so it felt like a really genuine conversation. He has some fascinating interests, including healthcare and film, and he clearly cares about making a difference in the world. He was even eager to talk about some serious topics, like the current political situation. He was also super genuine about his interest in Ivy - he really only started considering bickering recently after getting to know some members, and he can really see himself fitting in here. I can too!\"", ""score"" :5}" ,

CARD: "{""member"" :""George [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"" :""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"" :""I really hope [REDACTED] gets into the club because I am confident he would bring a fresh perspective to the club and really seems like a thoughtful guy who's conscious of what the preconceptions are of the club and wants to be able to refute these and engage in a conversation about what it really means to me a member of Ivy. He wants to work in film one day and hopes to be able to tell new stories, a la Moonlight, and expose the lives of people who fly under the radar. Ivy could use some of that perspective, we need people like [REDACTED] to mix things up. 5555555555555555.\"", ""score"" :5}" ,

CARD: "{""member"" :""Emily [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"" :""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"" :""[REDACTED] was great. At first I was thinking, seems like a cool dude, but not super excited, and then I realized he was awesome. We spoke easily first about the super bowl and then the conversation flowed from topic to topic naturally. We discussed everything from the super bowl and latin dance (he's in a really cool dance group) to why he wants to do ivy. He feels like he's counter to the stereotype but prides himself on being able to see himself here and hopes he can share that with underclassman. He's passionate yet composed as he spoke and essentially just a fun time. Would love to eat a meal with him AND see him kill it on the dance floor. Paint him green!\"", ""score"" :5}" ,

CARD: "{""member"" :""Furman [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"" :""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"" :""I thoroughly enjoyed my entire conversation with [REDACTED]. She was thoughtful, engaging, and most impressive of all, unafraid to offer up a strong opinion, even if I pushed back on what she was saying. We talked about many things ranging from why she both liked and disliked her upbringing in L.A., to the way in which she sees her background in academic theater informing her worldview, to why she feels guilty for only recently becoming politically active. [REDACTED] will make a fantastic contribution to Ivy not just because she will offer up her genuine feelings on any range of issues, but also because I'm confident she will make the effort to get to know many different pockets within the club. "" , ""score"" :5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Adnan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" :""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" :""[REDACTED] is incredible. He is deeply passionate about film and we talked at length about how he wants to make films in order to be able to tell unheard stories that he believes would have a positive impact on society. He told me about his humble background - he was born in Columbia, moved to Boston when he was three and just got his citizenship last year. He is a first generation college student but seemed to care a lot about dispelling certain false but widely held stereotypes about Ivy, if he were to get in, which I thought was admirable. [REDACTED] is one of the most interesting guys I've met in a long time and I sincerely hope we get him in. "" , ""score"" :5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Julia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" :""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" :""[REDACTED] and I talked about his love for film and how he is hoping to use it as a media to spread awareness of global health issues. He lives in Forbes right now, and loves how close knit it is as a community. He wants a similar tight knit experience when joining an eating club, and is bickering Ivy for this reason. We chatted about how prevalent eating club stereotypes are on campus, and he said that initially this made him hesitant to bicker Ivy. However, after meeting a bunch of members this year, he was impressed by the uniqueness and genuineness of the membership. I think [REDACTED] would be a great fit for Ivy, and could get along with anyone on the club. "" , ""score"" :4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Chandler [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" :""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" :""[REDACTED] handled a double bicker with Sara and me well. He was confident and easy to talk to, and and he spoke interestingly about documentary films, airplanes, and the field of medicine. Also has good knowledge of/ taste in music. No major awkwardness at any point and I think he'd be enjoyable to sit with at meals, though I did think his reason for picking Obama as the person he'd most want to have dinner with was a little generic (and didn't play to interests he had already touched on and could have gone more deeply into). Overall likeable guy who seemed a good balance of intellectual and fun and would be a pretty good addition to the club. "" , ""score"" :4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Emma [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" :""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" :""[REDACTED] is a really cool guy. We had a great conversation about his interest in film and how he wants to incorporate it into his independent work in WWS. He said that he originally wanted to be pre-med but changed his mind after taking orgo. He was really reflective about this decision and told me about how struggling through the course completely transformed his perspective about his life goals. He was unexpectedly thoughtful about this experience in a really refreshing way. I would definitely have a good time talking to him at meals. He asked me all about myself and what I like about Ivy and was super excited about everything I said. I think he would be a really active, enthusiastic member. "" , ""score"" :4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Caroline [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" :""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" :""I was simultaneously astounded and inspired by [REDACTED] ambitiousness. The kid is a big-picture thinker

if I ever saw one. He knows what he wants (to be a film-maker and and apply the art of film-making to health and medical development), how he wants to grow, and in what way he wants to achieve. Seriously, awesome kid. I spoke at length with [REDACTED] about his love of 'neo-realistic' films (like Moonlight and Hidden Figures) and I was captivated the entire time. Really intelligent guy, would be great for the club. """, ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Arthur [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] a really earnest kid, and I wouldn't mind having him in the club, but I can't say I care strongly enough either way. He was a little overeager, speaking at a very rapid pace for a lot longer than he needed to. Not the end of the world, because what he was expressing was genuine enthusiasm for his activities and Ivy.""", ""score"":3}",, CARD: "{""member"":""Sammy [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""This was a fantastic bicker and I'm convinced [REDACTED] would be a great Ivy member. Our conversation was broad and interesting - we talked about our inappropriate-joke-telling dads and grandpas, angsty siblings, and farming/local food (her dad is a chef but her mom makes the food at home cause chefs work late). She's just awesome, really open and friendly and there wasn't an awkward moment. In her kill/fuck/marry she chose to kill Megan o neil because it would be \"a major accomplishment\". I don't know what that means but it's hilarious. I think she'd get along with just about everyone and be an active member. She would make a great club member and I'd be disappointed if she didn't get in. Solid 5.""", ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Christian [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was consummately interesting and thoughtful. She clearly possesses infectious curiosity and passion. Though she grew up in New York City, she has spent several months on a farm in Vermont, at which she personally slaughtered a pig to gain perspective when she eats meat. Fascinated by art, she worked with prominent contemporary artists and considers that experience a central element of her life. Conversation flowed smoothly, and [REDACTED] seemed comfortable in the situation. I would certainly enjoy speaking with her further at meals. """, ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Katelyn [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I think this girl is me. I just had such a great, engaging and exciting conversation with [REDACTED], and though it may have been because we have the same exact interests and have done weirdly similar things with our lives, i can see myself sitting next to her at dinner and having another great conversation. we actually went over the time limit for the first session and i had to cut it short, but i wanted to continue to get to know her better. she also stood out in continuously asking about me and my life and my interests, which not many people have done. i think that shows the kind of person [REDACTED] is. """, ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Harry [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was awesome. She actually did most of the talking, telling me all about herself and what she was into. Couldn't have been easier to talk to and would no doubt be a good fit in the club. She seems like she has a really interesting multi-layered personality, and I would want to get to know her more going forward."", "score": 5}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Julian [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] was very engaging and instantly stood out to me. I have had some great conversations, but she impressed me. Our conversation was rarely (if at all) stunted by silence, and I felt comfortable joking around with her. I think she was able to read the situation very well, she knew exactly how to act and what to say, but I could also tell that she was being genuine with everything she said. Really a stand out.\"\", \"score\": 5}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Arthur [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I was [REDACTED] last bicker, and I was amazed that she was able to carry conversation even as I was struggling to stay focused. She's got a great sense of humor and rolled with all the weird questions I threw at her. She strikes me as being far from cliquey, something this club could benefit from. Paint her green.\"\", \"score\": 5}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Derek [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"My convo with [REDACTED] was dope. She is personable, friendly , and chill. She was not nervous one bit(for her second bicker) and was super easy to talk to. [REDACTED] has passion for modern art and wants to possibly pursue a career in it- which is out of the box. I like that. She just switched to being a history major (which I am as well) so we had a lot to talk about. She seems like she is bickering for the right reasons--- she really wants to be taken out of her comfort zone and meet all the kinds of interesting people ivy has to offer. I think she would make a solid member.\"\", \"score\": 4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Carolina [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] was super comfident and our conversation flowed very naturally. The skit we made her play during the double bicker moment was actually of very good quality and entertaining. She had great answers for basically all the questions that I asked her and replied extensively. I also asked her about her other bickers and she remembered them clearly, giving me names and specific qualities of the people she had been bickered by, so i could tell she was really into the conversations! I could easily see her talking natirally and extensively to the club members. If I wouls have any reservations it would be that she seemed more into talking than listening but it definitely shpwed her great energy and interest in the club.\"\", \"score\": 4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Colleen [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"My conversation with [REDACTED] was fine. She talked about her love for food, her experience working on a farm in Vermont, and her intercession trip to Puerto Rico. While she was sweet, the conversation was very forced, and she didn't make an effort to get to know me at all. When I asked her what she loved/hated about the club, her answers were very superficial (ex: likes pajama night which I didn't even know we had, and doesn't like cigarette smoke). Most of her responses were short and cliché, and I don't know if she would make an active, friendly, and valuable member... \"\", \"score\": 3}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Furman [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is probably the person I have felt most neutral about throughout all the bickerees I've had this year and last. While there was nothing particularly unenjoyable about our conversation, her comments were largely unforgettable, and I felt like I had to drive the conversation forward at different points. She is clearly a kind and intelligent person, but not necessarily someone I think would contribute anything original to the club. She didn't offer up any strongly worded opinions despite my prodding, which was disappointing. Very ambivalent about Miss [REDACTED]. "" , ""score"" : 3} , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""David [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""This girl is SO cool! She should totally be a member! We talked about how she's from Saudi and initially had a hard time adjusting to Princeton, but over time she's started to find her group. She was super honest and easy to talk to and we just had a really interesting conversation. We also talked about waterskiing and how she used it to get over her fear of jellyfish. She's a politics major and we also had a very intense (in a good way) conversation about politics. Saudia Arabia has quite the political system and she'd like to become a politician there which is quite admirable. This girl would be an interesting and fun member at meals and on nights out. LET HER IN!\r\n"" , ""score"" : 5} , , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Antoine [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""I had an awesome time getting to know [REDACTED]. She's a very sweet and genuine girl with a sick background. We bonded over speaking french. She had a thoughtful response to what she would change about ivy, saying that she would try to change the stereotypes of ivy memebbers being pretentious people. She then opened up to tell me how she had a hard time adjusting to Princeton freshman year, being very homesick. She's doing much better now and I honestly believe her when she says Ivy is the place she feels most at home. The club would totally benefit from having her as a memeber, everyone should get to know [REDACTED], she's awesome, let her in! \r\n\r\n"" , ""score"" : 5} , , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Courtney [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""If this girl doesn't get in, I would be upset beyond words. [REDACTED] is a dope girl with an amazing story and I think she would add a different perspective to the club. Since she is Saudi Arabian, she was invited to a round table at Ivy her freshman year to hear a Saudi man speak about his brother, a Princeton alum and member of Ivy. When she recounted the story to me, I was stuck by the impact the club has had on her and hope we are smart enough to paint her green. This is definitely the only reason why I want her haha she is actually just awesome and we need to PAINT HER GREEN!"" , ""score"" : 5} , , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Thomas [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Talk about a cool customer! She may be from New York but [REDACTED] is super relaxed and down to earth and extremely pleasant to talk to. She started learning Chinese at a young age so that she would get on better with her adopted Chinese sister which is awesome :) I can definitely see her being a great addition to the club. Plus she is rather attractive. "" , ""score"" : 5} , , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Matthew [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Best bicker I've had - really genuine girl, easy to talk to, and you could tell she wasn't just going through the motions of being an Ivy bickeree. Didn't seem like she was trying to build an image of any kind with her answers, just being conversational and fun. Reason for Ivy was the only personally meaningful one I've heard so far - she's from Saudi Arabia, and came to listen to a Saudi speaker at Ivy last year give a talk and receive an honorary membership; made her feel at home in an otherwise disorienting freshman year. """, ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Abigail [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] is awesome. Easily one of the best conversations I've had. She spoke articulately and genuinely about her time at Princeton and reasons for joining Ivy. We especially commiserated on our sadistic enjoyment of bad horror movies. She was so cool, I felt like the conversation rapidly turned into me trying to impress her. A politics major originally from Saudi Arabia, [REDACTED] hopes to go to law school and eventually work at the UN one day. She also made some great [REDACTED] jokes. Funny and smart! Overall just a fantastic conversation. [REDACTED] would be a great fit for Ivy. Honestly I just hope she wants to be my friend. """, ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Lyon [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Her first experience in Ivy was attending a Saudi Prince give a talk about his late brother who was a former Ivy member and Princeton Student. Beyond how fascinating her first encounter with the club was, she was so engaged and passionate about her love for horror films and physics. I really felt like she did a great job speaking to the things that most interested her while staying tuned to the things I told her about the club and all that it has to offer. She would be a welcome addition into the club. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Samantha [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Wowwww really enjoyed my bicker with [REDACTED] (awesome name!!!). She is from Saudi Arabia which I thought was really interesting and I spent a lot of the time asking her questions about her experience growing up there. She handled my questions (which I have to admit were pretty ignorant) really gracefully, and I really appreciated hearing about her life, which was very eye opening to me. I definitely learned new stuff from [REDACTED], which was very cool and made for a great conversation. She was nice, friendly, and super easy to talk to. Would love to get to know her better.""", ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Peyton [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I can definitely see [REDACTED] getting along with other people in the club. She did not have very much to say on her interest of Horror Movies but when I started asking her questions about her life I was very impressed by how interesting her life was growing up in Saudi Arabia. She seems like a girl with many stories to tell and is comfortable talking about them in a conversational setting which I think puts her as a good fit for the club. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Melissa [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""from saudi arabia and the reason for why ivy was a story about being invited to ivy last year by a professor when a saudi alum was giving a talk her and she never felt so at home \"piece of her home was in ivy\" \r\nso chill and doesn't give a fuck. doesn't seem socially climby or eager just interesting to talk to/genuine. not sure if she'd come to a ton of meals. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Onyemaechi [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Seems like a really nice girl. Struggled to have a flowing conversation and had a lot of awkward pauses as we went along. I asked what she does on campus and what her interests were and she didn't really have that many or just didn't talk about them too well. Never really had any return questions. We did have a good conversation about horror movies, but her only other hobbies were BT and wakeboarding neither of which she really delved into despite some prodding. A good sport when I asked her tough questions such as if she had ever doubted the existence of others (yes and also her own existence lol). Not sure how I feel but could be convinced. """, ""score"":3}",,,

CARD: "{""member"":""Thomas

[REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I had the most easy going and natural conversation. He is a very interesting guy who has a lot to talk about. He told me a lot about his childhood and high school life in England, and the cultural differences that he experienced. He not only had interesting answers to all my questions but also seemed to express genuine curiosity and ask me questions as well. When I asked him who he would retrohose from the club, he was a little uneasy about answering and gave a genuine answer, which somewhat surprised me, but his answer was reasonable and expressed very humbly (based on a small falling out with a member who he is now very close to). I really want this dude""", ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""David [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Ok. This dude. Damn. Absolute homie. He's an ORFE but the cool type. He's from [REDACTED] and went to boarding school in England and is so so chill. He was super interesting to talk to and we had a great convo. I also got the feeling that he would be a blast on nights out and would really really add to the club. I want him in the club so badly. """, ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Nicholas

[REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a super chill kid. One of the coolest kids I met during the bicker process, and he is a must to get into the club. A soccer/WWE fan from England that was incredibly funny and nice. He would be a perfect fit for this club. He seemed to be very outgoing and excited to meet new people from diverse backgrounds, as he said, and I think this will lead him to be an active member throughout the club. [REDACTED] is a kid I hope to sit next to during meals, so I can spend more time with him. As I said, I view him as a must to get into Ivy. Everyone will enjoy his presence. """, ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Haryuni

[REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was such a lovely bicker! He is SO smart. He's doing Pton in three years (like what....?) and is an ORFE major (MIND BLOWN) but he is \"really normal\" (he made a case to make this known haha). He was very personable and was a great conversationalist. We talked about a range of things (e.g. engines, WWE, future plans, pranks). He was charismatic and would be a great addition to the club. I really hope we paint him green. """, ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Megan [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I made [REDACTED] peddle some of my stickers to members around the club. He gave some pretty compelling sales pitches and sold a solid amount of them. He went along with it good-naturedly and he made me laugh a lot. (I gave him a free sticker at the end for his efforts.) We then sat down and talked about the superiority of the metric system, BSEs, how he's doing Princeton in three years instead of four and his time in the UK (away from Nigeria). This is a high four, he kept me incredibly engaged in conversation and seemed to be genuinely interested in hearing my opinions, even when I thought I was keeping him too long. Definitely would be an awesome addition!"" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Gabriella [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was energetic and friendly. I enjoyed hearing about his Nigerian background and schooling in England. He was easy to talk to and appeared eager to come to meals, hang out at Ivy ,and meet new people. He also was not afraid to ask me questions and turn the bicker into an enjoyable conversation. I think he would easily get along with Ivy's diverse membership. Overall, it was a good quality bicker, and I would be very happy to see him at meals and nights out. "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Sara [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was one of the most spirited bickerees I had. He was so outgoing; talking to him felt like we'd known each other for years, and he was super responsive and engaged, asking me all of my questions back and making conversation really easy and interesting. I would literally feel relieved if I came into a meal and saw a free seat next to him because he is so incredibly engaging to speak to. I think he would fit in super well and be a friendly presence in the club. Even though we had polar opposite interests, he was fantastic to talk to, and I really hope he gets in! "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Hannah [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""We had a wicked long bicker - talking bout an underwhelming Arsenal season and the merits of the club scene in NY. A self-declared Dage groupie, he ragged on the inactivity of some members but said that some of his best nights have been at Ivy formals. I'm giving him a 4 because I can see a gallant effort at attendance sophomore year but then a prolonged absence as a junior or senior. Not only was our chat very organique but also full of chuckles. Nice dude. "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Hannah [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I hit it off. He's wicked smart--I was totally blown away that he did advanced standing. He was at the same time super down to earth and a fun getting to know. He was incredibly honest and sincere, putting soccer as his interest while not making the club soccer team here, which I really admired. [REDACTED] has a unique sophistication, I enjoyed hearing about him growing up between England and Nigeria. He's clever and witty, and would be such a delight to sit next to at meals. [REDACTED] enthusiasm and energy would be a great presence at Ivy. "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Charlotte [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I was [REDACTED]'s first bicker, so I could tell she was definitely very nervous. She seems like a very sweet girl, but I could not really get much out of her. One of her interests is \"coffee\", and when I asked her about it she said that she has an espresso machine and that was about the only thing she had to say. I do commend her, however, for bickering without knowing anyone in Ivy and wanting to meet new people. I just was not particularly dazzled by her during our conversation. "" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":"" Sarah [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""First thing that sophie told me was that her mom had cut her hair because she was mad at her. strange intro to say the least. But [REDACTED] was overall pretty cool. Although I think she would best be suited for a different club. She didn't seem to know anything about ivy or anyone in the club, while i respect this completely, I feel like it also is hard to come in completely alone. Not only that but she also seems super shy. she also said she wanted to eagles to win the super bowl which is a bird... but the wrong one. Obviously only a minor detail and did not overall impact my opinion of her. She would do better in a different club"" , ""score"":2}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"Arthur [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Hard to see what's not to like about this guy. Despite it being late in the night he brought a ton of energy and enthusiasm to our conversation. Ivy has a great tradition of Nigerian members, Tobi being excepted, and I think he will be a far more active presence than his predecessor Daghe."" , ""score"":4}" , ,

CARD: "{"member" ":"Roberto [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] awesome! She's an art history major and when I told her I had never been to the museum here she immediately told me she'd give me a tour. She walked me through the history of her favorite paintings and artists, and taught me enough things so that the next time I go I don't seem like a complete idiot. It was easy to talk to her about anything, and I really appreciated her enthusiasm. It's clear that she'll be a great member, and will always come to the important events at the club."" , ""score"":5}" ,

CARD: "{"member" ":"Lyon [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I was desperately looking for a 5. And [REDACTED] came through. While our conversation may not have been super long, we were able to really dig deeply into what makes an Ivy member and what makes Art History so cool. Her unabashed love for Magritte and really bubbly person shined through in the greatest way possible. I was able to talk through random tangents in life with her while she always carried a cheery smile and passion for meeting new people. She is a gem and ivy deserves a member like her. "" , ""score"":5}" ,

CARD: "{"member" ":"Alexander [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is fantastic. She's warm, incredibly engaging, grippingly passionate about her subject and undoubtedly has her head and heart in the right place. I have no doubt she would be a committed and engaged member of Ivy. An interview highlight was her answer to \"Why not Ivy?\": because some of the members are absent and rarely show up (a concern I share) and said she could never imagine being a part of a place so incredible and not be here as often as possible. We need more strong women like [REDACTED] who are fiercely passionate about what they do, their friends and this club. P.S. The way her eyes cross a little when she gets excited is the most adorable thing I've seen all bicker."" , ""score"":5}" ,

CARD: "{"member" ":"Ruben [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was great (and international)- conversation was very easy enjoyable. We talked about her educational experience in a prison and her passion for art. She is very excited to bicker ivy and I trust she will be a (very) active member. And we will have two Molsons at breakfast!"" , ""score"":5}" ,

CARD: "{member": "Caroline [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Wow! [REDACTED] was such an absolute pleasure to talk to! She is so bright and bubbly and brought a smile to my face immediately. We had a wonderful time discussing cool documentaries and exchanging travel stories. She is so passionate about what she studies and I loved hearing about some of her favorite classes from last semester. Our conversation lasted about 40 minutes, but I am sure I could have kept talking to [REDACTED] for much longer. She was so clearly enjoying herself and having fun with the bicker process and her giddy personality was contagious. She would be an excellent addition to the club and anyone would have a great time sitting down next to her at a meal. Paint her green!", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Aubree [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is super enthusiastic about ivy and life in general. I think she would be a very committed member of the club, she talked a lot about wanting to find a close community on campus which is something that she hasn't found yet. She clearly knows a ton of people in the club and feels really at ease here, and she also expressed a ton of admiration for the \"hominess\" of the club during the daytime. I do not have any reservations about [REDACTED] being a great fit for the club. go green. ", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Benjamin [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] carried infectious energy. A late-day bicker when everyone is tired and lethargic, [REDACTED] brought an energy that kept things exciting! She's been at the club a lot, and loved the bicker process because she was able to meet other members of the club and really see how eclectic our membership is. She would be a fantastic fit and should be in no club but Ivy!", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Eduardo [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a ball of energy. My conversation seemed a bit like Dejavu, having bickered [REDACTED] way back when. Regardless, [REDACTED] demonstrated sincere individuality. We discussed the tribulations of living under her sister's shadow, which she admitted is difficult but also advantageous. [REDACTED] has had a lot of exposure to Ivy and a clear understanding of why she wants to join (outside of her sister). I believe she will be a committed member. Entering this bicker I was particularly cautious (maybe unfairly so) to make sure I evaluated [REDACTED] without bias. In the end, I can say with confidence that I would have enjoyed [REDACTED] without knowing [REDACTED]. I would be happy to walk into the dining hall and sit next her. paint her green", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Benjamin [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seems like an intelligent person and definitely knows a fair amount about art. I found her to be pleasant and she made it very clear that she thinks ivy is the place for her. At times she seemed a little too eager to agree with me, which made me wonder if she would be an independent member of the club or more of a bandwagon type person.", "score": 3},, CARD: "{"member" ":"Joshua [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]"", "content":"I think [REDACTED] is the kind of person that would make Ivy a a great place. She is genuinely interested in getting to meet people and wants to get to know as many heads as possible. She is easy-going, outgoing and funny which will make her an enjoyable person for anyone to have a meal or conversation with. Most people, including myself, just try and eat with our same group of friends each day. [REDACTED] would be happy to interact with everyone including people she does not know at all. She is also a big tennis fan which is cool and her accent reminds me of Michael Rice who I miss:/ Anyways she would be an excellent and much needed addition to the club."", "score":5}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"Leo [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]"", "content":"I fucking loved [REDACTED]. We immediately bonded over her Australian nationality and identity, and she's an absolute riot. Having already accomplished a semester of medical school under her belt, she walked on to the rugby team here and majors n COS, which is damn impressive. Despite her obvious capability, she is down to earth and incredibly easy to carry a conversation with. I felt drawn in by her easygoing nature, self-deprecation, and considerable intellect and experience. Her accent is fucking rad, not to mention, and she displayed genuine interest in my experiences of Princeton and my interests. Overall, I would be extremely pleased to sit next to her at meals and hang out with her, and I would love to paint her green."", "score":5}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"Julia [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]"", "content":"Wow. [REDACTED] is so cool. Conversation with her was so natural and unrehearsed- no awkward silences. She seems like the kind of girl who is willing to step out of her comfort zone. She joined the rugby team freshman year having never played and is a COS major despite never having coded before college. When asked which of her previous bickerers she would kill, she said Nico because he would be the biggest challenge. She wants to be in Ivy because she thinks it is a very diverse and open community compared to other clubs that tend to be divided based on teams and affiliations. I desperately started listing everything I love about the club bc I want her in so badly. Paint her green."", "score":5}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"Elizabeth [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]"", "content":"[REDACTED]. Is. Awesome. She started off telling me the story of the worst injury she'd ever had-- falling off a bouncy castle at medical school. She then taught me how to execute a rugby tackle before getting really deep and personal in a conversation about leaving her grandmother in australia to go to college in the US. I feel like I really got to know the true [REDACTED] during our walk, and that girl is so fun and gracious. She is exactly the person I want to be sitting next to at dinner, and dancing next to on saturday night. I feel like she would add so much to this club, and I really think we've gotta give her the chance to do it. ", "score":5}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"Adnan [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]"", "content":"During our conversation, [REDACTED] and I started talking about her supposed passion about rugby which she didn't seem to know a lot about. However, apart from that, I enjoyed talking to her. She was warm, friendly, and seemed passionate about Ivy and why she thought she would be a good fit for the club. I think she would be a good person to talk to at lunch and dinner because of her upbeat personality and I would recommend that we give her a place in the club. ", "score":4}"

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Nina [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] had a ton of energy and was a good conversationalist. She told me about her childhood in Australia and how she came to Princeton not knowing anyone in the USA. We spoke about her interest in rugby and her favourite things about Ivy. [REDACTED] and I didn't have a lot in common but I liked how confident and engaged she was. I could imagine her getting on with a lot of really different people, which I think is important for an Ivy member. \", \"score\" : 4 }\",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Nicolas [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Very boyish personality and awesome. Would definitely chug beers with this girl. Has been punched in the face by a kangaroo and broken her ankle while piss drunk. Gotta love the Australians. \", \"score\" : 4 }\",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Caroline [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I had a really nice time talking to [REDACTED]. The conversation was very easy and we found that we had many common interests quite quickly. I had fun discussing our mutual interest in Australian TV shows like Summer Heights High and hearing about her experience learning to play Rugby for the first time at Princeton. She seems like a super interesting girl who would have an easy time sitting down and having a conversation with anyone in the club. She was really able to speak to her interest in being a part of the Ivy community as an international student who does not have a strong connection to the states. I think she would make a good, active member of the club. \", \"score\" : 4 }\", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Chandler [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"What I liked about [REDACTED] was how well at several points while we were talking she said 'oh funny story' and launched into an anecdote that told me something endearing about her. She had engaging and seemingly unrehearsed stories about meeting Hugh Jackman, being turned off from white wine, and a bad ankle injury she got while racing through an inflatable castle during orientation of her semester at Med School. Responded a little less well to having to think on the spot when I asked slightly more creative questions. I could see her having less in common with some other members, but for my part, I thought she was high-energy and engaging while staying calm and comfortable throughout. \", \"score\" : 4 }\",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Justine [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"It is 9 pm on Monday. I am very tired. Despite this, [REDACTED] made our conversation SO enjoyable and she is so interesting that she kept me on my toes and awake through our whole conversation. She was very sweet, sensitive and passionate about so many things.\\nWe talked about her identity and being caught between two worlds (she is from Australia but both of her parents are Chinese), intersectional feminism, health policy and the inefficacy of UN sanctions. Truly could have talked about so many more topics and still be interested in whatever she had to say. She sees Ivy as her chance to get a home away from Australia, somewhere she's comfortable yet always meeting different and interesting people. \", \"score\" : 4 }\",, CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Alexander [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is incredible. She's personable, upbeat and genuine. She would be a blast on a night out and undoubtedly engaging across the dinner table. Her answers to every question were reflective of Ivy's core values of mutual respect and support. She's also unafraid to let her hair down and just be real with someone—even in a situation as stress-inducing as bicker (no small task!). [REDACTED] puts interpersonal relationships first and I have no doubt she would form lifelong friendships as a member of Ivy. """, ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Hetty [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I very much enjoyed my conversation with [REDACTED]. She was sweet and always eager to hear my side of things. When I asked her about her EAS certificate, she said that her motivation for taking Chinese was that she wanted to get closer to her younger sister, whom her family adopted from China when she was seven years old. She gave me thoughtful class recommendations and told me that her ideal nights out start and end early, a yung granny in the making. Although she was a bit nervous, I could tell that she was naturally soft-spoken and more of a listener than a talker, which I liked. I think [REDACTED] would make a great member, and I'd sit next to her at meals anyday.""", ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Antoine [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] is an energetic, sweet person. We had a pretty good conversation, she very genuinely likes meeting new people it seems... maybe a little too much so! She told me several times that she was having a great time bickering, which was a little much, and felt a little forced but I think she just very genuinely enjoyed it. She was true to herself but was just so worried about how she was doing throughout the interview, joking about how she's doing and trying to have me tell her what my impressions were. Overall though, awesome bicker, it's only because of her obsession over how she was doing that I'm giving her a 4 but it's closer to a 5 than a 3! """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Manuel [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I started our bicker as ping pong partners, and we clutched out a nail-biter. Not only is she a great ping pong player, but she's very easy to talk to. She's witty and fun, and when we got on a more serious topic like her interest in journalism and east asia, she was also really thoughtful. I'm sure she's going to be an awesome and active member of the club.""", ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Elizabeth [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was very open and easy to talk to. We talked for a short time, but in those twenty five minutes we discussed everything from her family life to insecurities she felt as a student athlete at princeton. Throughout the conversation, she stressed how much she liked that Ivy is a place where affiliations and assumptions seem to fall away and all members are invested in getting to know each other. Her openness and willingness to share these things make me think she'd be a great, active member. It's also really cool that she has a fraternal twin in a Petri dish in california. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Olutobiloba [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] started off quiet but came out of her shell over the course of our bicker. We talked about her interest in East Asian studies and why she thinks it's an important field. She mentioned how the experiences of past members she knows influenced her decision to bicker ivy. All in all it was good getting to know her and I think she would fit in well at Ivy. """, ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Justine
[REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] seems so mature for her age. She was very put together and self aware for her age. We talked about long distance relationships, her attempt not to be seen as just another athlete at Princeton. She really opened up and after a bit I, too, felt comfortable sharing some very personal things with her (she kind of had something maternal about her). She really values authenticity, and she is the kind of girl I would really like to spend a whole day with exploring a new place, but also talk about my problems knowing she'd have good advice. While at times I felt I had to keep asking questions, she had a natural confidence and relaxed energy that was refreshing after tons of excited bicker.""", ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Laura [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I really wrestled between a 3 and a 4. She's definitely not shy, and the conversation was smooth. However, I couldn't shake the feeling that she knew how to \"game the system.\" I felt like she was going through the motions, and that she may not be as willing to meet new people or be as friendly outside of bicker. I hate to make assumptions about how genuine a person is, but I could see her matching the uglier stereotypes that are attached to Ivy. I did appreciate how she talked about actively trying to work against labels; she doesn't allow being a student athlete to be her only experience, and says she doesn't like how being from NYC seems to pigeon-hole her persona here.""", ""score"":3}",, CARD: "{""member"":""Christopher

[REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] seems like a really kind and funny person. She talked about how she dropped cap (she's a junior) to bicker ivy, and I thought that showed a genuine desire to be in ivy. She had entertaining stories about being in a sprite ad campaign in china. Definitely think she'd be a good addition to the club, very engaging person""", ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Alexandra [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I think [REDACTED] would be a great addition to Ivy. I could tell she is a very social and well-rounded person, and will enhance the diversity of the club. My conversation with her flowed very naturally and I would love to sit next to her at any meal. I think she would not only fit very well here, but would also be an active member and an asset. """, ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Gabrielle
[REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] sparkles and is perfect for Ivy. She is 100% the most engaging girl I have bickered thus far and I would be so happy for her to get in. She is passionate about classical piano and told me a funny story about randomly modeling for a Sprite advertisement. She would be fun to have on the dance floor (was down to get up and juju for me) and clearly already knows a lot of the membership. It's actually surprising that she's not yet in Ivy because talking to her just feels like talking to another member. Go [REDACTED]~!""", ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Michael
[REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was very easy to get along with and we were able to connect on a lot of different areas. She's a well rounded person and somebody I would like to get to know better. She didn't find her experience at Cap to be all that she hoped, especially community-wise and believes that she can find a welcoming and close knit community at Ivy based on the friendships she's already made and the general vibe she's gotten from the club. She can get along with almost anyone really well and would make an excellent addition to the club."", "score": 5}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Samuel [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Very friendly, quietly confident which I liked. Didn't fit at Cap, which she said she took a gamble on last time as a way of avoiding being too insular (all her friends are Ivy TI even her boyfriend). Said she liked Cap but hardly spent time there. I'm sure she'd fit in here, and would participate wholly. Very talented, which is a great asset for her and for the club, were she to be accepted. Just a very nice girl. Didn't really amaze me, but I think that's pretty difficult for anyone in these circumstances. Hope she can be accommodated!\", \"score\" : 4} \", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Hannah [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Yo [REDACTED] smiled for our entire convo. She was pleasantly engaging and really sharp. After walking to Labyrinth to pick up my obscenely priced course books, we ran into my friend who had a Korean textbook in her bag. [REDACTED] immediately said hi/something/ldk in Korean to my friend (who she didn't know) and had a bouncy little conversation with her before admitting that she didn't really know that much Korean and had just visited the previous summer. Made me think she would be willing to engage with lots of different people in the club. Also I think her introspection on Cap, dropping Cap, bickering as a Junior, and the community she's looking for is a really compelling reason to let her into ivy :) \", \"score\" : 4} \", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Julia [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I really loved [REDACTED]. We talked about our shared love for choreography on Youtube (she is a good dancer, tho unlike me). Did really cool JIW on perceptions of profanity depending on race/socioeconomic status. [REDACTED] was in Cap last semester, but felt it wasn't the right fit and found herself having a better time and feeling more connected with people at Ivy. I think this is very brave to recognize, and to actively want to make a change. I had absolutely no difficulty chatting with her- she was so bubbly, friendly, and seemed interested in conversing with me and hearing about my life rather than just spitting out a prepared dialogue. I can definitely see her getting along with most people in this club.\" \", \"score\" : 4} \", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Achille [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I really enjoyed my conversation with [REDACTED]. Originally from LA, she's a member of BodyHype and a Street fashionista. She spoke candidly about her experiences as an Asian Woman on campus, and the identities that are often imposed upon her. She wants to asian women to become more visible on campus, and I respect that. If she could change one thing about Princeton, it would be the way people dress (this made me LOL). She believes in importance of cultivating a personal sense of style because fashion allows her to project her identity in multitudes, and onto the world. Let it be known that she would also be a great addition to the dance floor crew. FOUR-POINT-FIVE. Paint her Green. :) #Bamichic\", \"score\" : 4} \", CARD: "{member": "Spencer [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Really enjoyed my experience bickering [REDACTED]. She is engaging and very friendly, and the conversation flowed pretty well. I really appreciated her answers when we got to talking about her experience with Princeton E-Club and hearing more about her role with them. We also found out that we were both in Pasadena, CA at the same time over Winter Break, and we had a good chat about her thoughts on growing up in the LA area. I think [REDACTED] would be a pretty good fit in the club and I recommend her after our bicker with an up. Looking forward to hearing about others' experiences bickering her too.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Charlotte [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "To begin with, I think it is incredibly brave and admirable of [REDACTED] to drop the club she joined sophomore year and decide to bicker Ivy. I really liked [REDACTED]. She had a lot to say, was super talkative, and seemed happy to be at bicker even though I was the 10th person she spoke to. Although I admire her decision to bicker as a junior, her answers felt rehearsed or seemed like she was trying too hard. Maybe that's because she'd told the same stories 10 times, but it was a bit frustrating. I do think she would be an active member in both the day-to-day sense and on nights out, but am not entirely invested in her.", "score": 3}", OUTSIDE CARD: "{member": "Peyton [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is one of the kindest and sweethearted people that I know. Every conversation that I have with her is genuine and I never feel rushed when I talk her. I can really tell that she cares about what I have to say and she takes the time to have authentic conversations with everyone she meets. Every time I have a conversation and [REDACTED] is brought up there are only positive things to say. She already has many friends in the club and I think her friends in the club deserve to be able to spend more time with her. I know her through being a dancer on campus and I know that many of the underclassmen in Bodyhype look to her as a mentor and friend because her personality is so inviting and caring. Also our dance floor could use a serious upgrade on nights out with members that will actually utilize it. But seriously, It is so nice to see such a positive energy on campus and feel that is very hard to find here. She exemplifies everything that Ivy is and wants to be. Big up for [REDACTED]. "}"

CARD: "{member": "Krishan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Such a brilliant woman. The daughter of a Catholic and a Jew, [REDACTED] naturally found her way to Sufism. After providing me with an intro to Sufism, she spoke more about her spirituality. I was fascinated to hear how she is incorporating the concept of creating a Karma score (a belief borrowed from the Hindu religion) in the consumer lending app she has been working on. I think she would be an excellent fit for Ivy because of how fluidly and how passionately she talks about topics ranging from religion and nature to technology and innovation. I wish I asked her to be my Valentine at the end of our conversation :D", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Roberto [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a great conversation with [REDACTED] about her interest in sculptures and the Middle East. I liked how she seemed to know so much about both things, and she told stories in a way that made 45 minutes with her go by extremely quickly. It was clear she wanted to join the club to be with her close friends, but that she was looking to find people who were a lot different from her too. I think we both had very different personalities, but it was easy to talk to her because she seemed genuinely interested in hearing stories of my own. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Diego [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is an amazing girl. She is an East Asian Studies major that is so passionate about what she does, I could tell straight away that conversation with her was going to be super interesting. We talked for about 45 min and had an amazing time bonding over latin american literature, soccer and her experience at Princeton. Say no more, paint her green!\r\n"" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Adam [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] engaged intently in our conversation about her family, Near Eastern studies (her major), and her passion for creative fiction writing. She kept space for me in the conversation and asked questions that demonstrated a keen social understanding and reliability. Her interest in Islam and the Middle East provided a really interesting conversation, with respect to the recent developments of American politics and she spoke intelligently about these current issues. Sometimes it felt like she was forcing the conversation and trying really hard to be interesting, though I assume that is much more a symptom of bicker nerves than a personality trait. I would be happy to sit next to [REDACTED] at dinner and I think she would be a positive member of the club. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Nicole [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is great!! We talked for ~50 minutes and it could have easily gone longer. We connected over our shared love for creative writing and I may have convinced her to join the CompLit department, fingers crossed. It was fascinating to hear Brook talk about her love for existential literature as well as thrillers and horror movies. I had her write the intro of a short story thriller about Ivy bicker. The result was lovely (Bicker really is \"a realm of the absurd,\" as [REDACTED] eloquently put it). She has a lot of passion for her interests, which include Near Eastern Studies and playing not one, but two club sports at Princeton. Think many members would bond well with her, paint her green!"" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Benjamin [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Really nice conversation with [REDACTED], she's passionate about her studies- near eastern department and brought up some interesting stuff(lots of metaphysics). She likes ivy but recognizes the dangers that clubs and institutions pose, which tells me that she'd be a really independent member. She also seems really kind, on a first impression. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Jonathan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""She holds a good conversation and asks lots of questions in response. She is outgoing and adventurous. She seems very genuine and friendly and would integrate well into the club rather than sticking with the friends she already has. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Olivia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I was initially unsure about this chick but then she started to rap eminem off the cuff and i was sold. Very sweet and open girl. NES major. potential future cia agent. Was an awesome listener and conversationalist. Also a writer- sounds like she is trying to publish some crime fiction which is pretty dope. Very sweet and friendly chick. I think she is an awesome fit and would defos be an active and enthusiastic member.""", "score": 4},

CARD: "{ \"member\" \"Sophie [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"THIS KID HAS TO GET INTO IVY OMG I LOVE HIM. He is so smart, wonderful, an absolute treasure to sit next to. The kindest sweetheart in the world and yet an awesome sense of humor. And his accent?!? Can we just say his accent!! Reason in itself to let him in. Pls. He's the classic rower type we in Ivy love, and yet also not at all the classic rower type! Apart from being a giant I don't think I would have known he was a rower had it not been for it eventually coming out in the conversation. He had so many cool awesome things to say - we discussed UK vs US uni for ever. LOVE. PAINT HIM GREEN.\"\", \"score\": 5},

CARD: "{ \"member\" \"Jack [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Cool dude. Pretty soft spoken and understated but he seems like he's had a lot of interesting experiences. He was very natural, and wasn't trying to impress me at all - seems super comfortable with himself and not a friggin phony. He also showed me a scar from when he crashed into a wall on his road bike and it was super gross.\"\", \"score\": 5},

CARD: "{ \"member\" \"Abigail [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I think...perhaps...I am in love...again. [REDACTED] and I had a long conversation ranging from the proper execution of a Scottish accent to obscure English films and French philosophers. The man knows his post modernists.. At Princeton he balances crew with academics and hopes to later persue a career in filmmaking. In all sincerity, [REDACTED] seems like an awesome guy. Funny. Sincere. Genuine. He was so easy to talk to. I think Ivy would be more than lucky to have him. Also, [REDACTED] claims to be great friends with Ben [REDACTED]. I am sold.\"\", \"score\": 5},

CARD: "{ \"member\" \"Julia [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I really enjoyed talking to [REDACTED]. He was really genuine and friendly. He's from Scotland and interested in film making and has worked on Princeton tonight. He's interested in politics and international relations. I felt his answers reflected his humor and good nature. He is really easy to talk to and makes conversation easily and I'm sure would be a great dinner companion. I wanted to note that I may have given him a five if I had asked more interesting questions--this was my first bicker and I feel that I didn't bring the conversation beyond standard topics. I think [REDACTED] would be a great addition to the club!\"\", \"score\": 4},

CARD: "{ \"member\" \"Arthur [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Had a great conversation with [REDACTED]. He's an affable Scott who I think would make a great addition to Ivy's UK contingent. I was really impressed by [REDACTED]'s passion for filmmaking. He's shot a couple shorts and has even collaborated with our very own @Shifty Shifke on some projects. With seven rowers in the junior class, he's definitely got wine night committee potential. I'm sure [REDACTED] would be very involved in the club not only because of his crew connection, but because he's a genuine and gregarious guy.\"\", \"score\": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Nicolas [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Good lad from Scotland. Skis and Snowboards. Seems very well travelled, has a lot of interesting stories to twll. Humble, laid-back, and relaxed. Big into filmmaking, wants to go to Los Angeles. Really good guy to have in the club for conversations. ", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Francisco [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "The conversation with [REDACTED] struggled a bit at times but I ultimately left with a positive impression. His interest in filmmaking seems genuine but it was basically the main thing he mentioned when I just asked him to tell me a bit about himself and came off a bit forced. Struggling between giving him a 3 or a 4 but ultimately would like to leave it up to positive/negative impressions of other members and os that's why I'm giving him a 3. Overall, could be swayed either way. ", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Colleen [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a pretty cool guy. Not only does he have the same last name as a Victoria's Secret angel, but he's also interested in filmmaking, story telling, and history. Our conversation was a bit forced at the beginning, and it seems like it's hard for him to open up to strangers, but once he started to feel more comfortable with me, he was kind and funny. When i imagine him as an ivy member, I feel like he may be a little awkward at meals or in passing... that being said, if you talk to him for a while, he may warm up to you. 3.5", "score": 3},, CARD: "{member": "Justine [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I am OBSESSED with [REDACTED]. I knew 5 minutes in I would love her and had to stop myself after 45 minutes even though I would have liked to talk to her all through Sunday. Wow! She was so comfortable and energetic, yet thoughtful. She seems to have many interests (we talked about her ideal day in the city, love, writing and much more) and really values the close community of Ivy. She has friends from different \"groups\" in the club which I think proves how great of a member she'd be. We NEED this girl. ", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Rebecca [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Loved her. I want her to be my little sister/best friend. We need her! She was such a great conversationalist and we never stopped talking, don't think I even glanced at her sheet and could've talked to her for hours. We went through a bunch of topics, from childhood fears to greys anatomy to what makes us tick. She was funny, kind and so interesting. She was an awesome person, and would make a wonderful addition to our club and the club we could be. Paint the girl green!! ", "score": 5}"

CARD: "{member": "Ayesha [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "My best bicker yet by far. Absolutely loved talking to [REDACTED] and by the end of it honestly didn't feel like she was someone I just met. She's originally from LA and so was interesting to hear her take on Princeton/ East Coast. She was really easy to talk to, incredibly funny and just such good energy - very warm and open. Great why ivy also - from her experiences here so far (mostly meals from the sound of it) she thinks ivy surpasses her expectations of what an eating club can be. Also another addition to the breakfast crew. Absolutely someone we need to have in the club and would love to get to know her better. Paint her green! ", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Adnan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a truly wonderful girl. We talked about her interest in improv comedy (she is part of Fuzzy Dice), her fear of ketchup and wine vineyards in Aix-en-Provence, amongst many other things. She was well-spoken and talked with a confidence and openness which I found unique. She was passionate about Ivy - she loved the times she had eaten meals at the club and all the nights out that she has had so far. I deeply admire people who are completely honest about themselves and about their life experiences and we have found someone who embodies this in [REDACTED]. I cannot endorse this girl strongly enough. She would be amazing for the club.", "score": 5}"

CARD: "{member": "Jared [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was totally down to talk with me in the elevator which I appreciated - generally a really chill girl (not in the apathetic way). First actually interesting fun fact I've seen so far - has an unborn twin in a freezer somewhere. Conversation felt a little stale at first as she wasn't keen on dwelling on any particular subject or reciprocating much, but she finally loosened up about 20 minutes in once we got into meatier subjects. We bonded over being alone in Asian countries for weeks while not knowing the language, and she was surprisingly eloquent on the subject of religion, which she brought up - loved the initiative there. Would give her a five but took too much warming up.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Abigail [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is fantastic. She's articulate, kind, funny, and engaging. I thoroughly enjoyed our conversation and left feeling like I'd just been in the presence of an ethereal fairy and also gained a new friend. She's an English major who is also heavily involved in theater and improv comedy and can talk extensively and authentically about her favorite play writers and authors. She demonstrated a clear and genuine interest in Ivy, having had such positive experiences with members prior to bicker. I adamantly think she would make a great addition to Ivy. [REDACTED] is wonderful - a real gem.", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Kevin [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED]'s cool. She is in fuzzydice improv, and many of her close friends are too and don't go out much. But she spans multiple friend groups, and has many friends in Pi Phi whom she loves to go out with. Her decision to join Pi Phi was unexpected and wasn't just to not die - it was to branch out her social scene and challenge herself - I like that. [REDACTED] described so well how she feels comfortable at Ivy, and I really see her being a good, dynamic, and fun member. The once concern I'd have is how much time she'd really spend here considering her other community of friends", "score": 4}"

CARD: "{member": "Emma [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seemed really sweet. We had a nice conversation about her improv group and how she grew up on the west coast but wants to live on the east coast post graduation (a good quality in my book). She said that she decided to bicker ivy because she wanted to get outside of her comfort zone (which I thought was pretty cool) and because she really liked the vibes at meals. When I asked her what her favorite memory was from a night out at ivy, she couldn't really answer and had trouble recalling a fun night out. I kind of got the impression that she wouldn't be a super active member on nights out/members nights, which is why I'm giving her a three.", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Julian [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "She put 'improv comedy' as her interest, which is a bold move but I could tell that she was good at improvising just in conversation. Very natural conversation, not forced and she was good at coming up with witty responses. She was comfortable and engaging, but our conversations lacked serious depth and were maybe a little superficial. Overall, not an overwhelming impression, but I think she would certainly fit in here.", "score": 3}"

CARD: "{member": "Christopher [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I had a decent conversation. She seems like a nice girl but wasn't terribly engaging. Also she gave off the impression that she wouldn't be too active of a member", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Nicholas [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a very pleasant person to talk to. I really enjoyed my time spent with her, and instantly felt like I was talking to a member of the club rather than a bickeree. I know she would fit in this club perfectly. She gave a very compelling answer to the 'why Ivy?' as well. In total, [REDACTED] seemed to be kind, passionate, intelligent, humorous, person, all of which qualities I know would help her exceed in this club. I hope she manages to get in because I would enjoy spending more time with her.", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Paul [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a fantastic bicker. She was easy and fun to talk to and we immediately connected on our shared experiences as twins as well as her involvement in the great business today organization. I found myself genuinely interested in her stories about synchronized swimming and her love of baking and I think she'd be a great person to sit next to at an Ivy meal. People will of course think of Jacquie when they bicker her, but she brought her own convincing and original reasons for wanting to join Ivy. I think she'd be the kind of enthusiastic, dedicated member that comes to all of our members nights; we'd be lucky to have her in our club.", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Christian [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a self-proclaimed bad dancer, but I don't buy it. We spoke about her career as a synchronized swimmer, and if she could get down to Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata in the water what's going to stop her from nailing the running man on a night out. More than someone who will be an active social member, [REDACTED] is also deeply thoughtful. She was initially hesitant to join Ivy since it was the club her sister was in and the one many of her friends are bickering as well. All things considered, she still chose Ivy with the explicit intention to meet a diverse new group. She has already bickered with a diverse mix of club members and enjoyed them immensely. Hopefully they did too!", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Charles [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] has a disarming charm that made our conversation very enjoyable. We talked at length about the respective merits of the Canadian and British political systems. Our views aligned, which is lucky for her. Aside from having funny answers to my questions, it was an excellent two way conversation. She was too nice to slate any of her previous bikerers even when pushed, but can't hold that against her. She did, however, clarify that she is different from her sister. If that means anything to anyone. She would be excellent mealtime conversation and said she would be a leading member on members nights. Paint her green!

"" , ""score"":5}"

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Jan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Caro seems awesome and cheerful. She made me smile and I really enjoyed our conversation. She has an impressive past with the Canadian sinc swimming team which gives her genuine self confidence. Netherless, she is a grounded personality which I am sure would be a great addition to the club. I am happy that I had the chance to bicker her and really hope to see more of her in ivy in the future. Two thumbs up for Caro. Paint her green. "" , ""score"":5}" , CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Fabian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I enjoyed talking with [REDACTED], she was charming and engaged in our conversation. Her favourite food to cook is pastry but her favourite meal is pasta. We have lots of pasta. "" , ""score"":4}" , CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Katherine [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was SO AWESOME!!! He has the sweetest laugh that made me smile and he was so nice to talk to. He said he's loved bicker so far bc he's met so many amazing people and he said if the people he's met are indicative of the club then he likes ivy even more. He seems like someone who would be able to sit down at a meal and make friends with anyone around him. I feel like he just has a really kind heart and also knows how to have a good time. He's super smart and nice and I think he would be a good member--paint him green :) :) "" , ""score"":4}" , CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Alexander [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is so sweet! I think she would be a friendly face in the club, would enjoy meeting new members and branch out to find new friends. I'm also sure she would be very involved socially (read: nights out) and be a positive presence at meals. Being in Ivy clearly means a lot to her and I have no doubt she would find her niche within the club. I also think she would contribute to a supportive club environment in terms of really being there emotionally for fellow members. She has a passion for mental health advocacy and would be someone on whom many current and future members could rely. "" , ""score"":4}" , CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Samantha [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Very solid bicker with [REDACTED]. I found her to be extremely poised and well composed. She was very good conversationalist and this bicker definitely felt very much like a conversation and not an interview at all. The conversation was pretty effortless which was refreshing! We both were skiing over intersession so it was fun to share stories about our similar trips. Also- [REDACTED] has a food instagram account- a girl of my kind. Though the conversation was really great and flowed easily, my only qualm is that some of it came off a bit prepared/rehearsed. "" , ""score"":4}" ,

CARD: {"member": "Aubree

[REDACTED] bickeree: [REDACTED] content: [REDACTED] is a very pleasant conversationalist. She is into baking, and is a twin! I think she could be a dedicated ivy member, she appreciates princeton for all of the cool people she gets to meet. She expressed interest in meeting every member in ivy. It was a pretty surface level conversation, I didnt walk away feeling like I got to know her very well. I guess I feel pretty neutral. I was her first bicker though so maybe she was just nervous. , score: 3}, CARD: {"member": "Lyon [REDACTED] bickeree: [REDACTED] content: This one is kind of difficult because I want to pull for her so much more, but maybe she was shy or something, but she was having a hard time relaying how wonderful she truly was. Amateur Baker, former Canadian National Team swimmer, beloved friend and teammate, she has had many great experiences to share, but she just did not really convey it the best way in this conversation. I desperately wanted her to dig deeper into her past and am disappointed it couldn't have gone better. I was her 6th bicker already and it does definitely take a toll, and I dont thinkn she's a bad fit at all. But bicker is bicker and this conversation could've been better. #trusttheprocess, score: 3},

CARD: {"member": "Charles [REDACTED] bickeree: "

[REDACTED] content: [REDACTED] and I had a lovely conversation about an eclectic mix of topics. She talked about her passion for medicine - she wants to be a surgeon - and then seamlessly transitioned into pontificating about her love of food, especially sushi. She said that she is bickering Ivy because of the food. Clearly Chef Jean has changed perceptions. I think she would be a great member. She is a type b girl. Could do with a few more of those. Plus she said she would be at every member's night decked out in full fancy dress. Good lass. , score: 5},

CARD: {"member": "Katelyn [REDACTED] bickeree: [REDACTED] content: wow. ivy member. right now. so nice so cute so kind so easy to talk to. she reminds me of people in the club SO MUCH. loved her. keeping this short to make my point clear. a really great person, screams ivy, let her in, the end. such an easy 5 to give. , score: 5}, CARD: {"member": "Folasade [REDACTED] bickeree: [REDACTED] content: Wow [REDACTED] felt like an old friend! She was probably one of my favorite bickers and not because anything extraordinary happened but because I felt she was very genuine and was more interested in just meeting new people and getting to know me. She was such a gem and I want to get to know her more. I would be excited to see her around the club and to have meals with her. She wants to do Ivy because she feels like there is such a diverse group of people here. She is a Miami girl and is on the Cheerleading team, does a lot of work in the pace center, and is a CA leader. Paint her green! , score: 5}, CARD: {"member": "Arthur [REDACTED] bickeree: [REDACTED] content: My conversation with [REDACTED] got off to a slow start, I assume she was thrown off by the pedo 'stache. Once she started to open up, we had a really good conversation about favorite classes and study abroad. I think she'd be a great addition to the club, and a great Latina Miami mami for the newly single Manuel [REDACTED] IV. Paint her green. , score: 4}, CARD: "{member": "Gonzalo [REDACTED]", "bickeree": [REDACTED], "content": "Had a great bicker with [REDACTED]! She is a spicy Latinx who likes Argentine cumbia villera music, but unfortunately already has an Argentine boyfriend :(. She is really great to talk to and I'm confident she'd be a wonderful addition to the club. She studies politics and has a particular interest in global trade policy. She's also premed, does cheerleading, and is very active with pace center and community outreach. [REDACTED] loves to party. In addition to the cumbia reference above, she told me she's dying to participate in our spring members' nights, with special shout outs to tour de franzia. Though I'm listing superficial things, she had a superb ease with conversation and was an excellent bicker all around", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Sara [REDACTED]", "bickeree": [REDACTED], "content": "I had such a natural, sweet and fun conversation with [REDACTED]. She is very latin-blooded, which seeped through in her warmth, smile and light-heartedness. Her bubbly and witty personality, I believe, would be a great fit for Ivy. We spoke about friendships, boyfriends, intersession, apple bongs !!!! -- this girl is cool. Also made her a kill-fuck-marry the three members that had bickered her before me... which resulted in fucking Gonz, killing Shaw, and marrying Arthur. In addition to being outgoing and laidback, [REDACTED] also showed perseverance and hardwork. As a sophomore she is working at a bank in NY this summer, I was very proud. She would make a genuinely great Ivy and LIVYYYY member that I think we would all love :) ", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Diego [REDACTED]", "bickeree": [REDACTED], "content": "My conversation with [REDACTED] was very interesting, she is from Miami and has an interesting perspective on things here at princeton. She is a politics major and we talked about her plans for the summer and how she is combining her passion for medicine with politics. I think she would be an interesting girl to talk to over a meal, however my only concern would be how active she would be as a member. She seemed a little shy and conversation was a little awkward at times. Maybe it was just nervousness because of the bicker process, but overall I felt she was interesting.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Ruben [REDACTED]", "bickeree": [REDACTED], "content": "[REDACTED] is a spicy girl from Miami. She had some cool stories (about her being a fugitive in the Bahamas but not really). Very outgoing and genuine, she would get along with members in the club and is fun to be around. She is pre-med but going to Deutsche Bank next summer, which is kinda savage.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Ana [REDACTED]", "bickeree": [REDACTED], "content": "I liked [REDACTED] a lot. We talked about her experience growing up in Miami, her siblings, and her potential future as a doctor. I felt like she was super comfortable in conversation and seemed genuinely interested in getting to know me. I can't really articulate what it was about her, but she's someone that I would choose to eat next to at meals and would certainly like to get to know better. Also, we have the same favorite movie and the same favorite artist. Good Will Hunting and Shakira!! Crazy. I'm so tired, sorry sorry, but I did like her and she was super nice. Not so deep tho, I think. ", "score": 4}",

CARD: "{member" ":"Jason [REDACTED]","bickeree":" [REDACTED]","content":" [REDACTED] is a champ. She came on a little strong at first, but she's unbelievably interesting, creative and passionate. She's full of energy and opinions. She told me about her desire to be Haitian growing up, how elephants have religion, how intensely she loves her family and how strongly she feels towards her Nigerian heritage. We really connected and the conversation could've gone on longer. Would be a great energy to have around Ivy -- the club could use more down-to-earth, spirited people like her favorite Disi girl Fola. She wasn't afraid to be vulnerable and I could see she'd fit right in with Ivy's community and genuinely appreciate the new, tight-knit connections she'd form in the club. Paint her greeeeeen!","score":5}",

CARD: "{member" ":"Ayesha [REDACTED]","bickeree":" [REDACTED]","content":"LOVED [REDACTED]. Definitely my favorite bicker today. She exudes this sense of confidence without being overbearing at all and is just so fun to talk to while being totally honest and open. We talked about random encounters she's had with strangers, the challenges of keeping a journal and finding small communities in big cities. She has a really warm presence and is someone I feel like I could talk to for hours without getting bored. She wants to join Ivy because she thinks it's the place she feels most comfortable and also loves the bicker process and how it makes her feel like she can just completely be herself. Would love to get to know her better and I think other members would too!! ","score":5}",

CARD: "{member" ":"Melissa [REDACTED]","bickeree":" [REDACTED]","content":"really values community and being part of the ivy community. which is a much more genuine answer for why ivy than others gave. liked blivy and does a lot of things like voice overs for tv shows and wants to add african food to the ivy menu! super cool new perspective! doesn't seem to go out much. ","score":4}",

CARD: "{member" ":"Adam [REDACTED]","bickeree":" [REDACTED]","content":" [REDACTED] and I had a good conversation. She has a lot of self confidence in a good way. Lauren and Megan were making two kids dance, and [REDACTED] joined just for fun. At first, we had trouble finding a mutual interest, just because we don't have very many (she loves dancing and I can't dance). We did find mutual comments though and had a fun conversation about reading / books. I asked her if she had any questions about the process, and she asked some very good and genuine questions about the process. We had a good conversation and she would be a god dinner partner!","score":4}",

CARD: "{member" ":"Jordan [REDACTED]","bickeree":" [REDACTED]","content":"What a fun girl!! She had so much energy and smiled the entire time. She showed me a couple of her favorite songs on her phone and even offered to perform a dance that a disiac alum taught (I obviously took her up on it). We talked primarily about her love of hip hop, the bachelor, and new york city, where we both grew up. She wants to join Ivy because of the close knit BLIVY group and is already close with a lot of members. I think she'd be a fabulous member of the club bc she's incredibly outgoing and bubbly. ","score":4}",

CARD: "{member" ":"Nina [REDACTED]","bickeree":" [REDACTED]","content":" [REDACTED] had a cool backstory- she taught herself to speak Korean by watching TV. She generally seemed independent, confident, and very outgoing. I thought she had great energy and enthusiasm and I could see her bringing a lot of life to this Ivy class. We didn't really click but I don't think that was a failing of hers, we were just super different people. Nice girl who I think would add something different to the club. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Jack [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": "" [REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""I ended up really enjoying my time with [REDACTED], though it took a little while. She turned out to be very nice and self aware. She described herself as \"emotionally available, honest, and not cool,\" when asked to encapsulate herself in three words. That was a nifty choice. Summed herself up well. She dances and is an actor and is pretty low key about it so that's cool too"" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Haryuni [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": "" [REDACTED]"" , ""content"": "" [REDACTED] was really sweet. We bonded over food, her acting career (she's been a voiceover on a children's show) and her obsession over Asian TV series (she taught herself Korean because of it). She checked her phone a few times during bicker, so that threw me off a bit but I guess it's getting late. We didn't hit it off as well as we could have but she did give very genuine answers to all my questions, even if they may not be necessarily the right 'bicker answers.' "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : null , ""bickeree"": "" [REDACTED]"" , ""content"": "" [REDACTED] and I had a good conversation. She has a ton of self confidence in a great way. Lauren and Megan were making two bicker kids dance, and she joined in just for fun. At first, we had trouble finding common ground just because we have few mutual interests. (She loves dancing and I can't dance for my life) We kept trying though and had a great conversation about books / reading. I asked if she had any questions about the process, and she really opened up about what she did not know about the process - it was all very genuine. She was fun to speak with and would be a good dinner partner at Ivy! "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Benjamin [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": "" [REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""I'm still pretty unsure how I feel about [REDACTED]. While she was brave enough to answer embarrassing storyquestions, I felt like we clashed and much conversation was forced. She seemed nice and genuine for the most part, however at times she seemed stand-offish. I could be swayed either way based on how other members felt. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Kial [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": "" [REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""Conversation didnt go that well and wasnt smooth. She was somewhat rude once or twice/condescending. Might have picked up wrong vibes but didnt feel like I could have a good conversation and there were awkward silences "" , ""score"":2} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Vivian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": "" [REDACTED]"" , ""content"": "" [REDACTED]'s the kind of person that Ivy desperately needs more of: He is charming, intellectual, and !!!genuinely interested in getting to know every single member!!! I'm so sure that the other bickerers will paint [REDACTED] as a quiet, nerdy guy who won't have fun during Ivy's social events, but I beg to differ because I actually took the time to question him on this. He has been to all of Ivy's big nights this year like Speakeasy, Risky Business, etc., and frequents the club on nights out. [REDACTED] is not the type of person to bicker Ivy just because it's Ivy, so I trust that he truly has tons of fun at Ivy, and I would be extremely disappointed if the membership hoses him. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Benjamin [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : [REDACTED], \"content\" : \"Very laid back guy. I like how he talks about art and books in a way that I really enjoyed. His answer to my philosophical question was one of the best I've heard so far and I actually want to check out the movie he recommended. He seems like an intelligent, thoughtful person.\"\", \"score\" : 5}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Benjamin [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : [REDACTED], \"content\" : \"Very laid back guy. I like how he talks about art and books in a way that I really enjoyed. His answer to my philosophical question was one of the best I've heard so far and I actually want to check out the movie he recommended. He seems like an intelligent, thoughtful person.\"\", \"score\" : 5}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Rebecca [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : [REDACTED], \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] was really engaging, super sweet and a delight to talk to. Although he came across as fairly subdued, he was very polite, listened intently and definitely had a lot to offer to our conversation. He really seemed passionate about the things that he was involved in from biology to running and we bonded over our mutual love of neuro. I think he would be a wonderful addition to any dinner conversation and his insights into our various topics and variety of interests would help any topic blossom. I would jump to sit with him and learn more about him as person; I hope that I get the chance to. \"\", \"score\" : 4}"

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Matthew [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : [REDACTED], \"content\" : \"Was concerned at first because the conversation was somewhat vanilla and quiet, but became much more interesting when we started talking about his actual interests rather than general smalltalk. He became much more engaging and interesting as he relaxed, and ended up being a good bicker overall. He comes off at first as somewhat reserved, but once comfortable is the kind of well-rounded and interesting person we want in the club. Seemed genuinely interested in being shown around/told about the club, and wishes he was born in the 20s after Speakeasy.\"\", \"score\" : 4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Vera [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : [REDACTED], \"content\" : \"Was at first neutral, because he seemed a little quiet/boring. But after asking him a few more questions that were more directed at his actual interests, he gave some genuinely interesting answers. Conversation got much better as he became more relaxed, and ended up being a good bicker in the end. Seemed enthusiastic when I showed him around/told him about Ivy, wishes he was born in the 20s after Speakeasy. Would be interested to get to know him better.\"\", \"score\" : 4}"

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Kial [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : [REDACTED], \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is a very nice dude. I liked the fact that he chose to bicker Ivy even though he knew no one here he stated. I think thats pretty gutsy to do the club that none of your friends are doing. \"\", \"score\" : 4}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Mina [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : [REDACTED], \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] was great! Mol bio major who is looking forward to being a doctor and saving the world one day. Good kid but pretty shy, particularly given i was his 10th bicker. However, he really opened up towards the end of the convo and shared with me his passion for his hometown in virgina. More so than any other bickeree tho, he impressed me with his \"why ivy\". He sees the club really as a club whose culture is oriented to fostering new, genuine relationships between its members. Also, he is a very southern Richmond VA peep looking to join nyc high life foreign club, which is nice. "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Gabriella [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":"" [REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I thought [REDACTED] was very sweet, but he was a little hard to talk to. Perhaps he could open up more when you get to know him, but I did not feel that he was particularly effusive. I asked him about his daily life, and it did not seem like he was big on eating meals with people. He enjoys cooking and eats lunch with the same person everyday. Not that these are bad things, they make me unsure that he would be a very active member of the club. So, again, he was a sweet person, but I am not sure he would make the best member. "" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":""Aubree [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":"" [REDACTED]"" , ""content"":"" [REDACTED] is a really nice guy. I enjoyed getting to know him as much as i did, even if our conversation got off to a bit of a slow start. He would be a pleasant person to sit next to at a meal and I think he would be a nice friend to anyone who made the effort to get to know him. I wish he had been a bit more outgoing in talking about what he likes to do, he said that he doesnt have really any free time because he is pre med. Which was just kind of a funny thing to say. I do not feely strongly either way about [REDACTED]. "" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":""Samantha [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":"" [REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""My bicker with [REDACTED] was ok. We spoke about his plan to run across the country this summer which seemed pretty sweet, and his hometown (Richmond, Virginia). My biggest issue with [REDACTED] was that I found him to be pretty monotone and unenthusiastic about the things we spoke about. It was especially disappointing because he had some really cool stuff to discuss but his intonation was just flat. Maybe this is just the way he speaks normally, but I had a hard time enjoying the conversation when he seemed kinda bored with it himself. "" , ""score"":2}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Joshua [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":"" [REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""She is a great girl. Very interesting and engaging. She discussed her interest with the middle-east and fighting with her siblings etc. and it seems to me that she can talk at length about many different topics. A real knower of knowledge. As a member she would be very active and talked about wanting to spend time at meals, nights out and what not and I think the club would really benefit from having her. She told me that she likes Ivy because she thinks that there are many different types of people and she wants to get to know people of different backgrounds and mindsets. "" , ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Folasade [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":"" [REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""This girl is lit! I was pretty tired during this bicker but this girl got me so excited!!! She is so freaking thoughtful and mature and you can tell she was very genuine and sincere about her answers. She was also very open and was able to be personal with me which is something I think is great because it means that she will have no problem getting to know other members. I am positive she would be a great member and go out of her way to meet new people and would be a joy to anyone with whom she sat down and ate a meal. Ivy needs a girl like her and I want to be her friend!!! Paint her green! "" , ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{member": "Alexandra [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was definitely one of my best bickerees. I was really impressed by how mature and genuine she seemed, and I was able to go beyond just a superficial or forced conversation and actually connect. I think that her international background gives her a lot of depth, and I can tell she is a truly interesting person with a lot to offer. I think that she would be a great contributor to the diversity that makes Ivy so great, and that she would be an excellent fit for the club.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Eduardo [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] (aka [REDACTED]) is a top girl. here is why. 1. she has a dope sense of style. not sure if she threw on the glasses to give her that Michael Moorin ivy-intellectual edge, but self-identifying as a Ravenclaw convinced me she's the real deal. 2. [REDACTED] knew of about my hometown. Can you believe it?!?! m who has ever heard of Enid, OK? Growing up in UAE [REDACTED] had exposure to military personnel, and the UAE pilots would trained on the base I grew up on! 3. [REDACTED] is altruistic. [REDACTED] volunteered with the Palestinian child relief fund throughout middle and high school. not that bs add to my resume volunteering. that real, effin boots on the ground, altruism", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Maechi", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Really cool girl. Had a great 1 hour conversation. She has a really interesting and unique background coming from the UAE and talked about the cultural differences between here and there. She is very into Harry Potter though not as much as me as she hadn't taken the OFFICIAL pottermore house and patronus quizzes. She seems really outgoing and driven and I think she would be a very active member here.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Olivia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Half Emerati/Half Lebanese chick who grew up in Abhu Dhabi. Had a very chill conversation about food, community, being an international student, skiing in Switzerland etc. V funny and outgoing. Hilarious story about meeting JK Rowling. Could definitely see her as part of the ivy community and I think she would be a very active and involved member.\n", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Diego [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is an awesome and interesting girl! We had a very interesting conversation about the middle east and we bonded over her passion for skiing and her desire to visit Portillo (ski center in chile). The conversation was super interesting and I really think she would be a very good addition to the club, very unique perspective growing up in the middle east! \n\n", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Justine [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Kids these days have so much energy. If someone can make it bicker 10 with so much energy and passion you just know they'll make it to breakfast (which she loves making and would never miss) AND cup duty. [REDACTED] reminded me a lot of my young self because she uses her hands to talk A LOT and loves taking snaps of food. Besides that, she seemed to put so much thought into everything she said while still staying genuine, she is very attached to her family and I loved discussing the importance of hard work, mentorship and shoes! She is really fun and self aware, and would really be an interesting and lively person sit next to at dinner!", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Christopher [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I had an okay conversation. We talked some about the differences between the various emirates. She's a nice girl with an interesting background but wasn't that engaging or funny. Also gave off a bit of an impression that she wouldn't be a super active member", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Aubree [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a very talkative bicker. I am sorry to say that I wasn't super into her vibes, but I could totally be convinced otherwise if people had stellar things to say about her. We talked about growing up in the UAE and her difficulties making time with her family. She also compared being sick in her Wilson quad to being in prison, and that just kind of rubbed me the wrong way. We will see I guess.", "score": 3},, CARD: "{member": "Jonathan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "She's great, she was really easy to talk to. She had a lot to say and has a really interesting personality. She would be a great member and would bring a lot to the club. The conversation was natural and easy going. We stopped because I felt bad for taking too long.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Kial [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was really cool and we had a very fluid conversation. I think she'd be a great person to have in the club and would enjoy having meals with her. She was very funny and told a good joke. Her reasons for doing ivy were very genuine as well.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Achille [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "My conversation with [REDACTED] started off as a double bicker. But within a few minutes we became so engrossed that we decided to ditch the group. [REDACTED] started her Pton career in the c/o 2017, but took time off for health reasons. I really appreciated how candidly she spoke about her struggles, and how they've emboldened her. I was so moved by her story and experiences. The thing she hates most about Pton is how apathetic ppl can often be. She's not invested in the mystique of 'the Ivy club' unlike other ppl I've bickered. She had trouble finding her footing since coming back to Pton, and is yearning for a new community. I think [REDACTED] would thrive here. Paint her green. #Bamichic_", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Sophia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] has a very sparkly quality to her and is a gem! She is so personable and she reminds me of a fairy who would listen attentively to the concerns of others! We talked about a lot but I also love the way she speaks and think she has a lovely quality about her.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Tyler [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] revealed a lot about himself and his passions during our conversation. He's very much into COS, is a self-described foodie, and he likes traveling (Japan is at the top of his list of places to go). He spoke about really liking the conversations he's had with Ivy members, and those conversations inspired his decision to bicker. He came across as a super intelligent person with a lot to say, but the conversation ran like an interview as if he were presenting himself to me in the format of a resume. I was his first bickerer so wouldn't necessarily hold this against him. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Matthew [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":"" [REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""It would be an absolute travesty if [REDACTED] didn't get into the club. I maybe fell in love a bit but i can imagine that most people do - she certainly has a charm over people she meets. We had a great conversation and I didn't need to make an effort to get to know her as she opened up right from the start. She would be a geat fit for the club socially, and would be a delight at the dinner table. I really hope that the rest of her bickerers had similar experiences because I truly believe it would be a disaster for us to deny [REDACTED] a place in the club. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Christopher [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":"" [REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I had a great conversation. She's just come back to Princeton after two years off, so it was interesting hearing about her experience readjusting to life on campus, especially what with being a couple years older than her sophomore peers. She's involved in some cool activities: once a week she goes to tutor inmates at a prison. She has a passion for sculpting, which she learned from her Holocaust-survivor grandmother. I got the impression that she really likes Ivy and would be an active member. [REDACTED] was totally at ease during our conversation; definitely approached bicker in a more natural way than most. Totally deserves a spot in the club. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Ruben [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":"" [REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is very nice and I really enjoyed bickering her. After 5 minutes, we were able to have a deep conversation about her family and interest in linguistics and how it all connects. She's a bit shy and likes to stay in her comfort zone but I think that bringing her to ivy will be great for her. I feel other members will really like her - I hope she gets in! "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Lyon [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":"" [REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""(Amine Voice) [REDACTED], you divine. Was a wonderful soul to talk with and her calming presence shined throughout our conversation. We started on her appreciation of her grandparents and old people then segwayed into a great dialouge about Jewish Identity, and ultimately wrapped up with who her favorite Ivy Member was: Nat. The way she described how she was most proud of how Nat blossomed after becoming a member of Ivy was very touching and a great tidbit about what the club is all about. #[REDACTED]4Ivy"" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"James [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":"" [REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] seemed like a very nice girl, we talked for a half hour and although she started off a little stiff, over the course of our conversation she warmed up and was very enjoyable to talk to. We had an interesting conversation about taking time off from princeton, and she feigned some interest in sports. Overall, the conversation we had was pleasant, and left me with the impression that [REDACTED] would be a great addition to the club. "" , ""score"":4} ,

OUTSIDE CARD: "{"member" ":"George [REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "[REDACTED] was one of my first friends at Princeton and though she spent the last two years away from school, she has remained one of the most treasured friends I've made here. She sometimes speaks in whimsical riddles yet is incredibly, almost frustratingly engaging. She blankets a sharp wit with a smiley exterior that leave one feeling both charmed and outsmarted. [REDACTED] is famously independent and honest; I am often envious of her way of going to the beat of her own drum. I have seen her demonstrate a profound sense of empathy countless times, for example letting me and Jundy crash by her notorious \"dogbed\" after a long night chatting together in her room. I have no doubt that [REDACTED] would be one of the best possible additions to the club we could make this spring and will mesmerize any and all who have the chance to share a meal with her. I admire her immensely and think she is one of the most genuinely bossy people I have met at Princeton. And above all else, [REDACTED] is da realest. If she ever seems to be on a different wave length, it's because she's two steps ahead of you. Every deep chat I have with her makes me feel wiser and happier. All of this is to say that [REDACTED] is the best vibes possible for the club. I tried to do Command+U for an umlaut accent over the u in club but no luck ... nat >:-0 """}",,,,,,,,,, CARD: "{"member" ":"David [REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "[REDACTED] was an incredibly interesting guy. He is VERY into politics and we had an intense discussion about the world's issues. He's very down to earth and passionate about policy and even interned as a speechwriter for the mayor of Atlanta on his gap year. He would make meals infinitely more interesting but might not come out too much. Idk. I think he should be admitted. xoxo. hi mina."","score":5}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Gianna [REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "Really awesome bicker. [REDACTED] was a super interesting person to talk to, definitely someone I would love to have at meals. Our conversation ranged from his gap year to traveling to his dream to write a novel. He was down to be silly (he read 50 shades of grey excerpts to the great hall) and seems like he would be fun to have around the club and members nights. So far, my favorite conversation of the day."","score":5}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Madeleine [REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "What an interesting dude!! He's a weirdo for sure, and this club is way too cool these days, so paint him green. Took a gap year to work for the mayor of atlanta, which takes guts. Favorite class was creative writing with Eugenides, which means he has good taste, and recommended I read some books that I actually want to read, which means he's interested in what you have to say. He is the epitome of someone who, when I'm grumpy AF, if I saw at dinner he would make me smile, engage me, but also not judge me if I wanted to just chill. Seriously, this kid is nothing less than fascinating, and optimistic without being fake. I love him! Hope everyone does too!!!","score":5}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Peyton [REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "This dude was my favorite bickeree so far. We connected on so many things. His knowledge of hip-hop, basketball, and literature was incredible. I had to stop myself from making this an hour long bicker because I wanted to talk about so many things with him but I had already made up my mind about him.

There is also the fact that I see him getting along with so many members of the club and I think that everyone should get to know [REDACTED].", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Deana [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I had a great conversation. He's from New Haven and his father is a professor at Yale, but he wanted to come to Princeton to 'have another place that's special' to him. He's extremely creative and enjoys writing fiction. He hopes to do a creative thesis that focuses on the transition period between high school and college, which he was excited to talk about. He seems to genuinely like Ivy and was excited to meet new people during this process. I think he would be a good fit and someone people would like getting to know and go out with. He also seems very down to earth and was also asking me questions throughout the process so I liked that level of comfort.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Isabel [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is one of the most interesting people I've met during bicker. He is incredibly thoughtful and talked with great passion about his time as a speech writer during his gap year as well as some of the amazing creative writing classes he has taken at Princeton. He kept our conversation moving very naturally and was a real pleasure to talk to. He really appreciates how everyone in Ivy seems genuinely interested in each other, which I think is true, and made many perceptive comments about his time at meals and on nights out. I would very much enjoy sitting next to [REDACTED] at dinner and know that he would provide stimulating conversation at all times. Paint him green!", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Matthew [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Very impressive guy - spent the summer speechwriting for the DNC and the Mayor of Atlanta. Has general interests in creative fiction and public policy, which I can say I've never seen before and will never see again. Only reason it's not a five is because I could've been better convinced that his interest in the conversation was genuine - he presented so well that it seemed a little stilted. But overall seems like a great guy, and someone who would really add a unique personality to the club.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Gabriela [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is the quirky addition Ivy has been looking for! He honestly got so excited every time I mentioned something about myself that he found interesting (which was literally anything I said about myself), it was both endearing and refreshing. He also seems passionate about his working in politics and also his newfound love of wellness and mindfulness. Conversation was far from boring and [REDACTED] forced me to think deeply about my own interests and passions, as he was never satisfied with a superficial answer. That being said, he never came across as nosy or invasive - just genuinely curious.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Julian [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "He is incredibly smart and driven. I was impressed when he told me that in high school, he was involved in working with people with autism. He is also a fiction writer, but when I asked him in more detail about what he wrote, I didn't really get a clear idea. He seemed uncomfortable (which is understandable) but not good at keeping a conversation going. Overall nice guy, but didn't stand out to me.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Benjamin [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] definitely seems like an intelligent, interesting individual, but I feel like he didn't do a great job holding up his end of the conversation. I admire his interest in philosophy and the philosophy list serve that he set up, but he struggled when I asked him a question about philosophy. I think he could integrate himself into the club, but it might take a little more work than for most people.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Samantha [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had an absolute blast during my bicker with [REDACTED]!!! He was so easy to talk to and it totally felt like a conversation and not an 'interview.' We bonded over our love for dogs and dog instagrams (turns out we are both avid fans of loki the wolfdog), the #engineeringlife, and fun traveling experiences. I would definitely want to get to know [REDACTED] better at a meal or around the club. Part of why he wants to join Ivy is because he thinks the members are 'cool but also weird' which I totally vibe with. Can definitely see him frequenting meals and on showing up strong on nights out!!", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Hannah [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I walked away from Bicker feeling like [REDACTED] is my new best friend. He's quirky and fun, and showed amazing initiative in bicker. He suggested we out for a walk--he sees the campus from such a unique perspective. Showing me how the light hits certain statues and where from certain angles the buildings look like a city skyline. He showed me art I had never. He has an entrepreneurial spirit, he told me about the book rental shop he started in middle school. He's honest, he said yes to my question 'do you like gossip' (I mean who doesn't) He told me creative ways to recover from my food poisoning after experience from his 3 years in Singapore. Please paint my new best oes", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Isabel [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a total weirdo in all the best ways. I loved this kid. He totally took the initiative and asked if I wanted to go for a walk, which I loved, and immediately put me at ease and made me laugh with his ridiculous stories about convincing his parents he was still on the track team by purposefully giving himself a terrible haircut to fit in with the team. We talked a lot about language structure and running, whilst he made me dye laughing with his absurd stories. [REDACTED] is someone that I would long to sit next to at meals - he is a true gem and the club deserves to see his amazing, crazy weirdness. He is a STAR.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Matthew [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was easy going and a great guy who I think would make a great addition to the club. He used to be a member of the track team and is now more of a social member - so I can imagine he would be good fun on a night out. He is very international, his parents are from Norway and Sweden, and he spent three years living in Singapore. He liked Ivy most for the people he has met in the club (he mentioned Maechi which is an immediate plus) and I think he genuinely meant what he said.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Arthur [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a little trouble having a normal conversation with [REDACTED] just because he talked so fast and seemed a little distracted. This was probably a function of nerves, and I'm giving him the benefit of the doubt. It's that same energy that I could also see being an asset to the club, as I got the impression that [REDACTED] would be an an involved member at meals and an enthusiastic participant in members' nights. "" , ""score"" :4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Konadu [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"" : ""Patr-eek was chill af. In all seriousness, the conversation was very easy and he seemed like a kind of strange but very thoughtful person. He told me a lot about what it was like growing up in England and Singapore, his family, his videography skills and about what went into his decision to quit the track team. And a bunch of other things that I honestly don't remember because the conversation was just so easy. I even forgot to ask the questions that I prepared beforehand because the conversation flowed pretty naturally. He was just super real, which I appreciated. Let him in! "" , ""score"" :4} , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Spencer [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"" : ""Had a solid experience bickering [REDACTED]. He seems like a really nice guy and was easy to talk to/get to know. I loved hearing about his experiences traveling around SE Asia while in school/living in Singapore and his travels in Norway (I think he said he's half Norwegian). He's a pretty easygoing guy and I think would be a welcome presence at meals and around the club. He also was interested in hearing about my time abroad and did a nice job keeping the convo going. I would give him a 5 but our convos didn't seem to go too much beyond the relatively superficial whereas some of my other bickers did. That being said, happy to give him an up after our chat. "" , ""score"" :4} , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Courtney [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"" : ""So [REDACTED] told me he has a pizza onesie because he likes pizza and onesies, and the conversation was smooth sailing after that. He is hilarious and transparent in the greatest way. From showing me embarrassing pictures on his instagram to admitting his horror stories out on the street, it was easy to see that this guy would be a fun addition to the club. I am not trying to incriminate him with these stories as much as I am sharing a few of the many examples of his fun-loving attitude. I hope we can get him in because I, and presumably many other people, would enjoy having him in the club. "" , ""score"" :4} , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Chandler [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"" : ""Cool kid - admittedly weird (described himself in three words as \"down for weirdness\"), but weird in a good way. He segued that answer pretty organically into why he wants to join ivy and made a good case for Ivy being full of people who are quirky and like being quirky together. We talked about climbing various places on campus, including an entertaining story of the night he met Sophia and the couple of nights following, walking around campus after leaving Terrace late and finding things to climb, like Firestone and the new Arts District construction site. He's a definite character, and I could see the \"weirdness\" being polarizing with some people in the club, but for my part we got along well. "" , ""score"" :4} , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Elizabeth [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"" : ""My time with [REDACTED] looking at art in the woody woo building and art museum was enjoyable. I think he was really nervous and felt like he had to prove something but eventually he opened up. He was hesitant to share much about himself, but I finally got him to open up about his own \"weirdness\" and interests. I think he'd eventually be comfortable and a good member, but it would take him some time to open up. "" , ""score"" :3} , , CARD: "{member": "Jack [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "What a dude! So kind and sweet and interesting. He is from Syria and came to America in 2012. He does 1 million cool things on campus like working with babies in the Child Psychology Lab on campus. He is passionate about his studies and his community, and is truly one of the nicest people I've met. He's not the kind of guy who's gonna be taking keg stands and hitting new hookup high scores at pickups, but they is a-ok. \r\n\r\nHe didn't really know to ask people for cards so he may have zero outside cards, really hope that doesn't hurt his chances of getting in. This the kind of man we need. ", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Caroline [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Honestly, what a guy. Even before he told me his childhood story of leaving Syria in 9th Grade to come to the States, I already loved him. He is so bubbly, so infectious and unbelievably easy to talk to. Usually I have my phone out during bicker in order to ask a set of questions, but I didn't look at my phone once. [REDACTED] had me engaged from the moment we sat down. He lives by the principle that he has never met enough interesting people and thrives off of good conversation and engaging with interesting individuals. [REDACTED] wants to join Ivy for all the right reasons: he adores the community, and he's ready to settle down and find a home. GET HIM IN.", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Brennan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "This kid is the biggest 5 I've ever encountered. He's a beautiful spirit born and raised in Aleppo, Syria. He moved to North Carolina in 2012, but still has close friends and family in Aleppo. He was completely open about his journey, telling me about how his experience has put his view of the world into a completely unique perspective. I could have talked to this kid for hours without struggling, and when asked what role he would fill in the club, he said \"I'd be the friendly guy that loves conversations who will be at every meal and always in the club.\" I would be extraordinarily disappointed if this fantastic individual was not offered membership. I wish I could write him a card. Paint him.", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Peter [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was the most genuine kid I have ever had the pleasure of meeting. This is the type of kind and humble spirit that comes around very rarely. Not only does he have incredible stories (moving from Syria to North Carolina at age 12; learning English from watching television; being a fooseball champion and aficionado;etc.), but he was creative and had the type of personality one wants to be around. Regardless of what happens, this is a kid I am going to make a sincere effort to get know further. I think that the rest of the membership would benefit similarly from his presence.", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Matthew [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Amazingly interesting life story - immigrated from Syria in 2012, still a huge number of family members in refugee camps across the world and stuck in Syria. Didn't have to steer the conversation at all - were talking about refugee camps and somehow managed to seamlessly steer that into a great \"why Ivy\" answer. Bravo. I'll be trying hard to get to know him better whether he's accepted into Ivy or not - seems like a great lad, get him in the club. ", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Katelyn [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "HOLY SHITTTTTTTTTT. I'm annoyed that there isn't a higher score than 5 because i just met the most genuine, interesting, goofy, personable human in truly the entire world. i felt like we had been friends for years, we had such a great conversation and i genuinely believe he is here for alllllllll the right reasons. he is someone who, if let in, would meet everyone and be here all the time and just be a welcoming, warm, happy presence who everyone loves. he knows the value of time and of life and would make the most of this club, and we'd all be lucky to know him. u should prob just read someones card who is more eloquent than i am but WOW what a human"";""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Olivia [REDACTED]"";""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"";""content"":""love this kid. Goofy and awesome. Dual Syrian and American citizen. Entertained my desire to play ping pong with such enthusiasm and was hella courteous when he beat me by a lot. In Umqobothi Acapella. Wants to be a doctor so he can work for doctors without borders. Speaks French. Loves the people in the club, and i think he would go all out for members nights. I can see him adding some fun energy to the club. Hard not to love this guy. "";""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Isabel [REDACTED]"";""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"";""content"":""I loved my conversation with [REDACTED]. He was very bubbly and engaging, and wants to become a member to meet more people. He gave me the sense that he would be an involved member who would definitely bring something new and exciting to the membership. He grew up in Syria and spoke with great sensitivity and candor about his relationships with his friends who are in refugee camps there. Our conversation was alternately light-hearted and soulful, which made me want to keep talking. My only reservation about [REDACTED] is his investment in being active during members nights, as he didn't really give the impression that he went out much. Having said that, I really liked him and think he would be a good addition. "";""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Rachel [REDACTED]"";""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"";""content"":""[REDACTED] has such enthusiasm for life, and his smile and kindheartedness are absolutely contagious. He is from Syria and his awareness that he could easily be in a refugee camp rather than at Princeton has driven him to embrace every opportunity he's given. Since he knew no one when he came to Princeton he's made it his mission to try new things and meet as many people as he possibly can, which is such an incredibly inspiring way to look at life. I have to note our conversation wasn't very reciprocal, it was more like a [REDACTED] monologue. That being said, he was SO endearing, and I can 100% see him hanging out at Ivy all the time and striking up conversations with everyone."";""score"":4}",,, CARD: "{""member"":""Manuel [REDACTED]"";""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"";""content"":""[REDACTED] is a great guy. I really enjoyed every aspect of our conversation. We talked about everything from his long-term goals to going out in Princeton compared to state school. We also broke out of the mold of the typical bicker conversation really quickly, which was refreshing. I'm definitely excited to have him in the club."";""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Laura [REDACTED]"";""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"";""content"":""I am truly smitten. If I were into younger dudes, this kid would have my heart. He may already have it. He's quiet, but more than willing to open up and talk about a wide range of topics. We got into a great conversation about what our Asian heritage means to us, and the challenges of embracing our cultural identity at a place like Princeton. I didn't feel the need to resort to small talk or frivolous questions because the conversation flowed smoothly, and we talked about everything from Eminem's demise to our relationships with our younger brothers. Even though he's soft-spoken, [REDACTED] seems very sure of who he is and what he believes in. Also, his smile is v charming and genuine.""", ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Katherine

[REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was really really awesome. I loved talking to him and we got along really well. He is also a good rapper. I feel like he would be a strong member of the club and would be an integral part of the community. We talked about his conflicting passion for neuroscience but his desire to do econ because he thinks it will bring him more stability in life--he said he wants to provide a safety net for his younger brother to be able to pursue what he loves. I think [REDACTED] has a good heart and I'd love to see him at our next members night :) """, ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Jason [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was super easy to talk to. He's laid back, interesting. Seems like he really enjoys getting to know people and catching up with old friends -- qualities that make me think he'd really enjoy being in Ivy. I think he'd be a great fit with the club and seems like a fun guy. We talked about growing up in Brazil. I enjoyed hearing him talk about the Ramen places he likes to go to in Princeton that remind him of home (mom from Singapore, dad from China.) We talked about the weird books he reads and his thoughts on Princeton. [REDACTED] is considerate, articulate, genuine and thoughtful. Would be happy to sit next to him at meals and get to know him better.""", ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Jordan [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I really really liked this guy. The conversation flowed organically and I put in minimal effort to ensure that it kept going, and right off the bat he was relaxed and engaging. We actually even made plans to join a USG club together. He's from Brazil but spends a lot of time in Singapore and is a neuroscience major, largely because his parents didn't think psychology was technical enough. Everything he said felt very genuine and I actually tried to wrap up the conversation but soon after we found ourselves talking about mental health on campus and we sat for another 10 minutes. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Laura [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I had an amazing conversation; he was so easy to talk to, attentive, and open. With a relaxed demeanor, he told me about how he enjoys listening to others. He discussed his status as a \"global citizen\"-- caught between Brazilian and Chinese culture. We had an awesome chat about rap music and artists that resonate with him. Overall, I truly believe that [REDACTED] could have a great conversation with absolutely anyone in the club, and we would be lucky to have him. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Arthur [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED], who hails from Sao Paulo, would make a great addition to the clubs Brazilian presence (shoutout to the sisters malamut). He's a man of quiet confidence and broad interests, including neuroscience and startups (shoutout to tech paul). Could definitely see him coming to meals by himself and sticking around for a game of smash.""", ""score"":4}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Olutobiloba [REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"[REDACTED] seems like a good guy. We spoke about J Cole and Migos' new albums and the time he saw Jackie Chan on a tour in China. He told a pretty funny story about how his parents kept moving away from communist regimes but somehow always ended up living in a communist country. He was a little quiet and it wasn't a super engaging conversation as he struggled to come out of his shell. ","score":4}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Diego [REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"[REDACTED] is a really cool dude, he is from brazil and had awesome stories to share from his time there. I was really interested on his perspective about princeton, so we talked a long time about that. He seems like a very genuine guy that would be a good addition for the club. I get the feeling he would be an active member and that he would bring a very unique perspective for meals. \n","score":4}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Justine [REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"I am very undecided about Peter. He seemed genuine and sweet, but shy and it was hard to really get a good idea of his passions past a more superficial point. He didn't expand much and I felt like I had to keep asking him questions to keep the conversation going. He seemed to really like Ivy and to love the upperclassmen he knows, which tells me he'd be an active member, and at the end of our conversation he asked me for feedback... It really surprised me and it shows he's really confident! I wish I could have gotten more out of him and the conversation had flown more easily. ","score":3}",, OUTSIDE CARD: "{"member" ":"Lyon [REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"Hailing from São Paulo, Mr. [REDACTED] is a formidable man with an excellent grasp on what it means to be a friend. The first time I ran into [REDACTED] was at the neighborhood Wa when I met this young man carrying a smaller and more inebriated friend on his back as he was headed to Forbes. He proceeded to purchase a smoked ham panini and Naked Juice while quite literally putting his friend on his back. And this initial meeting would only be the first of many times I would be a spectator to his profound kindness and ingenuity. He respects people's times religiously and never fails to attend a dinner or gathering that he has set his time out for. [REDACTED]'s the type of person to make sure his friends are properly dressed up for members' nights but are also in the right emotional state to even go out. [REDACTED] is the type of dude that you can immediately realize is missing from a room because his aura is so large and he's just so goddamn handsome. But, the most important thing was that he does this all and carries himself in the most humble way possible that when [REDACTED] 3000 asks \"What's cooler than bein' cool?\" I answer not ice-cold, but [REDACTED]. ""},,,,,,,,,, CARD: "{"member" ":"Kial [REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"[REDACTED] was a hilarious dude who I really enjoyed talking to. I asked him for his best story and he told me 3 different stories about his time in Australia and they were all absolutely hilarious. He also had a lot of really good jokes. I could see myself enjoying dinner conversations with him and having a lot of fun at nights out with him. He is someone I would get along with and hed be a great addition to the club. ","score":5}",

CARD: "{member": "Mallory [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I honestly had a great time getting to know [REDACTED]. He's personable, funny, and really doesn't seem to take himself too seriously -- a quality that can be hard to come by at this school, and one that I really admire. We spent a lot of time talking about his semester abroad in Melbourne (which sounded incredible and like complete bullshit), his plans to try and row professionally after school, and why it was so important to take the time to get to know people. Our conversation definitely ranged from the serious to the slightly absurd, but was funny and refreshingly honest -- I think [REDACTED] would be a great addition to the club.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Mary [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was funny, easy to talk to, and genuinely interested in getting to know me. Having just returned from a semester in Australia, he had hilarious stories about exploring and traveling alone. He was constantly meeting new people and often just figured out logistics as he went. I was impressed that he didn't let being a varsity athlete compromise his interest in traveling, as he chose to row with an Australian team abroad. In general, he was thoughtful when talking about his relationship with his family, growing up in England, and how he loves Ivy for its members and its vibe on nights out. He would be a great fit, an active member, and interesting for anyone to sit next to at a meal.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Courtney [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I talked for about 20 minutes and our conversation flowed effortlessly. He was extremely easy to talk to because of his fun sense of humor and warm personality. He is a Junior who spent the past semester studying abroad, so his interest in bickering Ivy seemed solid, as he knows confidently that Ivy is the place he wants to spend the next couple years. I think the best part of our conversation was talking about his experience at Princeton thus far, and his interest in joining Ivy in particular. He is also a rower so I am rooting for him because I think they are great, active members and I believe he would be no exception.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Laura [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is definitely a boyish type, and initially it was a bit tough to get beyond more superficial topics like surfing in Melbourne during his semester abroad or his aspirations to row professionally after school. However, he was a great sport even when it took forever for me to get Starbucks, and the conversation never died. I enjoyed hearing about his perspective on living off-campus and how it allows him to be less coddled and have a college experience more similar to that of his 'mates' back home. It's tough to rebicker and his willingness to talk about coming back to Ivy bicker was refreshing. Overall, I think he'd be great to talk to at meals and I'm confident he'd be an active member.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Jared [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "One of the most personable guys I've ever bickered. Out of the gate was enthusiastically moving the conversation along, and it never got stale. [REDACTED] is a junior and it is his second time bickering Ivy after not getting in last spring and just a few weeks ago getting back from abroad in Australia. I honestly cannot see why he didn't get in the first time. Though we didn't have many shared interests, he seemed genuinely passionate about Ivy and what I had to say about it. Felt much more of a conversation than an interview, which was refreshing after several of the latter.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Elizabeth

[REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"[REDACTED] was a good conversation and a great sport. i worried at the beginning about what we would connect over, and our chat admittedly started off a bit rocky, but we ended up really connecting over being from small towns and moving really far away. When I asked him to teach me something new, he taught me a yoga pose, which was super unexpected and fun. I don't know if [REDACTED] and I will ever be super close, but I'm glad I got to have this conversation with him. I think he'd make a great member and that Ivy would be the conversation-based community he is looking for on campus. ","score":4}",

CARD: "{member": "Michael

[REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"[REDACTED] was very outgoing and upbeat. He seems like a fun guy to be around. I can see him being an active member at Members' Nights and on nights out. He was easy going and personable. Had a good sense of humor and would be a great addition to the club. ","score":4}",

CARD: "{member": "Benjamin

[REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"[REDACTED] and I had a fairly quick but real and down to earth conversation. He's well traveled and very social. New atmospheres excite him. He would definitely be at all the members nights and a good personality to have around for meals!","score":4}",

CARD: "{member": "Nicholas

[REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"[REDACTED] seemed like a cool kid. I enjoyed our conversation. He was very personable and humorous which made our conversation more worthwhile. I think he could be a good fit into our club, but I do have to mention a few concerns. [REDACTED], to me, seemed a little arrogant, and almost standoff-ish. He was not looking me in my face when I was talking, and he somewhat gave off the impression that he was above the bicker process. This could have just been a coincidence, and I may be overthinking these occurrences, but with all the excellent kids I have met previously, I felt compelled to mention my concerns with [REDACTED]. However, this is just my thoughts, and he was funny and exciting. ","score":3}",

OUTSIDE CARD: "{member": "Caroline

[REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"[REDACTED] is my kindred spirit on Princeton's campus. He understands me in a way most of my American friends never will. He loves Earl Grey and chocolate digestives, he loves the same English television shows as I do (namely Sherlock and Made in [REDACTED]) and quite frankly he's the only person that really knows how to engage in "good banter". He has this dry sense of humor, an English sardonic wit that keeps me in incessant hysterics. Ok, so I won't beat around the bush, I was immediately drawn to him in International Orientation because I thought he was Alex Pettyfer's doppelganger, but I have enjoyed every single minute I have shared with [REDACTED] ever since. [REDACTED] was and still is my go-to person when I am homesick. As I found myself 4,000 miles away from home freshman year, I frequently found myself spending more and more time with [REDACTED]. Though we initially bonded over our nostalgia for the Motherland, we ended up spending a lot of our time talking freely about philosophical conundrums and random articles/videos [REDACTED] had found on the Internet. Behind his Goble-esque antics, [REDACTED] is actually a deeply curious individual. He has an insatiable inquisitiveness and he seems most at ease when engaged in intellectually stimulating discussions. I really can't imagine the club without [REDACTED]. Paint him green, paint him with the union jack, paint him whatever color you like, this kid just NEEDS to be in the club. ""}"" ,,,,,,,,,, CARD: "{""member"" :""Meaghan [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"" :""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"" :""I LOVED [REDACTED]. I was her last bicker so she must have been friggin exhausted but we had a GREAT conversation. Such an awesome person to spend 30 minutes with--I honestly think we are friends now! We both studied at the same tiny Spanish school in Spain which is sooo random, and we talked all about love, our relationship with our families and how that's shaped the way we view love, studying French (I convinced her to apply for the Aix-en-Provence program through the French department), her love of literature, and an amazing class she took called Stolen Children which was taught by \"a lady who was a hundred years old who just commanded the room\". Great ass girl. Paint her GREEEN."" ,""score"" :5}" ,

CARD: "{""member"" :""Ruben [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"" :""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"" :""Really liked bickering [REDACTED]. She's very chill and easy to talk to. She's comp lit major and worked at an interesting place in NYC last summer. She's a very good skier and seems like a genuine person in general. I think that she will get along with people in the club and really hope she gets in."" ,""score"" :5}" ,

CARD: "{""member"" :""Sammy [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"" :""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"" :""[REDACTED] and I had a good bicker. We talked about her interests and when I made her make up crossword clues for random stuff (crosswords/Hamilton were her interests) she was game for being goofy and had good clues, which made me think she's generally a jokester in a way that would be fun to be around. She chuckled Chris Stapleton for being a bad bicker, which I thought was funny and honest. Out of the 6 people I've bickered so far, she was probably the most enthusiastic and when she asked questions she seemed genuinely interested in hearing my answers. We talked about classes/major type stuff for awhile and she seemed intellectual, which I'm a fan of. I'd say a four but not suuuuper impressive."" ,""score"" :4}" ,

CARD: "{""member"" :""Brennan [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"" :""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"" :""I had an interesting conversation with [REDACTED]. She was charismatic and I enjoyed learning about her story. She's interned for a magazine in the past and wants to have a similar experience in the future. Her aspirations were a refreshing deviation from the standard, and for that reason I can see her being a solid addition to the club. My only hesitation is that our conversation felt slightly forced at moments because she didn't ask any follow up questions during our chat. I'm happy to equate at least some of this to nerves on her first day of bicker. Over all, sweet girl."" ,""score"" :4}" ,

CARD: "{""member"" :""null"" ,""bickeree"" :""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"" :""[REDACTED] was warm and friendly from the start of our bicker. She was engaging throughout and very easy to talk to. She spoke about being in AdThis and her favorite thing about being a comparative lit major. She seems to have enjoyed her experiences at ivy so far and showed genuine interest in the club and its membership. She strikes me as someone who will be around the club often and contribute a lot. "" ,""score"" :4}" ,

CARD: {"member": "Elizabeth
[REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was so warm and fun to talk with. They way she talked about her family and her experience growing up as the oldest of four children was not only totally heartwarming but also impressive that she was willing to share so much with a person she'd just met. She also made our conversation a real two way street, acting just as interested in me as I was in her. She seems like an extremely genuine person, and I'd love to sit by her at dinner any night of the week. ", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Olivia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Outgoing chill and gregarious chick. From Westchester NYC. Wants to travel more. I get the sense she is down to clown. We explored the ivy depths and found this uber cool spot and then got kicked out by staff. She just rolled with it. We ended up having a more serious conversation about Trump and I was taken aback by her openness and that she got quite personal during the conversation. Cool vibes. ", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Christopher [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a conversation about crew and video games. Seems like a nice enough guy but wasn't very interesting to chat with. No strong feelings one way or the other ", "score": 3},

CARD: {"member": "Jonathan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is pretty easygoing. Although she didn't particularly ask any questions or drive the conversation, she had interesting answers to my questions. She gave the impression that she would spend quite a lot of time in the club if she got in. ", "score": 3},

CARD: {"member": "Christopher
[REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I had a decent conversation about her interests as a comparative lit major. While she seems like a nice girl, our conversation wasn't especially interesting. No strong feelings one way or the other", "score": 3},,

CARD: {"member": "Katelyn [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Hi, ok i am vaguely conflicted about [REDACTED] because she was a cool person to talk to but was very aggressive about everything she said. it just seemed like she was trying very hard and wasn't chill about anything.... but i mean that could also be attributed to nerves??? or eagerness to come across as personable and talkative??? idk. type A can be a good thing, i just naturally clash with that type of personality maybe. she didn't offend me in any way, so would not be mad about her getting in if she does, i just felt like i was being aggressively talked at rather than to. hope this isnt mean ah ", "score": 3},

CARD: {"member": "Jared [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED], on the outside, is the epitome of the sporty frat star. Muscular, masculine, crutch from going to hard at rugby practice. Immediately after shaking hands, instead of me starting off the bicker, he went right ahead and asked me how I was, and from then on I knew this was about to be an amazing bicker. Our conversation ranged from emotional family talk (to which he eagerly participated) to the semantics of the term \"pregame buddy\" (which I will now vehemently use). After finding out that I'm an English major, he talked my ear off about this zen book, and he was so passionate about it that I literally bought the book on Amazon during the conversation. Come on, PAINT HIM GREEN! Amazing \"\", \"score\":5}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Thomas [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Well this guy is a space cadet... made it pretty fun to have a conversation with him to be honest though so not a terrible thing. Seems pretty goofy and would be fun to hang out with. Would definitely like to have the opportunity to get to know him better so hopefully he will get in! Maybe the fact that he has a ridiculous amount of siblings is the reason for him being weird, who knows. I'm bored and tired, sorry for the rubbish card. \"\", \"score\":5}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Barbara [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Woah. Not totally sure what to say. I feel like I shouldn't like [REDACTED] but he was awesome. He was honest and raw (hate that I used that word) but actually. Conversation was so easy and natural and I kept him 30 minutes late because I didn't wanna stop talking. I can see how some may find him crude but I think he's just different than the typical and perfect Princeton kid. He talked about his family, having diabetes, his struggles at Princeton (in a good way). I can see this kid being controversial but I think he'd be a welcome addition to Ivy. High four low five. \"\", \"score\":4}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Samantha [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I really liked [REDACTED]! He was so precious and I enjoyed my whole conversation with him. At first our conversation was superficial (he's on crutches so we spoke about his injury, his experience on the club rugby team on campus) but soon got pretty deep as we got into talking about his background and experience/relationship with his Catholic faith. I really appreciated how candid he was about how his religion influenced/influences his life. [REDACTED] was very kind and sweet, and seemed extremely laid back. Really happy I got to meet him today! \"\", \"score\":4}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Tyler [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"A sweet guy who can listen others. He deeply values family and the close connection he has with his siblings. We spoke a bit about Princeton and how he feels about campus life. Being conservative, he sometimes finds it difficult on campus when his views are at odds with the majority of campus. When asked what his biggest problem with the States was at this moment, he spoke about being frustrated by people not trying to see where others are coming from. He kind of breaks the mold with his Nashville accent and affinity for slow Southern life, which could be a good thing for the club. \"\", \"score\":4}\",

CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Hannah [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] showed up to bicker as a champ, in his boot and cast. And we immediately bonded over the struggles of a broken metatarsal (tbt to frosh year), his broken in rugby and mine by \"walking with heavy books.\" [REDACTED] is goofy and incredibly outgoing. I was totally blown away by [REDACTED]'s oil-paintings that he showed me. And you'll want to join the wait list for one of his portraits. He is outgoing and comfortable in his own skin, going up to Casserley with bold pick up lines. [REDACTED] exudes warmth and happiness, and would be such a positive presence and an active member of the Ivy community. """, ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Litig [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Wonderful to talk to. Lovely southern drawl. We talked about learning to be self criticism in a healthy way. Wanting to grow up and self improve. Learning to Take it easy at Princeton. I at first was worried that I wouldn't have much to talk about, but I appreciated that he was so willing to talk about growing up with certain insecurities and learning to laugh a himself. Good heart and can see people really enjoying his presence in the club. """, ""score"":4}"", CARD: "{""member"":""Caroline [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I had a fine bicker. He was very nice, but the conversation felt a bit awkward and forced at times. When we got to a topic where we had common ground, we were able to chat with ease, but there were times when we had trouble connecting. I would be interested to see how other people feel about [REDACTED] because I feel pretty unsure. He has some really cool interests like painting (which he is incredible at from the samples of his work that he showed me), but he didn't really express any passion or drive about it. He seems like a really laid back guy, so this might just be the nature of his personality - I just felt a bit underwhelmed. """, ""score"":3}"", CARD: "{""member"":""Deana [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was really nice and fun, but a little hard to have a conversation with. I felt like I was doing a lot of the talking, but this could be because he was tired (it was the end of the day). We talked a lot bout his family and his hometown, but nothing extremely memorable to make me feel like I learned a lot about him. I do think he was sweet and could be great in the club, but I wasn't completely convinced. """, ""score"":3}"",

CARD: "{""member"":""Christian [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""This is by far the most conflicted I've been after a bicker. [REDACTED] definitely left an impression on me, though I'm not sure whether I'm indelibly marked or scarred. He's a family man, loves his eight siblings, and is extremely genuine - the man speaks his mind (maybe something people would appreciate). At the same time, he is avowedly dispassionate about academics. He said his bad experience learning Chinese made him say \"fuck it\" when it comes to school and he's not sure what he's interested in, if anything. He didn't enjoy his time at Princeton at first, largely because he felt everyone here was \"insecure\" as compared to in Nashville, and wants to be in Ivy because he perceives the membership as confident. """, ""score"":3}"",, CARD: "{""member"":""Furman [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""If [REDACTED] becomes a member of Ivy, which he should, understand one thing: we wouldn't be letting him into the club, he would be letting the club into him. While this may sound absurd, [REDACTED] is one of the few people at this school with the ability to make anyone and everyone around him feel as though he or she is the center of the universe. A usual interaction with [REDACTED] includes him making you laugh by his acting completely kooky one second, then appreciative when he offers up a genuine compliment the next. I've known [REDACTED] since high school (Roll Red), and the Bellet family is beloved in Nashville—[REDACTED] comes from a large Catholic family with something like eight (or twelve?) brothers and one sister, and all the [REDACTED] are widely known as decent and honest people (the kind you'd want to bring home to Mama). While some in the club may know [REDACTED] for the raucous manner in which you often find him on nights out, I'm confident the quieter and more lovable side of the guy's personality would also benefit the club just as much. His uncanny ability to give you his utmost attention will surely help the Ivy dinner scene, where it's commonplace to find a lonely pi phi craving such adoration. I don't say this about many people in Ivy or at Princeton in general, but [REDACTED] is a goddamn goofball, and perhaps for this reason alone, he deserves admittance into the club."},,,,,,,,,, CARD: {"member": "Chandler [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is great. I never once had to look at his sheet. He's clearly a natural leader, as swim team upperclassmen and coaches chose him to play a prominent role in representing the team as they pave their way past its suspension. He had an upbeat attitude and a good sense of humor the whole time, despite the unfortunate situation. He told a great story about his first memory (which by coincidence also takes place in Cape Cod) and his obsession with trains as a kid, and then we launched into talking about our favorite memories from childhood. I'm confident he'd be a good addition to all parts of the life of the club, and I think he'd be a great fit.", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Jordan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "If he were a foot taller, I'd seriously consider marrying this guy. He's a diver and said that a lot of his friends are bickering other clubs but he seemed like a perfect fit for Ivy. There was not once an awkward silence throughout the conversation and he was just as interested in getting to know me as I was him. He was super relaxed and confident without coming off as cocky and said he really wants to get closer with a mature diverse group on campus and also have a 'home base' to hang out at. I'd be really bummed if he didn't get in.", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Konadu [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I. FUCK. WITH. HIM. I started out this bicker as a double bicker, but ended as a single bicker because I was so into this guy. He started out talking about how intense the people at Princeton can be and how important it can be to take a step back and put things into perspective, which is a philosophy I completely agree with. Then we talked about the issues that his team faced this year, how he felt sometimes targeted by his team's culture, and how we both disagreed with how the administration handled it. And then he was super real when asked about what he didn't like about Ivy, and asked me really hard questions about how I hope Ivy will change. PaintHimGreen", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Justine [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was so thoughtful. We talked about politics and the role of America in the world and so much more, and in every conversation [REDACTED] showed he puts so much thought into what he says and really enjoys listening to other people and learning from them. He is someone I would love to eat with every day, and like me I'm sure many others: he is kind, respectful and critical without being judgmental which shows in how diverse his friendships in the club are.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Caroline [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I had an absolutely wonderful time talking to [REDACTED]. The conversation flowed so easily right off the bat and it was a very enjoyable bicker. We spoke for about 30 minutes and I know we could have talked for much longer. [REDACTED] was super interesting and kind and obviously cared about getting to know me and learning more about this club by asking great questions. He truly brightened my day. He has a very genuine interest in being an active member of the club and would be an amazing person to sit next to at a meal. I have a feeling [REDACTED] will end up being my one of my favorite bickers, but giving a 4 because he is the second person I spoke to. \"\", \"score\" : 4 }\", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Mallory [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I really enjoyed getting to know [REDACTED] -- he was a little quiet, but strikes me as a sweet, thoughtful kid with a good sense of humor. He's on the diving team and we had a super awesome conversation about the team's season suspension -- I was so impressed by how positive he was about the loss of a season of competition/eligibility, and the way he spoke about building a better more inclusive team culture going forward. Also a woody woo major, getting a certificate in GSS, and spoke really passionately about his academic interests which I think is awesome. I think he would be a great addition to the club. \"\", \"score\" : 4 }\", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Isabel [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I am a huge fan of [REDACTED]. He's a diver and had really interesting things to say about the social dynamics on the swimming team, especially in light of their recent competition ban. He was very vivacious and asked me lots of questions. He really wants to branch out from the swimming team and get to know new people, which he cited as his reason for bickering Ivy. I think he would be a delight to sit next to at meals and would be a real presence in the club. He had a very big personality and was incredibly friendly, which added to his charm and sense of fun. I think he would be very active on nights out and at meals. \"\", \"score\" : 4 }\", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Benjamin [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I had a nice conversation with [REDACTED] about athletics, a bit of politics, what happened to the swim team, etc. He is affable and I think he's a good guy. Nothing he said stood out particularly, but it was a solid bicker and he did a good job scaring Matt. \"\", \"score\" : 4 }\", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Ana [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I enjoyed getting to know [REDACTED]. He's very personable, easy to talk to, and certainly seemed interested in getting to know me and more about the club. He was honest and funny and shared a lot about his family and his experience diving. I don't think we really connected that much, but he seems like a nice guy! \"\", \"score\" : 3 }\", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Jan [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] seems like a nice guy. However, I never felt like we really connected. This feeling is mostly due to the fact that it wasn't possible for me to grasp his character. He seemed to agree with me in everything and agreed a little too fast. Maybe he was just a little nervous. I am unsure if he would make a good ivy member. \"\", \"score\" : 2 }\",, CARD: "{member": "Laura [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had an amazing conversation with [REDACTED], a rower from a town 4 hours outside of Melbourne. Instead of focusing on his team, he emphasized unique aspects of himself, not least among them the fact that he has synesthesia too! I suppose it was a lucky coincidence that I was paired with him, but we had a fascinating discussion of our synesthetic experiences and the differences/similarities between them. During our conversation, a Girl Scout approached us, and as I hastily walked past, Sam stopped to engage the young girl and purchase a pack of cookies. His reasoning for choosing Ivy over other eating clubs: he misses the school pride of his highschool, and believes that at Princeton, such spirit lies in eating clubs— specifically Ivy. ", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Meaghan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "We had THE MOST incredible conversation. We went on a 30 minute walk, during which I learned about his family life and his upbringing in the Australian bush, his feelings about romantic love, his decided desire for platonic love for whatever he is doing in life over fame, power, or money, and his yearning to be \"just slightly nerdier\". I friggin love that part of his pursuit for more nerdiness is bickering Ivy. He is a great conversationalist, and gave creative, thoughtful answers to everything I asked. Also he worked in a meat warehouse between HS and college!!! Friggin amazing. Sam is amazing- I feel so lucky to have made a new friend in him; we'd be REMISS not to paint him green. ", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Layla [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a super genuine, friendly, and enjoyable person to talk to. I loved listening to him talk about his academic interests and may or may not have swayed him to become a philosophy major ;) He had a funny sense of humor and told me about a confrontation he once had with a kangaroo (he's from Australia) which I was surprised by, that despite his 6-foot plus demeanor a 7-foot kangaroo is still terrifying to him haha! He seemed like the kind of guy who really pushes himself out of his comfort zone, having come all the way from a small rural town in Australia to Princeton. He seemed genuinely curious, both intellectually and socially, and would be a great addition to the club!", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Serena [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Awesome Australian guy & such a sweetheart! Very down to earth and seemed to be doing ivy for all the right reasons. I asked him if he could surf and he was brutally honestly about his lack of coordination. The conversation was really natural and I didn't have to ask many questions. Paint him greeeen", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Gianna [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a really laid back chill guy. The conversation flowed really easily and ranged from our favorite ice cream flavors to his time growing up in the South Bronx. His interest in Ivy was sincere and he seems like someone who would be around the club both during the day and definitely on nights out. What I look for in a potential member is someone who is open and eager to chat with new people different from themselves, and I think [REDACTED] would do that. I wanted to give him a 3.5 but since the convo went well I'll push it up to a 4. ", "score": 4}",

CARD: {"member": "Eduardo [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] should get on the mere grounds that he entertained the first CoCo Lalo duo bicker (it was a phenomenal success and will be featured on the blog in the coming days (jk)). In all seriousness I would be heart broken if [REDACTED] didn't get in. The thing i liked most about sam was hearing about his CBLI work at Trenton High, where he worked teachings civics lessons to young students. Sam's self-awareness that allows him to contribute thoughtfully to any conversational topic you throw at him. In our 25 min together Sam spoke eloquently about literature, blogging, art, and fashion. What i liked most about Sam was his lighthearted nature. The kid can time a joke extremely well. We need more laughs IV dinner", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Brennan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a great time meeting [REDACTED] today. He has a fascinating story, and a personality to match. He told me of his synesthesia, which can occasionally help him study for exams. Additionally, he told me of his love for free diving that stemmed from a rogue harpoon fishing trip with his friends, after sneaking out of his Australian boarding school. I could have talked to this kid for hours, and would love to see him join the club. He'd crush it here, and it would be a real shame to let him slip through the cracks. I hope to see him around the club.", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Nicolas [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Real good lad from Melbourne, Australia. He has some wild stories, well spoken, and very easy to talk to. Seems like a guy I'd want to drink a beer with.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Lyon [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Our conversation slowly but surely went to a great place and I think [REDACTED] did a great job of getting us there. Her interests in writing and club sports were in the beginning, fleeting at best, but the way she tied things into her reasons for bicker and what she wanted out of a club experience made talking to her seamless by the end of it. She was not afraid to touch on things she wasn't used to or accustomed with and that merits her the chance to be a member of the club in my book. A very pleasant bicker experience.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Laura [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "A very passionate and driven girl. She was very direct and purposeful in the way she spoke, which I appreciated. Definitely not the laid back, easy-going type, but in [REDACTED]'s case that is not a negative whatsoever. I thoroughly enjoyed hearing her speak openly about her admiration for her parents, who are both doctors who always managed to find the time to go to her basketball and soccer games when she was in high school. It seems like [REDACTED] loves to engage with the world around her, and inform herself about anything that she takes an interest in. She's a creator (writing, sculpting), and I believe her when she says she wants to make an active impact on the world. I learned a lot!", "score": 4},, CARD: {"member": "Deana [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was fun to talk to and he is such a sweetheart. I learned a lot about his future goals, family and why he loves Princeton and Ivy. He's on the crew team, but says he prefers skiing (don't tell the team). He's adventurous and wants to move to LA to be a filmmaker, which I think is bold and admirable. He seemed genuine about his love for Ivy and told me several inspiration people he's met at the club and it was a nice mix. I also appreciate his investment in the conversation and his willingness to ask me questions too. The conversation flowed and it would be great to have him in the club. "", "score":5}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Hannah [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"With a pedophilic goatee reminiscent of my uncle, I was surprised at the gentle purring Scottish accent. Unafraid of needling me about being a shitty soccer fan, [REDACTED] was a pretty sick dude. Asked what my favorite members night (and whether I could remember it) which could be indicative of 'bad behavior.' He was unabashed about his burgeoning love of filmmaking bringing it up without me seeing it on his interest sheet. Would be really stoked to have him in the club, though through his comedy filming, he does think Katherine Shiftke is funny...\", \"score\":5}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Christian [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I walked away with mixed feelings about [REDACTED]. He definitely is an interesting guy - he 'sees colors' (cc: LMH) and is an aspiring policy wonk. Much of his rationale for bickering Ivy resonated with me - he's a fan of the seating policy and is interested in Ivy moreso for the day-to-day than nights out (although I do still think he'd be an active social member). I was less sure how to read his comments comparing Ivy to other clubs. He said Ivy is a place where 'you can be more intellectual.' Flattering, yes, but I hope he's not snobbish/stuffy. This is a very strong 3 and if anyone else gets a more positive read on this it should be read as a 4. \"\", \"score\":3},,, CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Brett [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] and I had an awesome conversation; could not have asked for a better first bicker! Born and raised in Jackson, NJ, [REDACTED] spoke easily of his lifetime love for hockey (he plays on the club team), about his intersession trip hiking and exploring shark-infested waters in Nicaragua, and affectionately of his younger sister currently applying for colleges. Our conversation also ranged from his study of history and the Middle East, to a shared secret obsession with Chuck Bass, to the lack of football culture here at Princeton. He is clearly charismatic and easy to talk to - it felt like having a conversation with an old friend, rather than a bickeree. Would make a great member!\", \"score\":5}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Achille [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I thoroughly enjoyed my conversation with [REDACTED]. He was sincere, and engaging throughout. He never came off as performative, never sounded forced. I especially appreciated the depth with which he was able communicate his interests in social justice. He has made it his goal to become a more radically empathic individual, an exercise we should all partake in (#Trump). And though he had so many great things to say about ivy and the people he's met here, he spoke very candidly about areas ivy could improve upon (race/socioeconomic diversity). We need someone to shake this place up for the better. [REDACTED] is the kid. I would give both of my big toes to make this kid a member. Paint him green. #Bamichic \"\", \"score\":5}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Sara [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] was literally amazing!! I am so happy I got to talk to him, and we got along so well--I loved talking to him about our shared interest in Nabokov, and he was genuinely so friendly and personable. This is literally the ideal person you'd want to sit next to at a meal!! I think he would be a fantastic Ivy member: super laidback but really engaged and interesting (I loved hearing about his experiences in the middle east this summer). Definitely want [REDACTED] in the club and would be so thrilled to see him every day!

 "" , ""score"":5}"

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Vera [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I really liked [REDACTED]. He was real af. Felt like we were immediately friends. We talked about activism (lack thereof?) at Princeton, WPRB (he DJs), rugby (he played in high school in New Jersey but now plays club ice hockey), and the nass (he is now co-editor in chief). Also talked about bicker as an institution, studying abroad. He's bold and has really diverse interests. He spent last summer in Jordan studying Arabic for three months, and is invovled with the PCP here. Seems thoughtful, good sense of humor, and someone I would love to sit next to at dinner. "" , ""score"":5}"

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Charles [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is a nice guy. We had an interesting conversation. He is outgoing and would turn up to members nights. Most of his mates are doing terrace but he wants to branch out. I respect that. He is a little more reserved so it is hard to tell whether he would blossom like a daffodil or not. I think he could as he has an interesting thought process and had funny answers to some of my questions. When I asked: Money or sex? He replied sex without missing a beat.... becuse that way he would meet new people.... "" , ""score"":4}"

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Matthew [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I had the kind of conversation that we sometimes lack at mealtimes in Ivy. He was very knowledgeable on current affairs and he had some admirable aspirations in international journalism in the Middle East. He was very open and happily recounted an embarrassing story when he got sent to PMC after passing out on the toilet after Risky Business - so I'm assuming he gets after it on nights out and enjoys his time at Ivy (although perhaps a little too much if he's getting taken to PMC!!). He would be a great social presence around the club. "" , ""score"":4}"

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Chandler [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Great kid, would be a really good fit. Clearly very smart and spoke with authority on Middle Eastern history and policy, long-form journalism, and science fiction. Also did a good job of making fun of LA stereotypes from brunch culture to general vanity, without having ever been (yet - he's going with his girlfriend who's also bickering to meet her parents there over spring break). Lot of substance, but also laid back and easy to just joke around with. Think he'd be a good addition."" , ""score"":4}"

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Leo [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a sleeper AWESOME bicker. We totally clicked over Game of Thrones, Lord of the Rings, Quentin Tarantino, and other nerdy fiendish things that I've been seeking and craving and missing in this club. He was enthusiastic, knowledgeable, friendly, and endlessly competent with anything we talked about in our conversation, and I thoroughly enjoyed this incredibly unexpected opportunity to talk about the nerdy subject matter I haven't had the opportunity to bond over in this club yet. A total legend in the making - he had funny responses to the challenging questions I posed to him about F-M-K/retro-hose, and I think he would be an absolute positive gain for this club in the spring. Funny, different, and genuine. Thumbs up for [REDACTED]."" ,""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""David [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] was a VERY COOL! I reserve that kind of praise for very few people, so let me tell you- believe me when I say it. This girl is from Indonesia and has a super interesting background. Her father is a film producer so she can tell you all about how Indonesian movies are made. She's also a bit of a foodie (i know, a bit basic) and has an excel spreadsheet of cool restaurants organized by countries. I gotta check that shit out. She was nice and personable and I could tell that she would be a very active member of the club. She's also on USG but like, in a good way. I know, that's a bit oxymoronical. Anyway, let-her-in, she cool. I-found-out-that-if-you-connect-words-with-\"-\"-it-only-counts-as-one-word!!!"" ,""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Caroline [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] was friendly and confident. We chatted about how he broke his collar bone an unusual amount of times and he spoke highly of his previous bickers. While the conversation was somewhat easy, I felt it didn't flow as much as I would have liked it to. He didn't wow me with his answers, I find myself struggling to right a lot about him because I'm not sure he really made a lasting impression on me. Really nice guy, just not totally swayed either way. "" ,""score"":3}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Jack [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] was a lovely girl. We debated the cultural implications of blackface/whiteface and its extensions– that girl knows her stuff. She was thoughtful, compelling, and witty, and she changed my mind on the issue (she convinced me that it doesn't matter if it is right or wrong, it is socially uncomfortable and thus should be avoided). She is impeccably put-together and a pleasure to talk to. I learned that she worked at Estee-Lauder last summer, where she worked on crisis managements, such as dealing with a controversial advertisement launch. Again, the lady knew her stuff! She was perfectly at-ease. She led a very natural conversation without me needing to do any steering, while at the same time she still got me engaged in the conversation."" ,""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Emily [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] was a really nice guy. He's a Nass editor and easy to talk to. I wasn't super excited by talking to him but he seems like a perfectly cool guy and would be happy having him in the club. "" ,""score"":3}",, CARD: "{""member"":""Gonzalo [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] is a boss! He's an easy going guy who spoke at length about education policy, tech, the confluence of the two, and what he views to be the major trends in global education going forward. He's lived all over the world--not only is this consistent with ivy's ~cool urban/cosmopolitan ethos, but also he effortlessly drew from these experiences in sharing his analytical perspectives. [REDACTED] wants to bicker ivy for the right reasons--he says he's looking for a fun adn welcoming community with diverse interests. He would surely have a presence in the club; he spoke about attending various ivy theme nights, with particular affection for casino night. Also, he said Kris Kania is a boss, so I know he knows what's good"" ,""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Laura [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""LOVE! What a charmer. His smile would light up the gloomiest of days. [REDACTED]'s just a really friendly guy, and the way he talks about his friends and role models shows me that he is all about meaningful interactions with other people. When I asked him what my spirit animal would be, he asked a couple of questions to get to know me better. So sweet. He had a non-cliche, genuine response to my question about how his background growing up in different places and traveling every year has informed him as a person; he didn't just talk about how he felt he had a broader perspective on things, but also talked about how his experiences informed his decision to come to Princeton. GO [REDACTED]!"" ,""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Diego [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Really enjoyed meeting [REDACTED]. The conversation was awesome and he seemed like a super sincere, fun dude. We talked about education policy and he seemed super passionate about it, which is really cool to hear. Paint him green, he would be a great addition for the club. \r\n"" ,""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Julian [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] has a really cool background. He went to Eton and knows Fred Vystavel, and even admitted that he's one of the most attractive guys he's ever known. He didn't have any problems at all keeping up in the conversation, and kept me really engaged the whole time. Seems like a really cool and interesting guy. I don't think he'll have any problem getting in. "" ,""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Katherine [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] was fun, nice, and easy to get along with. I really enjoyed talking to him. I threw him some weird questions and he rolled with it. I loved hearing about his passion for education reform and his work with [REDACTED] on campus. He had some funny stories about a few nights out, so I have reason to believe he'd be an active member on nights out as well. He acknowledged that its a cliché answer but said he really liked the people in ivy, and his interest in ivy has only increased as he's gotten to know more members. As the youths oft say, \"paint him green.\""" ,""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Charlotte [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""I found myself drawn to [REDACTED]; he was an excellent conversationalist and one of the most genuine people I have met throughout this process, although he was a bit quiet. There were no awkward pauses when he was talking, and he crafted thoughtful, funny, and interesting answers to my questions. Not only that, but he would often pause and ask my opinion on what he was saying, or ask me authentic questions about the club. I don't doubt that he would show up to meals and embrace the seating policy (cuz he told me). When I saw another group of bickers doing the \"juju\" I made him get up and do it even though he did not know the dance. Absolute lad.\""" ,""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Christian [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Initially a bit awkward, [REDACTED] is the nicest, most humble person I've bickered. Throughout our conversation, which at times touched upon sensitive political and social issues, [REDACTED] repeatedly expressed gratitude for the fortunate circumstances of his upbringing, and was careful to avoid being boastful. Interested in computer science, [REDACTED] advocates for bringing \"hack-athons\" to underserved schools in the area. His particular anecdotes or stories were not any more extraordinary than anyone else's, but it is clear he is a fundamentally decent person with abundantly admirable qualities and is genuinely eager to acquaint himself with others. He would undoubtedly contribute positively to the club.\"\", \"score\":4}\",

CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Achille [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Nicole and I double bickered [REDACTED]. He's a pretty dope kid. He was born in London, but schooled in the US (#ivymaterial). He loves computer science, and has intereste in education policyy. While my conversation with [REDACTED] was enjoyable, it paled in comparison to other conversations I've had alreaady. Wishing him the best, but can't give him a strong endorsement. #[REDACTED]\", \"score\":3}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Konadu [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"This bicker started out slow, we talked about pretty routine things. It was kind of hard for me to get a sense of whether he was genuine or not, because he kept mentioning people's names. I wasn't sure if it was because they were a huge part of why he wanted to join Ivy or because he hoped they would carry some weight. But near the end, we had a pretty interesting conversation about the social issues he viewed as most important on campus (the lack of diversity in socioeconomic status) and also what social issues I found most salient. I have mixed feelings because I feel like I saw two sides of him. I'm giving him a three but it's really a 3.6.\"\", \"score\":3}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Madeleine [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I don't have much to say about him, which means this is the worst kind of card to write. There were so many opportunities to the conversation to flow... I was so excited he was from London so we could geek out about that, but it didn't really take us anywhere. I asked about his time at Princeton, and he said it was good... and then it also fell stagnant. I'm taking bicker seriously this year and trying to be as honest as possible, and I feel like the fact that there is so little to say is all that needs to be said. Has a great smile and wouldn't take away from the club, just unclear how he would add to it. \"\", \"score\":2}\",, CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Thomas [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \" [REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Nice girl. It was freezing outside so we didn't talk for long. Maybe a bit shy but she definitely started to open up a bit towards the end of our conversation. I think she would be a good fit for the club. She definitely erred on the side of caution when it came to choosing her favourite food; can't really go wrong with sushi and steak. I would perhaps have liked to hear something a little different there. Her story of being a fugitive in the Bahamas is pretty cool though and I got the feeling that if we had talked for longer I would have found out all sorts of cool stuff about her. Overall, pretty gud\"\", \"score\":4}\",

CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Haryuni [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is the definition of chill. She was the first bicker I've had where the conversation just flowed very naturally. We have similar interests to talk about, but she was such a great conversationalist that I think she would have gotten along with anyone. She describes herself as \"high strung in Australian standard, chill in American standard\" -- great gal, spent her summer working in a slaughterhouse (sent by her dad to \"build character\") and thinks that Fahrenheit is nonsensical -- great gal. I think she'll do really really well in Ivy and I would be sad if she didn't get in. Paint her green!! I actually want to be her friend "" , ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Thomas [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Australians are very cool. I wish I were Australian. [REDACTED] was very relaxed and fun to talk to and i would love to see her at Ivy meals in the future. she's outgoing and is most looking forward to getting the chance to meet a different group of people if she gets into Ivy and I really think we should give her that chance! I suck at writing cards, but [REDACTED] is cool so let her in pls. "" , ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Benjamin [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Down under! [REDACTED] is from the great country of Australia, and has the accent to go with it! A member of the cross country team, she is very active and engaging. My conversation and time with [REDACTED] was a lot of fun. She always has something to contribute to the conversation and would be a great fit for Ivy!"" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Madeleine [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""A veeerrrrry cool girl who absolutely deserves to be painted green. She has the most amazing attitude about everything. From Australia, on the track team, and a great conversationalist. We had a calm and honest conversation, which is a pretty big deal when everything around you is overwhelming. She listened well, spoke well, asked great questions, and gave great answers. We talked a lot about the power and merit of feeling uncomfortable and taking risks, being scared etc. Best part was at the end I said, \"listen, if you don't get in, fuck everything and get off campus\" and she said, absolutely not I'm going out and dancing the pain away. That's the attitude this club has and always needs more of: confident, optimistic, real. "" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Ayesha [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] seemed a little unenthusiastic at first but I think she's just really relaxed. She's originally from Australia and decided to come to Princeton kind of on a whim. Someone with very diverse interests - is on track, wants to join adthis and has even worked at an abattoir. Wasn't sure whether to give her a 3 or a 4 but I'm going with a 4 because I do think if she got in she would be a pretty active presence and make the most of being in the club. "" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Christian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Throughout the bicker, [REDACTED] was outgoing and a pleasure to speak with. She has an appealing sense of humor and the conversation felt natural. She was willing to poke fun at herself, including describing how she, as an Australian, has been detained in American airports on several occasions. I have nothing negative to say about her. "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Cason [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was delightful. We had a very enjoyable bicker session watching The Batchelor. She was great! Very funny and even though TV was on, I felt like a great sense of her personality. While I'm not gonna give her a 5, I do think she'd be a nice fit in the club. The reason I'm not giving her a 5 is that I'm worried she won't be a super active member, especially considering the constraints of track. She had a great sense of humor and jokingly made fun of Sassi which was hilarious. She also had a good knowledge of current affairs, and made several amusing references to Trump and Australian politics. All in all, she'd be a good addition to the club!"" ,""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Derek [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""I had a great conversation with [REDACTED]. We shared a long discussion about Australia and surfing n weird foods and other cool shit. It felt very natural, not forced one bit. She is definitely doing the club for the right reasons and I think she'd make a solid member. I think other members would enjoy eating with her. Would be stoked if she got in"" ,""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Julia [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] was so energetic and fun to talk to. We talked about all sorts of stuff, from growing up in Canada to his thoughts about the future, to his friends/thoughts on friendship. He had all this buzz and was really funny. I did feel at times like he was talking over me and maybe wasn't as attentive of a listener. But honestly I enjoyed the conversation and thought his energy would bring so much to the club and make for a really enjoyable dinner conversation."" ,""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Lyon [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Gutsy, eloquent, and well-mannered is the way I would describe [REDACTED]. She spoke about the many different experiences she has had on campus being one of the few Aussies and the many times she is mistakenly assumed to be from London. She kept me engaged through the conversation when we were both very tired and gave me a small history lesson on Australian politics. I think she is someone who will make you sit down and really speak what is on your mind. A solid bicker. "" ,""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Laura [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""I really wanted to like [REDACTED]. She took things in stride during our group bicker with [REDACTED]; we asked her to choreograph a dance with the other bickeree, and the two of them really rolled with it. However, I found the conversation a little bit dry, and it was hard for me to be focused on what she was saying since she never got into specifics. A lot of platitudes were thrown around. There were definitely times when I would've loved to move the conversation along, but couldn't because she kept dragging things out. She is incredibly sweet and everything she said seemed sincere; however, it was just not as enjoyable of an interaction as I have had during other bickers. "" ,""score"":3}",

OUTSIDE CARD: "{""member"":""Samantha [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] would be a really awesome addition to our membership. I am so lucky that I got to know [REDACTED] better this year and her friendship has improved my Princeton experience. She is the kind of girl who is literally always down for anything. She'll kindly share her flask with you on a night out when you didn't pregame hard enough, procrastinate with you in Firestone by rewatching J'emie Private School Girl and Summer Heights High, and sit with you at a meal until you're pretty much being kicked out. [REDACTED] is not afraid to be unabashedly herself- I have a folder on my phone of her hilariously candid snapchats for whenever I need a good laugh. She is very chill and laid-back, and while this could be perceived as her being unenthusiastic at times, her realness is actually something quite refreshing. [REDACTED] reminds me of a friendlier, Australian version of Daniela Raffel- she always tells it how it is in an accent that is occasionally unintelligible. Our club could use some more lightheartedness and wit, which [REDACTED] will not fail to deliver. She's someone to be excited about sitting next to at a meal, will give a strong showing at member's nights and nights out (even when xc is dry), and I'm confident will be a visible presence in and around the club. Paint this little Aussie green!!!!",,,,,,,,,, CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Samantha [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"REALLY enjoyed my bicker with [REDACTED]. I was his first bicker of the day and at first he was sliiiightly nervous but totally eased into it after the first few minutes. [REDACTED] was extremely easy to talk to. What I liked the most about our conversation was that he seemed very thoughtful about all of the things we chatted about. He spoke really passionately about street art (something I knew nothing at all about), and was very candid and reflective about his experience at Princeton so far, which I appreciated. I really think [REDACTED] would be a great fit for the club and certainly be someone who I would be excited about sitting next to at a meal.\"\", \"score\" : 5}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Sarah [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] was a total sport about doing some weird acting. He was Mr. incredible and yet soo much less than incredible in his skit... however he was super incredible in our conversation! yay [REDACTED]! Thankfully ivy isn't a theatre group so I think its safe to say he would fit in well. We talked a lot about traveling and some of our less than ideal travel moments. After dwelling on some misfortunes we started talking about different music we like to listen to and he roastedddd me about saying I have an iPod. ugh, why does everyone make fun of me? Anyway, with him making fun of me it made me feel at home. let him in to fuckkkking ivy because he was fun! \"\", \"score\" : 5}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Kial [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] was a really good dude and told some really funny stories. He was very easy going and easy to have a conversation with. I liked how he was really relaxed and didn't seem uptight whatsoever. he would be someone that would be great to have at a dinner table as he is very funny and was outgoing.\"\", \"score\" : 5}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Megan [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"This guy was hella chill. We bonded over boarding school (and he let me go on my sociological boarding school rant and made some good points), and talked about how much Princeton can ground you - he said he got cut from the debate team at Princeton but was captain of debate in high school, and how that was hard for him. The reason why this isn't a 5 is because I don't think he was good at talking about his interests/had a hard time figuring out what he's passionate about, but he's definitely a worthwhile conversation and I would love the chance to get to know him better. Would definitely try to sit with this guy at a meal, would be a great presence.\"\", \"score\" : 4}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Melissa [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"we were both tired. i enjoyed talking to him and he was into street art and classics. \\n\\n\\nit's a little hard to rank this guy because i was tired so didn't really make it super fun conversation. he was active in asking questions and wanted to be in ivy. knows a lot of people in the club. i think he would participate in conversations at meals and be chill enough to strike up conversations with other people.

3.5", "score": 4}",

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Brett [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Equally knowledgeable about urban street art as classics, [REDACTED] is definitely a unique character among those I've met today. He easily carried on conversation on topics ranging from embarrassing Corporate Contacts meetings over the summer, to the state of German politics, to the dynamic between him and his three siblings, to going to boarding school. He asked questions and seemed as interested in getting to know me as I him, and when asked why Ivy, gave the best answer I've heard all day, really nailing the dynamic of accepting each other's diverse backgrounds. We chatted easily for awhile, and I think he'll contribute well to the unique character of the club; someone I'd definitely like to sit next to at dinner.\"\", \"score\": 4}", CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Mallory [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Had a great conversation with [REDACTED]. Spoke for a while about his running for TeamU, and his love of street art -- he proudly showed me his street art Instagram account and spoke at length about the significance of street art in political discourse and his plans to try and study graffiti in France and Germany this summer. Seems like an awesome, interesting kid who really wants to be in Ivy and would be a treat to get to know better. He was also in the opera at the MET as a child which is dope -- described some hilarious costumes he had worn and recounted with great humor the traumatic time he had fallen on stage as the curtain was closing. Really liked him.\"\", \"score\": 4}", CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Visala [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I had a great time talking to [REDACTED]! We talked for a while about street art and I learned a lot which I really appreciated! He explained to me how he wants to get a grant from PU to travel over the summer to document street art in countries that are undergoing political change. Apparently, the art will be painted over by new administrations so it's important to document the political messages. He even showed me his cool streetart insta account! At first I thought [REDACTED] was a little shy, but he really warmed up and we ended up having a fun conversation about his ideal Valentine's date! I would love to sit down at a meal with [REDACTED] and get to know him better!\"\", \"score\": 4}", CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Serena [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was nice and I think other members may be able to have good interactions with him but I felt that our conversation was rather bland and forced. He ran a conference for business today and went skiing in Colorado this past week. Overall, I did not feel strongly either way.\"\", \"score\": 3}",

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Leo [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was a personable fellow - it took a bit for him to warm up and for us to find some common ground, but after we probed into his background a bit we discovered some common experiences, and I could see him visibly relax and become more comfortable in the conversation. He was friendly and nice once we got into the swing of it, and I enjoyed his low key style. He would be perfectly fine to sit next to at meals, definitely have some small talk, but I doubt we would start intensely arguing about the metaphysics of

Goethe or something similar. Which is totally fine - he was pleasant and approachable and put in effort to ask me some questions as well. "" , ""score"":3} ,, CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Barbara [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] is one of those Princeton gems. He is honest, genuine, funny and I actually loved our bicker. He's really involved on campus (I forget all of them) but he seems to just want to help and give back to the community which I respected and felt was genuine (not just a line to get into ivy). He seems to have been worried about the negative stereotype about Ivy but was eager to meet people that proved otherwise. He would definitely be an active member and I think really seems interested. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Gabrielle [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""All of the diversity meetings this year point directly to this [REDACTED] needing to get in. I spoke with him for almost an hour about growing up in the Bronx and his perspective on life and privilege at Princeton. His perspective was refreshing and genuine, and brightened my day. Further, this is a cool guy. Great style. Great attitude. Perhaps too cool for Princeton. I am positive he would be a fun, active member, and he was raving about how open and exciting everyone he has spoken to has been. We need more kids like this. I would be even more proud to be an Ivy member with [REDACTED] in the club. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Caroline [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""WOW. What a guy. I was blown away by [REDACTED]'s charm and warmth. He immediately suggested we take a walk, and we strolled all the way to the Football stadium nonstop chatting (the conversation was that engaging). He spoke passionately about his love of anthropology and his genuine interest in using conversations and story-telling as a means to profoundly understand human beings. [REDACTED] also spoke about his work as a SHARE peer on campus- his drive to help others is truly admirable. [REDACTED] speaks so highly of the club, so enthusiastically about its membership, I could not imagine a better guy to accept. LITERALLY TAKE HIM HE IS AWESOME. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Clayton [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] immediately struck me as an extremely happy and up-beat guy. He's an enthusiastic person who makes a real effort to get to know you. We had a very genuine and natural conversation, which can be rare during bicker. He's excited about Ivy despite some reservations about the club's stereotypes and seems like he would be an involved and active member, both at meals and on nights out. [REDACTED] would be a really solid addition to the club. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Abigail [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] seems like a really nice guy, and I enjoyed our conversation thoroughly. He's engaged in many facets of campus life and demonstrates an active commitment to social justice groups. His willingness to speak his mind made for a dynamic, lengthy conversation. He seems to really enjoy his prior friendships with members in the club and would continue to branch out if he were to become a member. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{member": "Melissa [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "this kid was HILARIOUS. he said he was good at telling stories so i told him to tell me his craziest one and he told me how he hooked up with a girl in Fine Hall after a night out and slept there only to be woken up by mat103 professor starting class on friday morning. [REDACTED] made me non-stop laugh and really drove the conversation by asking me lots of questions. he was fun and outgoing, on our walk around he knew practically every person we walked by. his background from a single mother in the Bronx was refreshing and he acknowledged that ivy wasn't the club he originally saw himself in but his ability to make ppl laugh and diversify the-club-are-reasons-why-i-want-[REDACTED]-in-ivy. ", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Krishan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is from the south side of the Bronx, is a hard worker, a big sports guy, and loves telling and sharing stories. He also loves a good night out on the street. He's an Anthropology major and wants to study abroad in Argentina, Spain, or South Africa. He's friends with a good number of people in the club. He is very down to earth and opened up a lot about his upbringing. Above all, he did not hold back when he was talking - I really felt like I was getting to know the real [REDACTED]. My only reservation is that he wants to study abroad for both semesters of junior year, which would make him less present/integrated than other potential members. ", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Sophie [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Great kid, liked him - just his answers were a little too vague for my taste. I asked him what he wanted to do next year and all he could say was \"help people\" - I love the sentiment, but when I pushed him for more he couldn't expand. A bit frustrating! He's clearly a chiller, asked me if I smoked weed which was lol, and theres no doubt that he would contribute to the chill vibe of the club, I'm just not sure he's the right fit. ldk, look he's a cool kid, I liked him definitely, but just feel v neutral at the end of the conversation. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Conner [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "This guy is really friendly and really involved - he took initiative and suggested we take a walk so that we could mix it up a little from a normal bicker. Liked chatting about baseball, Caribbean club, and never even had to glance at his sheet. One thing is that I felt like I couldn't get a word in edgewise, he was all rapid-fire talk. I think I'm predisposed to like mellower personalities so that may be more an effect of me than of him. If other people like him, I could be convinced. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Christopher [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I had a great conversation. While noticeably nervous she seemed like a funny and interesting person, even performing the song \"Lip Gloss\" with great enthusiasm (her interest was early 2000s hits). ", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Katelyn [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I looooooved this girl. My favorite part about Ivy so far has been when I bickered- the chill & genuine conversations i had and the ppl i had them with- and i for the first time felt like i had a bicker conversation similar to what i experienced last year. I didnt have to look at her sheet once, we had a such a chill and real conversation about memes and dinner and other super vague and simplistic topics. it was so easy, and i could very easily see her sitting down at ivy dinners and talking to anyone. seriously think she will fit in so well, im so happy i got to talk to her. let her in!!!", "score":5}, CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Alicia [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I love this girl! She is down to earth, super smart, and well-rounded. We had a great conversation and I could have kept talking to her for a long time. She was genuine about her interest in Ivy and I think she would be a great member. [REDACTED] talked about her experience as a female engineer, what she is involved with on campus, and how she loves meeting new people. I didn't even have to ask her questions because our conversation flowed easily and she was interested in hearing my thoughts and perspective as well. I hope to have many more conversations with [REDACTED]!\", \"score\":5}, CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Nicholas [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is a female engineer from outside Boston, and she led a very honest, open conversation. She explained common conceptions and misconceptions about what its like to be a female engineer. Though girls are a minority in most of her classes, [REDACTED] demonstrated her intent to pursue engineering in a tech/start-up context, a personal interest of hers. [REDACTED] also has a uniquely quirky sense of humor; she showed me how she greets her friends (using a unique gang sign). [REDACTED] will make a strong member, and I certainly hope to get to know her better.\", \"score\":4}, CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Haryuni [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] was very fun to talk to. She was down to earth, quirky and a great conversationalist (she called herself an oversharer, which is honestly what we want at dinner. We didn't especially click, but I think she'll be a great addition to the club.\", \"score\":4}, CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Antigone [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I really enjoyed talking to [REDACTED]. She seemed a little bit nervous and talked fast at first but warmed up super quickly and proved to be incredibly introspective, quirky, and outgoing at the same time. She answered my questions very well, turned them back on me, and seems to really care about Ivy for the right reasons. She is hilarious - by far had the best answer for guessing my life story. I think she would appeal to tons of different people in the club and would not be at all shy about talking to people she doesn't know or is not similar to. Torn between 4/5 but strong endorsement for this girl and I really hope to see her in the club this spring.\", \"score\":4}, CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Julian [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] did a great job of answering my questions well. She seemed perhaps a bit nervous, but her answers were well thought out and felt sincere. I liked that she was able to adapt and answer some questions that she clearly was not expecting or that she hadn't been asked before. She knows quite a few members and was pretty familiar with the club, so I think that she actually really is choosing ivy because she loves it. I can see her fitting in very well. She clearly and genuinely expressed a desire to meet some new people, which is what Ivy is all about. I'd love to welcome another \"[REDACTED]\" to the club (the more the better).\", \"score\":4},

CARD: "{"member" ":"Caroline

[REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seems like a perfectly nice girl, but I do not feel strongly about her. She spoke very quickly and jumped around a lot without much depth on any one topic, so our conversation just felt a bit awkward. It is possible that this was just due to nerves (I was her first bicker) and that she will have a better conversation with someone else later on, but I was just not really convinced by her. Would be happy for her if she got into the club, but I don't have a strong opinion either way. ", "score": 3}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"Konadu

[REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seemed very sure of herself. She gave some thoughtful responses about how she felt about the eating club system and what her impression was of Ivy and its members. [REDACTED] was also pretty good natured about singing a couple of lines from \"Say My Name\" and she didn't seem overeager or like she was trying to be something that she wasn't. I double bickered her with someone else, and I felt like she might have been a bit overshadowed by the other guy. She kind of piggy backed off of his responses, which was fine, but not helpful in getting to know her. I think she would make a pretty good member, but I'm unconvinced that she should absolutely be in the club.", "score": 3}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Derek [REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "My conversation with [REDACTED] was solid/ight. She was super friendly and bubbly. Really admired her work with \"Marticulate\"-- a program to help kids in underdeveloped areas realize their potential and apply to top tier schools. I think she could perhaps be a good member but we didn't really hit it off. Overall was pleasant but not super interesting. Feel pretty apathetic whether she gets in or not.", "score": 3}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Kial [REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Great guy. Had an awesome conversation with the guy and we had a lot of similar interests. I am surprised I hadn't met him before as we had a lot of similar friends and he was able to tell a lot of really funny stories about my friends that I would never have expected. I would really enjoy having a conversation at dinner with him or seeing him on the street; [REDACTED] would be a great member at Ivy. ", "score": 5}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Carolina

[REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was one of the coolest guys ever, it was so easy to immediately click with him. I feel like I could have talked forever with him and also know that he would be a super fun and involved presence during events. He explicitly mentioned being genuinely interested in interacting with a lot of different captivating people. Talking to [REDACTED] felt like talking to a good friend; I feel like he would be a very strong addition to the membership. He had super positive, good vibes and was also eager to get to know more about me which was very endearing. Extremely charming and down to earth, I would truly love to see him in Ivy. ", "score": 5}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Jason

[REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED]'s a good guy. He was easy to talk to, funny and easygoing. Could've kept the conversation going a while longer. His favorite movie is The Departed, so that's a plus. He watched it in high school Spanish and knocked his computer over at the twist ending, but claims to pay attention in class now. His favorite phrase appears to be \"fuckin' around\" which must mean he's chill and laidback. I'm a bit worried that he'd keep to his group of friends but I actually think that he'd make an effort to get to know a lot of different people and fit in well with the membership. Would be excited to sit next to him at meals and get to know him better.\"\", \"score\":4}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Olivia [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Woah! Rly cool story teller and talkative dude. Ideally would want to be a safari guide post princeton. Had an interesting encounter with a moose. Is Canadian. A skier. Rly into Hockey. Rly into electronic music. He would fit in really well in Ivy and just exudes good vibes. He is a big fan of the club. \"\", \"score\":4}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Matthew [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] has a bit of an issue with verbal diarrhea, but apart from that I think that he will be a good fit for Ivy. He has clearly made an effort to come to dinners at the club and meet lots of members, so I'm sure that he would be a very active member if he got in. We had a lot in common so it was an easy going conversation for the most part, although he did seem a bit eager to mention that he was working in investment banking, which was pretty fiendish if you ask me. \"\", \"score\":4}\"

CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Liam [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] and I talked a lot about his traveling with his family and friends and the memories he's made doing that. He talked about his appreciation for Ivy's small club size and the intimacy that results from this. He seems to already have close relationships with members and has a desire to branch out and meet others if afforded the opportunity. I think that he would be an active and warm presence in the club. \"\", \"score\":4}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Derek [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I had a solid conversation with [REDACTED]. Seems like a solid dude conversation was completely natural and flowing. Seemed a bit nervous though. That being said we covered a wide range of topics, especially comparing sports/politics in Canada/US. Really had a lot to say and can definitely see having a meal with him. I think he'd be a good member. Didn't particularly like his why Ivy answer- was pretty generic but seemed relatively genuine. I think other members could like him but I feel a bit apathetic on whether he gets in or not. \"\", \"score\":3}\"

CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Vivian [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Am I supposed to up [REDACTED] because he's Jacquie's brother or because ~all~ his friends are members? Seemed entitled to membership. Tried numerous times to lead convo to other topics/tried to like him because facts on his sheet were unique/cool/interesting, but was continuously guided back to something he could respond to by regurgitating from his book of memorized answers. Seemed like he was just trying to paint himself as a stereotypical member: well-off, fratty, international...He randomly asserted why he'd fit in(he loves the seating policy duh!). Interview seemed fake/rehearsed. Wouldn't be a good addition; would further misconceptions about Ivy. idkMaybe we just didn't vibe, but [REDACTED] was extremely disinterested (possibly bored from saying same things during all his interviews?) and eager for the next bicker. "" , ""score"":1}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Jared [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I could have talked to [REDACTED] for hours. Although she was avoiding eye contact and was very visibly nervous towards the beginning of the bicker, she really opened up by about 10 minutes in. Just such a fun, personable girl, and I think she would add some crazy party energy to every meal at this club (the good kind). "" , ""score"":5}" , CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Gabrielle [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""BLOWN AWAY I LOVE HER. She is so funny; I was laughing so hard the entire time. She told me the most hilarious stories about traveling to Nigeria to visit family. Her stories about Achille had me on the floor cackling. I LOVE HER! Kind, honest, not pretentious at all, wasn't trying to be cool, just was cool-- this is a wonderful person and Ivy would be so lucky to have her in the club. I wanted someone to spice up my evening and luckily I got [REDACTED]! Also I am 500% positive that she would be wild on the dance floor. "" , ""score"":5}" , CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Rebecca [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] made me instantly smile. She has a big personality and it really shone through telling me all about her experience with Nigeria, her favourite dance moves and her desire to create her own major. There were a couple of lulls in our conversation but generally conversation was really interesting, making me laugh and very interested in all her hopes and dreams for Nigeria and their healthcare situation. She was fun, creative and I think she'd really be an active member from everything that she said. Overall, we had a wonderful conversation :)"" , ""score"":4}" , CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Vivian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Best bicker of the night by far! [REDACTED] told me about how he expanded his worldview by volunteering in rio while the Olympics were going on, and by spending time with his family (his parents are from [REDACTED]) in Czech then NY. His humor shined when he told me stories about his 6 half sisters and how he always feels like he needs to be the protective brother awww. He seems like such a fun guy, and I was genuinely sad when I walked him back to Ivy because our interview had gone on for an hour already. Would be a great fit for the club, and not just because he's a zete pledge. "" , ""score"":5}" , CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Jonathan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""She is easy to talk to and we had an engaging and interesting conversation about her interests and family history. She seemed outgoing and interested in meeting new people in the club. She seemed very genuine and I think she would be a good member of Ivy"" , ""score"":4}" ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Samuel [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED]'s a nice girl, who is chilled out enough that our conversation flowed naturally. We spoke a lot about bicker in a really interesting way and she was happy to take a more unusual approach to the whole process. I didn't talk about her interests because we chatted about other stuff. She is the first person I can genuinely say would be cool to sit next to at dinner, which is a bit ironic. Hope there's a place for her.""", "score": 4}],

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Charlotte [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"If there is one thing about [REDACTED] I know to be true after speaking with her, it is that she would be an active member. Her least favorite thing about Ivy is that people are in the pong room for too long, and she wishes everyone would come and dance with her. She loves that we are open on Tuesdays, and would be sure to come to every theme night. I thought she seemed a little bit shallow at first, but she was able to match my tone and answer some of my more difficult questions. She was ready to engage, and eager to get to know me more which is a great quality!\"", \"score\": 4}],

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Christian [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I immediately felt at ease speaking with [REDACTED]. Like myself, [REDACTED] has an adopted sister who has shaped her life. Having a sibling from China motivated [REDACTED] to begin learning Chinese outside of highschool, study the rural northwest region she was born in, and pursue East Asian studies while at Princeton. When asked 'why Ivy?', she said that although she already has one family in the track team, she is excited to meet new people and join the community that [REDACTED] referred to as 'the reason she now loves Princeton.' I think she'd be active day-to-day and at social events. Her only hesitation with bickering was that she would be perceived as 'another New Yorker,' but she'll definitely make a name for herself independently!\"", \"score\": 5}],

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Leo [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I threw [REDACTED] into a double bicker scenario with Julian and his bickeree, knowing it's a tougher situation in which to come off as personable and fun. She handled the extra stress very well and answered our goofy questions with a sense of fun and self-aware humor that I personally appreciate. She would bring a great diverse perspective to the club, born in Nigeria, and I think she would be fine addition to the club. It wasn't the most popping bicker but i admired the grace and friendliness she brought to the difficult scenario of the group bicker. Not everyone has to be a comedian. Unfortunately I didn't share her interest in fashion but she would\\r\\nNevertheless be pleasant enough to share a meal with.\"\", \"score\": 3}],

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Ayesha [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was really nice and high energy. I liked talking to her about her experience so far at Princeton and her extracurricular interests - she's been pretty involved planning a conference that sounds super interesting. Wasn't the easiest thing in the world to keep the conversation going but that also could have been on me - she may get along better with other members. The reason I'm giving a 3 though is because I wasn't super convinced by her why Ivy as one of the only reasons she gave was that our main going out night was Tuesday. Again thought she was sweet but don't feel super strongly about having her in the club.\"\", \"score\": 3}],

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Gianna [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] and I had a nice conversation. Her answer for why Ivy was heartfelt and I appreciated her sincerity in opening up about the inclusiveness that Ivy members have for everyone. She seemed very laid back, humorous, and was a great heads-up player. It seems like she would fit in the club but I was just not super enthusiastic about her after our conversation. Could be swayed to an up but going to give her a neutral since it was not the best bicker. "" , ""score"":3} ,, OUTSIDE CARD: "{""member" ":"Madeleine [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is all heart. I was introduced to her in Puerto Rico, when a few of us went on a hike in the rainforest. Finding ourselves at the front of the line and unable to hear anything behind us, [REDACTED] struck up a conversation with me like it was the easiest thing to do in the world. We had never met, but her inquisitiveness and ability to ask questions that proved she was listening made me feel like we'd met in 3rd grade. I'm pretty sure she does that with everyone she meets. She's easy going and laughs things off when they need to be made light of, but also is incredibly smart, well read, and a quick thinker. She's not afford to call bullshit on people or on life. She's still figuring stuff out, mostly the pre-med question, but looks at that decision as well with ease and a wisdom beyond her years. I can see her doing so well in this club, bringing more playfulness, amazing fashion, and spirit to the club. I so hope she gets in because we would be so lucky to have her. Paint this girl green, make her [REDACTED] for all I care, just please please consider her because we would be such better club with her in it. ""}"" ,,,,,,,,,,

CARD: "{""member" ":"Charles [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is an absolute gem. It seemed like our bicker could go on for hours. She's incredibly involved on campus, intellectual and sweet. Our bicker felt more like a true conversation, as she kept on asking me questions back. She took a true interest in getting to know me and I felt like we really got to know each other. She wanted to know how my time has been at ivy and I feel like she's very exited about joining. I also am convinced she would be an involved member. Paint her green."" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{""member" ":"Chandler [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Liked [REDACTED] a lot - good up-beat energy and a cool confidence that I'm sure other people noticed. We discovered about halfway through talking that she went to one of my rival high schools and had a ton in common from then-on, but before that I did have a slightly hard time getting much out of her. Probably just took time to warm up. She had a strong answer when I asked what she wants to get out of the rest of her time at Princeton, touching sincerely on how seriously she'll take her job as the Chair of the Honor Committee, also touching on academic goals and the friendships she wants to keep strengthening, touching on the last week she spent in Puerto Rico."" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{""member" ":"Laura [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Absolute sweetheart. A bit soft-spoken, but so charming. I admire her decision to attend Princeton over RISD because she thought she'd get a more holistic experience here; that being said, she hasn't let go of her creative side and her passion for the arts really showed during our conversation. She has a great perspective on meeting people, and I believe she is sincere when she says that she's enjoyed bicker thus far because she gets to see how different each person is. Regardless of how bicker goes, I will most definitely be reaching out to her to get to know her better. She also said my spirit animal is a snow leopard because I am put-together but in an alternative way. A superb response. Love."" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Sara [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"My time bickering [REDACTED] made me so happy! She is very go-with-the-flow, sweet Andre sincere. From the little I learned about her she seems to have a pretty cool life. Her dad is Christian and her mother is Jewish so we had some nice talks about interfaith and birthright. She also ice skates and showed me a photo of her favorite move... looked very challenging. I loved that she was able to joke around with me. I asked her if she had heard of ivy before Princeton and it turns out her father and uncle were both in Ivy. She was very shy about this which I found adorable, but I told her to be proud of such a cool family legacy!! Paint her GREEEEEEEN\", \"score\" : 4 }\",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"David [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is a cool, quiet girl who seems like she'd be a great member. She's on the figure skating team here and is pretty passionate about it. She also seems like she's REALLY into art (she says she paints oil paintings of people and is an art major) which was a bit difficult for me to relate to because I'm artistically illiterate, but she walked me through the stuff she does and got me interested in the Princeton art scene. I think she would add to the club, especially on nights out where I could foresee her being the life of the party. \", \"score\" : 4 }\",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"James [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] was pretty nervous at the start of our conversation, but as she got into her story, which encompassed figure skating, and her passion for painting portraits she became more comfortable and casual throughout the conversation. She was interesting and had a hilarious story about bar tending with a well known boston drug dealer.\", \"score\" : 4 }\",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Clayton [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] seemed a little nervous throughout the conversation. We talked about her interests as an artist and as a figure skater and had an overall decent discussion. I didn't entirely click with her, but could definitely see how others would.\", \"score\" : 3 }\",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Clayton [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] seemed a little nervous throughout the conversation. We talked about her interests as an artist and as a figure skater and had an overall decent discussion. I didn't entirely click with her, but could definitely see how others would.\", \"score\" : 3 }\",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Laura [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] seemed like a very sweet girl, and I really wanted to love her. However, she seemed quite awkward and the conversation was a bit forced. It seemed like she was telling me exactly what I wanted to hear, rather than extrapolating on her own opinion. Also, she told me that she decided to bicker because her one friend in the club convinced her last minute. She also had other reasons, of course, and she seemed to be a very social person that would be excited to engage with the membership. Perhaps our lackluster conversation was a product of her nervousness, and if other people liked her, I could certainly be convinced. \", \"score\" : 3 }\", CARD: "{member": "Abigail [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a sweetheart. She started out a bit reticent but became more talkative as the conversation progressed. We talked about growing up in Baltimore, her interest in art, and her high school figure skating career. I finally learned the difference between ice dancing and figure skating! Again, [REDACTED] couldn't have been sweeter, however I personally found it hard to engage and really get to know her. Perhaps, it was my own inability to ask the right questions or maybe we were both tired after the first day of classes, but the conversation never really went anywhere and felt forced most of the time. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Lyon [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I had a lot in common with her interest in visual arts, NYC, and the Arctic Monkeys. But, I don't know if she was spent doing her 9th interview or was not really sure about what she was truly interested in because every answer she gave was a vague description. I think at times, she was looking for THAT right answer and it felt more like I knew more of what she was saying she liked than herself. Still, the conversation was pleasant and the impression I got was that she was a pleasant person who I would vaguely describe as \"chill.\" But that's about the depth of it. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Samantha [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "My bicker with [REDACTED] was good, though she definitely didn't blow me away. She was perfectly nice and easy to talk to but a tiiiiny bit awkward. I was her first bicker so maybe she was nervous and will slide into the groove soon enough. We spoke about her recent trip to London, interest in art and art history, and her passion for figure skating. She was perfectly lovely but I don't know how excited I'd be to sit next to heR at a meal. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Jan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I had a very interesting conversation that made me want to talk more with him. Raised in Princeton and Honkong, he is a very open minded, educated and curious person that appreciates diversity. His interest in Ivy is based on his appreciation of the diverse background stories he learned about during guest meals. To make it short, I think he would be an outstanding addition to Ivy. I know it is early in the process but my gut tells me that I might just had one of my favorite bickerees. Two thumbs up for [REDACTED]. ", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Benjamin [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "This kid is a legend. Not only has he been to North Korea (he did a good job relaying the story), but he had genuinely funny responses to my questions and moreover, when I asked him to roast me, he said I looked like a monkey and evolution is a lie, I admire that kind of boldness and honesty. ", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Caroline [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was initially a little reticent; however, as soon as the conversation turned to his upbringing in Hong Kong and his travels to North Korea he immediately gained in confidence. We chatted about our mutual love of dumplings and our shared disappointment over the lack of authentic Asian cuisine in Princeton. While [REDACTED] may seem reserved, he offered some excellent answers when probed. His 'why Ivy' was great, and he discussed at length his hopes to join a 'holistically interesting community'. My own qualm- one of his interests was 'international travel'. "" , ""score"" :4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Emily [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""I had a really nice conversation with [REDACTED]. He was an easy going and straight up guy. He's from Hong Kong and would love to one day go camping on Poe field. He very sincerely told me he wants to do Ivy because he believes it felt like a very diverse community, in terms there being lots of different types of people in the club. Definitely easy to talk to and would be happy to sit next to him at a meal. "" , ""score"" :4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Charlotte [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] is one of the most interesting people I have spoken to during bicker thus far. You probably wouldn't guess this from looking at him but he is a DJ, plays on the Rugby team, and spent a school vacation in North Korea. I truly enjoyed talking to [REDACTED]. Although he seemed a bit aloof at first, I was very impressed by the rest of my conversation with him. We talked about memories of our dads blasting classic rock in the car, and what constitutes an interesting book, and our experiences with love. His answer to \"Why Ivy\" blew me away, and it seemed like he is genuinely interested in the club and would be a good and active member. Yay [REDACTED]!"" , ""score"" :4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Nicole [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] strikes me as a genuinely down-to-earth, easy-going, and interesting guy! All of his answers were thoughtful, particularly in response to what he would change about Ivy (it was like he'd sat in on our meetings about improving the bicker process...). It was fascinating to hear him talk about his academic interests, and his curiosity about whether a word maintains its full meaning when translated. Also, not only was he familiar with the show The Vagina Monologues, he had in fact helped organize a production of it in high school! That gives him majorrr brownie points in my book. All in all, [REDACTED] seems like an accessible and multi-faceted dude who would be a welcome addition to the Ivy community. Let's paint him green!"" , ""score"" :4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Jason [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was great to talk to. A little nervous at first, but really enjoyed the conversation once he loosened up. He is bickering for the right reasons and was genuinely interested in me and my experience. The clear sign he'd be a great member was the amount of time he spends at meals regularly -- he passes hours just chatting to people in the dhall. He's very reflective on his own experience in Chi Phi and on the nature of Ivy's exclusivity which make me confident that he's the kind of kid we want at Ivy. His understated nature betrays his ability to think fast and speak candidly. I really enjoyed getting to know him and know that the rest of the club will too. "" , ""score"" :4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Conner [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Oli was a good guy, easy to talk to. We chatted about life in Hong Kong, failings of the Greek System at Pton, and our most embarrassing moments. He was really friendly and easy to talk to, definitely someone I would like to have around. I think he'd get on well with everyone at the club, my one reservation would be that he didn't really pop. I left thinking \"that was nice, I could be friends with him\" and not \"we're best friends already.\" Obviously not a requirement, and he was an interesting and nice guy.\"\", \"score\":4}\",

CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Olivia [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"nice kid! . American who grew up mostly abroad in Hong Kong. Loves travel. Wanted to plan a trip to Iran but LOL trump. lis going to be a philosophy major. I think he would be honored to be a part of the club and would integrate well. Nice vibes \"\", \"score\":3}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Antoine [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"First 20min of our talk were pretty brutal. He was obviously nervous and the conversation just didn't flow very naturally/ he was a little awkward. Later on, he opened up some more and told me more about the things that actually interest like PACE initiatives and rugby, rather than his rehearsed interests. Still, I'm not sure how good of a fit he would be for the club. I think there's potential but I'd be interested to hear what other people thought about him. Was gonna give him a 2 but because he opened up more towards the end I'm giving him a neutral. \"\", \"score\":3}\",, CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Eduardo [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I walked down the stairs and and read the. Ame on my sheet, \"[REDACTED]!\" No response. \"[REDACTED]!\" Still no response. I walked up to the kid who looked like [REDACTED], white boy with timberland boots, blue chino pants and a Barbour jacket. I was right. I rolled my eyes and headed off with [REDACTED] on what turned out to be one of my most pleasurable bicker experiences. [REDACTED] is a first generation Boston boy who spoke candidly about his experience at Princeton. He clearly has a worldly perspective and a level of sincerity that is often missing in the Ivy dinning hall. I could not give a stronger endorsement. Would be thrilled to sit across from him at dinner. Paint him green!\"\", \"score\":5}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Olivia [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Love this kid. What an open soul. He was so down to clown and did the funniest skit during a double bicker about pineapples and horses and then got super deep about what his Princeton experience has been like and what it is like being a first gen kid. We talked about life values and high school. He is super easy to have a connection with and he would make the awesomest meal side partner. Don't know what else to say except I really like this kid. He is also insanely smart. ORFE but his spirit major is art history. Paint this boi green.\"\", \"score\":5}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Emma [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I think [REDACTED] would be an awesome fit in the club. We had a great conversation about our favorite movies and he spent a really long time trying to help me understand what ORFE is (to no avail). He was super easy to talk to because he was both funny and also very reflective about his experience at Princeton and decision to bicker. He asked me a bunch of questions, which made me feel like he'd be a great person to sit next to at a meal. He says that he wants to be in Ivy because he thinks that it's one of the only clubs where the members really get to know each other and branch out from their friend groups. Paint [REDACTED] green!\"\", \"score\":5}\",

CARD: {"member": "Krishan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I was intrigued by his interest in hip hop and EDM and really enjoyed learning about his perspective as one of the committee members planning artists for Lawnparties. He also was very insightful when talking about limitations of the big data or \"moneyball\" approach to building optimal sports teams. I personally am a data nerd and would love to have more conversations with someone like Nick in the club.\r\n\r\nAt times, I found our conversation to be a bit forced. I sensed that he was a bit nervous, which of course is natural.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Nicholas [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I enjoyed my conversation with [REDACTED]. He gave off the impression of a very secure kind individual, and I greatly appreciated that. [REDACTED] and I had a good conversation, and we shared some laughs which is always a good thing. I think he would fit well into Ivy for multiple reasons: he had a good reason for wanting to join ivy, and additionally, he seemed very down to earth. I can always appreciate someone who is chill, and just genuinely a nice person. Nicholas gave me this impression. I think people would enjoy his presence around the club overall. He had similar interests to myself and others I know in ivy as well.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Ana [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I liked talking to [REDACTED] a lot. I respected that he put up with a triple bicker with me, seb and Sophia - which I think was kind of tough but he was funny and witty through out the whole thing. Once I was alone with him, we spoke of his experience as a first generation college student and his role as an older brother. It was super easy to talk to him and I actually think he's someone I would look forward to sitting next to at meals. He seems intellectually curious and eager to get to know more people. He also said Maechi was his favorite bicker, which is obviously a sign that he is cool.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Barbara [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was really great to talk to. He has an insane range of interests and actually seems quite knowledgeable about all of them. I pushed him a lot in the conversation but he handled it with ease. He at first said he was interested in Ivy because of the tradition and then said hierarchy...which I asked more about. He didn't really recover from that one as smoothly but then got into this insanely deep explanation about how he wants to find a community where he can be honest and be himself and essentially hve a family in the best and worst times. Despite this weird answer he was open and honest though which I had to respect.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Onyemaechi [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Pretty standard light weight rower guy. Likes to play Billiards and read philosophy in his spare time which is cool. Told me his super power would be invisibility because he likes to do his own thing and not feel watched which was kinda weird seeing as he wants to join a social club. Not to say being quiet or liking alone time is bad but to me sounded like he wouldn't branch out and actively seek out new people which is important to me. Wrote he was first gen on his sheet but when I tried to have a deeper convo on how, if at all, it had affected him he didn't really want to talk about it.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Alicia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was nice to talk to but wasn't very engaging. I felt like I was interviewing him instead of having a more free-flowing conversation with him. First part of the bicker session was a double bicker to break the ice a little. He described his hypothetical tinder profile and talked about some of his interests. Then we broke off to talk more about why he wanted to bicker Ivy. He said he likes the smaller size of the club because it reminds him of his school in Boston. I felt like his answers were pretty scripted and that he felt like there was only one right answer. I don't feel strongly about him becoming a member but not opposed to it. Neutral. ", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Brett [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "A little stiff, this conversation felt a bit more forced than others. We discussed a breadth of topics (JFK, art history, reading for pleasure, The Imitation Game), and [REDACTED] definitely has a wide range of interests. An ORF major and former lightweight rower, he also harbors a passion for art/painting (specifically favors Rothko) and music (plays the electric bass). Several times we got into a good rhythm, and then it would falter and I'd have to pull out a question to get it going. In asking me why I like Ivy, he seemed invested in the answer and getting to know the club, but it felt like the end of an interview when the interviewee asks about the job. Decent guy, didn't click.", "score": 3},, CARD: "{member": "Serena [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "LOVED THIS GIRL! [REDACTED] was so easy to talk to and had lots of great things to say about ivy. She is dynamic and would bring great energy to the club. We spoke about our time at Princeton and related on so many levels. I would love nothing more than to sit next to her at meals and get to know her even better!! Paint her green :)", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Brennan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a great time meeting [REDACTED]. I definitely hit her with some questions out of left field, but she stayed relaxed the whole time, and our conversation never felt forced or unnatural. She clearly seemed in her element in the club, and I could see her charismatically interacting with any of our members. She's from California, and has two older brothers. She loves theater, and her dream job is to be a TV actress. A member of the triangle club, she is clearly comfortable in different social situations, which would enable her to thrive within the club's diverse walls. I'd love to see her join.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Onyemaechi [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "AMAZING!! Was starting to feel jaded, like my soul could no longer reach out through the void and touch that of another but this girl ripped me outta that funk. She gave off a fantastic energy from the start and was so much fun to be around. I didn't even look at her sheet once. I honestly was sad when our trip to Starbucks ended and peppered her with questions in the lobby even though she had to go. On club soccer, in Triangle, directing a play she has a hand in a lot of cool stuff. Talked to her about our love of dogs and how her three Pomeranians are treated as kings. Her super power would be magic which is outside the box.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Antoine [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Let's be honest, [REDACTED]'s a perfect fit for Ivy. She has a great personality, no doubt, but more importantly,

I had an amazing time bickering her because she was such an active bickeree. She was fun, thoughtful and kept the conversation going, she just has a great energy to her. She seems 1000% into Ivy and think she'd be an active member. She was 100% genuine, which is very important to me for a girl like her. She's one of my best, if not my best bickeree so far, get her in! "" ,""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Peyton [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""I feel like had a great conversation with [REDACTED]. The conversation seemed to flow very easily and she had a lot of interesting things to say. I really enjoyed her stories about her experience as a child actor and how it translated to her ambitions of being a professional actor in the future. I could see her getting along with a lot of people at this club and she seems to already have a good amount of friends in the club already. I am giving her an up because I think that she would be the type of person to speak to everyone that she meets. "" ,""score"":4}" , CARD: "{""member" ":"Mina [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Very sweet girl. Passionate about theater, which makes up a lot of her own background and how she spends her time at Princeton. Think she was a bit wiggled out cause big olz prez came down to chat, but still no luls in our conversation; she was super engaging, smart, and and interested in me and what I had to say. No doubt a great addition to our membership, "" ,""score"":4}" , CARD: "{""member" ":"David [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] was a pretty cool nice girl. She was super passionate about acting and really got into our conversation, including a short Shakespeare monologue. I think she would definitely be a good member, would be active on nights out, and would be a fun person to sit next to at meals. I wouldn't be heartbroken if she didn't get in, but I really think she should. That's a 4 right? That's why I'm giving her a 4. Maybe even a high 4? Like a 4.8? It was a great conversation overall. Quite easy flowing (maybe that's just because I'm a good conversationalist though? idk). "" ,""score"":4}" , CARD: "{""member" ":"Kevin [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Kirsten and I connected over how we are both the youngest with two older brothers, and she described the quirks of her family and was curious to learn about mine. I liked that she is so passionate about acting and English, and described an actually really cool play about Jesus that she is acting in. I also got the sense that she was limited in her interests besides religion acting and English. She's embracing of new people, telling me an anecdote about how she first met her best friend, by bonding over their carefree love for dancing and openness to being \"weird\". She got back at 4am last night with the triangle club tour. She's fun, but sometimes seemed forced"" ,""score"":3}" , CARD: "{""member" ":"Samuel [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] wasn't my type of person. She's uber peppy and very in your face in the way she goes about her conversations. She'll cut you off and finish your sentences for you in a way which just kind of annoyed me. It was sometimes a struggle to talk to her, for me. On the other hand, she's very very interesting and many of our personal interests exactly aligned. My own personal choices meant that I have marked her down, but I know that there are members of the club who would love to have her in and would learn a lot from her and enjoy their time with her. I think other people will be able to decide her fate better than me. "" ,""score"":3}" , CARD: "{member": "Tyler [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Big into acting and directing, she's all about performance art and wants to pursue a career in the industry. She came across as a pretty thoughtful person who liked to be informed, resenting fake news etc. I do think she had room to grow as a person. However, it became pretty clear that she has very little exposure to people of color, as she a) used the term 'a black' and b) commented on my hair when demonstrating an acting exercise in which one is supposed to say whatever comes to mind. I was initially shooting for giving this girl a 4 but I now can't go any higher than a 2 because there are limits to what I'll concede in the name of ignorance.", "score": 2},,

OUTSIDE CARD: "{member": "Caroline [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I distinctively remember meeting [REDACTED] for the first time. As I chatted with her in a group setting, I immediately felt her set her presence in relief. She was gregarious, effervescent and emanated this unbelievable confidence. As a thespian myself (back in the day), I have experienced outgoing individuals before. I have interacted with many enviable extroverts and befriended those who simply leak infectious energy. However, I have never quite met someone like [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] redefined confidence in my eyes—she was not only vibrant, but introspective. As we spoke for longer and ventured into a more personal territory of conversation (specifically speaking about the rigor of Princeton), she offered her views and impressions on sensitive subjects, subjects that I often find myself shying away from addressing. She discussed such issues in an enlightened manner, unafraid to vocalize her thoughts and wrestle with solutions. We sat in Rocky Dining Hall until closing time. I was mesmerized by [REDACTED], and I still am each time we chat. She is talented beyond belief (you can often find her running between seven shows on campus) and is truly an extraordinary person. If you see her running between those seven shows, definitely stop her; even if you speak to her for five minutes, you will not be disappointed. Paint her green!", "score": 5},,,,,,,,,, CARD: "{member": "Nina [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED]'s adventurous personality and curiosity came across strongly during our conversation. When I asked him what his quirkiest trait was, he told me that he nerdily loves to watch videos of planes landing in foreign places. This seemed pretty odd but then it totally made sense when he went on to talk about his passion for travel and his love of meeting new people. When he told me that making new friends was his favorite part of sophomore year I asked him to describe a new friend he was excited about. His description of the guy showed that this usually platitudinous claim of 'liking new people' was truly important to him. I left impressed by his energy& the diversity of topics he could talk about.", "score": 5},, CARD: "{member": "Hannah [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED]'s spirit animal is a sea otter. Friendly, chill, happy, and always down to hang w others. He couldn't have a more accurate sense of him self. [REDACTED] is goofy and incredibly honest (he admitted CP18 was better at High school debate). As commodore of sailing, he's an active team member but also an inspiring leader, and we especially bonded over stories about capsizing boats. We discovered we went to high school on the same street in NYC, and we talked about his promposal that was so endearing and sweet (I wish he was my date!). With [REDACTED]'s enthusiasm and chill nature, he'd be an active contributor to the Ivy community. I had a blast bickering him, and I'm sure you will when you meet! "" , ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Brett [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""So easygoing, with a huge smile on his face, [REDACTED] was easily the best bicker I've had today. We vibed so well and I loved learning about his passion for sailing, his close relationship with his parents, his upcoming summer in Panama, and his interest in history (specifically Latin American). We chatted so easily, discussing books, friends, and family, and I loved that he pushed the envelope with my \"who would you invite to dinner\" question by saying he'd love to understand the psyche of someone evil, say Stalin or Hitler. The conversation flowed easily and naturally, and he is clearly so genuine and down to earth, really caring about friendship and community. I think he'd be an amazing - and really active - member.\""" , ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Tara [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I had a really nice conversation with [REDACTED]. He told me about his love for sailing (teaching it over the summer) and his active involvement with the PACE center. He answered all my questions with ease and also took the initiative to ask me questions as well, with a genuine interest to get to know a bit about me too. He also seemed to have been to several meals with members and come to nights out at Ivy often so I definitely think he would be an engaged member.\""" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"David [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is a really cool kid on the club sailing team. He seemed very genuine, easy going, and fun. I played pool with him and even though we were both pretty shitty we had a fun banter as the game went on. [REDACTED] cares a lot about the environment and the oceans, and all around seems like a pretty thoughtful guy. I think he would be active at meals, definitely attend nights out, but wouldn't be the wildest party bro out there (I say that as a compliment). I think it would be great to have him in the club, he would definitely add a lot, but I wouldn't be heartbroken if he wasn't. \""" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Furman [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is simply good-natured. From the first words out of his mouth, I could tell [REDACTED] would never speak poorly of anyone. It came as no surprise to me when I learned that [REDACTED] was the president of the Sailing club -- it seems like his agreeable nature makes him a natural leader. I most enjoyed our long conversation about the similarities and differences between the all boys high he attended and mine -- we decided the bigotry I saw was probably more of a product of my school being in the south than the all-male thing. [REDACTED] was clearly nervous, and I was saddened that he was embarrassed about his slight speech impediment, but he deserves a real shot in the club. \""" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Caroline [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was sweet and endearing. Lively and energetic, he was an absolute pleasure to talk to. He was unafraid of more probing questions and while he seemed nervous (he struggled to vocalize his thoughts) at times, he expertly disguised this with confidence. Adorable guy, the club would love him. \""" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{member": "Julia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was very sweet. We are from the same area, so had a lot to talk about. He is super passionate about sailing and that came out in a very genuine way during our discussion. We also share a weird nerdy love for maps which was fun to chat about. [REDACTED] has been to Ivy for a couple of meals and says he loves how friendly people are and how easy it is to meet new people (something I definitely agree with). He says he likes it for its small size and eclectic and kind people, and thinks it would make a nice home base. Our conversation was easy, but my one turnoff was that he namedropped a bunch (made me a little uncomfy).", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Elizabeth [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED]. Is. Awesome. She started off telling me the story of the worst injury she'd ever had-- falling off a bouncy castle at medical school. She then taught me how to execute a rugby tackle before getting really deep and personal in a conversation about leaving her grandmother in Australia to go to college in the US. I feel like I really got to know the true [REDACTED] during our walk, and that girl is so fun and gracious. She is exactly the person I want to be sitting next to at dinner, and dancing next to on Saturday night. I feel like she would add so much to this club, and I really think we've gotta give her the chance to do it.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Charles [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] struck me as a perfectly nice guy. Though I found it difficult to keep conversation and at times felt like I was pulling for answers. I would be afraid this could happen at meals as well. I couldn't tell if he was nervous or quiet. However, I am very confident he would be an involved member and is very excited about the prospect of being in Ivy.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Ana [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was really sweet and seemed like a really nice guy. I think he was a bit nervous during our conversation which may have impeded the discussion a bit. We talked about his high school, his time on the sailing team, and his love of geography. I also double bickered him at first with Clayton and he was great - very funny and went along with the whole thing. I did not necessarily connect with him on a deeper level, but I feel that there is something very kind about him.", "score": 3},, CARD: "{member": "Elizabeth [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I am obsessed with [REDACTED]. I didn't stop smiling our whole conversation. What a guy. He clearly has a serious side-- he's president of the Chabad for example, which is a big responsibility-- but mostly he was very goofy and fun. He showed me pictures from his 21 year old sister's wedding, we vibed over how we love to dance and sing and hate it when no one understands our #art, and he talked about how he hates wet feet in flip flops. [REDACTED] seems like he would be a great person to talk and laugh with at lunch, but also would get down on the floor at a member's night. He also seems genuinely interested in the club and would be an active member.", "score": 5}, CARD: "{member": "Serena [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Had an amazing conversation with [REDACTED] and could've spoken for even longer. HE'S GREAT!!! Very genuine guy who I was able to get to know on a deeper level pretty quickly. He opened up about his heart condition and an ephipany he had while in Italy. He would definitely be an involved member and I could see him getting along very well with other members. PAINT HIM GREEN"" ,""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Nicholas [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] had a \"wow\" factor that, throughout our conversation, shook me. He told me the story of his Ukrainian family that came to the U.S. with $70. [REDACTED] talked about how anti-Semitism affected his family, and how he now serves as the president of Chabad on campus as a result. When I asked him about his life plans, I expected to hear the inevitable \"finance\" or \"consulting.\" What is [REDACTED]'s life goal? Cooking school, and the change to manage food and beverage for a hotel. I'd love to have a meal next to this kid, and after hearing about his passion for food, preferably one that he has cooked. I have no more words; we have to admit this kid.\""" ,""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Benjamin [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] was overall a very interesting and social person. He speaks 5 languages, which is pretty sick. He is also a Psych Major and very much a people person, he really understands and appreciates human interaction. I think he would be a great contributing member to Ivy!\""" ,""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Olivia [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""He smelled good. NYC kid. Bridge Year in Portugal. We spoke some Italian. Initially, I was unsure about him because he was a little bit more reserved and we couldn't really get into the groove of the conversation. We also had some convos about issues of masculinity and femininity- I did not completely agree with his views. But, he got really vulnerable and we ended up having a very personal exchange and I think he's an awesome guy. He's funny and honest and overall, a very refreshing vibe and convo. I think he would add a unique vibe to the club.\""" ,""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Julia [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""I had a great conversation with [REDACTED]. He seems like such a sweet, sensitive and generous guy. These qualities appeared throughout our entire conversation: he recently surprised his sister for her birthday, he cooks for his family weekly and taught students in Brazil during his gap year. He also loves learning about the world and other cultures. He is one of only people I met who speaks 5 languages: English, Hebrew, Spanish, Italian and Portuguese. Finally, [REDACTED] was incredibly honest and genuine and was open to tell me about the struggles he faced his freshman year when adapting to life at Princeton after taking a gap year. \r\nI am convinced the club would benefit from having such a kindhearted member.\""" ,""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Benjamin [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Fun conversation, he seems like a really interesting guy. I think he has the right reasons for doing ivy, but they didn't seem very unique, they were sort of like everyone else's. I also don't like it when people say \"I'm a people person,\" but I recognize that is a bit picky. Overall I thought he was a good guy.\""" ,""score"":4}", CARD: "{member": "Nina [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was friendly and seemed like a nice guy but I didn't think that our conversation was that interesting. He answered my questions with enthusiasm but the conversation lagged at times. I could see him fitting into the club but I am not strongly persuaded that he would bring anything extra or add energy. Nice guy, but not a stand out conversation. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Sophie [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I am really deliberating between a three and a four for [REDACTED]. I just am really not sure and I think thats the problem - I feel lukewarm. Look theres no question that he's a good person, I just would not be massively enthused to sit next to him at dinner honestly. Also he was chewing gum throughout super super grossly, like mouth open the whole shebang, which like not great a thing to do if you're trying to make a good first impression. As I stew on this more I think I'm going to have to go for a 3. I feel bad, but I have def bickered better - so thats why I'm saying neutral. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Leo [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a perfectly pleasant bicker. We didn't hold the most effusive or bubbly conversation, but he was an interesting guy and had a lot to talk about, and maybe he simply had a low key style. He was a very safe bicker, though - he gave safe answers to my questions and I sensed he might have tried to give what he thought were answers that I might've wanted to hear. (Natural during bicker.) That said, he was obviously intelligent, cultured, friendly, and kind, and I could also sense a real empathy with him. The newly elected President of Chabad, he definitely would be an active member. Though we found things in common, I didn't truly CLICK with him. Nevertheless, could see him green.", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Hannah [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "WILD RIDE DON'T READ THIS OUT [REDACTED] recounted a 45fuckingmin epic of [REDACTED]. He ended up testifying against the guy in court, but the maniac bribed his way out of jail and [REDACTED] family moved... NUTSO FUCKING STORY, but punctured by qualifiers about how stupendous SouthAfrica is despite it's issues. [REDACTED] glows about Princeton - getting accepted, US in general - but also wants to raise kids outside the US so they see its value. Ultimately the best part of our convo wasn't the action movie but [REDACTED] articulate and compassionate vision of the world. Will be heartbroken (and we will miss out) if he doesn't get in.", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Christopher [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "This card may be a duplicate bc I think it signed me out when I submitted his card. Anyway [REDACTED] is a sick dude, super outgoing and funny. Seems like he'd be an active member. Definitely want this kid in the club", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Julia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had so much fun talking to [REDACTED]. He is absolutely hilarious and really easy to talk to. He told me about his life in South Africa and we bonded over our experience of moving to another country and adjusting to another culture. While he is a rower, [REDACTED] is interested in so many other things like photography, which he seems super passionate about. \r\nHe also met his girlfriend during a night out at Ivy and so he feels really attached to the club. He also said that he has been talking to other bickerees in the foyer and that he was so amazed by how cool and diverse the people are and that if the club attracts such great people, that's where he wants to be a member. I'm sure having meals with [REDACTED] would be hilarious and would put all of us in the best mood for the rest of the day!\n\nAlso his accent is sick. "" , ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Alexander [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is intensely reflective and would be a perfect fit for this club. He is deeply intellectual, principled and would be an exceptionally positive addition to our community. [REDACTED] brings a unique, global perspective that has demonstrated to him the importance of mutual respect for people and cultures different from his own--a tenet of Ivy's core values. He would be a deeply thoughtful and engaging dinner guest and would HANDS DOWN turn up on nights out. I could see him feeling very comfortable and at home at Ivy while remaining undaunted when confronted with someone remarkably different from him. We need this kid."" , ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Sophie [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""WOW [REDACTED] IS AMAZING WHY THE FUCK DOES HE HAVE A GIRLFRIEND PAINT HIM GREEN PLEASEEEEEEE. No but in all seriousness [REDACTED] is the most charming of boys, an absolute sweetheart with a heart of a gold. A great sense of humor - he said he would nuke Charter which like I'm down with bc they've gone members only on me far too many times. He absolutely deserves to be in this club, we had the most wonderful conversation. He's so intelligent, killer dress sense - just all round 11/10. You would all be so lucky to sit next to him at dinner - he is a catch peeps!! Lets get him in. "" , ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Brett [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I really enjoyed my conversation with [REDACTED]. A rower from South Africa, he also has a passion for photography, recently discovered just last year. We talked about his gap year in London, his broken ankle at the start of last season and a rambunctious incident with a golf cart, as well as the athlete recruitment process, especially from an international perspective. He's very charming and his speech is peppered with (what I assume is South African) slang like \"epic\" and \"savage.\" Plus, his attempt at an American accent was hysterical. We developed a great banter and it felt like I was talking to an old friend. Definitely enjoyed this one, and would have spoken with him longer. "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Caroline [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a great bicker. He is super interesting and has some really cool interests. I loved hearing about his passion for art and we had fun discussing our favorite exhibits at the Met. He talked to me about his interest in photography and how he hopes to use it to document his time at Princeton. He was also very funny and told me a fun, embarrassing story about when he crashed his golf cart freshman year by trying to drive it down the stairs. [REDACTED] was overall a very nice, easy-going guy who was really enjoyable to talk to. Anyone would have a great time sitting down next to him at a meal and he would be a great addition to the club."" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Jack [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a really good bicker - I was getting tired, but he still kept me engaged with his stories about South Africa, weird facts about hippos, and his gap year spent in the UK working and rowing prior to Princeton. I can tell he loves to have fun, enjoys banter, but also can be serious if the situation dictates. He had a good response to the 'why not ivy' question, talking about his worry about the perception of the over-PC-nature of Ivy and how that would be a shame if it negatively affected people's ability to be honest about what they feel strongly about. In addition to his smiles and jokes, I think he's a very aware person who would be a strong member. """, ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Derek [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I had a solid conversation with [REDACTED]. He seems like a pretty interesting dude who wants to do Ivy for the right reasons. I do think he could contribute to the club, although definitely wasn't the most interesting bicker I've had. Very close to a 4.. I think other members could enjoy his presence. Would be happy if he were accepted but don't really feel that strongly about whether he gets in or not. """, ""score"":3}""", CARD: "{""member"":""Hannah [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""At a dinner party to discuss human experience, [REDACTED] would invite the Dalai Lama, Eeyore, Freud(the painter), Gloria Steinem. Able to put up with the bullshit and my needling questions, [REDACTED] smiled (fucking gorgeous smile) easily and laughed at my jokes which I appreciated immensely at the end of a ruthless day (for both of us). Relaxed, patient, charming, I can see her studying in the great hall or part of the breakfast club. Tenderly speaking about the history of forgiveness from South Africa, she was incredibly articulate and kind. And also tough and quick and suspicious and snarky. We got along smashingly. I want to be her friend - there are so few people I'd say that about today. """, ""score"":5}""", CARD: "{""member"":""Francisco [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] is chill. Able to talk about a bunch of different subjects, has travelled a bunch and has done some dope diff things. Again, the conversation flowed super well with her and never felt forced. One topic moved to the other super easily and I didn't have to ask any set questions which was also super nice. Think she'd be a great addition. Also cute af damn English accent caliente """, ""score"":4}""", CARD: "{""member"":""Samantha [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] is such a gem!! I was her last bicker, and when I asked her to reflect on her bicker experience she only had positive things to say. It seemed like she really enjoyed getting to know the members who she spoke to, which is a quality that makes a great member- someone who is not only open to but excited about getting to know new people. I found [REDACTED] very poised and eloquent- I definitely gave her some tough questions, which she answered gracefully. [REDACTED] never sang before coming to Princeton and is now PRESIDENT of Tigressions- so impressive! Would be very excited if I got to sit next to her at a meal. """, ""score"":4}""", CARD: "{""member"":""Jan [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] seems very nice. Unfortunately, she did just answered my questions directly and did not take the chance to ask questions back. This prevented the development of a conversation. she is very involved in numerous campus activities and really seems to care about Ivy but I did not connect with her due to mentioned reasons. \n\n", "score": 3}, CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Sara [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] and I didn't have all that much in common but he was really easy to talk to, and I liked that he was forthcoming about going out to the street in general, whereas I feel like other people I bickered haven't necessarily been. I thought he seemed laidback and honest, and I would enjoy talking to him or hanging out at the club. I wish he had given me a better theme night idea than 'everyone wears turtlenecks,' but that didn't throw me off a ton. I still thought the conversation went really smoothly and I think he'd be an active and engaging member, someone a lot of people could get along with. \", \"score\" : 4}, CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Liting [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Ty MINA. Fun easy guy to talk to. Loves rap and some producer I don't know. Tutors kids at Princeton high school. Compared himself to an onion. Played basketball and football. Ok enough facts. Very fun and engaging to talk to. Was a very good sport when I asked him almost any question. Answered truthfully and honestly like how Clayton [REDACTED] is a good upperclassman brother in zete. Also taught me a bit about the Super Bowl. Would be a lovely and positive addition to ivy. Would love to see what he's like both during meals and at night hanging out. Yay!\", \"score\" : 4}, CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Melissa [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] was easy to talk to and chill. i enjoyed talking to him about his family in nicaragua and how he wants to go back and help on the turtle sanctuary. he didn't seem particularly passionate about being an econ major or his activities. i would really enjoy having him in the club but his reasons for wanting to be in ivy were pretty vague like the 'vibes' and 'people'. he said he would come to meals and branch out but wasn't super convincing. this could just be his demeanor, i could be convinced to a 4 but after that i'd give him a 3.5. \", \"score\" : 3}, CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Aubree [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is a nice girl. We talked about her time at Andover and our mutual love of Cape Town. I do think she would make a great addition to any club, although I cannot say with confidence that she should absolutely be in ivy. I am totally open to hearing more opinions/other people's experiences, but I am pretty [REDACTED] warm. \", \"score\" : 3},

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Achille [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Fola and I double bickered [REDACTED]. She was super sweet, but was outshined by the other person we bickered. As a group we had lengthy conversation about campus life, exclusivity, and our hometowns. But again, [REDACTED] always seemed to be piggybacking off what the other bickeree was saying. She's a Tigression, and would make a great addition to the burgeoning artistic community in Ivy. This is not a strong endorsement, but I really like the girl. In the words of Tyra Bank, [REDACTED] should be in the Running for America's Next Top Bickeree, but the competition's pretty fierce this year. I'm hoping other ppl have better experience with her. Wishing [REDACTED] the best. #Bamichic \r\n\r\n"" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Colleen [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""I had a nice time with [REDACTED], a very sweet, soft-spoken girl from London. Our conversation covered many topics, including the fact that she has many quirks and interests, and is involved in many different initiatives on campus! I would have liked to see her elaborate more in her responses (e.g. why she was interested in singing/running given she had never done either before coming to Princeton. She also said she was interested in education reform but didn't explain why). She might have been a bit nervous, but for the most part her answers were short and I had to push her for more... 3.5\r\n"" , ""score"":3} , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Tola [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""Oh my goodness! She's actually amazing. So sweet and bubbly. Reminds me of my youth. Love this girl. She's so upbeat and positive and kept me laughing the entire time. She's such a great energy for the club. She's so excited to become part of another community on campus. Plus, she's got great music taste. I would love to hang out with her both inside and outside of the club. She's a gem. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Peyton [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] was able to talk my ear off on a lot of interesting topics and she has many stories to tell about her life. I know I was not going to get a holistic picture in the 20 minute interview that I had with her but she was able to go into depth about many of the things that were important to her and many of the experiences that shaped her life. I would be very interested to know more about her and her story as she has grown up in many different cultures and has interesting viewpoints on many things. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Layla [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] was really nice, friendly and enjoyable to talk to. We bonded over our similar cultural backgrounds having been born in one country but raised in another (he was born in Moscow and moved to the UK when he was 6). He loves playing music and singing in the Glee club and going on outdoorsy adventures. He had thoughtful, thought-provoking reflections on his own life trajectory. He was, however, a bit reserved and the conversation got awkward at moments of silence when he finished speaking and I was trying to think of more questions to ask. He seems excited to meet new people through an eating club and branch out but his personality makes it hard for me to know whether he would really doso"" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Jordan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] is super personable and vibrant. She's in more clubs than I could keep track of but is particularly involved in USG. She said she loves working and being around other people and already does most of her work in frist so I can see her hanging out at Ivy a lot. She's from Indonesia and had a lot to say about growing up there and her experience adapting to American culture. I do worry that she's already too busy on campus to be able to attend all of our member's events but she is also the type who genuinely thrives when she's overbooked and seems to manage her stress well. I'd love to have her in the club. "" , ""score"":4} , CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Brett [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"When asked the object that would most represent her, [REDACTED] answered a lightbulb or a Teflon pan, and both of these describe her perfectly. She is so bubbly and effusive, and totally resistant to letting negative thinking affect her. She articulately and passionately speaking about everything from her childhood in Indonesia, to planning BT conferences, to why she wants to be in the club. She's so easy to talk to, and so bubbly and committed to her interests (which include social engagement and development; she has awesome ideas for solving housing problems in Indonesia). I really really enjoyed talking to her, and felt myself smiling throughout the whole conversation. Would make a great member!! \"\", \"score\" : 4} \", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Alexander [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] was great! She was so bright, warm, friendly and seems to have a number of genuine friendships in the club. I could see her jumping right in and really putting herself on the line to meet new people. She is very self-aware and has seriously considered why she is bickering Ivy in particular. She mentioned she feels exceptionally comfortable here, has been blown away by the people she's met during bicker and really values that members actually spend time in the club beyond meals and nights out (e.g. studying)--something I believe she would certainly emulate as a member. She would undoubtedly be present, engaged and make an excellent addition to the club.\"\", \"score\" : 4} \", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Benjamin [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is super interesting and passionate! She is very excited by entrepreneurial ideas and has a few of her own. She was talking to me about how she wants to become very educated and bring ideas and skills back to her home nation of Indonesia to help homelessness and increase sustainable living. Eclectic, fun and exciting, it would be a pleasure to have [REDACTED] as a member of Ivy!\"\", \"score\" : 4} \", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Jason [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is bubbly and positive. She has a lot of energy and can just keep talking. I think she was a little nervous at first, and she felt the need to prove something. She's definitely interesting -- has stories about being on Indonesian film sets growing up with a father in the business and has a passion for building sustainable housing and resources to overcome poverty in her homeland. She spoke honestly about her Princeton experience. I think she'd be active -- a highlight of the conversation was when she spoke about her position as social chair of 2019 and how it's helped her meet new people. If others are more hype about her, I'd be happy to see her get in. \"\", \"score\" : 3} \", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Chandler [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] treated our chat a little too much like an interview. She didn't respond much to what I asked or turn any of my questions back on me. She always answered thoughtfully, and I liked hearing about her overcoming her fear of water, appreciating the little details of films and how much goes into getting each one right, and her interest in food. She was pretty funny about her recent google searches (story about how to pronounce an obscure word in French) and gave a pretty good answer to her dinner guest of choice when she picked Evan Spiegel, though her reason for why was just that he seems cool and Snapchat was a great idea. Conversation was overall unfortunately a little too one-sided.\"\", \"score\" : 3} \",

CARD: "{member": "Vivian [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] talks very loudly and energetically and can do so for an infinitely long amount of time (think: Garr x1000). I had a moment where I really thought my ear was going to fall off, but the most disappointing part of the interview was that she did not have too many thoughtful ideas or things to say. I asked her about current issues, her upbringing in Indonesia, books she's read, etc., and it seemed like she talked forever about nothing. Though she is very sweet, I'm not sure that she would be a great fit for Ivy. A 3 because she's enthusiastic, and I think she would be a present member.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Laura [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I know 5's are meant to be reserved for people you'd 'want to be best friends with,' but I genuinely think Mim is great. She was super open, friendly, peppy, but not overwhelmingly so. She directed the conversation towards topics she found meaningful, and lights up when she talks about her studies and her future aspirations regarding energy policy. I asked her a lot of questions about her boyfriend Ralph, whom I had bickered on Sunday, and she had a lot of fun with the whole situation. I think she'd be a blast to party with, to chat with at dinner, and I genuinely believe she's open to getting to know new people. She even made it a point to ask me questions about myself!", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Elizabeth [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Wow I have a girl crush on Mim. From the start of our conversation she was so genuinely kind and wanted to get to know me as much as I wanted to get to know her. She was so warm and goofy and she rolled with it when I asked her to teach me something new. Though she failed at teaching me how to solve a differential equation, she absolutely succeeded at making the kindest and best impression on me. I feel like everyone in the club would love her and I really hope they get the chance.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Sammy [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "More than anyone else I've bickered so far, [REDACTED] made the impression on me that we could be good friends. I really enjoyed bickering her -- not in the wow that was a fascinating bicker, but more in the wow I just met someone subtle and cool and I really want to know her more. We talked about her internship in Denmark last summer, and her description of wandering Copenhagen with friends made me want to go there. She was incredibly nice, the kind of person I want to sit with at meals and doesn't seem like I have to try with but who would start a conversation with anyone. She'd add something cool to Ivy and I'd be dismayed if she didn't get in.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Aubree [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a really nice girl. We talked a lot about potential baby names and her life growing up on a farm in IL. Her mom is a vet so she had a ton of pets, I loved hearing about it. I wasn't planning on spending a long time on this bicker, but I ended up talking to [REDACTED] for a really long time. She is really engaging and not only answered my questions thoughtfully, but asked me some really good questions about myself as well. I would be delighted to sit next to her at a meal, and would like to see her hanging around the club.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Adam [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is very easy to talk to - seemed very relaxed. We talked about track and her interests in sustainable energy. She is on the track team and an engineer which must be difficult. She was open and funny when I asked her how her other bickers had gone. She thought she had a pretty mixed bag but was upbeat about it. Overall, seems very nice and fun. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Nicolas [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Very nice personality and easy to talk to. On the track team, and genuinely easy to carry on conversation with. Seems reserved, but could be a wildcard wild one. Says her personality is the color pink. Good addition to the club.""", ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Konadu [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a really sweet girl. Conversation flowed relatively easily and she told me a bit about growing up with her 8 siblings and her what she does around campus, like her major and her track team. But she kind of just answered my questions without going too much into detail or taking the conversation in her own direction. I kind of felt like I was doing a lot of the talking and I couldn't gauge what she was really passionate about. All in all indifferent, could definitely eat a meal sitting next to her.""", ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":""Antigone [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] told me about her experience growing up on the farm with seven siblings and we bonded over similar taste in music. She is a sweet girl and I think has an interesting background but I can't say I would be super excited to sit next to her at a meal or go out with her on a member's night. I asked her to tell me her story and all she said was that she grew up on a farm in Illinois, moved to Virginia, and then came to Princeton. She seems like the kind of girl who could open up a lot more and be great as time goes on, but as of right now I don't feel strongly either way.""", ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":""Carolina [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""This girl was ON FIRE she was dope af, by far my best bicker until now. Would absolutely love to have her in the club. She told me stories about her summer in Ghana and making friends with these girls from Michigan and getting to party at one of these girl's rich sugar daddy's dope house in Ghana (which was the experience she least expected to get out of a Princeton program abroad).. [REDACTED] was absolutely hilarious and so energetic, I had the dopest time bickering her. She also told me how her ideal future would be to host an Ellen/Dr.Oz crossover type show in Africa. 10/10 would watch her show. Loved her.""", ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Sophia [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I talked about the chemical and electrical engineering department at Princeton, which she finds fun, and track, which she likes. She was a pleasant presence throughout my time with her, as I bickered [REDACTED] with two others and she happily completed our tasks which included skip racing, stretching, and playing duck duck goose, but I couldn't find any subject matter that we clicked on in conversation. When I asked her questions, she didn't offer responses that were longer than a few sentences and when I asked her about her interests, she did not offer reasons for why she enjoyed them. """, ""score"":2}",, CARD: "{member": "Emily [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a great conversation with [REDACTED]. He was easy and fun to talk to. He loves Papa Johns (better than dominos), wants to go skinny dipping in carnegie lake before he graduates and loves Frist tables (a man after my own heart). He wants to be a present and active member of the club. He's been interested in joining ever since Sam (his sister!), brought him here when he was a freshman, and he would love to make a lot of new friends here. Easy going great guy! ", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Deana [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I enjoyed my conversation with [REDACTED]. He was really enthusiastic and kept the conversation flowing. He told me the story of how he met his girlfriend on campus and it was the cutest thing. He's a sweetheart. We bonded over how we both got lost in Firestone as freshman, which says a lot about our dedication to the books. I also appreciated that he talked about his genuine interest in the club and didn't want to bicker because of his sister, but because of his own love for the community it fosters. He also spoke about how he's enjoyed several meals here as well as formals and nights out. He would be an awesome fit and someone fun to sit next to at meals.", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Katherine [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was SO awesome!!!! I was his last bicker and I was kind of tired going into it but he had a contagious energy that brightened my mood. He immediately made me laugh and there really wasn't a dull moment in our bicker. He was so fun to talk to and I didn't want to end the conversation but figured since I was his last one I guess I should let him call it a day. He would be an incredible member and I would love to get a meal with him and see him at our next members night. PAINT HIM GREEEEEEEN.", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Eduardo [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "She is really nice. It's hard to rate because her passion for music was contagious and I found myself becoming excited by her passion. She paid for opera lessons when she was younger despite her parents' opposition and I found that very admirable. I'm going to give her and up cause I don't want to be the reason she doesn't get in. But it is kind of week.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Jan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Even though [REDACTED] comes off a little nerdy at first, his positive outlook and obvious intellect impressed me positively. Ivy has a history of attracting sociable cos students and that worked out very well for us. I think he could be one of these sociable cos students that have a positive impact on Ivy. Btw, he is club basketball president. I think that's pretty cool for a sophomore and shows that he is willing to take on responsibility.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Michael [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I were able to connect right away. He's very personable and has a good sense of humor. He'll make a great member based on the fact that he enjoys Ivy for what it is. Ivy to him is a very welcoming place where he's always able to have fun, and I think he'll be able to contribute to the Ivy culture in a positive way. He's easy to talk to and would be someone I want to eat meals with and hang out with around the club. I can see [REDACTED] as an active member at Members' Nights and on nights out.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Sophia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Micheal and I talked for a little over an hour and I think he is a bright gem! We talked for a for a long time about the categories of type A and B personalities and although he identified as the former and we have most different passions out of anyone I've talked to so far, I enjoyed our conversation and thought he has very intelligent thoughts. Learning about how peoples' minds operate at this school is so interesting. I learned about why he loves computer science, why he values timeliness above all else, and what he would change about his childhood in Long Island, and I thought he was a fascinating person to talk with!", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Megan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I like how much this guy was passionate about his interests and realistic about his future. We talked about West vs East coast, how freshman year is always so full of social climbing bullshit, and the prominence of tech in the medical industry. He's never eaten a meal at Ivy before and actually didn't really know about the seating policy so he seemed pleasantly surprised by it, which I honestly thought was kinda cool tbh. The way he talked about his interests was really enlightening; you can tell he cares a lot about mental health. There were definitely some off moments (not sure if he'd talk to people dissimilar to himself) but overall I think this guy would be a pretty chill Ivy member.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Alexander [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seems like a really nice guy. Came off as a little shy and nervous but who isn't for bicker. He really wants to do ivy for a good and long set of reasons, and talked about his club basketball experiences. His fun fact was that he eats an entire apple, seeds, stem, and all, but a funner fact is that he shat his pants right before taking an AP exam. We may not have had a ton in common, but he is a super nice guy who would be an active member of the club, and I think he would mesh well with a lot of members.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Konadu [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was very sweet and seemed open to meeting new people. She didn't pull any punches with the social issues that she's faced at Princeton, and I liked that she was candid about what she liked and didn't like. I really admired the fact that she was a junior who had bickered before but still came back with a positive attitude. I felt like I was having a conversation with one of my actual friends about our futures and life and Princeton, which I think will make her a great member. [REDACTED] seemed like she was being herself and not trying to impress me.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Matthew [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I think that [REDACTED] would be a good fit for the club - he's personable and confident and responded well to all my questions. We didn't get on like a house on fire but there was nothing that stood out for me which meant he shouldn't be in the club. He assures me that he'd be a great addition to the club basketball team, and he also knew a thing or two about soccer. [REDACTED] would be a regular attendee on nights out and would be good company at the dinner table.", "score": 3},

CARD: {"member": "Christopher [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seems like a nice guy but didn't have anything terribly interesting or funny to say. Wouldn't be upset if he was in the club but don't think he would add much.", "score": 3},

CARD: {"member": "Tyler [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] made it clear that what he likes most about Princeton is the people, not necessarily the school itself. He told me that his ideal night out was a massive pregame with his roommates and neighbors. When I asked him what he would change about Ivy, what bothered him the most, he complained about the times he was turned away because the club went members only, which I kinda found to be an empty answer. Additionally, when I asked what he disliked most about America at the moment, he spoke on climate change, clearly a valid answer but came across as seeking to avoid alienating me politically. Solid bicker but I do wish that he engaged with what I was asking/saying on a deeper level.", "score": 2},,

OUTSIDE CARD: {"member": "Samantha [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "When my parents brought [REDACTED] home from the hospital, my 2.5 yearold self protested his existence by pushing our kitchen chairs down a flight of stairs. We (mostly I) have come a long way in the past 19 years. Since his first semester at Princeton I haven't gone a week without a friend telling me \"I just met your brother and he's amazing.\" Despite his lighthearted, easygoing nature, [REDACTED] is serious when necessary and is there for me when I really need a piece of home. He's even been there for Ivy! We were short players in IM Basketball last year, so I called [REDACTED]. He dropped his books, sprinted to Dillon, and played with people he'd never met before. He started the rest of the season and helped us win the championship! I've admired how easily [REDACTED] made Princeton his home and I can't wait for him to do the same at Ivy- not just show up to meals but stick around for ping pong AND smash, not just dominate Chesties but smile through cup duty, not just meet other members but form meaningful connections. I loved the past two years in Ivy- making best friends who I hadn't known before, learning about corners of Princeton I didn't know existed, being myself knowing members will accept me. I can't imagine anything better than [REDACTED] having that experience and I know he's excited for the chance. \n\nPaint this nerdy goofball green, I promise I'll leave the club furniture intact!!!"},,,,,,,,, CARD: {"member": "Visala [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I would eat many meals with this man. I didn't expect it, but he is so so interesting and very easy to get to know. He is incredibly interesting and has a really unique perspective, and i honestly valued our time and the conversation we had. he was really a cool person to get to know and just from our conversation, i can tell he would fit in to ivy so effortlessly. im really excited about this, def one of the easiest conversations i had today.", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Christopher [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED]'s an awesome guy. Super friendly and funny. Had a hilarious story about ending up lost in pyne his freshman year frosh week, completely naked, after leaving a senior girl's room. Get this kid in the club", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Cason [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "What a great, great, great guy. [REDACTED] was so chilled and relaxed. Though he wasn't the best at making eye contact, he was very engaged and seemed to be genuinely interested in just chatting and getting to know each other - the best kind of feeling in a bicker. He's on HW crew but told some wacky stories about going out and he spoke at length about his favorite nights at Ivy. Plus he said the most important thing for him about joining a club was being a committed member. I have no doubt that [REDACTED] is gonna be an awesome addition to this club, and I can't wait to hear more from him when he is, both in the dhall and the dfloor.", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Hannah [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Jolly and definitely the most up-front stand-out interesting fact, but relatively weakly described and not actually all that interesting. Seems like a lot of his friends are doing Ivy (crew), and I felt on my heels the whole time, definitely like I was steering the conversation. However, he redeemed the conversation with our brief sunlit burst into discussing the short plays by Alan Bennet that he's reading - which he seemed mesmerized and quite passionate about despite being interested mostly in neuroscience and medicine. I would be happy seeing him in the club and think he's a cool dude, but this is a weak 4.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Katie [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I really enjoyed my conversation with [REDACTED]. At first I didn't know if we were going to have the best conversation. But after a few minutes he really opened up and it was clear he has a great sense of humor and is a curious and genuine person. I think he'd make a great member. He asked me a lot of questions about my experience in Ivy which I really appreciated. He spoke a lot about wanting to branch out the next few years and I think ivy would benefit from having someone with this mentality.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Sara [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I got along really well, and though his interest (\"traveling\") was not that interesting, he managed to make a good story out of it. I thought he was super easy to talk to and I would definitely enjoy sitting next to him at meals. I think he would be an active member and though he did seem a little more on the reserved side I think he would still be super interesting to talk to and hang out with.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Samantha [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Had such a great bicker with [REDACTED]! He was so fun and easy to talk to!! He told me a great story about being in a Harry Potter movie which was sick. He was dressed as a kid in slytherin, which seems pretty fitting. Otherwise we spoke about his adjustment to Princeton having grown up in the UK, who his most and least favorite rowers are, and his interest in neuroscience. Very interesting guy who I enjoyed taking to. My only negative about this bicker was that he said savage a few too many times. Regardless- make ivy row again.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Spencer [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Enjoyed my time with [REDACTED]. He seems like a really good-natured kid and was decently engaging throughout our conversation. I decided to go to Nassau and pick something up for our session and he totally rolled with it and had no problem going while talking. We discussed his gap year after high school, him growing up in Oxford, and Princeton's crew team. We also touched on politics a little bit by covering the UK's reaction to Trump. I think he'd get along pretty well with other members and would do well in the club. My only hesitance towards giving a 5 stems from a little lack of effort on his part to make the convo more engaging for me/asking questions, so I'm going with 4. "" , ""score"" : 4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Lyon [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] is an approachable and tremendously honest soul. I feel like he would really succeed as the lead in a sit-com where he's the protagonist of a group of misfits trying to find their way around the world. Or at least that is the vibe I got from talking to him for 30 minutes. He was not afraid to be introspective and shared a lot of insightful things about himself, what the club meant to him, and what he looks forward to in life. For bickering at 10:00, he was readily engaged and cheerful. I would definitely watch the show about [REDACTED] I was talking about earlier. "" , ""score"" : 4} "" , , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Sophia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was passionate about everything we talked about and contributed meaningful responses to what I had to say. He is from Atlanta and we talked about being raised in cities, our high schools, political economics, and all the countries he has travelled to, like the Netherlands, Benin, Camroon and Spain (these are the ones I remember). We talked about fear and my irrational fear of snakes for a really long time and discussed why snakes are representative of evil in some cultures and religions and not others. [REDACTED] is an awesome person to talk to and I thoroughly loved spending time with him! Ivy would grow from the addition of people who are fascinating, kind, and intelligent, and [REDACTED] would be an amazing fit. "" , ""score"" : 5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Benjamin [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""What a guy. Aside from being fluent in 5 self-taught languages, he is a well-rounded, social dude. It wasn't much a a question-answer bicker in the traditional sense, as soon as we started he felt like a long time friend so it quickly became great conversation. I'm sure anyone would love for [REDACTED] to sit down next to them at a meal; let's get this kid in the club!"" , ""score"" : 5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Justine [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""What a guy!! He speaks Italian!! Give me someone to communicate in secret with at dinner! [REDACTED] striked me as very considerate, very thoughtful and kind, and wants to be known as someone who speaks his mind but respects others while doing so. He is one of those people who actually values knowing other countries for the diversity of thought and to understand the human psyche better, not just to check a country off his bucket list. He is also someone who has been taking advantage of all that Princeton has to offer and that really appreciates all the opportunities. Really hope I get to talk to him again!!"" , ""score"" : 5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""James [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was an incredibly interesting person to talk to, our conversation could have only been about the fact that he taught himself to speak five languages fluently and he would have been the most interesting person I talked with in the past week. Cool and interesting, if you dont talk to this kid you're missing out. "" , ""score"" : 4} ,

CARD: "{member": "Emily [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a chill dude. He thinks of himself as energetic and a good listener. He thinks that this is something overlooked and wished more people listened as well as they spoke. I got the sense he used to be really hesitant about joining ivy considering its stigma but has now decided that the stigma doesn't represent the club and wishes that the club actually did more to better inform freshman about what life is like here. He's on club soccer and has taught himself 5 different languages. If he were to create his own members night he would want to make sure we made time to chat at the beginning because he thinks that doesn't happen enough. Would be happy to have him join. ", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Matthew [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seemed a little nervous at first but then he really came into his own and opened up as our conversation went on. He openly admitted to being somewhat fearful of Ivy as exclusive, but then spoke about how his fears had diminished after meeting everyone in the club. He'd be a big asset to our club soccer team, he's a resident [REDACTED] fan so that's a definite bonus. [REDACTED] was very modest about his incredible talent for languages and his ambition to work around the globe - he speaks five languages and is currently teaching himself Russian in his spare time. He'd be a great addition to the club - chilled out with some great positive vibes. ", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Meaghan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seems like a really nice, cool guy. But he didn't come out of his shell during our interview. Possible that it's because we double bickered him and he didn't feel comfortable in front of 3 other people, but I would have liked to see him engage more and be more lively in the conversation. Perhaps he is just a chill guy though! Speaks 5 languages which is sick, and they're all self taught. But he didn't seem too passionate about them--I guess what threw me off the most was that he didn't really change the tone of his voice so I didn't know when he was really excited about something or very neutral. Don't feel strongly either way ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Sara [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was super sweet, but I didn't exactly feel like our conversation got anywhere. He seemed so, so friendly, and I found it really interesting that he speaks five languages--that was super cool to speak about. This is a super hard decision for me to make, but I didn't really feel as if we connected well. I felt like he was pretty reserved, and while I don't think that's necessarily a bad thing, I'm not sure how he would mesh at a member's night or at a meal. I really thought that he was so nice, and it could've just been that we didn't have a ton of common ground. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Cason [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "My bicker with [REDACTED] was ok. He's clearly an impressive individual (5 languages), but seemed to be talking from a list of 'talking points' about himself. Conversation didn't flow too well, and though he did make some efforts to make it two-sided, it was very driven by me and didn't feel natural. He's a sweet guy though and I would feel bad giving him a down, so I think three's best. If I sat next to him at Ivy dinner, tbh I'd be kind of bummed. He's sweet, but felt a bit dull. For example, he says he's obsessed with soccer and plays all the time but then said he only occasionally plays with an IM team. Kind of weird if that's his top interest. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""David [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] was cool but a bit quiet. I definitely wouldn't mind him in the club but wouldnt actively push for him. He's an econ guy which is an automatic flag, you know what I mean? He taught himself a bunch of languages which is cool and impressive, but he wasn't as keen to share the languages with us when we asked him to say things in them. He seemed a bit nervous the whole time, it was probably Katzenstein's fault. "" , ""score"":3} ,, CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Adnan [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] is an incredible guy. He was so passionate about everything he talked about, including Greek plays, opera and his philanthropic work. He was very friendly and would be great to talk to during breakfast, lunch and dinner. I would strongly recommend that he is given a place - we would be missing out on a true gem if we were to let Justin slip through the net. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Alicia [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] was awesome. I really enjoyed talking to him and didn't want our conversation to end. He was enthusiastic about sharing his passion for theater and talking about what he enjoys doing on campus, and I really appreciated his honesty when discussing his weaknesses and what he is most insecure about. Although we didn't have much inc common, he was engaging and easy to talk to. I think he would be a very active member and the Club would benefit from letting Justin in. He is eager to meet more members and I hope he has the chance to get to know everyone because he would brighten up Ivy and bring a lot the Club. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Roberto [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] is a very artsy person who loves to talk about food and traveling. He described himself as a romantic, and talked about his family, his connection to Italy, and his experiences with theater and writing. At times he seemed a little bit shy and very cautious about what he was going to say next, which made parts of the conversation a little bit more difficult. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Christopher [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] and I had an interesting conversation about his experience with theatre, cooking, and St. As (kid apparently can't keep a secret). He seems like a genuine and friendly person "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Rachel [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] was very engaging and sweet. He physically leaned toward me and made me feel like he was really focused on our conversation which was great. He has a cool kind of artsy funky New York vibe. I enjoyed hearing about his passions: creative writing, film, and theater. He has ambitions to work in film after school and is clearly driven and hard working. But he didn't take himself too seriously; he was easygoing and just came off as a friendly, fun, lighthearted person who really cares about his friends and family. He also had a cackle kind of like Liam's which was fun. I could absolutely 100% see Justin fitting into Ivy and I think he would make a great member. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Gabriella [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"": "" [REDACTED] "" , ""content"": "" I thought [REDACTED] was delightful. At first it did not seem like we were hitting it off that well, but it changed very quickly. He was very open to talking about himself and really opened up. He felt strongly that Ivy's diverse membership would provide a good fit for him, and I would agree. I felt he was approaching the process the right way: he was simply excited to meet different people. He is interested in having stimulating conversations, and I believe he would actively come to meals. Would be happy to have him in the club. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Charles [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"": "" [REDACTED] "" , ""content"": "" [REDACTED] seems like a perfectly nice guy. Our conversation was nice, we talked about his love of writing and EDM music, the good old stuff. However, I'm not really sure he would be an active member. He says he used to think he belonged in Terrace, and has only been to Ivy four times. I could be convinced, but I just don't think on first impression he would be the active member that the club needs. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Isabel [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"": "" [REDACTED] "" , ""content"": "" [REDACTED] is an interesting guy, who speaks with real passion and emotion about the arts and travel. He spends most of his time in Terrace and says he identifies with that vibe but also likes the purposeful nature of Ivy members. Our conversation was fun but I had trouble connecting with him because he was so excitable about so many topics that it didn't really come across as genuine. I liked him but not enough to want him actively to be a member of Ivy, even though our conversation was pleasant. His flair for the arts would definitely fit in in the Club but I'm not sure that he would be an active member or bring anything new to the membership. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Kial [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"": "" [REDACTED] "" , ""content"": "" [REDACTED] was a nice dude but came off a little bit over eager and seemed fake to a certain extent when i asked him to describe his bickers. I asked him to describe one of my friends and how the bicker went and it seemed very off. besides that he was a very nice kid and exciting, we just didnt have very siimilar interests "" , ""score"":3} , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Vera [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"": "" [REDACTED] "" , ""content"": "" [REDACTED] was very sweet and excited to share what she's passionate about - prison reform, art history - but it was a little hard to have a two way conversation because I think maybe her nerves got in the way a bit (she was talking a lot). But she seems enthusiastic about Ivy and seems to really love her experiences here so far. I think she would be an involved member and seems the type to make friends easily. She said she hasn't found a 'home' on campus yet and believes Ivy would be that. "" , ""score"":4} ,

OUTSIDE CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Olivia [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"": "" [REDACTED] "" , ""content"": "" This NYC boy brings with him all the energy and passion of a theater kid- minus the too much vibes. He is truly one of the warmest, most passionate and inclusive individuals I know. He is one of the only people I trust to practice my Vagina Monologue in front of. I don't think I have ever not seen him smiling and he has a way of tugging your heart strings and making you love the world. I know he would come to members nights and he frequently mentions how much he loves the different themes and members nights of Ivy (yay [REDACTED]). He is the boy that will go all out in a costume or be hanging around the club at 2am helping out those puking in the corner and cleaning up the cups. He has everyone's backs. I know he would give back to this club and help make it a place where people feel at home. Paint this boy green.\r\n""}" ,,,,,,, CARD: "{"member" ":"Alexander [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]"", "content":"","I don't even know where to begin. This girl is awesome. We had some really deep conversations about family and relationships (might've helped that she's a SHARE peer), as well as lighter small talk conversations while playing pool. Really cool and really easy to talk to. I had to let her move on but I felt like i could talk to this girl for hours. She wants to do Ivy because she feels that she hasn't been able to find a community at Princeton, and believes that Ivy could be her community. I support this girl 100% and she would be a great member and a great person to talk to and chill with at meals and members nights. :)"", "score":5}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"Justine [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]"", "content":"","[REDACTED] and I took a bit to warm up to each other, but it was her first bicker and she she became much more comfortable. There is so much to know about this girl, we talked about her process of learning to love herself while having an autoimmune disease and the importance of vulnerability. It pleasantly surprised me how unapologetic she is about being herself and her feelings about religion and so much more. I hesitated between 3 and 4 because at times I was shocked by her lack of barrier, but I went for the 4 because of her cool attitude and how comfortable with herself she was."", "score":4}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"Olutobiloba [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]"", "content":"","[REDACTED] was on of the most straight up people I have spoken to today. She was very down to earth and easy to talk to. She had some really thought provoking things to say about her thoughts on Princeton and how her sexuality has influenced her experiences here. She spoke about her interest in Ivy and came across as genuine. I liked getting to know her a lot."", "score":4}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"Isabel [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]"", "content":"","[REDACTED] is an introspective, soul-searching girl with amazing perspectives on the world and what is important to her. We had a really intense conversation about what it means to be confided in and have people confide in you, how she faced the multiple challenges that her Bridge year in Peru posed for her, and how friendships change in different contexts. I feel like [REDACTED] revealed something to me about myself during our 40 minute conversation, which is truly amazing. She is so thoughtful and sincere in the way she speaks that it creates a very calm aura to the conversation. I think she would be a huge asset at meals, and would love to talk to her again. """, "score":4}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"Adnan [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]"", "content":"","[REDACTED] is a profoundly interesting young lady. She has one of the most compelling backgrounds that I have ever come across. At the age of 8, her mum forced her and her siblings to convert religions and to seriously practice the religion, which was a harrowing experience for her. She recently came out to her parents, something which she thought they wouldn't receive well but they ended up being very understanding. I am almost at a 5 with this girl - she should be in Ivy."", "score":4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Aubree [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is a wonderful person. I didn't know where the time went when we were talking. It might be too much to say we were meant to bicker but we really do have so much in common. He made amazing eye contact the whole conversation. He would make a great member to the club, down to meet people and talk about a wide range of interests. We discussed out secret love for dirty grimy bass music and our magical experiences seeing an elephant in person for the first time. The only reason I stopped our conversation was because it was pushing an hour and I felt like more people really needed to meet this kid. Paint him freaking green I am a huge fan.\"\", \"score\":5}"

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Tobi [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I had an interesting conversation with [REDACTED]. At first we didn't really click but slowly the conversation evolved. She was very laid back which came off as uninterested at first, but she then went on to tell me about her involvement with SHARE and her bridge year in Peru. She also talked about how she likes Ivy for its sense of community, has a really close friend in the club and her favorite night is Risky Business. We didn't entirely click but overall the conversation went well.\"\", \"score\":3}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Matthew [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Good enough conversation, didn't say anything that rubbed me the wrong way necessarily. That being said, didn't blow me away with any of her answers - just a very standard conversation. Honestly could be convinced either way, so a strong neutral for me. Didn't get enough out of our conversation to decide whether or not she would be a good member. Will leave that up to y'all\"\", \"score\":3}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"David [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"This girl was really sweet but definitely should not become a member. She was interesting but a bit awkward and difficult to talk to. I don't think she would be interested in going out at all, nor would I particularly enjoy hanging with her at meals. She didn't seem passionate about anything really, and I had to struggle to get stuff out of her.\"\", \"score\":2}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Tyler [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"This is a pretty engaging and clearly intelligent person. She was talking about her time working with enzymes in Copenhagen this past year and how being a track athlete has forced her to be more efficient with her time. She's really passionate about science and wants to go into politics in order to contribute to the normalization of a scientific basis for environmental policy. She mentioned that she wanted to expose her children to various religions and is upset about the anti-information age. She sees Ivy as an eclectic and infinitely interesting group and feels it to be among the best places to spend her time. I feel that she would be a strong member, having the capacity to listen to others. Positive vibes.\"\", \"score\":4}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Sara [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"It was really interesting to talk to [REDACTED], who's a SHARE peer and seems pssionate about her work with the organization as well as questions of identity and inclusion, but I didn't really connect well with her, and I felt like our conversation ended up being a little one-sided. I wish she had said something more interesting other than she liked seeing members outside talking during nights out when I asked her why she liked Ivy/wanted to do Ivy. I think she seemed genuinely sweet but I didn't get a convincing sense for why she would want to be in the club, and I wish our conversation had been more organic.

""""score"":2}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Charles

[REDACTED]""""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""""content"":""[REDACTED] is a lovely girl. Things were going well so I asked her on a date to the CJL for Valentine's Day..... she said no. Love that. She is a very funny person who talked my ear off without boring me. She spoke for 10 minutes about her time in Colombia over fall break with her Mum. Sounded like a fun trip. Good sense of humor and very self-deprecating. I think she would be a very active member and get really get involved with members nights. Top lass. Paint her green.""""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Chandler [REDACTED]""""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""""content"":""Awesome girl. Chatted for a long time and covered a lot - I put her on the spot a few times and she handled all of it pretty flawlessly. Didn't guess my life story quite right but was creative and quick nonetheless. She was funny about why she's kept her bangs for so long and still loves them (awkward middle length would be too big of a pain), and she told a pretty amazing story about watching the second plane crash on 9/11 being her first memory ever. Loved hearing her talk about a short story she wrote in high school, and she had a heartfelt answer to \"Why Ivy.\" Big fan, think she'll be a terrific fit.""""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Kial [REDACTED]""""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""""content"":""The conversation with [REDACTED] was very fluid and easy. She had interesting stories about her life in New York and I appreciated the fact that even though all her friends lived there she was willing to move and see a new place. I ended up telling her my bicker experience with a broken hand and she had a similar story as she came to school with 2 broken wrists and I found that funny. She was very genuine.""""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Adam [REDACTED]""""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""""content"":""I had a great conversation with [REDACTED]! We talked about her recent trip to Medellin which sounded awesome. This conversation went exactly as a great Ivy Dinner conversation with a member you do not know should go. Super easy to find common talking points and interests, and she has no problem carrying the conversation. She asked some very thoughtful questions about me, so it felt very natural and nothing like an interview. I would be pleased to find myself next to her at dinner! """"score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Onyemaechi

[REDACTED]""""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""""content"":""[REDACTED] seems like a really nice girl and we were able to have both a fun conversation and delve a bit into more serious topics. I really enjoyed talking about the benefits and drawbacks of single sex education, but then we had a laugh talking about what super powers we would want. She talked about knowing she wanted to bicker after having her most fun night be a sober one here. We talked for a good 40 minutes, and I think she would be a pretty active member of the club. Has a few cool hobbies such as snowboarding and is pretty into cafes like me so all in all a good convo. Would enjoy sitting next to her. "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Katelyn

[REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a really great, easy, pleasant conversation. I love asking people about their high schools, and how they think that experience shaped them, and she gave a really long and thoughtful answer- I really respected her. She also seems brilliant, and really passionate about what she studies. I hardly had to ask any questions at all, [REDACTED] really kept the conversation going and gave answers and anecdotes that i would expect to hear from a close friend who was filling me in about her life. Giving her a 4 not 5 because she didn't demonstrate that she would branch out of her established friend groups (her high school was similarly clique-y), but she was regardless a very authentic person to get to know."" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Ayesha [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I had a really pleasant conversation with [REDACTED]. She was super smiley throughout our conversation and was easy to talk to and made an effort to ask me questions as well. I was struck by how many times she brought up conversations she'd had with previous bickerers - she is clearly enjoying the process and seems to be very open to meeting new people. Covered a whole host of topics ranging from our favorite cookies in Princeton to what it's like growing up in a city. She's a fan of the seating policy here (as well as Burger Thursday) and says last time she came here she met a football player for the first time- seemed excited about this. Solid 4. "" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Vivian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""It's easy to talk to [REDACTED] but that doesn't mean the conversations are always interesting. I'm unsure whether she would branch out, but she definitely seems to have a group within Ivy with who she would enjoy her time. However, I am confident that if other members took the time to reach out to her at a meal or at a member's night, he/she would enjoy her friendship. In conclusion, I conversed with [REDACTED] at length (around 45 minutes) because I kept waiting for her to say something more interesting or even funny, but unfortunately that moment never came. Don't sell her short, though; She's seems extremely nice and sweet. "" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Lyon [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I had a good conversation, learning about her Spence background and love of snowboarding. Unfortunately, beyond mundane fact-sharing that we went through, she did not really have much to elaborate on for her interests and facts. She was nice about it all, listened, and kept as much engagement as possible but it she just seemed really rehearsed at times and unable to talk beyond the things she wanted to. She did have a very genuine moment when talking about which members made a good impression on her thus far: Emily and Maechi! If we could do it again, I wish i could talk to her when she feels natural and not under the guise of bicker! "" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Madeleine [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Hate conversations like this because all I can say is that it was perfectly fine. She's from New York, Civil engineer, went to Spence, in Pi Phi, interested in Urban planning. Wants to do Ivy because her friends are doing it and it's the place she feels most comfortable. If she gets in, yay go her. If she doesn't and wants to bicker again, I would encourage her to come to more meals here and get to know the place, as well as in bicker asking more questions. """, ""score"":1}",,, CARD: "{""member"":""Olivia [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""NYC POL major kid who was really friendly and outgoing v open (confided stuff about freshman year). I was kind of tired during the bicker but he really kept up the conversation and told me some pretty cool stories about his internship in LA over the summer with a senator. I got the sense he would make an excellent member because he really cares about the club - has a beautiful, pathos-evoking story about how he fell in love with the club and I get the sense he would really want to get involved and would be an active member/potential officer. I don't think I bonded intensely with him over this brief chat, but I do have an intuition he would fit in very well.""", ""score"":5}",, CARD: "{""member"":""Carolina [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I'm really glad I got to bicker [REDACTED]! Our conversation was super natural and honestly so cool. Extra points since it was his birthday and he was here in a great mood. He answered all of my questions super confidently and fluently regardless of their nature and was immediately super likable. Our conversation topics ranged from Kanye/The XX prospective collaborations to the worst and most redeeming qualities of our generation, and [REDACTED] was super on point about all of these. He was also super honest and open about himself which I loved. I found myself super into our conversation and would have loved to keep talking to him - would really love to have him in the club! """, ""score"":5}",, CARD: "{""member"":""Michael [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was very sociable and easy to talk to. He has a friendly manner about him that would make him a great person to eat meals with or hang out with around the club. He has a real strong personal connection with Ivy other than just friends which is a plus because he's not just bickering because his friends are bickering. Because of his personal connection with Ivy, I would expect to see him at Members' Nights and nights out as an active member of the club. He said Ivy felt like a very welcoming place and would like to contribute to that culture as a member making him a strong prospect.""", ""score"":4}",, CARD: "{""member"":""Jack [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] seems like a good guy, and he was pretty easy to talk to. We talked for about 20 minutes about Kanye and his experiences working for Kamala Harris in LA last summer, and he definitely has well defined interests. He talked pretty passionately about how much he liked working for a senate campaign, and he's going back next year. I thought that was pretty cool. We didn't branch out too much from these topics, but he was engaging and friendly throughout. I wouldn't say we fully clicked, but it was a nice conversation and I think he would be a good addition to the club.""", ""of kanye west and how he eloquently answered lots of curve ball and random questions i asked him. i want him in ivy because i would really want to sit next to [REDACTED] at a meal and he said he could bring his dj skillz to the klüb""", ""score"":4}",, CARD: "{""member"":""Melissa [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""after admitting he'd never show up to breakfast i practically hosed the kid right on the spot. i appreciated his honesty in saying despite being allergic to many things he seeks out every opportunity to procrastinate and that would mean i could find him at lots of ivy meals. [REDACTED] would offer lots to conversations coming from a debate background, he knows how to talk good. i was impressed with his psychological diagnosis

CARD: {"member": "Peyton [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seems to have a good understanding on what he wants to do in the world and why he wants to do it. I enjoyed talking him about debate and Kanye West. Also turns out that he's Hannah B's boyfriend and I know that she makes good decisions. He's been to club a fair amount and I know he will be someone that shows up to the club for meals and nights out because he seems to have a good sense of the vibe here.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Julian [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "We had some good conversation, but it never went anywhere more deep or interesting than an answer of a couple sentences. He clearly was a very nice guy with unique interests in art and music, and I did enjoy hearing about how he became interested in art. He was comfortable and willing to joke around, which I really appreciated. He seemed well prepared also, but I could sense that he knew that our interests were pretty different and didn't necessarily jive with mine. That being said, he still was engaging and I would be interested in learning more about him.", "score": 3},

CARD: {"member": "Nicole [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "The conversation flowed well with [REDACTED]. He is funny and laid-back and we shared some laughs. No complaints, though at the same time, nothing that really wowed me from our convo. I did enjoy his story of how he grew interested in Ivy -- his reasons seem quite genuine. I would be happy to see him as a member, but am not particularly invested. Curious to hear others' thoughts!", "score": 3}, CARD: {"member": "Achille [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I went into my conversation with [REDACTED] very open minded. But honestly, he left a supah dupah sour taste my mouth. He listed \"Kanye\" as an interesting fact, but struggled to articulate why. I sensed he was a bit nervous and tried to meet him half way in conversing, but these efforts also failed. He's from New York, so I asked him to talk about his teenage years in the city, but his responses were trite and uninspiring. Throughout the conversation I felt as though he simply feeding responses he thought would be palatable to my ears. Ppl who pander to minorities get no love from me. Overall, underwhelmed. Not really excited about this kid. Not a fan. \\n\\n", "score": 2},, CARD: {"member": "Arthur [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is the man. He really sold me when he called out his teammate Mike Chang: \"to go boxes don't make you a member.\" Burn! Also, he told me that when he came to Princeton on his official he went to Risky Business and hasn't missed one since. After that I knew [REDACTED] would be 100% committed to Ivy, whether it's actually staying for meals or members' nights. He's incredibly self-assured in a way that makes him very easy to like. Paint this kid green.", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Elizabeth [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I feel so lucky to have met [REDACTED]! He was charming, funny, thoughtful, and genuine. He was born in South Africa but was raised by Nigerian parents on a state park in PA (with cows and black bears in his backyard-- great stories). He is very in touch with his Nigerian culture, and as a banker and a COS major, he ultimately wants to be a social entrepreneur working in development in Nigeria. He was engaging on all topics: his favorite books, soccer, his experiences on Wall Street last summer, his favorite professors at Princeton, start ups, slow drivers, etc. He seems very enthusiastic about meeting new people in the club and I think we would be worse off without him."", "score":5}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Lydia [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I really enjoyed my conversation with [REDACTED]. He was down to talk about everything (Kessler walked by when we were discussing abortion and when the 'soul' comes into question) and he gave really thoughtful and well spoken responses on a whole host of issues (we had a provocative questioning section at the end when I asked about abortion ofc and he asked about immigration). He and I have different opinions and come from different backgrounds, yet I felt we were really about to connect and talk about a number of things - he'd be a pleasure to sit next to at a meal! He also started the conversation by asking me questions (excellent move) and he maintained really good eye contact (another excellent move).\", \"score\":5}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Emily [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I loved [REDACTED]. He was really easy to talk to, fun, chill guy. He's on the soccer team and really wants to be an active member of the club. He was funny and adventurous (wants to climb a lamp post before he graduates). Definitely would love to have him in the club. \"\", \"score\":4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Chandler [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Enjoyed talking to [REDACTED], though he was confident bordering on cocky at first. Still found him easy to get along with and wasn't rubbed the wrong way in the end. His goals for the rest of Princeton are 1) get involved in a Nigerian digital health startup and 2) branch out of COS into fine arts. Said he would ask someone to prom by making a scavenger hunt, and offered to ask the girl he said was cutest in the room out without me asking. She said yes. Made fun of Nick for a while for being uninvolved in both Ivy and the soccer team, which was entertaining. Only hesitation is whether he really wanted to be here, but overall good bicker.\"\", \"score\":4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Chandler [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Enjoyed talking to [REDACTED], though he was confident bordering on cocky at first. Still found him easy to get along with and wasn't rubbed the wrong way in the end. His goals for the rest of Princeton are 1) get involved in a Nigerian digital health startup and 2) branch out of COS into fine arts. Said he would ask someone to prom by making a scavenger hunt, and offered to ask the girl he said was cutest in the room out without me asking. She said yes. Made fun of Nick for a while for being uninvolved in both Ivy and the soccer team, which was entertaining. Only hesitation is whether he really wanted to be here, but overall good bicker.\"\", \"score\":4}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Joshua [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I think [REDACTED] will make a very good member. He is on the soccer team, and is a COS major so clearly has a wide range of interests. While he seemed a bit shy during our bicker it was also clear that he was a genuine guy and would be a pleasant conversation for all members. He also told me that he would be an active member and spend a lot of time at the club. That is nice because the last soccer guy I bickered got into the club and has been here for 3 minutes. "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Nicholas [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is a soccer player with a fascinating life story. After developing a heart condition, he is now monitored by doctors and they publish his story regularly in academic journals. Born in South Africa of Nigerian background, [REDACTED] talked about his heart condition and how it has impacted his soccer career. He talked about his spiritual life in Nigeria and in America; he is very down to earth. [REDACTED] led our conversation, and seemed like he would definitely show up to members nights. I am tired and cannot remember much more (it's 10:50pm), but let this dude in!"" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Brett [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""At first I underestimated [REDACTED], as we started the conversation talking about soccer, majors, and Princeton in general, and it felt a little stiff. As the conversation developed, though, I was pleasantly surprised. A \"South African Nigerian American,\" [REDACTED]'s different identities are complex and interconnected, and he speaks well about what it's like to grow up Nigerian in the U.S., and how he wants to use his COS skills to develop an EHR app, making healthcare in Nigeria more accessible regardless of where you get care. He also had interesting thoughts on Ivy itself, and seemed dedicated to putting the club's interest first should he become a member. I can't say it was the best, but it was a pleasant enough conversation."" , ""score"":3}",,, CARD: "{""member"":""Conner [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""This kid is a homie. He was my first bicker, and it was really nice because he carried the conversation and was very relaxed. We talked about Miami, which i recently visited, and he taught me a bit about the city and life in FL. He's really well traveled, has family in Egypt and his descriptions of the pyramids were sick. More than anything, he would be a very easy person to meet for the first time. he's approachable, likeable and friendly and talkative without seeming like I can't get a word in. I would love to watch this guy meet the club."" , ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Roberto [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a laid back guy who seemed very excited about the club. Got to talk to him about some of his favorite nights at Ivy and it's clear he'll come to as many of our nights out as possible. We also had a great conversation about his times in Egypt, and I left the conversation wanting to hear more about this. I felt like he's the type of guy who's always down to have a good time, whether that be by going out or by hanging out and telling stories."" , ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Gianna [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I felt like I really got to know [REDACTED] during our bicker conversation. He opened up about his Egyptian family and love of basketball while making me laugh several times during our chat. Definitely would be a presence in the club hanging around to study and coming out to every members night. He is a genuine guy who is easy to talk to and truly interested in meeting Ivy members. Would be a great addition to liven up the club, let him in! "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{member": "Nicholas

[REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "[REDACTED] thoroughly impressed me, and I recommend him as a member without reservation. [REDACTED] spoke candidly about his Egyptian family and his identity as a Muslim, an American, and an Egyptian. While he expressed hope that the lives of his Egyptian family members might improve, he admitted that his ability to improve Egypt is limited. [REDACTED] also expressed how he squares American culture with Arab cultural norms, which can sometimes conflict. Above all, our conversation demonstrated his honesty. [REDACTED] will make a fantastic member, and I certainly hope to get to know him better."","score": 4}," CARD: "{member": "Litig [REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "sweet kid. wants to biker for right reasons. likes to smoke weed which is a positive I guess (he is chill!) respects people in the club (eduardo, tobi, peyton) and would want to emulate them. that's good (i think?) also would want to share his positive experience in ivy w younger people. always good to spread love and nice things. plays basketball, would be good for IMs. I think he will be a good member. easy and chill to talk to. has friends so we know he would be active socially. also feel he would make new friends easily. great!!","score": 4},"

CARD: "{member": "Ana [REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "I had a nice, flowing conversation with [REDACTED]. He talked about his family in Egypt, how he loves basketball, and what shows he likes. We were certainly compatible - reflecting on our favorite comedies and what youtube videos make us laugh the hardest. He was really charismatic and would keep the conversation bouncing back and forth whenever I asked him a question. I also did a rapid fire round and he was able to wittily answer all my questions. He spent what seemed like a dope summer in brazil volunteering at favelas and is really into cruises. Overall, quirky kid that I think would be a good addition to Ivy. Nothing stood out as a \"wow amazing\" factor, but cool nonetheless."","score": 4},"

CARD: "{member": "Sophie [REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "Ok where to begin. Super edgy guy - the kind of intellectual kids we at Ivy like. I'm not sure that he would be the light and soul of the dance floor but I did actually really like this guy. Kind of weird first impression, but after talking to him for a long time I was like \"damn this guy is cool\". So lasting thought is let's get him in! I really appreciated our discussion about Greek tragedy, and he actually had the best why Ivy, citing the quiet yet clear drive of the members who all know what they want out of life - compared to the hyper chill vibe of terrace. PAINT HIM GREEN."","score": 4},"

CARD: "{member": "Sophie [REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "Great kid - really loved our conversation. I feel strongly he should be in ivy. We spoke for a super long time and I definitely could have spoken to him for way longer. May be a little arrogant at times, said a couple of douchey things which is why I am holding off from the 5. But generally much love for [REDACTED] - I am in little doubt that he would be a huge presence in the club. PAINT HIM GREEN."","score": 4},"

CARD: "{member": "Abigail [REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "[REDACTED] was nice and well-intentioned. He seemed very enthusiastic about Ivy, however came across as a tad calculated in his approach towards bicker and was critical of other clubs. We talked a bit about growing up in Florida and his interest in politics, but nothing particularly noteworthy or memorable.

"" , ""score"":3}" ,

CARD: "{"member" ":" Julia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I had an okay conversation with [REDACTED]. \r\nHe told me about his passion for the pyramids and growing up in an Egyptian family. I tried to get to know him more but he would often ignore my questions and just talk about his friends in the club. It was a bit weird.\r\n\r\nWhen I asked him why Ivy, his answer was vague. He said that he was deciding between ti and Ivy but liked Ivy better because it was \"less rowdy\". I think he's a nice and funny guy but am not really sure if he belongs to the club."" , ""score"":3}" ,

CARD: "{"member" ":" Mallory [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I was [REDACTED]'s last bicker, so might've caught him at a bad time, but I had a pretty unenjoyable time with him. It was really difficult to get him to talk about himself or his interests in any meaningful way -- instead he spent a lot of time talking about his frat and going out with his frat, even when I tried to direct the conversation elsewhere. I then asked him about the interest on his sheet -- \"pro basketball\" -- and he honestly got uncomfortably confrontational and a little aggressive (?) when I jokingly asked why he was a Cavs fan given that he's from Florida. I would give him a 1, but I could see where he might've been a little nervous."" , ""score"":2}" , ,

CARD: "{"member" ":" Gabrielle [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] must get in. I did not fake laugh one and was cackling the entire conversation. He is witty and clever and absurd and I am obsessed. He would definitely be an active member, and, more importantly, people would be happy to have him around all the time. It will be hard for me to give out another 5 after that conversation. He clearly knows many members in the club and has the confidence to walk in as a sophomore and talk to everyone. I implore you with every fiber of my 5 foot 4 being to let this kid in. "" , ""score"":5}" ,

CARD: "{"member" ":" Natalia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""WOW! [REDACTED] is quite the man. He was very relaxed during our bicker, which I found very refreshing considering the sea of nervous people that I have bickered today. He shared with me about his family, and his many different siblings and explained what it was like to grow up in a small apartment, without much access to the outdoors. (truly a deprived child, jk he grew up in manhattan). He made me laugh on numerous occations, sharing with me some funny stories about people's pre- bicker madness, which I also thought to be quite endearing. He was extremely easy to talk to and was very curious about my life, asking me about my sister and our relationship. Pain the mofo GREEN! "" , ""score"":5}" ,

CARD: "{"member" ":" Abigail [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is a super sweet guy. He's from New York and majoring in history - although he seems to also enjoy Econ quite a bit with a special affinity for Bogan's classes. He says Bogan reminds him of his grandmother and would major in \"Bogan\" if he could. Take from that what you will. [REDACTED] was great to talk to with a really easy-going/self-deprecating sense of humor. I could certainly see many members of the club, 'myself included, having a great time with him at meals, around the club, and on nights out. Paint this sweet little guy green! "" , ""score"":4}" ,

CARD: "{member": "Melissa [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "he's definitely going to come out on nights out and have fun. tobi makes him get fucked up which is a good sign and he knew half the people that walked by us during bicker. his fun fact was literally i like trampolines and at first i thought he was going to be a total bore but he made fun of himself and his boarding school background and sophomores being shits! i can't think of super convincing argument for him to be in the club but i would like him here", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Katherine [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was really sweet and easy to talk to. I think he'd be an active member--he talked about how he's on lightweight crew but really values making friends outside of the team and I think that's indicative of how he'd be a good member and would really add to the membership. I think he'd be out on members nights and present at meals--his favorite night is casino night so he values a good time. He said he'd marry tiggy, fuck nat, and kill Arthur, so I think he's got pretty good judgement....in all seriousness I think he'd be a great member. paint him green! ", "score": 4}, CARD: "{member": "Jack [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I like [REDACTED] very much. He is very composed and witty and is capable of excellent banter. He regaled me with tales of unrequited love and making an ass of himself on the swim team. He made me smile many times. I also like him because he is comfortable with silences. I did a double bicker with him, which began with 30 seconds of silence, and he stared into my soul sans flinch. I hope to see his tall pale body dancing around at pickups ;) ", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Hannah [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I ambled down prospect for a nice winter walk. We talked about traveling and school and a little bit about politics. While rather bland, I would say this was a good bicker. He was very nice, someone who would be ultimately pleasant to munch brunch with but maybe not hang around on a cold Sunday playing board games and telling dirty jokes. Would I want him in Ivy? Sure! But again, there are lots of vibrant and vivid kiddos to consider. Weak 4. ", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Julia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I talked about his love for watersports (water skiing, spear fishing, and rowing), and he told me a fun fact- Lake Carnegie is only four feet deep! Interesting and fun person. He was a little bit nervous at first, but warmed up quickly and became charming, funny, and easy to talk to. I think he would fit well in Ivy, but people would definitely have to pull him out of his shell first. When I asked him why he was bickering, he said it was the place at which he felt the most comfortable during nights out. I think that's more of a reflection of the bicker system than of [REDACTED], but (for me at least) there are better reasons to choose Ivy.", "score": 3}, CARD: "{member": "Jared [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Really nice guy, but the conversation was a real struggle to continue. He didn't seem to have a good answer to 'Why Ivy?' (hesitating until finally saying that he enjoyed the nights out but then couldn't say specifics about those nights) and could not answer why he listed the fun fact and interest that he did. Though I think he could absolutely fit in here, his nerves may have gotten the best of him - the conversation was entirely one sided. That being said, [REDACTED] was very enthusiastic and a genuinely nice person that I would love to talk with in a different, less nerve-wrecking context. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Liam [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I believe that [REDACTED] cared much more about the nights out/drinking scene at Ivy than he did coming to meals or studying here. A couple of the things that he said didn't sit that well with me-- using a lot of expletives and making inappropriate jokes and references when I was attempting to discuss fairly serious matters. For that reason, I feel like meals with him could be fairly unpleasant/uncomfortable. I don't think that he would be a great fit for the club or that he wants to join Ivy for particularly great reasons. "" , ""score"":2} , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Elizabeth [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I really enjoyed my conversation with [REDACTED]. We really hit it off because we share an interest in education reform and we both volunteer as tutors off campus. Though he was clearly nervous and a bit shy, he seems very sweet and gentle and kind. In everything we spoke about (Princeton, the election, his dog, moving from the East to the West Coast, neuroscience, Ivy, his leadership of the Princeton Perspective Project, etc.) he was so genuine. He seems like a guy who cares about making both Princeton and the world a better place, and I think we could use someone like him in this club. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Charlotte [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is like an orange: you know he will be sweet and bright, but it takes a little bit of effort to get to the middle. When I began talking to him, I could tell he was nervous and a bit unprepared for some of the questions I asked. Once we got talking about our families, his interests in neuroscience and education, traveling, and his dog (duh) he began to shine. He was great at engaging me as well as answering my questions to the best of his ability, and I loved seeing his reactions when people he knew in the club came up and said hi to him. I would be so happy if I was seated next to him at a meal!"" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Courtney [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I talked for a considerable amount of time. I kept the conversation going because he was pretty reserved, and I wanted to give him a fair chance to open up. I asked him some pretty tough questions to get his thoughts/opinions (i.e. how the eating clubs could be changed for the better), which he was able to answer well. He is a part of the Princeton Perspective project (with [REDACTED]), and has an interesting outlook on things once you get him out of his shell. With that being said, I felt as though he was pretty nervous, which impacted the success of the interview. For this reason, I am giving him a 4, although I was between a 3 and 4. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Sara [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was great! It was super interesting to learn about his interest in neuro and education, and I found him really well-spoken. He seemed personable and had a good sense of humor, and I liked how he was able to give thorough answers when I asked him what he liked about each of his bickerers so far; he seemed really thoughtful and genuine. I think he'd be a sociable member of the club, and I'd definitely be happy to talk to him if I had to sit next to him at a meal. As a bonus, he gave a great fuck-marry-kill answer. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Charles [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a very interesting guy. He is involved all over campus and is passionate about improving America's education system. His model member was CJ, that's a pretty good answer to me. I hope he would be an involved member though. I would enjoy seeing him at a meal.""", ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Francisco [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""My conversation with [REDACTED] was v smooth. Out of all my bickers so far, he was the one who I had to ask the least amount of questions to and our conversation flowed super naturally, something which I think means a lot, especially when most of these guys are pretty nervous. He was able to speak super well about his favorite class as well as his involvement in the Princeton perspective thing. Overall, this is definitely a kid I'd want to sit next to at dinner and I think he's be awesome at contributing to dinner conversations on a regular basis. Great, sweet kid, get him in. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Christian [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] seemed a bit shy at first but warmed up throughout the bicker. By the end, we had covered a diverse range of topics - education reform policy in the US, spikeball, and profiles in the New Yorker. He's a fun guy who would be a welcome addition at members nights. His least favorite way to spend time with friends is going to the movies, because it's a pretty solitary activity (I took this as a promising sign). Hopefully once he is in Ivy, he'll spend his time around the club conversing with members or playing chesties on nights out.""", ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Joshua [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] is nice but I found him to be a bit boring. He may have just been nervous but he didn't really have much to say about a few things. For instance he said he was really in to sports but was not going to watch the superbowl. Odd. Overall a nice kid who I am really niether here nor there about. """, ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":""Mallory [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] seemed like a nice guy -- we spoke a lot about his involvement with the Princeton Perspective project, which was definitely interesting, but he was quiet and a little bit difficult to make conversation with. He also didn't really seem that excited about Ivy when I asked why he wanted to join, but i'm not sure if he was just nervous and shy or genuinely disinterested in the club. I was impressed with how candidly he talked about his difficult freshman year, and how it had informed his work with the perspective project, just was a little difficult to engage and seemed a little bored.""", ""score"":3}",, CARD: "{""member"":""Ruben [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was great - international, interesting, spontaneous and funny. I took him to TI's ivy bicker station and did a great job. He travels, he's really into sport and he basically looks like a very nice guy. I think he will get along well with other members of the club. I hope he gets in."", "score": 5}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Roberto

[REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] is a great dude. He's laid back and doesn't take himself too seriously. Seems like the type of guy who's always down to hang out and have a good time. We talked a bit about finance because he worked at a bank for a full year, and he could be the first person I've met who genuinely enjoys that sort of work. He seems very genuine in general, and he's the type of person you want to have around when you want to talk about something serious or simply share good stories. \"\", \"score\": 5}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Manuel

[REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] is easygoing and has a good sense of humor. I bickered him pretty late in the day and I was a little tired, but we still had a fun and engaging bicker. He seems like the kind of guy who will be great at dinner and a valuable member of boys town, which is in desperate need of members to restore its former glory. \"\", \"score\": 5}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Natalia [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I had a nice time getting to know [REDACTED]. She was very open with me about her relationship with her family and with her mother, which I found quite refreshing. She definitely seems like the type of person that would be at a lot of members nights, and like she would spend a decent amount of time in the club. Although I must say at times she did seem a little vapid and maybe even a little social - climbey. But maybe that was just the social setting of bicker. Overall, she was very friendly and had a nice small that would probably be nice to see around the club. \"\", \"score\": 4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Laura [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"What an upstanding British rower-type guy. Getting strong Jonathan [REDACTED] vibes here. [REDACTED] was such a gentleman, and hearing him talk about his girlfriend and his favorite date spot was great. He rolled with the punches when I asked him some hard-hitting questions about who he likes most and least out of the Ivy rowers, as well as his favorite and least favorite bickers. There wasn't anything that particularly stood out about our conversation, but the fact that it was so easy to talk to him makes me think he'd be great to sit next to at meals. I was scatter-brained as it was my last bicker of the day, but he didn't hesitate to follow along on my many tangents. Overall, a superb human! \"\", \"score\": 4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Julia [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was friendly and easy to talk to. He's on the crew team, did a gap year in London and is interested in finance. He had a good energy and demeanor. Made an interesting comment about how he appreciates how in ivy there's not the type of culture that is broken up by gender, as he feels is often the case in UK schools, where it will be like the 'lads' are doing this thing. Thought that was an insightful comment. Seems like a nice guy but generally didn't feel we really got past superficial convo. \"\", \"score\": 3}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Carolina

[REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was a really cool dude; you could immediately tell he was super driven in what he was interested about (rowing, econ) and was able to hold a good conversation about these things. Was pretty easy to get along with him.

"" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Carolina

[REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a really cool dude; you could immediately tell he was super driven in what he was interested about (rowing, econ) and was able to hold a good conversation about these things. Was pretty easy to get along with him.

"" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Joshua

[REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was alright at best. I really appreciated that he said he loved Ben [REDACTED] but I would not try and spend any more time with him. He talked mostly about his internship at Bank of America and how he is a \"finance-netoworking fiend\". He would make a decent member but I think many people would not be crazy about him.

"" , ""score"":2} , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Olivia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Oh my goodness. Best bicker yet. This Cali girl is so awesome. She knows Ivy well because she first visited as a pre frosh and has spent a lot of the time in club since then. She would be such an involved member of the community. a warm and open person. We talked for a long ass while about life and goals. She's low key an amazing cook. . Avid soccer player. She's someone that I can imagine eating here and making friends w all the members. Paint this girl green. Reminds me a bit of Pilar. same energy.

"" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Jordan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I'd be so pissed if this girl doesn't get in. It sometimes felt like she was bickering me in the best way possible because she threw difficult questions back at me and seemed genuinely curious while doing so. Our convo ranged from her 3-day solo trip in the wilderness to the efficacy and necessity of the pass system on the street. She respectfully disagreed with me multiple times but I loved that she wasn't just enthusiastically nodding her head at everything I said, and I could honestly see myself getting a meal with her and continuing our conversation in a less stressful/forced setting. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Matthew [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Most fluid conversation I've had yet - felt as comfortable and natural as one I'd have with my roommate. Very sweet girl, but not in a vanilla/boring way - her answers were not predictable in the slightest. Her favorite night out at Ivy was a spooky thursday night in reading period (first time in my bickers hasn't been speakeasy, risky business or formals), and what she was most excited for is pickups (not even sure how she knows, but she clearly knows). Get her in the club!"" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Jared [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was extremely comfortable in her own skin and would be an absolute joy to have at dinner every night. One of the most natural conversations ive had so far - didn't once have a moment of pause in order to think of a question. A smile that would make the food better probably. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: {"member": "Joshua [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Very nice and sweet. She said she is friends with Pillar which is the official stamp of approval. I picture her as a young Pillar from which we can all grow and mature. She really does seem genuine and while I know this is a cookie cutter description I really believe she would be great. Aside from that I am running low on thoughts and steam. It is hard when you are the king of bicker and have to put the whole club on your back.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Harry [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seemed like a pretty interesting individual. She did a god job with the funny prompts we gave her, but i didn't always feel like she made a genuine effort to engage me in the conversation. I probably did too much of the talking. That said, she was obviously a really nice girl who I could totally see doing well in Ivy", "score": 3},

CARD: {"member": "James [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "My conversation with [REDACTED] was dry and forced, and she didnt seem to have any interests or passions, the ones she wrote down were extremely gimmicky and uninteresting. She left me with the impression that she was very shy and nervous.", "score": 3},

CARD: {"member": "Abigail [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was super nice. She's from LA and is a self-proclaimed 'foodie.' We shared some cookies together which was a good time. However, the conversation felt a tad forced throughout. It may just be late in the night and both of us are tired from a long day, but she and I weren't exactly clicking on all cylinders. Again, super sweet girl just not sure how well of a fit she would be for Ivy.", "score": 3},

CARD: {"member": "Serena [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was friendly but I don't feel that she would be a good fit for the club. Our conversation felt a bit unnatural and I was unable to connect to her.", "score": 2},,

OUTSIDE CARD: {"member": "Roberto [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is exactly the type of person we need in the club. She doesn't take herself too seriously and will make the best out of any situation. I met her through a COS class this past semester by working on most assignments together. We would work a ton, fail miserably and laugh it out. So many Saturday nights we should've been working, we'd lie to ourselves and say that we'd be better off just going out to the street and picking things up the next day, hours before the deadline. [REDACTED] is extremely dedicated with schoolwork, but she also knows that sitting down to have 2-hour long meals once in a while is just as important. I think we can all use a person like [REDACTED] to make tough times a lot better, or to have a good time just for the sake of it."},,,,,,,,,,

CARD: {"member": "Sarah [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I loved [REDACTED]. Shes so sweet and well put together. I really liked her shirt. Its said 'im put together but also cool'. So obviously my first impression of her was great, and then we started chatting and just really had a nice convo. We started talking about bumble abd how great it was and how she used the bumble friend feature this summer while she was working in Dc. And i thought this was awesome because i think it shows that she is outgoing and wants to do activites and isnt afraid to put her self out there. The type of person that puts themselves out there is who I want to hang out with in ivy. Yay [REDACTED]! "" , ""score"" : 5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Harry [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED]"" was a really engaging conversation partner. She sings for the Tigressions and also sings classical and opera music on campus which I thought was pretty awesome. She said she had never sung pop music before college and doesn't actually like pop but just threw herself into it freshman year and has loved it. She did a pretty good job of filling holes in the conversation when i didn't have questions for her or was stalling. I liked how she seemed to have a genuine interest in my life, and is someone i could see myself enjoying talking to at meals. "" , ""score"" : 4} , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Ruben [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED]"" is a very interesting girl - pre-med (wants to be a neurosurgeon), volunteering in a few places,... It was very easy to have a conversation with her and ask her personal questions and I think that it is something that a lot of members are going to appreciate. "" , ""score"" : 4} , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Haryuni [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED]"" was awesome! We really hit it off from the get go. Her sister has just recently moved to Jakarta and they visited Bali together this Christmas break, so we had a lot to talk about. She even recommended a new restaurant for me to try out in Jakarta called Pyongyang that is apparently staffed by North Koreans. She's premed but also doing a certificate in music, so she's v smart. She's a junior and I think she may have gotten hosed last spring, which I don't get because she's really sweet and engaging. Would give her a 5 BUT I was yelled at for being too generous with scores last year, so here is a 4. "" , ""score"" : 4} , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Cason [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Really torn on this one between 3 and 4. [REDACTED] was very, very sweet and clearly an interesting girl who does a ton on campus. I guess I was worried about how active a member she'd be considering her aggressive workload (Neuro pre-med, I mean whaaaat) and being music director of the Tigressions (didn't realize until I spoke with her how huge that commitment was) etc. I'm literally sitting here torn on what to write (not a great sign) and what to give her. I guess her mutual love of the Bachelor is putting me over the top so I'll give her a 4. EVEN though she said she loves Corinne ugh. Hate Corrine. But she also loves Rachel who's the best. Anyway, weak 4. "" , ""score"" : 4} , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Jack [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED]"" was really nice and sweet; we had a decent conversation but I could tell she was pretty nervous. Her stories/answers seemed abbreviated - she always had answers to my questions but didn't really expand on why she said what she said. She said she'd always wanted to travel to England, but her reason was that she likes opera and so do the British; when I pressed her for why that was the case, she didn't really have an answer. We did talk about the Bachelor at the end which is a HUGE plus, and

I felt like she definitely was warming up to the conversation, so I'd be willing to reconsider her score if it seems like we didn't hit it off. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Serena [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""My conversation with [REDACTED] was pleasant but I can't say I was blown away. She is passionate about opera/singing and enjoys the Housewives of NJ. Overall, I don't feel strongly either way but could be swayed."" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Tara [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""I had a good conversation with [REDACTED]. She told me about living in New Jersey, studying music and neuroscience and being in several singing groups on campus. I felt like I got quite short answers from her though, but I was her last bicker so we may have both been tired. She was very nice but I expected the conversation to flow better and go on for longer. She did seem interested in Ivy, with several friends in the club and wanted to meet new people."" , ""score"":3} , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Arthur [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] was my first bicker and wasn't sure how it would go this year without the interest sheet. Turns out it was totally unnecessary, as [REDACTED] was very poised, confident, and easy to talk to. When she mentioned that she is taking John McPhee's nonfiction class, my heart swooned in memoriam of my beloved Brian Geiger, Ivy '16, who also took this class. If [REDACTED] is as outgoing at meals as she was in our conversation, she'll be a solid addition to the club."" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Gonzalo [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""I had a nice time bickering [REDACTED]. She seems like a very appreciative and peppy person, which I admire. I particularly liked hearing her reflect on the positives and negatives of her broader princeton experience- on the one hand, she feels she's found a group of lifelong friends with shared passions and sensibilities; on the other, she thinks that the princeton bubble weighs heavily on our ability to pursue interests with little immediate personal payout. All things considered, though, she was reluctant to share specifics and the conversation was relatively flat. I would support her membership, but I am reluctant to give a ringing endorsement. "" , ""score"":4} , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Hannah [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] seems very \"ivy from preview.\" A well-dressed and polished conversationalist our chat ranged from mediocre to very good. I was peppered with staccatto questions of a typical Princeton variety - major, intercession plans, courses this semester - and got to hear the same from her. With lots of friends and \"contacts\" in the club, I am sure she would find a clique though I'm not sure I would be included in it (no new friends) :(However, her vibrance and sunny personality would be an asset to the club as a whole, and I'm sure I would see her head-banging, feet-flying on the dfloor. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Alicia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""I really enjoyed talking to [REDACTED]! She was enthusiastic and really engaging, and our conversation flowed easily. She is very involved on campus, in a number of different organizations, and she seems open to trying new things and meeting new people. She says she loves going out to Ivy as well as eating meals here, and likes how the members are diverse. I liked how she was open about sharing her personal experiences, her favorite/least favorite things about Princeton, and her biggest regrets as a student here. I think she would be a very active member, and would easily make friends with a lot of different people. "" , ""score"" : 4 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""Leo [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Had a lovely time with [REDACTED]! She is a sweet, pleasant young woman and we carried on a perfectly natural conversation. It began a bit formally as I asked her about her life at Princeton, but eventually it devolved into witty, messy, and absolutely fun jokes as I requested her to \"roast me\" (expecting a very tame response, mindful of wanting to make a good impression), but she came out swinging with some hilariously barbed comments about my mismatched white-Hanes-T-shirt-under-V-neck-combo not doing my llama neck any favors. I considerably enjoyed her sharp humor and sweet personality, and think she'd be an excellent fit on nights out and meals alike. One of my more organic bickers to say the least. "" , ""score"" : 4 } , CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""Tola [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""She's a very easy person to talk to and is super sweet. She was clearly very interested in the club and was a great sport during bicker. I'd like to see her around the club, but don't feel particularly strongly about it. I'm on the borderline between a neutral and an up, but more so towards up. "" , ""score"" : 4 } , CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""Laura [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""At first, I was turned off by [REDACTED]'s valley-girl, \"I'm too cool to be here\" vibe. However, I soon realized that she just has a more chilled-out personality, and that in reality she's a very driven and passionate person. She talked about women's reproductive rights, her admiration for her older sister's activism, and how welcomed she feels in the Jewish community at Princeton. She clearly cares for her friends, and her no-bullshit attitude was refreshing. She isn't the most pleasant conversationalist, but undoubtedly a cool gal. "" , ""score"" : 4 } , CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""Vivian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] has a lot of interesting things to say about current events, and is very knowledgeable in general so keeping a conversation going with her is easy. However, she seems to become disinterested really frequently. I was turned off by the fact that her answers seemed very rehearsed. I do think, however, that she wouldn't have a problem fitting in the club. "" , ""score"" : 3 } , CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""John [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was a lively bicker, I think she could sense my tiredness and picked up the conversation quickly and easily. She's sounds like an incredibly busy girl, with a myriad of extracurriculars that she seems passionate about. I can see her in the club but also think she doesn't need it, she feels well established here. Nothing negative to say, but also nothing that has left a strong impression. "" , ""score"" : 3 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""Brennan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""I had an interesting conversation with [REDACTED], but we struggled to find common ground to connect. She was friendly and clearly passionate, telling me about something called WIRC, or the White Industrial Rescue Complex, which was interesting to learn about. I wouldnt mind having another conversation with her, and could see her fitting into the club fine. I wasn't extremely excited about her, but could see her finding a place here. """, ""score"":3}",,, CARD: "{""member"":""Emily [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Sergie is a precious gem. I had the most wonderful easy flowing and sincere conversation with him. I rarely had to ask him a question and the conversation was constantly a discussion about both of our lives. Time flew and I easily forgot I was supposed to be bickering him. He has this warm presence that constantly just made me want to smile. He promised me that one day he would sing opera for me, so we have to paint him green and hold a members night where he and seb cox repeat their recent performance for us. He was wonderful. He must be in the club. """, ""score"":5}",, CARD: "{""member"":""Julia [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] is from Russia and moved to London at 6. He likes classical music, sings in glee club, obsessed with the album \"I Am\" by earth wind and fire. (Some deliciously eclectic taste in music.) He was thoughtful and reflective and his answers to my questions were genuine and intelligent. At one point I asked him what sort of first impression he thinks he gives. he responded that people probably think he is smarter than he is because of his calmness/accent--and we got to talking about how people link calmness to intelligence. think he seems like a really interesting guy who would have some great conversations at dinner. """, ""score"":5}",, CARD: "{""member"":""Justine [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I didn't hit it off right away, it was his first bicker so it explains why he might not have been super comfortable. He is at his best when discussing his love for singing and life back home, and once you get him to warm up a little he becomes a really interesting and sweet guy. I tried to get him to branch off but he seemed very eager to discuss his international background and music. I enjoyed our conversation but my only worry is that he wouldn't be the most active member of the club, but he might just have been nervous. """, ""score"":4}",, CARD: "{""member"":""Serena [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was really sweet and thoughtful! He is really interested in classical music and even performed for the Queen of England. I put him on the hot seat with a couple tough questions but he answered them like a champ and demonstrated that he is engaged with the ivy membership. Great accent!""", ""score"":4}",, CARD: "{""member"":""Julian [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Very well spoken guy. He is a musician (violin) and an opera singer, which I think is pretty impressive. We had a great conversation, it never felt forced at all, and when I asked him \"why ivy?\" his answer felt unique and genuine. I felt that he actually cared about our conversation. I didn't need to keep asking different questions because he always had something good to say. Really enjoyed talking to him. """, ""score"":4}",, CARD: "{""member"":""John [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a great conversationalist, quite witty and charming. We got on about soccer and music, he seems like a very passionate and genuine person. He says that he has really enjoyed bicker, was bummed that I was his last convo. What struck me most was how comfortable he was to chat, it is rare even as his 10th bicker to see that he was treating our chat just as he would a first with anyone outside of the context of this process. Can imagine him as an engaged member of the club. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Katelyn [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Ok I honestly really liked [REDACTED] and thought he was very down to earth and easy to talk to. we had a very basic conversation but he seemed genuinely interested in it and genuinely interested in me and what i had to say. at the end i asked him what he would change about ivy, and he told me the 'dining hall staff..they're kind of scary'. that rubbed me the wrong way. im not sure how he meant it, but it's why im giving him a 3 instead of a 4. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Liting [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Has aura of wise old man. Admittedly, I was not that enthralled talking to hm. He seems very thoughtful, very easy to talk to, but I left the conversation feeling not very excited about his membership. The pace of conversation felt slow, I didn't feel extremely engaged by his personality, and I didn't get the biggest sense that he was extremely excited about Ivy. This, however, may be a reflection of just his very calm demeanor, but I admit it didn't really win me over. I could see him being a good member, but I personally wasn't extremely excited. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Kevin [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is gentle and kind and has an interesting background and interests, but I am not convinced that he would be a big value-add at meals or on the dance floor. Bonus points to him for demonstrating his favorite dance move, but he was overall so mellow that he comes off as somewhat boring. His answer to what he does on campus was limited and unenthusiastic, though he does do some cool stuff with a singing group and mentioned an opera course that he took and became a hobby of his with Seb Cox. He has eaten meals with Caroline [REDACTED] and loves the atmosphere. He asks good questions, is interesting, and is kind, so I could be convinced, but as of now I'm not "" , ""score"":2} , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Mina [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Jesus christ. Best bicker I have ever had. Girl is an absolute gem. Really funny, silly, goofy and down for a good time. Me and Josh double bickered with her and another, doing our classic really weird out there gig. She loved it and added her own input into the convo. Compared herself to Mrs. Weasley (a la harry potter). Could not given a higher recommend. Weird, funny type people that this clubs desperately needs to keep in my departure. xox "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Peter [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was one of the most enchanted and lovely spirits I have encountered at Princeton. I think that a bit of the membership might find her strange, as she was both eccentric and aloof. Nonetheless, this girl was quite likely my most enjoyable experience bickering anyone. She was curious and open-minded and seemed completely at ease. I know that this girl would be an amazing addition to the club, but she might genuinely be too cool. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Emily [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is spunky and genuine. She was super out going from the first moment I met her. I could tell at first she had a quirky side and was probably pretty different from me, but as we talked I grew to love her. We got into a deep philosophical conversation about life, friendships and relationships. She's in a coop right now but realized that that was actually limiting her life because it was all the same kind of person. She came to a meal here and said she sat next to Alexander [REDACTED] and a bunch a crew guys, thinking wow this people are so different but that's awesome. This girl has a wonderful quirky spunk and would be great addition to the club. """, ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Rebecca [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""This girl is sick. We vibed from the get go; when I complemented her incredible velvet pants and she knew my shoes were from top shop, I knew it was meant to be. She was awesome. Our deep conversation about our formative childhoods and gap years and the many things we'd learnt and reflected upon made me feel that I was talking to a lifelong best friend. We connected on so many levels and I feel that although she might not know that many people in ivy, she has the desire to want to get to know people, to connect and to find ivy as her home away from home. Let [REDACTED] in! We need her!! """, ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Jack [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Whoopsie gonna have to give out another 5 for sure. [REDACTED] is supa fly and she knows it. What stands out most amongst the litany of admirable attributes is her self-awareness. She is so thoughtful and deliberate in how she leads her life. She is a social justice warrior minus the pretension. Could've spent hours talking to her, probably my favorite bicker of all. """, ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Brennan [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was the most laid back, self confident, and philosophical person I've met in a while, and I loved that about her. She is avidly introspective, leading her to have nuanced and fascinating positions on complex topics. I wanted to talk to this girl for hours, but was unfortunately constrained by time. It would be ridiculous in my book not to let this girl in to our club. Our topics of discussion ranged from her relationship with her younger brother to what she considers to be most valuable in life. She's the type of person who will never run out of ideas, making her the ideal dinner table partner. This club would be making a big mistake to let her go.""", ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Katherine [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was really cool and interesting. She was so easy to talk to and really nice. She's someone who would be present at meals and tear up the dfloor. I think she's the kind of person who would sit down and make friends wth anyone. She is in a coop and we talked about being unaffiliated and why she decided to bicker and she said she likes how ivy is based on individuals and not affiliations and i think she would be an integral part of our community. Paint her green!! She'd be a great member """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Sara [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I didn't feel as if [REDACTED] and I exactly hit it off, although I thought it was really interesting/admirable that she decided to bicker literally a week ago after talking to her dad about branching out more in college. However, I'm not sure if I really understood her wanting to meet more people--she spoke about wanting to meet more athletes, but I wasn't sure how relevant/important that really is? I also tried to get her to speak more about social justice issues, which she said she was interested in, but she didn't really elaborate, and I was left wondering what she was really passionate about. I did find her fun and outgoing, but I would've liked to know more about that. """, ""score"":3}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Madeleine [REDACTED]"",""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"",""content"":""I met [REDACTED] through Alexander [REDACTED], who reached out to the few of us who are unaffiliated in the club and asked if we'd like to meet her. I'm so glad he did. We got coffee and hit it off. After a hard time at the beginning of the semester, [REDACTED] faced adversity straight on, and decided to try even more things that had rejection as a possible outcome with the hopes that it would make her a better person, and that she would find a community where she could be herself. She's been in a co-op, played a dude in a play, wears cool pants, from san fran... what more could you want?! She's unique, and asks questions like \"what's been on your mind recently\": thoughtful and open ended but specific and sincere. She's not a small talker, she's the real deal. Think Eliza Mott but a lower voice, blonder hair, and, seriously, cooler pants. More than that, however, she needs Ivy. She needs a place to call home, validation that putting herself out there is worth it, people who are as interesting as she is to engage with, and a place to pour her heart into. I guarantee she would be an incredible member, and one the club has never seen. I can't think of how she could rub anyone the wrong way, even if she tried. She is different in the most authentic, unique, and loving way, and we would be so dumb not to take her! ""\"""", ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":"" John [REDACTED] """, ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"",""content"":""[REDACTED] is wonderful. She is sweet, smart and fun to talk to. A very warm aura indeed. I didn't need to pull up any questions from the list, or refer to her sheet to keep the conversation going. The conversation was so smooth I barely remember what we talked about. She has two older friends in ivy, both of whom initially attracted her to the club. Ever since, she has preferred ivy to all other clubs - she isn't bickering elsewhere, despite the fact several of her close friends are. I think she would be an awesome addition to the club. ""\", ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Sophia [REDACTED]"",""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"",""content"":""[REDACTED] is half-Austrian wants to be an architecture major so we had a lengthy discussion about places and cities in Austria and the department and had a lot in common. She is a lovely person to talk to and would be a great fit in Ivy! She wrote Jack Marsh a well-written love poem and seems like a calm, chill, and interesting person. ""\", ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Christopher [REDACTED]"",""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"",""content"":""[REDACTED] was super nice and friendly. Despite being very worldly, being born in Boston, and growing up in German, Tokyo, and elsewhere, she's very down to earth. She also speaks like four languages which is cool. We talked some about her experience as an architecture major which she was happy she switched to from math-track Econ. Really nice girl with a good sense of humor, and I got the impression she'd be an active member. Definitely bel""\", ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Onyemaechi

[REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Different girl but not in a bad way. We delved deep and oftentimes in a different direction than my other bickers. We are not very similar people at all BUT I felt like her answers were well thought out and genuine which I appreciate a lot. We talked about labels and how they can negatively impact people which is what pushes her towards studying anthropology rather than psychology though she is interested in how people behave and think. She is into volunteer work and improving the world which I haven't heard much of a focus on recently. She also said there can never be enough conversation (awesome) and wants to join Ivy because it is a place she feels like people seek building meaningful relationships."", "score": 4}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Gabriela [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Wow this girl is amazing! I had the absolute best time talking with her and we even made plans to go boxing together next week. Fun fact, she broke into her room in the Forbes annex using only a spoon and wearing only a towel. What I like to call a brave soul! Also, she said that the Latin music night at Ivy was the best night of the year - #LIVY REJOICE - she knows all of the words to \"Vivir la Vida\", which she sang to me with no shame. I really think I have found a new best friend so lets paint her green so I can realize my dreams! ", "score": 5}", [REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Conversation with [REDACTED] flowed hella easily. She talked a lot about growing up in different places and what she enjoyed about different cultures, which I felt I vibed with. We also had a lot in common in terms of how we feel about being middle children and our siblings. She asked me some pretty thoughtful questions about being in Ivy and actually seemed interested in my responses. She spoke a lot about her family and about a couple things she did around campus, which made me think that those were things she was truly passionate about and not just things she rehearsed. The fact that she didn't know what to expect coming into Princeton was something I connected with, and I appreciated her honesty. ", "score": 4}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Nicole [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is amazing! I truly loved our conversation and totally lost track of time. She is an extremely interesting person with a very multicultural background -- with each member of her family, she speaks a different language, talk about multilingual. [REDACTED] is also very easy to talk to, and we were quickly able to bond. I think she would make any member feel comfortable and engaged very quickly. I think Ivy needs someone this warm and unique in the club! Let her in!", "score": 4}", [REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is very sweet, though she never fully seemed at ease during our bicker. We had a fine conversation about real estate and the work she did this summer pitching to companies along the East Coast. I hope that she does get in because I think she would be pleasant to speak with at meals. I just wish I could have gotten more indication that she would be an active social member in the club. Hopefully others who have met her can speak a bit more to this. ", "score": 3}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Konadu

CARD: "{"member" ":"Christian

CARD: "{"member" ":"Aubree

[REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a bit shy. She certainly seems like an interesting girl but I can't say I got a great feel for who she is a person. I could probably be convinced that she would be a nice and good member of the ivy club but I don't think that I would put my weight behind her. I walked away from the convo feeling like I didn't get to know her really well at all besides her major and where she grew up. ", "score": 2} ",, CARD: "{"member" ":"Gonzalo

[REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a great gal. Sweet Texas accent and super smiley n nice. She's a stud soccer player who is looking to play pro after graduating Princeton. She played for the u20 women's national team and is hoping to get called up for the u23 squad. Though she is at the global pinnacle of her sport and has set massive personal goals for herself, she carries herself with genuine humility and grace. In addition to soccer, she wants to study finance and IR, is a member of a sorority and regularly participates in PFA's bible study sessions and volunteer work--what a sweetheart! The don Dom Moross said we should take the best people, this girl is a stud!!", "score": 5}", [REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a great girl. Very easy and enjoyable to talk to. When I asked her weird questions she came back with some lovely weird answers. She is the type of girl that can get into weird or in depth discussions with many different people and is fun and easy-going enough to get along with anyone. I think most seniors stop really getting to meet new people but she is definitely one that I would like to get to know better before I leave. She will be one of the new members that the club will quickly get to know and be happy she is around. \r\n\r\nAll the best\r\n\r\nJosh Yablon", "score": 5}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Joshua

CARD: "{"member" ":"Charles [REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I very much enjoyed my conversation with [REDACTED]. We spoke about her life of soccer, strong ties to her family and love of controlling the aux at parties, specifically with drake music. Her reason for doing Ivy was that she no longer wanted to be defined by her passion for soccer but rather be able to join a community with strong ties to all sides of campus with which she could interact. She really wants to broaden her Princeton experience. I find this a compelling reason. I believe [REDACTED] would be a great addition to the club. Paint her green!", "score": 4}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"James [REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I had a pleasant conversation, mainly talking about her interest in soccer and desire to play on the national team. She was funny and pretty relaxed throughout the conversation. ", "score": 4}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Jack [REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was great! So enthusiastic, smiley, and extremely motivated about her soccer career, which I really respect. We spent most of our bicker talking about her aspirations for playing professional soccer after graduation and the national team. I got the sense that she was very, very good, but her modesty was endearing and she tried to give me a more well-rounded picture of her life too. We talked about her family - her parents are extremely impressive, as are her 3 siblings, and I liked how she was so proud of them and their accomplishments, even when she herself has obviously been so successful. My one doubt/question would be about her ability to commit time to Ivy, just given how much she commits to soccer."", "score": 4}",

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Ana [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] brightened my day! And I feel bad cause I've had so many good people tonight but she also was great!!! She was super reflective and aware about her experiences at Princeton, her role on the soccer team, and why she wanted to do Ivy as a way to branch out. I was sort of distracted in the beginning but she kept pulling my attention back. She was cheerful, honest, and made me laugh a few times. She spoke in depth about her siblings as well which I liked cuz i LOVE MINE!!! I feel like I would choose to sit next to [REDACTED] at any ivy meal if she were in the club, as she brings in a unique and fun perspective. \"\", \"score\": 4}\"",

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Matthew [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Was originally neutral, but after she got more comfortable in the conversation it turned to an up. Soccer player, but wants to make friends outside of her sports team class (who are pretty much all doing cottage) - tough decision to make, respect it. Not gonna say we need to get her in the club, but think she definitely would contribute in a positive way to Ivy. \"\", \"score\": 4}\"",

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Elizabeth [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I really enjoyed getting to know [REDACTED]. She is very passionate about her soccer career (she wants to go pro on the women's national team like dam), but she is clearly excited about the prospect of meeting people outside of her team. I felt like she was bickering for all the right reasons: a genuine interest in making new friends, learning about new people, and having new conversations. She came off as very friendly and vibrant and has a very contagious smile. We had a very pleasant conversation, and while I don't feel like I got to know her very deeply, I would be happy to have the chance to get to know her better. \"\", \"score\": 4}\"",

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Colleen [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Although [REDACTED] was very nervous at the beginning of our conversation (she told me so, and said she didn't want to drink tea bc it'd be hard to keep it down), we had a nice conversation. She's a sweet girl from Dallas who plays on the soccer team and loves Drake! She seems friendly and sociable- would be fun to have on the ivy dfloor. It was a little disappointing that a lot of the conversation centered around her membership to piphi, soccer, and PFA, and I would have liked to see her talk more about her interests outside of her affiliations. she also told me she was double bickering, so idk if ivy is her priority. \"\", \"score\": 3}\"",,,

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Derek [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"My conversation with [REDACTED] was absolutely great. we spoke for almost 2 whole hours! We covered pretty much everything-- didn't look at his sheet once. Conversation flowed so freely and naturally it was awesome. I could talk to him for hours. We got into pretty deep convos about politics and identity and how he fits in back at home being a liberal from Iowa. I think he would bring a lot to the club and the culture and he would be a very involved member. I'm not usually one to give out 5s super easily and I really really liked this dude. I think anyone would love to eat/talk with him. He needs to be in Ivy! PAINT HIM GREEN!"" ,""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Gonzalo [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] and I had a great conversation. She was very well spoken and, unlike most of my other bicker candidates, asked me a lot of personal questions. [REDACTED] has a genuine ease with meeting new people. She told me about taking on a role in the Vagina Monologues, and emphasized forming a new group of friends while also engaging in a new enterprise. I shared with [REDACTED] some Phyllis Schaffly-esque views of feminism as a test, but she responded to my polemics with grace and eloquence--she'd be a great addition to meals. Last but not least, I'm confident she'll be an active member--she went on and on about the possibility of participating in theme nights this spring. Great gal "" ,""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Diego [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] was the nicest bicker I've had so far, she was absolutely a sweetheart and was so interesting. She is from London and we talked about her experience in boarding school. She's trying to decide between Politics and Woody Woo, and we had a really deep conversation of her Princeton experience and what she liked the most and what she felt it was missing. I can totally see her fitting in really well in the club. Also, she's a morning person that would get breakfast early everyday, definitely a plus for the early morning crew. I want to see her pretty eyes around breakfast next year :) Paint her green!"" ,""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Lyon [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Very pleasant all around! Talked about gender identity, global health and her fresh Puma kicks. She did a great job at being open, friendly, and engaged. She was also able to give very genuine and detailed answers to who inspired her most to join the club and what Ivy meant to her. Carried the conversations even through topics she might not be aware of/uncomfortable with. Definitely someone who would not struggle eating her meals here. "" ,""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Rebecca [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] was awesome. Awesome awesome awesome. I wanted to talk to him forever! I forgot completely that I was supposed to be bickering him and we just talked about crazy dreams, memories, fears, his hatred of walking (despite being an athlete) and his bad luck/ constant illness. He asked me the most interesting questions and gave thoughtful answers. He was talented, a great conversationalist and incredibly easy and interesting to talk to. We need him in Ivy! We only stopped talking because we realized there was no one else in the club left but could've gone on for hours and we wanted to. He would be the most amazing addition to the club, and we have to have him in our membership!!!!"" ,""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Gabrielle [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""I could talk to [REDACTED] for hours. He's the type of person who genuinely cares to hear what you have to say. The only reason I'm not giving him a 5 is because he is not 100% unique to anyone we have, but otherwise I am very much on the verge of a 5. I strongly encourage the bicker committee to let him in. He told me all about his fascination with movies and I was captivated by his enthusiasm. THIS is the type of person we want at meals and I am certain he would go to all member's nights. He would add positivity to the club and would brighten everyone's day. "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Joshua [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Like him. Talkative and nice. He is on the crew team and said he really likes Ben [REDACTED] which means he must be cool. We talked for a while about how Ben [REDACTED] sounds like bin laden. He made some great jokes on the subject and was extremely interested in the subject. It says something when you can get interested in some weird thing like that. Would love to discuss the matter further with him at some point"" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Kevin [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I really like [REDACTED]. He's very comfortable in his own skin, and has fascinating interests to talk about. He's from a small-town-feeling city in Iowa (cornfields right next to his house), and shared dorky fun facts about the state. He rows, and definitely has a motivated and impressive side to him. Our bicker truly felt like a fun getting-to-know-you conversation, as he's too easy to talk to. Even though he seems like a big gentle teddy bear, his favorite night at Ivy was when he was blackout and danced like an idiot. He also had a hilarious fuck kill marry. This is a guy people will want to hang out with, and he expressed how he sees himself spending tons of time here."" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Julia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED], [REDACTED], [REDACTED] and I had a good conversation. [REDACTED] had a good energy and always played along. At first he was talking more than [REDACTED] but then he made an effort to include her in the conversation more. That was really nice. He is also super creative and made up a really hilarious story about how [REDACTED] and I first met. Even though he rambled a bit at times and did not necessarily give spot on answers, he always made an effort to explain his opinion in a thoughtful way. Matt has a really positive energy and is a spontaneous guy and I can see myself having fun conversations with him at meals."" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Sophie [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I like this guy, I didn't love this guy. He is definitely a sweetheart and we had an amazing conversation. I am just for some reason holding off from being super positive. I can't really pin it down, I just don't think I would be SUPER enthused to sit next to him at dinner. But at the same time he is doubtless a wonderful kid and very deserving of a place in the club. This is a very natural 4 I think - a 4 because I did really like him and I would be happy to have him under this roof. But def not a 5. "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Hannah [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is a great conversationalist. He opened our conversation up by talking about the ping pong game before us and how you best watch it. His knowledge of classic movies is incredible, offering detailed opinions and recalling exact scenes. [REDACTED] is super easy to talk to, and he is really interesting and intellectual. Although I feel that he continued on for some topics for too long, I still think that he would be a great person to sit down at lunch next to. "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Christian [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]", "content":"My conversation with [REDACTED] started out morbidly as he recounted his past illnesses and injuries, which might have put a damper on things thereafter. He had a standard, if vague, answer for why Ivy - the people, and the clubhouse being a nice change of pace from Frist - but when asked what he was apprehensive about or if there was anything he would change based on his perception of the club he just said \"maybe the exterior brick.\" In all, I'm not inclined to hold that against him. He never seemed completely comfortable during the conversation, and I just felt I didn't really get a feel for who he is as a person even though we walked to Starbucks and back (fairly long bicker). ", "score":3}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"Thomas [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]", "content":"[REDACTED] and I had a very interesting laid back conversation. She's easy to talk to and has a lot of things to talk about, like her upbringing in Geneva and London. I can definitely see her being a great presence at meals and would have a lot to bring to the club. She was a little shy and her \"embarrassing story\" was tame af but she was a pleasure to talk to nonetheless ", "score":4}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"Caroline [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]", "content":"[REDACTED] was really easy to talk to, interesting and a document-watcher extraordinaire. We spoke about her international background (she's French and Lebanese and lived in a multitude of different countries) and bonded over our experiences in London. [REDACTED] expressed a deep love for the membership, stating that Ivy accepts truly unique individuals that cannot be found elsewhere. She seems a perfect fit for the club and I know lots of members would enjoy sitting next to her at meals. ", "score":4}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"Manuel [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]", "content":"[REDACTED] is really interesting: she speaks german, french, and italian, she skis in the swiss alps, and she told me about Jiro Dreams of Sushi, which I'm going to have to watch on netflix tonight. I think she'll be a great member", "score":4}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"Gianna [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]", "content":"[REDACTED] was a sweet girl and we had an ok conversation but it was slow at times and she seemed a bit shy. She has some friends in the club and genuinely seems interested in ivy but I'm not convinced that she will make a great member since I don't know how much she will branch out. I could be swayed if others have more to say about her but overall I give her a 3. ", "score":3}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"Barbara [REDACTED]"", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]", "content":"Feeling conflicted. I found [REDACTED] a little nervous and distracted but she was very nice. Our conversation was a little boring and I felt like it was hard to continue because she never asked me any questions and cut me off a bit (but could be the nervousness). There was nothing explicitly wrong with her I'm just not that excited but I feel bad writing that because she clearly has interest in the club and friends in it. So if this is her rouge bad card I'm sorry :(", "score":3}"

CARD: "{member": "Fabian [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "We discussed a wide range of topics but our conversation never went beyond the superficial. I felt there were several opportunities for her to elaborate on her interests. She seemed quite nervous.", "score": 2},, CARD: "{member": "Julia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I loved talking to [REDACTED]. He's really into music, jazz, classical, rock, etc. He plays guitar in a jazz band. (We listened to them on Spotify and they are incredible. He's really talented.) He also tutors in Trenton for IMPACT and just joined moneythink. He's interested in majoring in geo. We talked about princeton and making friends here, and how our relationships with our family members have evolved. I liked how he was both funny and thoughtful, really thinking through his responses and answering seriously but with humor. Good answer to the why ivy question--instead of going independent decided he would meet people. Overall a really outgoing and genuine guy. I think [REDACTED] would be a great addition to the club.", "score": 5},, CARD: "{member": "Nina [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was funny and self-deprecating. He told me a story about a shotgunned beer coming out through his nose after having told me that a key adjective to describe him was 'embarrassing to be with.' He spoke about his EP on Spotify with a lot of humility, gently making fun of himself and his band members. He said he feels as though he changes every semester and that he gets to know more and more people. This confirmed what he had told me that he is always looking for new friends and likes to try new things. [REDACTED] also told me about a really cool project he is working on to reduce stress in public high schools. He was an interesting and funny guy.", "score": 5},, CARD: "{member": "Roberto [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I was kind of tired by the time I talked to [REDACTED], but he made it easy to talk for a solid 45 minutes. He talked about his band and the gigs he has at Smallword sometimes, which I thought was pretty awesome. We talked about tech entrepreneurship and sustainable energy, both of which he was really passionate about. He seems like the type of person you can always talk to about anything.", "score": 4},, CARD: "{member": "Matthew [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Refreshingly honest answers about all of the standard questions I asked - didn't try to create some elaborate pre-planned speech, just seemed to speak honestly. Plays in a band, provides mental health counseling for local high school students, well-rounded guy. Solid bicker, would love to get to know him better in the club.", "score": 4},, CARD: "{member": "Nicole [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is so sweet and funny! I really enjoyed talking to him, he seemed like a caring and lighthearted guy. He's someone who doesn't know a ton of people in the club already, but has the confidence and friendliness to jump into a new social setting and thrive. Also he said that if Tola, Konadu, and I were Destiny's Child, I would be Beyonce so clearly he is incredibly intelligent as well. It was cool to hear about his involvement in MoneyThink as well as another pace program that encourages good mental health practices among high schoolers -- also funny to hear about how he deals with catty high school mean girls while volunteering. I think he'd be an awesome addition to the club!", "score": 4},, CARD: "{member": "Lydia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Loved my convo with [REDACTED] - he was thoughtful, his head is in the right place, he was engaging, asked me questions (major plus!). He's in a band (they've released an EP on Spotify...I will listen tonight and report back). Many of his friends are doing other clubs but he decided somewhat last minute that Ivy was the place he wanted to try and be. He cited its diversity of personalities while also was comfortable to engage in conversation about the ways it lacks diversity. I appreciated that he was comfortable to speak openly and critically (but he also wasn't overly critical...very diplomatic). I think he'd be a great addition to the club!", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Sammy [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a nice guy and he has a lot of cool interests (has a band and likes geo) but I felt like he didn't really open up during our conversation. I think he was really nervous, but that's not an excuse for him ya know? He's clearly a sweet dude, would be a good addition to the club in that he's nice af and maybe we need more of that. But I didn't get that sense that he's someone the club in general would be excited to sit with at meals. He's a little too awkward, and I don't think I'd really care if he gets in or not.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Onyemaechi [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "He seemed nice but also really nervous. He has an EP on Spotify/iTunes and we listened to it for a bit and he is amazingly good with guitar. Besides that involved in a lot of volunteer work and tech entrepreneurship things which is pretty cool. Teaches prisoners who will be released soon how to adapt to the world now especially if they had been incarcerated for a while which I think is really awesome. Played along well enough with my questions and demonstrated how he could take out approx. 7 zombies before he is taken out. Said he wants to be in Ivy just kinda because he enjoys talking to people which wasn't very strong and didn't feel genuine.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Christopher [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Maybe it was because I was [REDACTED]'s first bicker and he was nervous but we didn't have a very good conversation. Seems like a nice enough guy but don't think he'd add much to the club", "score": 2},,

CARD: "{member": "Clayton [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a great bicker. He's a natural conversationalist and has a really up-beat attitude. We talked about him growing up in New Zealand, coming to the States for school, and his time as a coxswain on the heavyweight crew team. He would be a fantastic addition to Ivy and is someone that I would absolutely look forward to sitting next to at a meal or hanging out with at a night out. Get [REDACTED] in the club.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Brennan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a nice conversation with [REDACTED]. He's a coxswain on the mens crew team from Auckland, New Zealand, and I could easily see him bringing some nice diversity to the club. He was slightly reserved at first, and the conversation felt a bit forced at times. However, I was his first bicker of the day, and I could easily just see it being nerves. I'd be happy to have another conversation with him, and think he's be a fine add.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Emma [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] seems like a great guy. He told me all about rowing and where he's from in New Zealand. We talked about how much we both hate United, which was great because I love complaining about air travel. He was really easy to talk to and asked me a bunch of questions about my summer and places where I've traveled. He came across as really friendly so I think he'd be a great person to sit next to at a meal and also a lot of fun on a night out. He said that he wants to bicker ivy because he really enjoys both getting meals and going out here and he likes the people a lot. Overall, I think he'd be a great fit. \", \"score\": 4} \",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Nicholas [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED], a coxswain from New Zealand, demonstrated honesty during our conversation. He decided to study in the US to challenge himself, and I was fascinated by his comparison to university life in New Zealand. He spoke honestly about how he struggles to keep in touch with high school friends, as he seldom returns to New Zealand during the year, but does his best by trying to maintain snap-streaks. [REDACTED] also showed a great sense of humor. When double-bickered with another pair and asked to play 20 questions, he jumped in straight away and chose the \"kiwi\", New Zealand's flightless national bird. I recommend [REDACTED] for admission, and certainly hope to share a meal with him. \", \"score\": 4} \",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Charles [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED], seems like the savage that this ivy class needs. Straight Australian rower who loves to crack jokes and could have kept me laughing for another hour. He described ivy as \"the perfect late night spot\" where you could just \"drink some fosters\" and dance around. He was also excited to get meals here. I'm convinced he would be an active member and would make an excellent addition to the Ivy class of 2019. Paint this lad green. \", \"score\": 4} \",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Laura [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I had a nice chat with [REDACTED], a coxswain from New Zealand. He seems to have spent a ton of time at the club and understands the Ivy community and what it's like on a day-to-day basis. He's extremely easy-going and can get along with anyone. He told me a hilarious story of his one attempt at coxing a girls' team, during which he told them to go \"balls to the wall\" during the last stretch...needless to say, they were unable to follow his instructions. On a more serious note, I was impressed that he spent the last summer doing grunt work in a steel factory, which he described as both humbling and enlightening. [REDACTED] would be a very solid addition to the club. \", \"score\": 4} \",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Julian [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"She told some pretty interesting stories, I found myself genuinely interested in hearing about her interests. She's a good speaker and didn't have any trouble at all keeping the conversation going. She rolled with some tough questions, and never really had trouble or seemed awkward about anything, even the harder questions. She's genuine and I think she would be a great addition to ivy\", \"score\": 4} \", CARD: "{member": "Jared [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a sincere, down to Earth guy who was ready and willing to have any conversation anywhere; I appreciated how easy the flow of the conversation was. However, I found it very difficult to get anywhere substantial with him: when I asked him about interests at Princeton, he didn't seem to be very passionate about much of anything aside from rowing, which is perfectly fine, but that meant that our conversation was consequentially narrow. Would have loved to see him take more initiative in the conversation, but I think overall he is a very likable guy with a positive presence. Not sure what he would add to Ivy though. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Folasade [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a very nice, charming guy from Auckland! He is a rower and is studying economics. He likes Ivy because he has never not had a good time here whether he was sober or not, and he likes the chill vibes he gets from being here. While I wasn't yearning about him getting in, I do think he would be a good member and would try to meet new people. I enjoyed our conversation and even though I'm giving him a 3, this is more of a 3.5 or weak 4. Conversation flowed easily and felt very natural. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Megan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I liked [REDACTED] (esp. for the accent), he was personable and we had a solid conversation. We talked about what being a coxswain entails (a lot more complex shit than I thought) and how eccentric his fellow New Zealander Lachie Kermode is. He shed some light on being an international student (some of which I could relate to) and how different college in NZ is from than the US. Perfectly amiable and pleasant to talk to. This is like a really high 3, because I'm just at the cusp of wanting him to be in the club, but I don't feel that strongly. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Ruben [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a nice guy from New Zealand. On campus, he does crew and he has some cool extra curricular activities (scuba diving). I hesitated between a 3 and 4 but giving him a 3 because I didn't like his answer for \"why ivy\" which didn't seem very genuine. For example, the first thing he said was that he will be \"an active member\", which is not what a potential active member would say. Nice guy, not sure he will be a great fit. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Benjamin [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] leads with an exciting and exuberant personality! We talked about so many different things with never a lull in the conversation. She tackled my bicker challenge without hesitation, navigating through the hallowed halls of the Equad to a mysterious room-her first time in the Equad too. She would be an awesome member at this club and it would be a loss not to take her! ", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "George [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is very easygoing and has a self-deprecating side which I think makes a good trait to have at this most serious of clubs. Usually when someone says that they look forward to meals at Ivy, I think \"Hah! Liar\" but she had a genuine, heartfelt reason for looking forward to Ivy dinner (having a small family). Really easy to talk to, good sense of humor, quirky, seemed refreshingly honest. I think she'd help lighten up the mood around here. Let her in! "" , ""score"":5}", [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] seems like a very nice and sweet girl. She wants to do Ivy because she did not grow up with siblings and wants to make new friends. That seems nice. Although I didn't really get to know her well during the conversation I know that there will be people in the club that will really enjoy having her around. Also, she is in a few different dance groups and during exams had to dance up to 10 hours a day. That is passion. Cant teach passion. "" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Jack [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was great! Very conversational, fun and very willing to put herself out there. She loves to dance, is in Expressions and tap dances, she has a birthmark that looks like a hickey, and she was really funny when telling a stories about the questions she's gotten about it. She has really flexible joints that dislocate easily, which is why she got into dance. She also opened up about her family - she said her best friend is her mom who is 40 and raised [REDACTED] essentially by herself; she also goes out with her mom, and her mom always gets hit on by all her friends! I can tell [REDACTED]'s a really warm, funny, thoughtful person who'd be a great fit for Ivy. "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Joshua

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Ayesha

[REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is wonderful. Such a genuine, open and warm person. I really loved her why ivy. She said she grew up mainly just with her mum (who worked) and consequently she didn't really have the opportunity to have family meals with everyone sitting down together a lot- that's why she loves coming to Ivy for meals. It was also great to hear her talk about her experience as a first generation college student and some of the challenges she's faced and how she's now involved with a group on campus which aims to make the freshman transition into Princeton easier. I could 100 percent see her being a super active member and she's really excited to meet new people. Between a 4 and 5. "" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"James [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a delight to talk to, for about 30 minutes we had an awesome conversation about international travel, ending with a debate ranking the best places to buy weed from the countries we discussed. She ended this discussion by showing me her mom's instagram and telling a story about a time when she bought weed for her mom in Jamaica. [REDACTED] should definitely be in this club, she was funny, engaging and super relaxed. "" , ""score"":4}"

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Lydia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I really liked [REDACTED] -- she had so much energy (and spice) and was a great talker. I wish she asked me more questions but alas, I was bickering her after all. Super interesting family story as well. She told a lot of stories about random things, chatted pretty openly about her previous bickers, showed me her dog. She likes tiny things (four of her friends bought her the same mini farm play set which is hilarious). I think she'd be a lot of fun in the club. I could see her being an active member. I want to party with her. This is a boring card but she wasn't a boring girl!!!!"" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{member": "Alicia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I enjoyed meeting and talking to [REDACTED]. She was very engaging and open about her experience at Princeton and why she wants to bicker Ivy. Although we don't really have similar interests, we still had a good conversation and I think she would be an active member. She thought she was going to go independent but after having meals at Ivy and spending more nights out here, she really likes the traditional feel of Ivy meals and the seating system as well as the \"chill vibe\" on the dance floor. I'm mixed between a neutral and an up but I think that's because we didn't really connect. I think she would make a good member but I don't feel strongly about her getting in. ", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Vivian [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a fun girl, and I have no doubt she would be a very present member on nights out. She has good reasons for why she wants to be in the club, her strongest being she really appreciates the close knit feeling at dinner time. Growing up with her single mother, she said she felt like she never had the \"traditional American dinners experiences.\" She's a girly girl who is easy to get along with. The reason why I'm giving a 3 is because she sometimes talks down on people and the club. She was extremely vocal about how ugly and \"visually displeasing\" Ivy's front lawn looks, and did not have super nice things to say about her previous bickerers. ", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Kevin [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Didn't really enjoy our convo... when I asked what her favorite course at Princeton, her initial response was an unkind \"ew\", and she said she guessed it was a dance course because she slept the whole time. She spoke very negatively of herself overall, and kept justifying why she was accepted into Expressions and a tap dancing group (\"tap dancing is the only thing I'm good at\"). I tried so hard to give her opportunities to let herself shine, but every time her responses showed that she would be a negative person to talk with at meals, and wouldn't be fun on a night out. I think there are many other bickerees who would add way more to the club", "score": 1},, CARD: "{member": "Courtney [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Yes!! That about sums up my thoughts regarding whether or not he should get in. [REDACTED] seemed like a real ass dude and that goes a long way for me. He confirmed this when he talked about how everyone here comes from different backgrounds, and how that is what makes us unique. Coming from a smaller town in NJ, he felt like he did not fit the 'stereotype' of Ivy--but that after meeting people here and joining a fraternity, hes seen that we are much more than that! And I think he's right. I am giving [REDACTED] my first 5 because I think that he would add a lot to Ivy, he's cool, genuine and he likes the OLD Kanye. ", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Leo [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Being mine and his first Bicker conversation, I could tell we were both a bit nervous, and so I didn't ask as many \"deep\" questions as I might have expected. Nevertheless, he was engaging and cheerful and we had a decent conversation about his family, life at Princeton, and background. He answered my questions with fairly thoughtful responses and we turned out to have a lot of things in common, which was fun to learn and broke the nervousness pretty well. As far as groundbreaking revelations about his \"deeper\" character, there weren't many of those, but he would be a fine addition to the Ivy family. I could see myself sitting next to him at meals, and getting to know him more would very pleasant.""", "score": 4}], [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a great bicker! I really liked his laid back and open personality. Not only did he guess exactly what my spirit animal was, but the conversation flowed well. We had such an easy and honest chat. I think he would be a great addition to the club since he genuinely seems like he would branch out and get to know all the members. """, "score": 4}],

CARD: {"member": "Gianna

CARD: {"member": "Sammy [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I'm giving [REDACTED] a 4. He's really nice and was very go with the flow during our conversation. I got the sense that I could've asked him just about anything and he would've taken it in stride and made a joke out of it. He has a fear of spiders, likes the premier league, played football seriously until he broke his leg, enjoys Econ, and wants to be in new jersey longterm. He's an interesting guy and I think he'd fit well in the club, and at meals etc. I didn't give him a 5 because when I asked him about Kanye (on his sheet) and other interests, I expected more in depth/interesting conversations and felt like I didn't learn much new. """, "score": 4}],

CARD: {"member": "Liam [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I think that [REDACTED] would be a pleasant addition to the club. While not too outgoing or bubbly, he was a really nice guy. We talked a little bit about his going into finance and his community service involvement in high school and at Princeton. I learned about a particular rough time his freshman year and the way he handled/overcame it, which I appreciated. I see him being a fairly active member and someone that I could make good conversation with at meals. """, "score": 4}],

CARD: {"member": "Jordan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "The conversation started out a little awkwardly and I felt like I was scrambling to come up with the next question but once I got him talking about things he was interested in he went into a lot more depth and seemed more relaxed. He didn't have any insanely unique interests- he's an Econ major, likes surfing, and \"hanging out\" but didn't totally specify what that means. Wouldn't be happy if he didn't get in but I don't think he'd be the biggest asset bc he wasn't very outgoing and I can't really see him striking up a conversation with someone he doesn't know at a meal. """, "score": 3}],

CARD: {"member": "Derek [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "My conversation with [REDACTED] was ight. Seems like a really chill dude who is about the chill college life which I respect but at the same time didn't seem like he was too passionate about anything. By that I mean I tried to get the ball rolling with some things that he might be interested in (like that he put on his sheet-- music/Kanye) but the conversation never went very far. Pretty much answered my questions and that was it. Seems like he thinks being a member would be cool but didn't really seem that excited. Anyways overall, I think he's a cool chill guy but I don't think Ivy is necessarily the right fit. Don't particularly care if he gets in or not. """, "score": 2}],

CARD: "{member": "Sophia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a really great time with [REDACTED] and I foresee us being good friends in the future! He is thoughtful and intelligent, a humbly confident person, and I feel like I took something away from every comment he made. We talked about his transition from growing up in London and then moving to a small seaside town, Shawshank Redemption, Switzerland, the feeling of winning a race, why acceptance is the most important value, and so many more topics of conversation. [REDACTED] had a mature attitude towards the bicker process, and he would be an awesome addition to Ivy. After an hour of talking, I could have easily continued the conversation and I feel like everyone would enjoy getting to know him.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Katherine [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Johnny is so funny and nice and easy to talk to. I really enjoyed talking to him and I think he would be a great asset to the club. He went to thanksgiving at Leo's house which seems like a good judge of character. In all seriousness within the first few minutes of our conversation I could tell that he is just genuinely really nice and caring. I asked him about being in love and he had a beautiful explanation about love coming from the experiences you have with someone rather than just the qualities of the person. He's someone I'd want to get a meal with, someone I would confide in, and someone I'd tear up the dfloor with. PAINT HIM GREEN", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Barbara [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was so so great. He's was so easy to talk to and actually really fun to talk to. I asked him what he would bring to Ivy and he said he'd try really hard to not let everyone stay in groups. He's on the crew team but said he wants to make sure he meets more people and encourages others to do the same. I'm not articulating it well but it was genuine and awesome. He also seemed interested about where the club was going which was the first time I had heard that and really respected. [REDACTED] is awesome and the accent is a added bonus", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Michael [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "While [REDACTED] wasn't as easy to talk to initially as some others, we were able to have stimulating conversation which I believe is an important aspect of the Ivy culture. He's impressed by Ivy's international diversity and hopes to be able to contribute to Ivy's international community. He'll make a positive addition to club being able to spark interesting conversations.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Elizabeth [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I could tell right away that [REDACTED] was going to be a really interesting and fun bicker. He was kind and extremely good at holding up his end of a conversation, and he very freely shared a lot of his deeper opinions about himself and his interests. He was at once lighthearted and willing to go deeper in conversations. I can see him being an excellent addition to the Ivy dinner table. \r\n", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Joshua [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Funny dude. Classic funny crew guy. I know I will like him. His largest mis-step was that he said Leo was his favorite teammate. A fine answer but the right answer is Ben [REDACTED]. Ivy needs a steady flow of [REDACTED]'s to keep everyone on their toes and meals lively.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Jared [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "What a charmer! Told me I was cunning like a fox once I eventually got him out of his shell. Though reluctant to engage enthusiastically in any particular subject of the conversation and not really clicking on interests at first, [REDACTED] seemed like a great kid. Said that he vehemently hated the occasional cliques when asked what he would change about the Princeton culture, and he really seemed genuine in wanted to meet new people if he gets into Ivy. Honestly, I would have given him a three except for this one incredible, seemingly arbitrary conversation where he gushed about rowing friends - doesn't seem like much on paper, but you should have seen him talk about his friends. Beautiful and genuine really likes Leo!", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Laura [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I had a fine conversation, but he seemed to be saying the buzzwords that he thought were indicative of Ivy; when I asked what drew him to Ivy, he focused on the international community. He spent the majority of the conversation talking about his team and rowing in general. When asked about his interest, skiing, he said it was something he enjoyed doing with family/friends. Amongst his friends, he is seen as a father/grandfather figure, and he said that is accurate because he is a stable, unemotional guy. We could have just had a chill conversation, but he didn't seem particularly passionate about Ivy, and while I wouldn't mind seeing him around the club, I don't think he'd be particularly unique.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Derek [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a solid convo with [REDACTED]. He seemed like an interesting dude who I think I could probably see having a meal with. Seemed like he wants to join the club for the right reasons but didn't seem overly passionate about anything. Was easy to talk to but didn't have many interests besides skiing and rowing. Big issue for me was that he didn't seem interested in anything I was about or had to say, in fact talked over me a few times. He could be a good member but I honestly don't really care if he gets in or not.", "score": 3},, CARD: "{member": "Emma [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a really cool guy. We had an awesome conversation about how he's interested in development in Nigeria where he is originally from. He also told me that he thinks the hottest guy in the club is Jared, which is definitely an up in my book. [REDACTED] is a super easy person to talk to--I had a really good time laughing with him over funny and embarrassing stories he told me about nights out and he asked me a bunch of questions, which made me feel like he'd be a great person both to get a meal with and to hang out with on the street. He could both talk seriously about things he's passionate about and be really funny--paint him green!", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Laura [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Never have I been so confused. Despite the fact that he had less-than-nice things to say about overalls, and despite the fact that he struggled to answer my question about what makes him quirky, [REDACTED] was a pleasure to talk to. He's laid-back, and it was super easy to keep the conversation going. He lit up when he talked about his start-up in Africa. He was more excited when the convo was about topics he was genuinely interested in, as opposed to meaningless small talk. He wasn't afraid to disagree with me or give an honest opinion, which was super refreshing. The poor boy got his jacket stolen on the street, but he braved the cold with me in a dope vest. Cool dude."" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Samantha [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Had a really great bicker with [REDACTED]! He was very sweet and charming and easy to talk to. We spoke mostly about his experience co-founding a startup with his brother and cousin to connect businesses in Nigeria with potential investors. He spoke very thoughtfully and candidly about the greatest challenges and rewards he faced, and how to balance his focus on the company with his life at Princeton both academically and socially. Some of our conversation felt a bit rehearsed, however overall it was a lovely chat."" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Krishan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is a chill dude. He taught me a lot about entrepreneurship in Nigeria, Nigerian culture, and African dance. I think he also is the kind of guy who would go out of his way to make friends with people from all different groups on campus, which I think is essential to being a great Ivy member. I was very impressed that on the second day he was still able to remember a lot about all of his previous bickerees, mentioning characteristics about each of them showcasing how diverse our club is. He was also very respectful throughout the conversation— overall, I think he would be a value-add to our club and is a guy I would want to learn more from."" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Alexander [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] seems like a really great guy-- responsible, reflective and determined. I think he'd be a positive addition to the club, especially as an affiliated African-American man. He doesn't let his affiliations define him, but values the close friendships he's made at Princeton. I especially admire his drive to throw himself into a new social community (SAE) not knowing if it would be right for him, but loving the guys he met and actively continuing to broaden his social horizons (sounds romantic, but if anyone could convince you, it's [REDACTED]--he's so genuine). I think he would do the same as part of Ivy, throwing himself into the community and not being afraid to put himself out there and make lasting friendships as part of the club."" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Tara [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I had a great conversation with [REDACTED], who was very easy to talk to. He told me about his start-up that connects Nigerian businesses with investors and majoring in Woody Woo. He had an amazing answer for \"Why Ivy?\" talking about wanting to meet people from different backgrounds, which his 10 conversations had already allowed him to do, referencing specifics about each previous person that bickered him. He also talked about how the bicker process itself demonstrates how much we value members who you can have great conversations with everyday and about meeting a member who acted as a role model for him and exposed him to the great qualities of Ivy early on through meals and nights out. Strong 4."" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{member": "Layla [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is really passionate about African development and the start-up he founded and is currently working on. He spoke a lot about wanting to study abroad in Africa and pursue it as a career, and seemed really driven overall. I couldn't really get a good sense of what kind of member he would be in the club though. I'm sure he would go out plenty and attend members nights based on some of his answers to my other questions (craziest experience, what would constitute his perfect day) but I don't know if he would really branch out or spark up conversation around the club. He seems like a really chill and fun kid though, my impression could have been just his nerves speaking for him. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Jan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a nice guy that impressed me with his innovative spirit. We had a nice conversation about technology and the Nigerian development. However, once we talked about why he chose Ivy, he gave me the impression that he did not really know himself why he bickers Ivy. I am generally impressed with him so I could be still convinced that he will make a good member. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Jason [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I kept wanting to like [REDACTED] more than I did. We talked for a long while. He was honest about his experiences at Princeton and his thoughts on Ivy, which was awesome. I liked how offbeat he sometimes was -- he's recently gotten into jewelry and the first thing he does in the morning is check his startup Slack. I'm a little worried he wouldn't come to meals -- seems to eat alone at late meal or goes to Wu if he texts someone first. I'd be happy to see him in the club if other people were more hype. A good guy, but something didn't quite fit about the way he spoke about SAE and what he wanted out of/ thought of Ivy.", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Jared [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a really nice guy, but our conversation was strained to say the least - didn't really get anywhere with our conversation even though it lasted for almost 40 minutes. To give him the benefit of the doubt though, he was at the very end of a long day so perhaps I wasn't as energetic as I could of been. That being said, though, some of his responses were objectively questionable. For example, when asking him about why he was planning on concentrating in Woody Woo, his justification was that \"a lot of people did it\" and didn't offer anything beyond that. Nice guy, but didn't seem to be very open (said that he \"doesn't really do deep convos\"). ", "score": 2}", CARD: "{member": "Sophie [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Ah I loved this guy! He is the best omg. So much love. He told me that his biggest turn on is a girl = \"red\". THAT IS THE WAY TO MY HEART. Such a cool kid like so so funny, and a great conversationalist. We spoke a lot about how the ivy bicker system epitomises what the club stands for - having incredible one on one conversations with a wide range of awesome people. I would love to sit next to him at dinner, like seriously. Perfect fit for the club, PAINT HIM GREEN. ", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Isabel [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is AMAZING. He was so much fun to talk to - I felt like we'd known each other forever. He is absolutely hysterical and has this really quirky sense of humor that makes him at once endearing and impressive in his wit. He is someone I would love to have hanging around the club and who I think would be a really active and friendly presence. He also made a canoe by himself, which is cool. [REDACTED] was just a really chill guy who I loved talking to. I was loathe to end our conversation because he made me feel so warm and happy and at ease. I think he would be an amazing fit for the club - paint him green!!", "score":5},

CARD: "{member": "Elizabeth [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I feel like I found a kindred spirit in [REDACTED]. Easily my top bicker experience so far. We only spoke for 30 min, but I felt like I could have talked with him for much longer. We shared a lot in common so conversation flowed very freely: a love of black labs, Stevie Wonder, social entrepreneurship, picnics, biographies, theater, single-gender schools, and big extended families. He might be me in a male bod (what a man). He has a great personality-- genuine and kind, comfortable w himself, funny but not in an obnoxious or overpowering way. I would love to see him in the club!!!! Let's paint him green ; D", "score":5},

CARD: "{member": "Jack [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I like [REDACTED] very much. Had some cool stories such as his dad's freshman year roommate at Princeton getting busted by the FBI for producing LSD in his dorm room. He is a big humanities guy and pretty well versed in the literary world (although he admits that he will probably end up an Econ major). He wrote \"innovation\" down as his interest, which appeared goofy to me at first, but he defended himself well. He likes the blog WaitButWhy a lot, and so do I, so we chatted about that for a while. Wants to do Ivy for the right reasons. Thumbs up from me :) ", "score":4},

CARD: "{member": "Jonathan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] has a lot of interesting things to say and would be a good addition to the club. At first, it was easy to potentially interpret his persona as a little cold, however through the conversation it showed that he was very engaged and interested in our conversation. He seems very genuine and I liked getting to know him. ", "score":4},

CARD: "{member": "Gianna [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a quiet guy but we had a nice conversation. His answer to what to change about Ivy was phenomenal; steal Sunday Funday from cottage :) He mentioned that he might not seem outgoing in groups but thrives in smaller conversations, which I think qualifies him as a great candidate for membership. Hi would fit into the culture of Ivy well and be a swell guy to have meals with or hang around the club. Plus, he built a functional canoe, kinda sick, maybe if we let him in he will build one for Ivy. ", "score":4},

CARD: "{member": "Litig [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "strong handshake. really wanted to like this guy more, but conversation was very jilted. talked about innovation, but his points seemed superficial. Glossed over musk's \"first principles\" idea. WE covered a lot: why ivy, politics, etc. yet conversation always felt stagnate. hard for me to stay engaged. i do beleive he is thoughtful and smart, but couldn't see myself fully enjoying every meal or conversation i had with him. I didn't leave feeling like i wanted to know more about him or wanted to see him again, which was a bad sign. Lukewarm. ", "score":3},

CARD: {"member": "Serena

[REDACTED] bickeree: [REDACTED] content: [REDACTED] and I had a pleasant conversation but it was a bit lackluster and I felt that we didn't quite click. I think other people may feel differently about him though, so I could probably be swayed either way. score: 3},

CARD: {"member": "Spencer

[REDACTED] bickeree: [REDACTED] content: [REDACTED] seems like a good kid and approached everything we discussed with enthusiasm. I liked hearing more about his listed interest in "innovation" on his sheet and about his time building a canoe in High School. We also chatted briefly about his time in AdThis, Princeton's only student-led marketing and advertising co-operative. I hesitate to give him an up only on the grounds that this was the only bicker where I felt inclined to go to the questions we had emailed to us as a guide/the only one that didn't last awhile (because we didn't have that much more to discuss). I think he'd do well in the club and I could definitely see him as a member, but we just didn't jive too well. score: 3},

CARD: {"member": "Furman [REDACTED] bickeree: [REDACTED] content: Ivy's

Resident Poet Ray Mennin once remarked that every time you see [REDACTED], he looks like he has just seen a ghost. While his comment was surely meant facetiously, Ray's point epitomizes why Ivy would benefit from having the at once agreeable, but nevertheless mysterious, [REDACTED] in the club. In a way unlike any person I have ever met, if and when you lock eyes with [REDACTED] in conversation, you are reminded not only of the fundamentally good nature of his being; you are also left with the lurking feeling that somewhere within [REDACTED] there is much more than meets the eye. Beyond the phantom deep within his spirit, [REDACTED]'s abounding kindness is sometimes undecipherable as well. Last January, for example, after finishing his exams early, he left Princeton for his hometown of Philly; but when he realized one of his close friends would be alone on campus for his birthday, [REDACTED] made the drive back to campus just to be with him. In this way, [REDACTED] is like a combination of the best traits of Ivy's own members: he has the good cheer of Charlie Shaw, with the enigmatic allure of Kris Kania (What are you up to Kris?!?!? Tell us all now, for I fear for my own life). And likewise, we need someone to haunt Ivy's halls once Alicia [REDACTED] leaves. For these and many other reasons, [REDACTED] would be a natural fit for Ivy. Get [REDACTED] in the mix, and keep Ivy spooky. },, CARD: {"member": "Nina [REDACTED] bickeree: [REDACTED] content: [REDACTED] stood out because she was very open and honest in a way that invited conversation. Instead of trying to impress me or just speak in platitudes, she was funny in a self deprecating way that really made me laugh. She told me about her experiences growing up on the US - Mexican border and the best and worst parts of coming to Princeton. She seemed quietly confident and didn't demand attention in our double bicker but said really interesting stuff that drew my attention. Great down-to-earth girl who I think would be a valuable addition to the club. score: 5},

CARD: {"member": "Christian

[REDACTED] bickeree: [REDACTED] content: [REDACTED] is incredibly genuine, and impressed me with her sensitivity. Unintentionally, the conversation shifted toward deeply personal areas, and [REDACTED] gracefully and clearly discussed her struggle with depression and her quite real concern for her undocumented mother in Trump's America. She was authentic in a charming fashion. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Adam [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I had a great conversation. She is a great story teller and very engaging. I enjoyed hearing about her dual American / Mexican life and how that shaped her youth. She is the most open person I have spoken to - willing to chat about literally anything and seemed very comfortable. Her life and story are inherently interesting, and she would bring a totally new perspective to the club. I would be happy to find myself next to her at dinner! """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Samantha [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I reallyyyyyyyyyy enjoyed my bicker with [REDACTED]!!! She was a little bit reserved, but still super easy to talk to. We had a really interesting conversation about her background. She shared a great story about a camping trip competition that went awry, but what was really great was how candid and reflective she was about what she learned from that experience. We also got into a great conversation about computers and automation and the future of human jobs, which she had a lot to say about. [REDACTED] showed that she can engage in a conversation about so many different topics, and I would be so excited to sit next to her at a meal and get to know her better. """, ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Gabrielle [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was kind and thoughtful. She is a perfect fit for Ivy. She clearly has made an effort to get to know many members and I think she would take full advantage of being in the club. She has a very calm way about her and thinks deeply about what she says. Sitting next to her randomly at a meal would therefore ensure an interesting conversation. She is the only girl I have bickered thus far that I would be happy to have a meal with. Again, perfect fit. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Nicolas [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Very good skier, from Geneva. She has been scammed, her laptop stolen before. Very engaging in conversation, and genuinely seems interested in conversations and meeting people. Seems very likable. Speaks French. Also loves documentaries. Had a long conversation about drugs, her cousin has done lyahuesca. Thumbs up!\n""", ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Folasade [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a really sweet girl. Our conversation flowed very naturally. She is an ORFE major and is part of BT. Even though there was not a specific moment where she \"swept me off my feet,\" I felt very comfortable with her, got very good, calming vibes, and was someone I felt like I would love to see at meals and know I could sit down with and have a solid conversation. She wants to join Ivy because she wants to meet new people and feels that Ivy has such an eclectic group of people and she has already really enjoyed meeting so many great new people just during bicker. I think she would be a good member! """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Alexander [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""This girl was great! started off with some 3 person Heads Up where each of them had to act stuff out and we had to guess what it was. She was a great sport and acted out to her full potential, and had a smile on the entire time. After the game we talked for a while about her family background as a half-mexican living on the border, as well as our shared love for Game of Thrones. Interesting and easy to talk to. This girl would be a great member and i hope she gets in! :)","score":4},

CARD: {"member": "James [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was funny, interesting and relaxed. We talked mostly about traveling in Mexico and she was delightful throughout. I thought her story about a party she attended at El Chapo's house was very entertaining, and got great vibes from [REDACTED] in general. She was very warm and enthusiastic throughout the conversation, but in a way that seemed refreshingly genuine. I think that she would make a fine addition to the club because of her friendly, and engaging personality." , "score":4},

CARD: {"member": "Cason [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I had a very good conversation - probably my longest bicker so far. I vacillated between a 5 and a 4 during the conversation, but ended up at a 4 now that I'm writing this card because I think that she'd be a good fit in the club, I was concerned about how she'd like Ivy - she was pretty honest about not having the best impression of Ivy previously and was torn about bickering. That said, she was smart, funny, willing to \"kill\" [REDACTED] acting out her fave scene from GOT (when Arya kills Walder Frey), and I would look forward to getting to know her better if she gets in. ", "score":4},

CARD: {"member": "Caroline [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "(re-writing because I think it did not submit initially)\r\n[REDACTED] seems like a nice girl, but we had some trouble connecting. She never made eye contact with me during our conversation, which just made things feel awkward. Our conversation was slow to start, but she did appear more comfortable once we delved deeper into talking about her interests and things that she is involved with at Princeton. She just seemed a bit disinterested at times, which was off-putting; however, this might have been due to nerves as I was one of her early bickers. I would be interested to see what other people think about her. I do not feel too strongly either way and just found that there was nothing spectacular about the bicker. ", "score":3},, CARD: {"member": "Aubree [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I really really enjoyed talking to [REDACTED]. She would be an exceptional member of ivy, I'm sure of it. We chatted about Montana, boarding school and her love of dance. I think she would be a dedicated member of the club, because she was super open and receptive to me asking her questions that were honestly kind of off the wall. She is super smiley and seemed to be genuinely interested in getting to know me and the other members of the club. definitely paint her greeeeeeeeeeeeeeen. ", "score":5},

CARD: {"member": "Spencer [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Had a great time bickering [REDACTED] - I think she would be an excellent fit. The conversation flowed really nicely and I learned a ton talking with her. Her interests are expansive and she is really knowledgeable about everything she's done. We started off talking about her being from Montana, which stretched to her mom being from LA, her interest in film and media, her thoughts on the role of the media in the 2016 election, her interest in Chinese/time spent last summer in Beijing, the role of film/media in the US-

China relationship, etc etc. I think she is someone that other people in the club would really enjoy and she would be a welcome presence at meals. Strong up for [REDACTED].", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Hannah [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Grizzly bear massacres. \nGetting struck by lightning. \nDrunk inflatable bubble soccer. \nDown to chill in the elevator. \nThis girl is really sick. Effusive, bubbly, driving the convo while still asking questions. I honestly wish this girl was a scrub but we hit it off like peanut butter and jelly. She's done a bunch of mountaineering and camping in Montana, and I feel like in some ways we're kindred spirits while probably being pretty different in a lot of ways too. She breezed through my bullshit intellectual questions and triple clicked her tongue in the most endearing way (tsnch tsnch tsnch) when thinking thing through. Would be bummed to the max if she was left out! ", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Visala [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I really enjoyed my conversation with [REDACTED]! What stood out to me the most was her reply when I asked why she liked Ivy and why she was bickering. She talked about how much she loved both days and nights at the club. She told me about all the conversations she's had at meals and the fun times she's had at themed nights. She also emphasized how she likes how Ivy appears to be a club that does not break up into clicks. She cares about inclusivity and she would clearly be a very involved and enthusiastic member! [REDACTED] seems kind and thoughtful in the way she talked about what she studies and does in her free time! I'd love to see her in Ivy!", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Leo [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Lovely person - we had a diverse conversation about the outdoors, suburban vs. metropolitan life, filmmaking, and dance. She provided intelligent contributions to the conversation, showed interest in my life at Princeton and Ivy, and was gracious and curious. Elegant and engaging, she displayed a keen sense of culture and an active interest in other clubs around campus such as BodyHype and 1080p. Classically trained as a ballet dancer through childhood and high school, she certainly boasts a considerable repertoire of talent and culture, yet I didn't discover any of these things until we spoke about her life and background in [REDACTED], Montana. Down to earth, she didn't come off as arrogant/condescending despite her experience, and I would love to see her at meals/member-nights. ", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Meaghan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I really enjoyed my conversation with [REDACTED]! She is a really sweet girl with lots of diverse interests and passions. She's from Montana which is friggin random, but did PiB last summer in Beijing and can talk at length about Chinese society and economy, which I appreciated a lot a lot!! She's big into hiking and filmmaking, and truly passionate about the environment and climate change prevention. We talked about social psychology, true love and what constitutes it, and much else. She really knows how to keep a conversation going! Rambled a bit but that's okay. She didn't ask me any questions, but maybe it's because she thought it was supposed to be an interview more than a conversation. Great gal!! Paint her green.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Barbara [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was awesome. I made her do a slow motion flight down the stairs with another kid and she was super enthusiastic and was oddly very good at it. After all that fun we sat down and had a serious conversation about an incident at her high school that had been in the media and I had followed. She was very poised, knowledgeable and thoughtful about her experience at the school and its response to the incident. The fact that she was engaging and entertaining during both the serious and fun parts of bicker I think speaks a lot to who she is. """, ""score"":4}""",

CARD: "{""member"":""Arthur [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was the best of my first four bickers. We talked for so long that it really felt like a conversation between equals rather than a bicker of a prospective member. When it comes to meals at the club, not only does she have the social skills to talk to anyone, but she actually has the desire to seek out those conversations. Paint her green.""", ""score"":5}""",

CARD: "{""member"":""Francisco [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Gaby Garr 2.0. Ball of energy. Might be on crack. Might be on Molly. Might be on both. [REDACTED] is awesome. Had an amazing conversation about the randomest stuff with her mostly because she seemed to be able to talk endlessly about anything with tons and tons of energy and up-beat-ness. Not sure if that's the way she is (I think it is) or if she is nervous but either way I loved it. Also Not sure what other people wrote about her but I can see some people not being 100% about her just because she's so high energy which I don't think should be held against her. She'd be the type of member who cheers anyone up and immediately livens the room. Love-her""", ""score"":5}""", CARD: "{""member"":""Ayesha [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Had a great conversation with [REDACTED]. She's super bubbly and enthusiastic and seems pretty excited about Ivy. She's into endurance sports (once did a 24 tough mudder -wow), electrical engineering (haven't ever heard someone talk so passionately about sensors) and traveling. Appreciated that she asked me a lot of questions too. Wants to join Ivy because of the diverse membership and also a fan of the seating policy (but thinks tables are too wide). Overall sweet girl and I could see her being a super active member. """, ""score"":4}""", CARD: "{""member"":""Vivian [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] is super talkative and engaging, and definitely someone I wouldn't mind sitting next to at meals. We talked about her interest in the environmental concept of biomimicry (next sustainability chair?? she would actually get things done.). She is super fit and goes on runs with Meaghan, but because she is so approachable, I'd be totally unsurprised to see her running with new friends she made at Ivy. [REDACTED]'s also really funny and will definitely make you laugh, especially when she tells you about all her experiences in China with Princeton's Global Seminar Program: She apparently only knew one Chinese sentence the entire semester she was there, which was \"I love Peking duck.\"""", ""score"":4}""",

CARD: "{""member"":""Visala [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""At first, I was very overwhelmed and at times scared of [REDACTED] because she talks SO loudly and SO quickly and randomly shrieks and it was a lot. But, I think [REDACTED] is really funny and thoughtful. She's so energetic and honestly I haven't met someone like her in Ivy. I loved her why Ivy answer: \"I just, like, walked in one day and saw Folassade from math, and Hannah from running club, and Lydia my family friend and was just like OMG everyone I've met in all these different places is here!\" I know this answer

sounds ridiculous but I think it's awesome that [REDACTED] appreciates the different kinds of people in this club that she's met over the past few years.""", ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Nicholas [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a nice energetic enthusiastic individual. We had a 25 minute conversation without me even realizing, which is always a good sign. I think she would fit very well in this club simply because she could talk to anyone for however long she needs to. [REDACTED] had a lot to say, and I really enjoyed getting to know her/hearing her talk. [REDACTED] talked very fast, which I did not mind at all. She was a cute nice person, and I really liked the person she seemed to be. I found her to be super friendly, and because of that I think she would exceed in Ivy as a membee. I hope to talk to [REDACTED] again. """, ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Furman [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was nice and interesting, two words which, while technically benign, unfortunately don't carry a very positive connotation. Her father happened to go to my high school (Roll Red baby), so talking to her about Nashville was relatively enjoyable -- until she wanted to keep talking about it, and continued to emphasize how cool it was I was from Nashville. It's not THAT cool honey. Again, I have few terrible things to say about [REDACTED], and I liked her enough, but she deserves a neutral for the lack of interesting things she talked about and her habit of being just a little bit too quick to agree with almost anything I said. """, ""score"":3}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Adnan [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] talked extremely loudly, almost to a level where I felt uncomfortable and gave long-winded, unclear answers to simple questions that I asked her. She seems like a nice girl and was evidently nervous (she openly told me that, which I appreciated) but I don't think she would be the best person to consistently get lunch or dinner with - it would be more of an effort. Her one redeeming quality was that she was open and honest and I guess if other people like her, I wouldn't mind her presence in Ivy. """, ""score"":3}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Mary [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was very enthusiastic and bubbly. She's an electrical engineer and loves the outdoors so she is getting an environmental studies certificate. She's involved in a lot on campus and I was especially impressed by how she is a TA for a philosophy Freshman Seminar. She spoke about her close relationship with her sister and we bonded over our boarding school experiences. I'm torn about what score to give her because she was interesting and passionate, but sometimes so energetic and talkative that the conversation could feel overwhelming or forced, but maybe it was just nervous energy. That said, based on her \"why Ivy\", she would be an active member at nights out and would be able to strike up a conversation with any member. """, ""score"":3}",,, CARD: "{""member"":""Charlotte [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I truly think I have a girl crush on [REDACTED]. I'm not gonna talk about her looks, because that's not the point, but I was 100% blown away by her. She wrote that one of her interests is \"REM sleep/Dreams\" and she was able to speak eloquently and extensively on this subject. She helped me analyze my dreams, and did not hesitate to discuss her own. Not only did she seem very comfortable talking to me, but she was engaging, asked follow up questions, was thoughtful, and funny. I have no doubt that she would fit in at Ivy, and I hope everyone else who bickers her feels the same. Paint her green lol"" ,""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Brennan [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""I had a wonderful conversation with [REDACTED]. She was very interesting and charismatic, and had such an interesting story. She has worked in an independent bookstore where she sold \"the life of pool\" to Cameron winkelvoss, and she also has the same hot tub as Paul McCartney. She is fascinated by dream theories, and explained 3 different existing theories for why people dream. She was friendly and warm, and wasn't thrown off when put on the spot. I could see her being great at a meal, and hope to see her in the club. "" ,""score"":5}" ,

CARD: "{""member"":""Antigone [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Absolutely fantastic bicker. I will be genuinely depressed if [REDACTED] does not get in. She is unique, charming, sharp, and so engaging. We talked about everything from how her hometown has shaped her as a person, what inspires her about molecular biology, and growing up with a stay-at-home dad, to all the reasons she wants to do Ivy and the great experiences she's had here. There are a ton of people in the club she really respects that span totally different friend groups and affiliations so I have no doubt she will be an incredibly active member and be able to branch out to anyone and everyone. Strongly considering writing an inside outside for her. She rocks. "" ,""score"":5}" ,

CARD: "{""member"":""Clayton [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] was one of my best bickers. She's a sweet and down-to-earth girl who would be a perfect fit for Ivy. She killed it when we doubled bickered with Harry and was great to talk to one-on-one. Our close to hour long conversation flew by, and I'm confident anyone in the club would be happy to sit next to her at meals. She deserves a spot in the club. "" ,""score"":5}" ,

CARD: "{""member"":""Arthur [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Had a really great chat with [REDACTED]. A little shy at first but she proved herself to be very friendly and easy to talk to. I think she would get along with a wide cross section of the club if given the chance. Plus she's on the equestrian team and if that's not Ivy I don't know what is. Polo? Definitely polo. Anyway seems like she's bickering for all the right reasons, wants to meet new people etc. "" ,""score"":4}" ,

CARD: "{""member"":"" John [REDACTED] "" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] was an easy bicker, Manuel and I started it off as a duo and she rolled with the punches extremely well, belting out a rendition of Cocoa Butter Kisses to the great hall. After we split off I got to see how sweet she really is, I can imagine her getting on well with anyone in the club. Extremely strong impression that she is genuine and interested in Ivy for the right reasons. Although our conversation wasn't unforgettable, I enjoyed my time with [REDACTED] and hope to see her around the club. "" ,""score"":4}" ,

CARD: "{""member"":""Rachel [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] is sooo sweet!! Our conversation stayed on a somewhat superficial level, but honestly that was probably my fault because it was the last bicker of the night and we were both pretty tired. Despite that, [REDACTED] was great at keeping her energy up and engaging with me. She is part of the student advisory board for the art museum and she lit up while talking about art! I could see her sharing her passions with other Ivy members. My favorite part of our conversation was making a real connection, talking about our relationships with our siblings and how they've evolved throughout college. [REDACTED] seems a little quiet but honestly just so lovely and endearing and I could see her really connecting with other members. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Adnan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] seems like a nice girl but to be honest I got a bit bored during our conversation. We talked about skiing, dreams and her childhood living in Long Island. There were some interesting moments when we talked about our favourite ski resorts but apart from that she wasn't the most engaging person. However, I could easily be dissuaded from this opinion and so I wouldn't be heavily opposed if she joined Ivy. "" , ""score"":3} , , , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Krishan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Oh na na ay! [REDACTED] crushed the dance moves to my and Ruben's favorite song \"Don't act like you know me\" by Jax Jones. [REDACTED] not only has a great sense of humor, but also, brings a lot of charm and wit. Her first experience with the club was seeing Zuma; she remembers disliking the speaker (she is actually South African), but falling in love with the beauty of the club. In her words, \"when you think of an eating club, you think of Ivy\". She studies French and Economics. Above all, she gracefully salsa danced with another bickeree whom she did not know at all prior. She couldn't have made a better impression on me. Get her in the club!!"" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Tara [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Super sweet girl. Had a great conversation about her being on the women's rowing team, being a coxswain for the men's light weight rowing team, being part of the French theater group and a member of STRIPE magazine. It was great to talk to her about everything from sports to fashion. She also likes Ivy for its sense of community and to meet people from all different backgrounds. She also seemed to have come to Ivy on several nights out so I think she would be an involved member. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Peter [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""My conversation with [REDACTED] was nice. She was pretty shy and tended to stumble over words, perhaps because it was her first bicker. Nonetheless, I found what she said interesting and genuine. I got the sense she was a bit nervous, but feel as if she could be a pleasant addition to the club. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Achille [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I really enjoyed my coffee date with [REDACTED]. She's a stylish, Francophile , with a passion for theater and comparative economics. Our conversation was short because she had to step out, but I was honestly aching for more. Really strong vibes. Quality gal. Give her a 4. #bamichic_ "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Alexander [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] seems sweet, but I'm still not sure whether she'd make a great member. I really like that she's continued to put herself out there since coming to Princeton (i.e. walking on to the lightweight crew team, taking a random French theater class that she absolutely loved and thereafter decided to get a French certificate, etc.) because she's shown that she would definitely put herself on the line to make new friends as a member of Ivy. But for some reason we just didn't click. I'm not sure whether she was just nervous because I was her second bicker after Ray (tough first bicker), but she certainly seemed to open up over the course of the conversation. I hope she picks it up later on!"" ,""score"":3}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Nicolas [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Quiet, but really passionate about the arts and theatre. I believe she definitely fits a niche in the club, and if I had similar interests I think we would get along well. "" ,""score"":3}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Samantha [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""My bicker with [REDACTED] was ok. She was perfectly nice and friendly, but this bicker definitely felt A LOT like an interview and not so much like a conversation. Some of our conversations just went kinda flat and it was hard to keep good flow with the things we were talking about. I definitely found myself bouncing around topics and asking really random questions because I felt like I couldn't maintain a steady flowing conversation. Some of [REDACTED]'s responses to my questions also felt very rehearsed, which to me came off kind of fake. She definitely is a sweet girl as far as I can tell, but I'm pretty much indifferent about her being in the club or not. "" ,""score"":3}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Courtney [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""In our conversation, [REDACTED] talked about her creative side--writing, reading etc. and seemed pretty passionate about her interests. Other than that, our conversation seemed pretty bland, as she did not show too much excitement about anything. I think she is a nice girl but not as intriguing as all of the other people I have talked to thus far. Because of this, I am giving her a 3, although I would be very happy for her if she gets in! It may have just been that she is tired and worn out. "" ,""score"":3}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Derek [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""I had a solid conversation with [REDACTED]. Although a tiny tad bit awkward, she ended up being overall a very friendly, sociable girl. Our conversation was pleasant but not overwhelmingly interesting-- by that I mean I was completely leading it. Pretty much no natural flow. Felt a bit like an interview but it was chill. I think she is bickering for the right reasons. I think people might would enjoy having a meal with her. I think she could make a good member but don't really feel too too strongly about whether she gets in or not. "" ,""score"":3}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Katherine [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""She was really sweet and nice but I'm not sure she would be a great fit. She likes ivy bc of this side of paradise and if she could be any member it would be arieh mimram. She is interestig but quiet. "" ,""score"":2}",, CARD: "{"member" ":"Francisco [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] is genuine and a sweetheart. I could tell she was a bit nervous in the beginning but eventually opened up and the conversation started flowing very well. She has a long distance boy friend and was comfortable and chill enough to open up about their relationship and what dating long distance has been like. In answering why Ivy she spoke about how diverse the membership of the club is and how easy it is to start a random conversation with someone (cliché I know but can diff super genuine.) In summary, very interesting girl that has a lot to offer and bring to the membership of this club, adding to our membership with her kindness, openness and friendly vibes. get her in. """, ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Matthew [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Unique \"/>

CARD: "{member": "Colleen [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Wasn't too impressed by [REDACTED]- she's definitely a sweet girl, but our conversation felt very fake. She talked about triangle and tigressions, but didn't show much personality and the conversation level remained very superficial, even when I pushed her to be more critical. Her \"why ivy\" response was the cliché \"seating policy\" and when I asked her what she would change about the club, she said make the tables less wide. When I asked her what ideological changes she would make to the club, she said she would hope for more members to go out when the club was open \"if that was a problem\". Given our conversation, I'm not sure if she would make for a meaningful, interesting, and most importantly- fun member. \"\", \"score\": 2}",

CARD: "{member": "Joshua [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "She was nice enough but really kind of boring and I wasn't really engaged at all. Also hurt that it was a double bicker and the other girl was super super cool and talkative. Not much else to say sorry \"\", \"score\": 2}",

CARD: "{member": "Arthur [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was the best of my first four bickers. We talked for so long that it really felt like a conversation between equals rather than a bicker of a prospective member. When it comes to meals at the club, not only does she have the social skills to talk to anyone, but she actually has the desire to seek out those conversations. Paint her green. \"\", \"score\": 5}",

CARD: "{member": "Francisco [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Gaby Garr 2.0. Ball of energy. Might be on crack. Might be on Molly. Might be on both. [REDACTED] is awesomeeee. Had an amazing conversation about the randomest stuff with her mostly because she seemed to be able to talk endlessly about anything with tons and tons of energy and up-beat-ness. Not sure if that's the way she is (I think it is) or if she is nervous but either way I loved it. Also Not sure what other people wrote about her but I can see some people not being 100% about her just because she's so high energy which I don't think should be held against her. She'd be the type of member who cheers anyone up and immediately livens the room. Love-her \"\", \"score\": 5}",

CARD: "{member": "Ayesha [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Had a great conversation with [REDACTED]. She's super bubbly and enthusiastic and seems pretty excited about Ivy. She's into endurance sports (once did a 24 tough mudder -wow), electrical engineering (haven't ever heard someone talk so passionately about sensors) and traveling. Appreciated that she asked me a lot of questions too. Wants to join Ivy because of the diverse membership and also a fan of the seating policy (but thinks tables are too wide). Overall sweet girl and I could see her being a super active member. \"\", \"score\": 4}",

CARD: "{member": "Vivian [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is super talkative and engaging, and definitely someone I wouldn't mind sitting next to at meals. We talked about her interest in the environmental concept of biomimicry (next sustainability chair?? she would actually get things done.). She is super fit and goes on runs with Meaghan, but because she is so approachable, I'd be totally unsurprised to see her running with new friends she made at Ivy. [REDACTED]'s also really funny and will definitely make you laugh, especially when she tells you about all her experiences in China with Princeton's Global Seminar Program: She apparently only knew one Chinese sentence the entire semester she was there, which was \"I love Peking duck.\"\", \"score\":4},

CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Visala [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"At first, I was very overwhelmed and at times scared of [REDACTED] because she talks SO loudly and SO quickly and randomly shrieks and it was a lot. But, I think [REDACTED] is really funny and thoughtful. She's so energetic and honestly I haven't met someone like her in Ivy. I loved her why Ivy answer: \"I just, like, walked in one day and saw Folassade from math, and Hannah from running club, and Lydia my family friend and was just like OMG everyone I've met in all these different places is here!\" I know this answer sounds ridiculous but I think it's awesome that [REDACTED] appreciates the different kinds of people in this club that she's met over the past few years.\"\", \"score\":4},

CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Tara [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I had an interesting conversation with [REDACTED]. At first we didn't really click but slowly the conversation evolved. She was very laid back which came across as uninterested at first, but she then went on to tell me about her involvement with SHARE and her bridge year in Peru. She also talked about how she likes Ivy for its sense of community, has a really close friend in the club and her favorite night is Risky Business. We didn't entirely click but overall the conversation went fine.\"\", \"score\":3},

CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Nicholas [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was a nice energetic enthusiastic individual. We had a 25 minute conversation without me even realizing, which is always a good sign. I think she would fit very well in this club simply because she could talk to anyone for however long she needs to. [REDACTED] had a lot to say, and I really enjoyed getting to know her/hearing her talk. [REDACTED] talked very fast, which I did not mind at all. She was a cute nice person, and I really liked the person she seemed to be. I found her to be super friendly, and because of that I think she would exceed in Ivy as a membee. I hope to talk to [REDACTED] again. \"\", \"score\":4},

CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Furman [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was nice and interesting, two words which, while technically benign, unfortunately don't carry a very positive connotation. Her father happened to go to my high school (Roll Red baby), so talking to her about Nashville was relatively enjoyable -- until she wanted to keep talking about it, and continued to emphasize how cool it was I was from Nashville. It's not THAT cool honey. Again, I have few terrible things to say about [REDACTED], and I liked her enough, but she deserves a neutral for the lack of interesting things she talked about and her habit of being just a little bit too quick to agree with almost anything I said. \"\", \"score\":3},

CARD: \"{ \"member\" : \"Adnan [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] talked extremely loudly, almost to a level where I felt uncomfortable and gave long-winded, unclear answers to simple questions that I asked her. She seems like a nice girl and was evidently nervous (she openly told me that, which I appreciated) but I don't think she would be the best person to consistently get lunch or dinner with - it would be more of an effort. Her one redeeming quality was that she was open and honest and I guess if other people like her, I wouldn't mind her presence in Ivy.

 "" , ""score"" : 3 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Mary [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was very enthusiastic and bubbly. She's an electrical engineer and loves the outdoors so she is getting an environmental studies certificate. She's involved in a lot on campus and I was especially impressed by how she is a TA for a philosophy Freshman Seminar. She spoke about her close relationship with her sister and we bonded over our boarding school experiences. I'm torn about what score to give her because she was interesting and passionate, but sometimes so energetic and talkative that the conversation could feel overwhelming or forced, but maybe it was just nervous energy. That said, based on her 'why Ivy'", she would be an active member at nights out and would be able to strike up a conversation with any member. "" , ""score"" : 3 } , , , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Vivian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""I was impressed with [REDACTED] because he was really chill about me asking hard bicker questions: The first thing I asked him was to take me to his favorite place on campus, and the last thing I asked him was to tell me about a current issue that he's passionate about. Referencing the last question, he told me he has strong opinions on autonomous vehicles because of the ethical dilemmas involved, which I found to be an extremely thoughtful response. [REDACTED] seems shy at first, but once he starts talking about something he finds super cool (whale sightings in Antarctica!!!), autonomous vehicles, NOT rowing lol), he gets super into the conversation!"" , ""score"" : 4 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Charles [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] and I had a lovely conversation. I was quite probing but she was cool with it. I think she would be a good member because she is very keen to meet new people and is a good conversationalist. She has a diverse range of interests; art history topped the list, but she could talk about a wide array of subjects. She also told a pretty risqué joke which I always appreciate. "" , ""score"" : 4 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Lauren [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] is a sweet girl and was very easy to talk to. We bonded over our Jersey nativeness and our love for Bruce Springsteen. Reflecting upon our conversation, I feel as though [REDACTED] would be a warm addition to the club, possibly a Pilar-esque character. She offers a different perspective of Princeton's campus due to her involvement in the Daily Princetonian and overall non-affiliation with Greek life/dance groups. The only thing keeping me from giving her a five is that I felt she could've asked me a few more questions to make the conversation a bit less one-sided. Overall, great girl! "" , ""score"" : 4 } , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Ayesha [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Great girl and super sweet dimples!! Loved talking to her and getting to hear about her experience so far at Princeton. Was struck by how honest and open she was about some of the challenges she's faced here and some of the things about Princeton that she finds overwhelming. She is also a fellow lover of Classics (even though she's majoring in econ :() and we have a shared appreciation for Lucretius. Wants to join Ivy because she really likes all the people she knows here, it's small and she also likes the bicker process and thinks that the focus on having individual conversations is a reflection of what the club thinks is important. "" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Francisco [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is super sweet. She's a jersey girl and super proud about it, which I thought was super nice. Being from Princeton, I asked her why she decided to stay in town for college and she mentioned how its been cool to discover more about a town she's lived in her whole life. Her favorite class was mind and meditation and she was able to speak super well about how she's implemented meditation in her real life. She's great and I'd love to have her in the club. Up."" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Alexandra [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a good bickeree. I had a nice conversation with her and she was very pleasant. I don't think she stood out that much (she may be a bit bland) but overall she seems like a very nice person that probably gets along well with people."" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":"" John [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was very chill. We had a good conversation. I can see her being a very active member in this great club. She expressed interest in things beyond going out and attending every meal, such as getting involved with the roundtable thing. Only problem: when asked how long she would put a baby in a microwave, under the condition that she received one million dollars for every second she left it in, she refused to leave it in for more than 1 second. That's weak. I'd leave it in for at least eight. But all things considered she is solid "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Thomas [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Although she seemed pretty nervous at the start, [REDACTED] gradually opened up and we ended up having a lovely conversation. She is very involved with mentorship programs with elementary schools nearby and clearly cares a lot about being able to help the children she was \"paired with\". She may not have been my best bicker but [REDACTED] would certainly be a good addition to the club. "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Gabrielle
[REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was outgoing and personable. She turned the \"interview\" straight into a conversation, and would be a great member at meals to have a positive conversation with. She is clearly driven; she is passionate both about economics and art history, and speaks intelligently about both topics. Her energy makes me certain that she would be an active member. She answered my difficult questions with poise and would be a great fit for the club. "" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Alexander [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] has an exceptionally mature perspective on this whole process--not an easy task, especially in as stress-inducing an environment as bicker. She doesn't take herself or this club too seriously. She would surely be a present and committed member. She is principled and somewhat reflective, but I didn't find her particularly passionate about this community in particular. She is no doubt a fierce and devoted friend and would remain loyal to her friends whatever the outcome of bicker, but we just didn't really hit it off the way I expected we would, especially given her listed interest in art history. "" , ""score"":3} "" ,,, CARD: "{""member" ":"George [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] will likely be a controversial bickeree and I'm sure some of the more \"put-together\" members of the club will dismiss his repeated attempts at joining the club as some bizarre charade. He probably won't get in. However, I genuinely believe deep within my soul that [REDACTED] deserves to join this club, to acknowledge both his persistence and character. Trevor is extremely knowledgeable and handled himself better than anyone I've ever seen in a double bicker. He was polite, inquisitive, and offered many genuinely funny and well-thought soundbites. He has that bizarre yet endearing old man charm and I would genuinely consider him a person that I would love to eat meals with. He is an independent thinker and could be an Ivy treasure. "" , ""score"":5}"" ,

CARD: "{""member" ":"Courtney [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""My conversation with [REDACTED] was interesting to say the least! I actually double bickered Trevor with Serena and Sorkin, who pretended to be a bickeree. We threw a lot of awkward questions at them and Trevor did a great job going with the flow, cracking jokes and making the most out of the situation. He is a great conversationalist and his humor only added to his ability leave a great first impression. I think Trevor would be a good fit for Ivy because seems comfortable here and I think he would be able to connect with a lot of people. "" , ""score"":4}"" ,

CARD: "{""member" ":"Tola [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""He's such a nice guy, and I don't mean that in the way that you use it when you don't have anything to say. He's smart and wise in a way that reminded me of my 62 year old program advisor, but in the most endearing way. You can tell just how much he wants to be in the club, and I do think he has something to offer the club. I just can't say a bad word about him. "" , ""score"":4}"" ,

CARD: "{""member" ":"Sophie [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""One of the most intellectually stimulating conversations I have ever had at bicker. I adored it. I could have discussed Renaissance sonnets with him for ever and ever. HOWEVER, I am just not sure he is a good fit for the club. I feel terrible for saying this because maybe the reason why we got on was simply because our intellectual interests were so in tune. But I can definitely see how other people would struggle with him. I am going to give him a 4. This honestly is really tricky. I am wavering between 4 and 5. But on balance it has to be a 4...I just don't think he would make for a good fit. "" , ""score"":4}"" ,

CARD: "{""member" ":"Courtney [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""My conversation with Trevor was interesting to say the least! I actually double bickered [REDACTED] with Serena and Sorkin, who pretended to be a bickeree. We threw a lot of awkward questions at them and Trevor did a great job going with the flow, cracking jokes and making the most out of the situation. He is a great conversationalist and his humor only added to his ability leave a great first impression. I think Trevor would be a good fit for Ivy because seems comfortable here and I think he would be able to connect with a lot of people. "" , ""score"":4}"" ,

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Haryuni [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Trevor was a very interesting bicker. We spoke a lot about criminal justice, capital punishment and the financial markets. He seems to be intelligent and knowledgeable, but we didn't hit it off super well. I think he means well but he can come across as a lot at times too. Open to hear what others think of him\", \"score\": 3}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Adam [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I wanted to like [REDACTED] but our conversation made me feel uncomfortable. He obviously is quite intelligent but pushed his knowledge onto you pretty hard. I know he's a junior and has bickered a number of times, but I worry that he would be tough to sit next to at meals. \", \"score\": 2}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Elizabeth [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was one of the more difficult people to connect with who I've talked to today. He was very gregarious but didn't really allow me to get a word in edgewise, though what he was saying was often very interesting. He was very kind, and maybe I was just a little burnt out, but we had trouble connecting on deeper topics. That said, he seems like he'd be a very active member and I could be dissuaded if others really were impressed by his bicker. \", \"score\": 2}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Julia [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \" I liked talking about vintage fashion with him. He showed me a picture of the epic suit he wore to casino night and also mentioned his most traumatic experience at ivy: that night when Chris Stapleton spilled beer on his vintage Dior shirt from the 80s. It seems like [REDACTED] has a great time going out at Ivy and that he really enjoys getting to know members. He also likes that Ivy is a politically diverse club where he can have interesting and challenging conversations. While I do think [REDACTED] is a sweet and funny guy, I felt very uncomfortable during our conversation. He was overwhelming and talked really loud and fast and I wouldn't enjoy interacting with him at 8 am at breakfast. \", \"score\": 2}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Konadu [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was nice, and there wasn't necessarily anything wrong with him. The conversation was just sort of awkward and uncomfortable. He was very formal with me and his answers seemed very prepared and political, so that I wasn't really sure who he was. I just didn't click with him at all, and in response to the questions I asked him, he deferred a lot to things like statistics and numbers when I was really just asking about his opinion. Don't really think he would make a great member. \", \"score\": 2}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Matthew [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] and I had a fascinating conversation and I very strongly feel that he should be in the club. Our conversation covered a vast array of topics including artificial intelligence, the education system in South Africa, and flow-states in elite athletes. [REDACTED] is clearly an incredibly intelligent individual who is pursuing every opportunity that he gets. His long term plan is to reform the education system in South Africa and bridge the gap between lower education and mid to higher education. He is very passionate about this.

[REDACTED] is not your typical person but he deserves a place in Ivy and I hope that the other people who bicker him appreciate this as well. "" , ""score"":5}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Joshua [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""An excellent guy. We talked about MMA and the fact that our universe is not as we believe it is. [REDACTED] is super interesting and smart and really seems to want to do ivy for the conversations. He has a great perspective and told me that when I get stressed I should always remembers that our world is nothing but a speck in an infinite universe. I could see him running into a few tough bickers but I think that he is the kind of a guy that people will like more once they get to know him. I am a huge [REDACTED] guy"" , ""score"":5}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Brett [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""My conversation with [REDACTED] was definitely deeper than most I've had today. He speaks so eloquently about growing up in South Africa, the social and cultural differences between his childhood and Princeton, the meaningful connections he wants to make in the club, and things he's grateful for (such as his parents trust in letting him study halfway around the world). He's also lived briefly in Costa Rica and Argentina, showing off how adventurous and exploratory he is. He inspired me to start journaling every morning (3 things you're grateful for) to start living more positively. The conversation started a bit stiff, but by the end he seemed to warm up and it flowed quite nicely."" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Caroline [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I had a great conversation. He was a really interesting person to talk to and I really appreciated how genuinely he cared about getting to know me through our bicker. We found common ground pretty immediately talking about traditional South African music and our travel experiences. He was very easy to talk to and our conversation could have gone on much longer than it did. He seems like a very thoughtful and genuine person and I think anyone would have a good time sitting down next to him at a meal. "" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Jordan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I did my first group bicker with [REDACTED] and it went surprisingly well. He was very respectful of the others involved and made meaningful contributions to our conversation. I asked him to write out what my future would look like and he used the little information he had about me creatively and actually pretty accurately. His interests in entrepreneurship, venture capitalism, and debate would be unique in the club and overall he was super easy to talk to and I think would enhance any conversation being had within and outside of ivy. "" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Isabel [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a nice guy but seemed a little dry. We talked a lot about South Africa about his school in Costa Rica but he failed to engage me on either topic. He said he rarely goes out and doesn't imagine that he would be that involved in members' nights etc. He was very pleasant but I'm not excited by him and don't care if he gets in the club. He might have just been nervous as I was his 2nd bicker, but the conversation was quite stilted and awkward.\r\n"" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Jason [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] turned my day around and gave me faith in the Ivy Class of 2019! She's low-key which at first betrays how great of a person she is to talk to. She's casually interesting and conversation flowed naturally. She's from Minnesota but cool (@Kessler) and I loved hearing how her upbringing under Dr.'s led to her developing a passion for math/finance/trading things. (This is after she did microbiology research and cured pancreatic cancer with honey.) Her favorite place on campus is Institute Woods - where she runs and gets lost and finds the toepath and comes back. She's passionate, introspective, spirited, funny, easygoing and relaxed -- everything we'd want. Could've talked much longer, and hope I get the chance. Paint her green!\", \"score\" : 5 }\",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Spencer [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Had a nice time bickering [REDACTED]. I really enjoyed learning more about her time downhill skiing and growing up in Minnesota - going 75mph down a mountain at age 8 is crazier than anything I've ever done. She seemed like a really open-minded person and very willing to try new activities and explore new places, such as her time leading 15 global sem kids around Italy last summer. I think she is the kind of person who would be a very active member around the club and would fit in well with other members. I also think she's doing the club for the right reasons - she has a few older friends here already but wants to meet people beyond her swimming team too.\", \"score\" : 4 }\",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Antoine [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Awesome girl with heritage from French Canada so we bonded instantly. We really connected and talked about favorite roofs to climb on campus for a while, it was a real, genuine conversation which I very much enjoyed. She seemed to know Ivy nights out well and sounds like she would be an active member. She was easygoing and it was one of my best bicker convos, however, there was something a little awkward about her. Maybe that was just the nervousness of bicker, but it just wouldn't go away with time so that's why I'm giving her s 4, which really is more of a 4.5 than a 4. [REDACTED]'s real cool and I have no doubt she'd be a great addition to Ivy! \", \"score\" : 4 }\",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Brett [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"A swimmer, downhill skier, and ORFE major, [REDACTED]'s dedication, passion, and competitive nature were evident throughout our conversation. She had great stories about growing up in Minnesota and her path to mid-distance swimming, and it's so awesome to hear her talk about her passion for math - she's going into quant/finance because she's genuinely interested! \"Personal happiness,\" she answered to \"what do you value most in life?\" and it is so clear that this is a girl who goes after what she wants. I admire her enthusiasm - for her activities and for the club (she had me at \"pesto gnocchi\" for why Ivy) - and even though it wasn't the smoothest bicker I've had, I really really enjoyed talking to her. \", \"score\" : 4 }\",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Katherine [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] was really sweet. She is on the swim team but is branching out and wants to find a community outside the team and I think she would find that in ivy. She is interesting and nice and I think she would be a good member. She really likes the culture in ivy and that it seems like the most diverse club. I would be happy if she joined.\", \"score\" : 3 }\",

CARD: "{member": "Joshua

[REDACTED]","bickeree":["[REDACTED]"],"content":["[REDACTED] was nice. Nothing wrong with her at all but also wasn't particularly engaged. She will fall somewhere in the middle of my bickers and thus deserves a neutral. I don't think she was terribly interested in what I had to say but can't blame her much for that. However I really like that she is bickering ivy despite no female swimmers in the club. I think that shows she is not afraid to branch out and meet new people. ","score":3}], CARD: "{member": "Jan [REDACTED]","bickeree":["[REDACTED]"],"content":["[REDACTED] seemed nice. However, we did not really connect and I was a little irritated by her responses; she referred to herself multiple times indirectly as very smart. She also did not return my questions which prevented the flow a genuine conversation. She seemed very nervous. Thus, I don't know if my observation are representative of her personality. She did make up a new word \"Schippnick\". Tho, its meaning is unknown. ","score":3}],

CARD: "{member": "George

[REDACTED]","bickeree":["[REDACTED]"],"content":["[REDACTED] seems like a genuinely nice person but I wouldn't say I got a strong impression of her either way. I'm sure she would get along well with plenty of people in the club. I appreciate her bickering as a swimmer, especially considering their culty draw to Cloister; she explicitly said she wants to diversify her friend group. Again, I didn't particularly vibe with her but I'm a bit of nut so it probably doesn't mean much. ","score":3}],

CARD: "{member": "Paul [REDACTED]","bickeree":["[REDACTED]"],"content":["[REDACTED] was enjoyable to talk to but I didn't walk away super excited about the potential of her being in the club. That's partially due to the fact that she said she'd marry Spencer [REDACTED]. I found myself having to come up with questions to ask because the conversation didn't flow that naturally. Overall seems like a sweet genuine girl though that's bickering for the right reasons. ","score":3}],

CARD: "{member": "Emma [REDACTED]","bickeree":["[REDACTED]"],"content":["[REDACTED] seems nice, but I didn't feel like we really clicked. Most of our conversation consisted of me asking questions and her giving short answers and not really following up and engaging with me. For this reason I don't really envision her being a great conversationalist at meals. She said that she decided to bicker ivy primarily because most of her friends who aren't on the swim team with her are doing it, which I didn't feel like was a super compelling reason. Obviously it's hard to tell after a short conversation, but for these reasons I didn't feel like she would be a very active member interested in getting to know other people in the club. ","score":2}],

CARD: "{member": "Eduardo [REDACTED]","bickeree":["[REDACTED]"],"content":["I asked [REDACTED] what 3 things were most valuable to him: family, honesty, and empathy. I asked him to elaborate on empathy, connecting it's importance to the trajectory of his life but also his hopeful two year stint in Ivy. [REDACTED] answered this difficultly nebulous question with an answer that affirmed to me not only the sincerity of his character, but a clear indication that [REDACTED] will work to connect on a 1to1 level with every member of Ivy. Furthermore, [REDACTED] has a glowing aura with a magnetism that will attract anyone who engages in a conversation with him. Hope to see him around the club. """, ""score"":5}"

CARD: "{""member"":""Sara [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was sooo cool!! It was my last bicker and I seriously was not expecting it to be as incredible as it was, but [REDACTED] was so well-spoken, and I was fascinated by his academic interests (relationship between communities in Asia and Africa). He was so engaging, such an amazing conversationalist. I really want this 5 to stand out--I think he was seriously one of the best people I bickered and he definitely should be in this club. He would stand out so much--his interests are so unique--and besides that he was super humble but very kind and intelligent in what he said. Definitely loved [REDACTED] and I would seriously be upset if he didn't get in. """, ""score"":5

CARD: "{""member"":""Ana [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I went on a long walk with [REDACTED] and learned about his younger brother, his multicultural background, and his time in China last summer. Above all, I felt [REDACTED] was very profound. He recounted a moment in which a five year old Chinese girl came up to him and asked, 'Why are you so black?' - he talked about the significance of that moment and the power it held in his memory. [REDACTED] is part Danish, German, Canadian (I think?) and from Sierra Leone. He would add a very unique component to Ivy, as he has many stories and tales to tell. He was kind, attentive, and willing to share a lot about his life. I really appreciated my conversation with him. """, ""score"":4

CARD: "{""member"":""Jason [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I had a great conversation about diversity and our different backgrounds. After I asked him why he pronounced Eduardo's name with a Spanish accent, conversation naturally flowed. My one reservation is that he may hold on to certain Ivy stereotypes that could prevent him from fully engaging in the club -- which is ironic given the amount of time he spent talking about how international he was -- but his clear passion for reaching mutual understanding and his openness about himself and his views make me think that he will show up to meals, and engage Ivy on topics that may be under-discussed. He is nice, understanding, interesting and interested. Would be happy to talk with him more.""", ""score"":4

CARD: "{""member"":""Jack [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""When we first started talking, I thought [REDACTED] was definitely 'putting on a face' - he was upbeat, jumped into his diverse background and big family, and emphasized his passion for connecting w/ people, which seemed pretty cliché. But as we kept talking, I found myself realizing that [REDACTED] really does have an energy and passion for life that you don't see in someone very often. I think he truly enjoys making genuine connections w/ new people, and he adapts to new situations very quickly - but not superficially - so as to make the other person feel like they're really being listened to and understood. Ironically, what we talked about is very secondary to his sincerity and compassion. Definitely my strongest 4 so far. """, ""score"":4}"

CARD: "{""member"":""Gabriela [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was pretty cool, even if his favorite Chinese food was lamb. He had diverse interests like soccer and the China Coalition which made for interesting conversation starters. I double bickered him and he tried his best to roll with the punches and answer the weird questions we asked him - but he's definitely a little more on the serious side. Nothing wrong with that! Side note: also pretty sure he was flirting with the other bickeree. BOLD. We could use some bold around here. I can't say I'm 100% convinced that he would make the most active member of the club but besides that one concern I think it would be good to have him around the club. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : "" Julia [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"": "" [REDACTED] "" , ""content"": "" Lydia and I bickered [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] together. I thought they were both really engaging and enjoyable to talk to and would love to have dinner with them both. [REDACTED] was really interesting-- speaks many languages, involved in lots of clubs that he's really passionate about. He thought through his responses to our questions, and I appreciated how he turned a lot of the questions back on us and then asked us follow up questions. It made me feel that he was really listening to us. He came off as very calm and composed, although at times it seemed that he was presenting/interviewing and was almost even pretentious (that's an extreme word--wish I could come up with a less severe adj) "" , ""score"":4} "

CARD: "{ ""member" : "" Caroline [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"": "" [REDACTED] "" , ""content"": "" [REDACTED] was so lovely to talk to! He was a really interesting guy and truly just made me smile while we were chatting. He talks about his studies here at Princeton with such passion that also very clearly spills into his extracurricular involvement on campus in groups like PASA and PUCC. [REDACTED] was so engaging throughout our conversation that I completely lost track of time during the bicker and kept him for almost an hour. I could have kept talking to him for much longer. He was easy to connect with on a deeper level and I appreciated his very kind and genuine personality. I think he would be an excellent addition to the club and really make an effort to engage with all members. "" , ""score"":4} , , , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : "" Christian [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"": "" [REDACTED] "" , ""content"": "" I'm excited to have met [REDACTED]. Though he came into Princeton knowing he wanted to be premed (and a surgeon), he began to consider majoring in Sociology after taking a course on Tokyo's urban environment this past summer. He's similarly spent time in Spain and remains friends with both pairs of host families until today. Someone who cares so deeply about the relationships they hold would make a great addition to the club. Furthermore, [REDACTED] is excited to join Ivy and \"immerse himself\" in the club community both at meals and on nights out. And if our other diSiac Ivy members serve as any precedent, he'll definitely contribute to making the dance floor lit every Thursday and Saturday. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : "" Julia [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"": "" [REDACTED] "" , ""content"": "" [REDACTED] was my last bicker and I absolutely loved him. I was so impressed by how engaged he was in our conversation. He asked me about my life as well as telling me about his own. He told me he tried out for Disiac on a whim and ended up loving dance. He also said this was the first time he really felt like he had a home base on campus. He said he's bickering Ivy because he thinks it will be a similar home base (this time both geographically and emotionally!). I cannot tell you how much I enjoyed talking to [REDACTED]. I think he would be an asset to the club. "" , ""score"":4} , CARD: "{member": "Laura [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was very sweet and happy-go-lucky. I think he would be a personable, enjoyable member. He spoke about his involvement in Disiac and PFA. I appreciated that he had questions about Ivy for me as well. With a big grin on his face, he described being involved in a bunch of things on campus. While we didn't have any particularly unique conversations of any depth, I could tell that [REDACTED] is very lovable, and I think he would be a great addition to the membership. ", "score": 4}"

CARD: "{member": "Rachel [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Honestly my conversation with [REDACTED] started off slowly. She wasn't very talkative and the beginning of our conversation stayed largely on a superficial level. However, there were some bright spots. She is pre-med and wants to be a pediatrician, and she absolutely lit up when talking about her interest in healthcare and love of kids. She was also super engaging when talking about her best friend, which was sweet. It was great to have that little window into their relationship and get a sense of how she interacts with her friends. Overall I got the sense that [REDACTED] might take a little time to warm up to strangers and get talkative, but once she does she can be passionate and kind-hearted.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Lydia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I loved [REDACTED]'s response to why Ivy - she said she really appreciated that there were smaller communities within Ivy, such as BLIVY and WIVY that created the opportunities for really close knit groups, yet that the club also had a strong community vibe as a whole. I got the feeling she would be an active member in BLIVY and WIVY from her response, and I think it's great that she showed strong interest in them. She was very engaging and asked me questions too. We talked about spirituality and her family background and she gave me pretty solid advice in terms of how to think about my future career/life. I think she'd be a great addition to the club.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Nicolas [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "High stepper, very fun to talk to. Smiley personality. Used to be afraid of dogs but now loves them, which is a plus. Sometimes the conversation got a little hiccupy, but all around an interesting person.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Gabrielle [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was very sweet and outgoing. I think she would be an active member and would make an effort at meals to get to know people. She told me all about her interest in medicine and dance. However, it was unclear how much she knows about the club; she couldn't tell me a favorite member's night or name hottest guy/girl (said \"I don't know\"). Even though these things are not necessarily so important, I do think they show general past interest in the club. Nonetheless, I do still think she would make an effort in the club if she were to get in. I am neither passionate for her to get in or for her not to get in. ", "score": 3}"

CARD: "{member": "Clayton [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I had a decent conversation. She's originally from St Lucia but grew up in Pennsylvania and is a MolBio major and part of Highsteppers. She's a sweet girl and I think she would be an active member, but I overall felt like our conversation was lacking a bit of substance. The highlight of the bicker was probably when she performed a dance for another group. Besides that, I tried pushing the conversation in a couple different directions but none really picked up any momentum.""", "score": 3}],

CARD: {"member": "Courtney [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "My conversation with [REDACTED] was exactly that--a conversation, as opposed to an interview. She made an effort to get to know me, and asked about why I joined Ivy. She wanted to know about the food, the membership, WIVY, members nights, etc. so I could see that she was obviously interested. I think that our chat was solid, not stellar. I think she would get along with a good number of people here, but I venture to say she did not particularly excite me. With that being said, I am giving her a 3 because I liked the convo with her but was not wowed.""", "score": 3}], CARD: {"member": "Matthew [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a really cool girl who gave off some great relaxing vibes. Super chill and would be a great presence around the club. She would hits up Ivy in a serious way on nights out - after the wine ran out at Ivy formals she and a friend ubered back to Forbes to get their wine, before making it back for dinner. A fiendish move but she clearly enjoys a good night out! She is an EEB major with a passion for Italian, and is a member of tigressions and the triangle club. She'd be a great presence around the club!""", "score": 4}],

CARD: {"member": "Adnan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seems like a decent girl but we didn't have the best of conversations. She talked about her interest in medicine which was nice but she didn't seem that passionate about it. She might have been nervous and our conversation still flowed fairly well and so I could easily be dissuaded from my current neutral perspective.""", "score": 3}],

CARD: {"member": "Charles [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was interesting to talk to. She does some cool stuff - high steppers and Beauty Pageants. She is also a good conversationalist and I think would turn up to the club for meals and nights. I did not feel that I really got to know her very well and so feel neutral about this bicker. She did have some funny answers to my questions though and is clearly an out-going person. """, "score": 3}],

CARD: {"member": "Isabel [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was sweet but honestly blah. She talked about her time in beauty pageants and about different standards of beauty but wasn't really captivating on any topic. Her reason for bickering Ivy was to find a small community within Ivy, rather than to get to know the entire club. She was perfectly pleasant to talk to but I am ambivalent as to whether she gets into the club. """, "score": 3}],

CARD: {"member": "Derek [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a great conversation with [REDACTED]. She was super chill, friendly, and personable. I was her first bicker and she wasn't nervous one bit. She is super interested in medicine, as am I- so we talked at length about that and her passion for it/improving health conditions in her native Jamaica. She only knows one person in this club so I think it's brave for her to bicker. In light of this, she didn't know a lot about the club and initially had some reservations, which I think were utterly squashed following our conversation. I really think she'll add a lot to the club. If given the chance, I think she'll make an awesome member!"", "score": 5}],

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Megan [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"This girl is fucking AWESOME. So friendly, so warm and so fun to talk to. I wish I could've talked to her longer. We spoke about her passion for medicine and how she \\\"honestly just has no idea what I'm doing\\\" - an idea I think we can all vibe with. Her weird thing for fuzzy socks was great and we spoke at length about sock comfort. On a more serious note I think she represents the best parts of Ivy, and I admired her confidence in how great of a club we are (lol). I would LOVE this girl in Ivy - think she would be a great value add. Paint her green!\", \"score\": 5}]",

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Antigone [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"What a girl. She is so bubbly, down to earth, fun to talk to, and insightful. She was one of the first people whom I felt really listened and cared about what I had to say instead of thinking what she was going to say next. She doesn't know a ton of people in the club but has the most compelling reasons for wanting to bicker here and I was 100% sold on her being an active, engaging, and fun member in all aspects of the word. She is in the band (and we certainly need one of those) and I think she would bring a lot to the club that we can sometimes lack – diversity, spunk, and energy. Strong, strong up.\", \"score\": 5}]",

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Benjamin [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was super genuine and exciting to talk with. She is knowledgeable, well rounded and very interested in those around her. She carries a sense of enthusiasm with her that spreads easily to others, and I can see her being a contributing member of the club!\", \"score\": 4}]",

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Matthew [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] should absolutely be in the club - we had a great conversation and she would be a delight to have around the club. She is unaffiliated but seemed unphased by the bicker process, and spoke honestly about her fears of elitism and exclusivity in the bicker system. She is pre-med and deciding between majoring in EEB or African-American studies. [REDACTED] seems like she would become everyone's friend in the club, and was both outgoing but also genuine and modest.\", \"score\": 4}]", CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Thomas [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] and I had an awesome bicker! She is very easy-going and was great at heads up which is obviously hugely important. Played tennis in high school, loves Roger Federer and thinks doubles is better than singles so she's right about three things at least. She plays the trombone in the band and realizes that their tradition of playing annoying music in the libraries is in fact annoying so that's good. She doesn't know that many people in Ivy so I wonder slightly whether she knows exactly what she's getting into but she is actually a lovely person and I could see her filling a certain niche in the club. Overall, decent :)\", \"score\": 4}]",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Hetty [REDACTED]", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]", "content":"[REDACTED] has a quirky and warm personality. She likes Ivy's bicker system because it gave her a chance to meet different types of people, and acquaintances to say hi to around campus even if she doesn't get in. She was very relaxed and seemed to be genuinely enjoying herself, which was refreshing to see. I admired her openness to the experience and willingness to put herself out there, and think she'd be an involved member of the club given that she takes her commitments on campus seriously (she plays trombone for the band, tutors kids in Trenton, and works an usher at one of the theaters). My only reserve was that she seemed uncomfortable getting too deep into one topic of conversation."", "score":4}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"Litig [REDACTED]", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]", "content":"honestly so conflicted. SO sweet; so lovely; outgoing; talked about everything: being children of immigrants, being from long island, her interest in medicine. Major qualms: she knows nobody (only one or two people); rarely came to ivy before; doesn't drink. these are not bad qualities, but makes me worried whether she would enjoy the club or feel super connected. few friends bickering. thinking about membership as a whole, i can't help but think it would be better to give spot to someone who could dive into all aspects of being in ivy. Hard for me to say because she is light and love, but cannot see a good fit.\r\n", "score":3}" ,,, CARD: "{"member" ":"Christopher [REDACTED]", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]", "content":"[REDACTED] and I had a great conversation. Very outgoing girl with a good sense of humor. She had a really funny story about getting mccoshed. Seems like she would be an active member", "score":5}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"David [REDACTED]", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]", "content":"[REDACTED] was so sweet. She was easy to talk to and super nice. She seemed very intersted in everything we talked about and had a very genuine curiosity and desire to learn. I think she'd be a great member. She is a Woody Woo major which is obvi one of the best (after history of course). We played pool and she was super gracious in defeat. I think she'd be great at meals and a lot of fun on nights out."", "score":5}"

CARD: "{"member" ":"James [REDACTED]", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]", "content":"[REDACTED] was super cool and fun to talk to. We had an enjoyable relaxed conversation, that could have easily lasted significantly longer. Her interests and passions were hilarious, as was she throughout the conversation. I feel she would be a great addition to the club."", "score":4}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Litig [REDACTED]", "bickeree":"[REDACTED]", "content":"Very good bicker. Fun to talk to. Wants to bicker for right reasons: 1) she wil lbe active member both at meals and also on nights out. Favorite theme nights were speakeasy, classic favorite. 2) surprisingly wants to join ivy for the food. Dubious, especially because she's vegetarian, but it's so wild and unbelievable that i guess i'll believe it. 3) she wants to branch out and expand social circles beyond soccer, while still getting the chance to experience eating club w/ friends. V genuine reasons. I get impresssion she wil lbe active and fun member. worth having around. also i love the name [REDACTED]."", "score":4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Jack [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] was super cool and a true homie. I asked her all sorts of awkward, tough questions, and I loved the way that she handled them all with some tact, but more importantly with point-blank straightforwardness. Not an ounce of bullshit in her. She got along with her double-bicker partner very well and led their session, making it fun 4 everyone. Good taste in music and snacks. Plus she has beautiful blue eyes :)\", \"score\" : 4}"

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Nicholas [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"This is the real card for [REDACTED].\\n\\nWhile kind and interesting, [REDACTED]'s conversation with me did not venture beyond the ordinary. As a soccer player, we discussed the pressures of a student-athlete on both relationships and time. She expressed that she is bickering Ivy to make friendships beyond her team, which I understand. While I remain ambivalent about admitting [REDACTED], I would be happy to see her in the club if the majority of other members feel that she would make a strong member.\", \"score\" : 3}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Aubree [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is a super chill girl. On the soccer team and I got good vibes from her. Our conversation didn't really go past surface level, mostly just talked about having a car on campus actually... I would be happy to eat a meal next to her and it seems like she is committed to Ivy as a club and would enjoy coming to meals here. Nothing overwhelming positive to say and also cannot think of anything negative to say either. \", \"score\" : 3}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Ayesha [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Loved my bicker with [REDACTED]. We were looking for a place to sit and he suggested the elevator- a first for both of us. He is a wonderful storyteller- was pretty inspiring to hear about his recovery after a major accident that caused him to take a year out and how he is slowly getting back into rowing. He has a lot of cool interests - diving, marine biology etc. and is really passionate about pursuing a career dedicated to helping the environment. Overall an easy going, funny, interesting guy who I would love to sit next to at meals etc. and get to know better. I think he would be a great member. \", \"score\" : 5}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Isabel [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is an awesome guy. His sweet, relaxed Canadian vibe made our conversation flow really easily. He had lots of gossip to tell me about Martin Barakso, which was hysterical, and had really interesting perspectives on the benefits of being a rower at Princeton. We chatted for a really long time because the conversation was so easy, and I can imagine him being a great dinner conversationalist. I actively want [REDACTED] in the club because he really set me at ease and made me laugh multiple times. I also think he would be helpful at the beer toss at TI Ivy Olympics. Big fan of this guy- this is a strong 4. Paint him green!\", \"score\" : 4}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Peyton [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] comes off as a very chill guy that is very passionate about his interests. It was very nice to hear about his experiences living on a cruise ship and how that shaped his passion for marine biology. Also his story about how he fell into a coma is probably the most wild story that I have heard so far. I can see myself having many conversations with him in the future. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Justine

[REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is a very nice guy, his smile is contagious and it is really easy to feel comfortable around him. We had a really nice time talking about his interest in climate change and the stories he has from his time on cruise ships, however sometimes I felt like he had trouble talking about things outside of rowing (which he is incredibly passionate about) and marine biology. He is definitely a friendly person I would like to sit next to at dinner, but I left our conversation feeling like despite some efforts I could not really break down the barrier of his interests and get to know him as well as I would have liked."" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Emily [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""When I first saw [REDACTED] and got so excited. Finally a cute guy!! But then our conversation started off a bit slow... didn't flow that easily. I was kinda bummed... def felt like I wasn't gonna be into this guy. BUT THEN... he started talking about how much he loves his best friend Julian [REDACTED] - the dude is GLOWING - too cute. Suddenly the conversation started flowing, about love for marine biology, rowing and his family. This guys is also in love with "his mama" - he said I could say that. To the point where we started discussing our lives with parental illness and this deeper joy and appreciation found in their health. Kinda goofy with love but endearing and genuine. I support. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Deana [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a pleasure to talk to. He was great at telling stories and also making it an easy conversation. My favorite topic was when he opened up about his accident freshman year and the recovery process. It was incredibly admirable to hear him talk about how hard he had to work to get back in shape for crew and also how the process effected his family, friends and coaches. It was nice to see this more sensitive side of him. You could tell he was genuine when he talked about his love for Ivy and the many experiences he's had here. I think he would be nice to see at meals and nights out. Definitely someone who could get along with everyone. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Hannah [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""The only neutral I've written so far out of 13 bickers because it was a pretty neutral experience. I wish I had had a better time with [REDACTED], I felt like he came off well in the beginning but didn't necessarily stand up after a while. He described in detail how crew worked which made it seem like this was his predominant interest. I pushed on him a little bit about his interest in the environment and conservation, and while he was able to summarize some key points from a course book, our bicker felt much more like a precept than a friendly chat. "" , ""score"":3} ,,, ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Alexander [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I would be devastated if [REDACTED] didn't get in. He is exactly who I see as an ideal Ivy member—laid back, but intensely reflective; head and heart in the right place; and willing to branch out beyond the people he already really likes in the club. He reminds me a lot of several of my favorite members in the club and I have no doubt he would be warm and welcoming in bickering people in the future and in interacting with current members after getting in. I can already see him contributing a lot to the club, spending a TON of time here and am already excited at the prospect of raging with him during pickups. "" , ""score"" :5}" , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Nicholas [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""As he was a bit shy at first, I sensed that [REDACTED] might be a very \"meh\" bicker; I could not have been more wrong. [REDACTED] was my eleventh bicker, and answered \"why Ivy\" the most sincerely so far. [REDACTED] talked about the welcoming environment he found here when he had ate breakfast here after practice once a week with a now-former member. An ORFE major, [REDACTED] expressed how he thinks self-driving cars are the most promising way to improve transport and fight climate change, which he said was the issue in the world he cared most about. As a side note, [REDACTED] said he has golf clubs and often plays on the golf course at night. That's fucking cool. Admit him!"" , ""score"" :5}" , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Emma [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] is an awesome guy. At first I expected him to be quiet because he has a pretty calm demeanor, but after talking to him for thirty seconds my impression was totally changed. He's so funny and cracked jokes the whole time. He's also really interesting and told me that he's traveled to every continent and we talked a ton about his crazy adventures abroad. He said that he would marry Alexander [REDACTED], which I also thought was great. I think [REDACTED] would be an amazing addition to the club because he was so easy to talk to and seemed really excited about getting to know people in Ivy. Paint [REDACTED] green!!"" , ""score"" :5}" , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Derek [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Yo this girl was sick! I really enjoyed my conversation with [REDACTED]. She was legit so easy to talk to and was so personable. She is a bit quirky and has a variety of interests such as nature, medicine, et al. She said her favorite club besides Ivy was Terrace (so, big big ups). She is definitely bickering for the right reasons. She really wants to be a part of the ivy community and likes being taken out of her comfort zone. [REDACTED] seemed genuinely interested in what I had to say. I think we need more people like [REDACTED] in club. I think she would make a concerted effort to meet everyone and truly be an active member! Very close to a 5...!. "" , ""score"" :4}" , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Sara [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Honest, loyal and rowdy were her three adjectives. [REDACTED] is a girl from New York, who went to boarding school in search of new people and plays squash on the team at Princeton. She admits to seeming basic on paper but explains that it is her curiosity and drive for meeting people different from her that make her want to join Ivy. She told me a very funny story about her first time going out with the squash team freshman year, and we laughed a lot. Solid girl, slightly over eager but seems sincere and endearing. "" , ""score"" :3}" ,,,,,, CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Camila [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Bickered my new friend [REDACTED] en Español. He was super chill and good natured. Funny and had both friendly but also more inquisitive questions for me. He told me about his friendships at Princeton and he seems to vibe well with different types of people and to really be a social person. He told me he likes to come out here and seemed to have a good feel for what being a member is like. Definitely isn't someone who knows a ton of members or is super predisposed to doing Ivy, but I think he'd be a really really good fit. Definitely seems like he would come out, hit the d floor, and make friends with everyone at meals. Paint him green!! "" ,""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Sammy [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] is a great guy and I'm giving him a solid 4. He's very funny and has an understated humor that had me laughing when he told stories. I enjoyed talking to him about travels in India and New Zealand, and he had sweet stories about everywhere he went. He had interesting stuff to say about his experiences rowing and sailing - talking about how his mom convinced him to row. And he also seemed to have a genuine reason why he wants to join the club. He talked about how he's a huge fan of breakfast, and seems like he'd be an active member of the breakfast crew. He's easy to get along with and he'd be a good addition to the club."" ,""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Isabel [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] was a really fun bicker. We chatted for a long time about Chicago and ORFE and he made me laugh throughout our conversation. This card would honestly be a 5 if not for his \"Why Ivy\" answer, which mainly revolved around wanting to stay close to the crew guys in Ivy. He was so charming and funny and I think would be a real presence at meals and in the club, as well as on the dance floor. We had a really strong connection and the conversation flowed very easily and naturally. He was incredibly engaging and made a real effort to ask questions and to keep the conversation flowing. Big fan of this one - paint him green!"" ,""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Camila [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""A fellow Chicago-an!!! Very exciting. [REDACTED] is super sporty he sailed and played hockey and in high school and also loves to ski and is on the crew team here. He is ORFE and seems to like that but is also passionate about self-driving cars which was cool to talk about. He seemed like an easy going friendly and cheerful guy who would be a positive presence in the club. He said he has liked Ivy since coming to meals after practice with Doug Guyett last year and seemed to have a good feel for the club vibe. He said he hopes to meet new people and branch out but also really gets along with the rowers who are currently in the club. "" ,""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Sophie [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""I feel bad saying this, because he is clearly a sweet guy, but omg so boring. I just found it really difficult to get into a good conversation with him. I have no doubt that he is a wonderful person, but I just would go so far as to say I would dread sitting next to him at dinner as he wouldn't know what to say! He said himself his biggest weakness is awkward silences, and wow that was true. Also I asked him what he would change about Princeton if he could, and his answer was his GPA...like just a bit lame idk. His lack of humor just was an issue also, no laughter whatsoever. "" ,""score"":2}"" ,,,, CARD: "{""member"":""Harry [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] couldn't have been a better conversation partner. She is really into classics and now can read Old English and Latin which is awesome. Very enthusiastic, and it seems like Ivy has been what she has wanted for a while. While this is something that is not always easy to tell, she seemed incredibly outgoing. There is not much else to say other than it was a wonderful conversation and she would do great in Ivy. """, ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Julia [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was so cool- very unique interests and perspectives on life. She is majoring in classics, is on the polo team, and is going to spend the summer modeling. We talked a lot about how modeling has shaped her self-confidence and has taught her not to compare herself to others. She was very bubbly, genuine, and our conversation flowed naturally. She says she is bickering Ivy because she loves all of the people she has met in it so far. Our conversation was really good, and while I wasn't absolutely blown away, I have only good things to say about her. I think she'd be a great fit in the club, and would get along with a lot of different people.""", ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Ruben [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was very nice and interesting, and I think that she could get along with people in the club. She plays polo on campus and has been modeling for many years. She had some very specific interests which I liked. I was undecided between a 3 and 4.""", ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Julian [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Really talkative and animated personality. I had a great time chatting, never felt like I had to struggle to continue the conversation. She had genuine interests and interesting things to say. Came up with the most creative answers to some of my questions. I think she'd fit in very well here.""", ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Megan [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I liked [REDACTED] more than I thought I would, especially since she was so bubbly (lol). It's very clear that she knows her shit (classics, politics) and is passionate. She told me about how she went to the Women's March in Trenton and how she noticed pro-lifers marching, which I thought was interesting. She also seemed like she'd spent time trying to understand the Trump voter's rationalizations. Also she is like a model (but definitely didn't act like one!), so she is planning to travel the world (inspired by JD!) and pay her way through it via her agency by modeling in different countries. I thought she was really nice. I do want her in the club, but will also not be heartbroken.""", ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Lauren [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a really sweet girl and was pretty easy to talk to. She was slightly offputting, though, when she made the effort to make sure she mentioned things you can tell she thought were \"Ivy\" - she went to Lawrenceville, drives the same type of Audi as Zeeza, \"loves Saint A's ppl\", etc. I don't know if she meant to come off that way, so that's why I'm giving her a neatural instead of a down. This could've been just a circumstantial situation, so I can be swayed either way.""", ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":""Caroline [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was sparkly and smiley. She is a member of Princeton's Equestrian team and models in her spare time. While she was pleasant to talk to, she seem to lack passion when discussing her interest in joining the club. Endearing girl, just a bit reserved. Perhaps she was simply outshone by my previous bickers, but [REDACTED] was not entirely memorable. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Christian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was nice, but the conversation lacked an organic feel and was occasionally uncomfortable. It is difficult to specifically identify a complaint, but our interaction lacked the energy and connection I have experienced in other bickers. [REDACTED] is certainly interesting, as she began modeling when she was 6 years old, but also has extensively researched ancient scripts. While generally friendly, I was not particularly wow-ed, if you will. "" , ""score"":2} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Gianna [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was an energetic girl but we just didn't click. She has a variety of interesting hobbies including polo, glee club, and acapella but we couldn't seem to get past this. The conversation felt a bit superficial and I had a hard time really getting to know her. I don't know how easily she would branch out in the club. Overall, I'm not convinced she would be a good member but I could be persuaded to a neutral. This is a very very weak down. "" , ""score"":2} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Matthew [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I found it hard to get to know [REDACTED] during our conversation and I don't think that she would necessarily be a great fit for the club. She was very nice but didn't stand out to me and didn't seem to make a huge effort to express her emotions. I am giving her a weak down but could be persuaded to have more of a neutral stance towards her if other people had better experiences than me. "" , ""score"":2} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Hetty [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a HOMIE. Favorite bicker so far. He was humble and sweet and was always interested to hear what I had to say. He has had 6 concussions but still plays club hockey for the love of the sport, and wants to be a high school teacher so that he can spend time with his family during the summer, and because he thinks his greatest skill is helping other people succeed. This topic came up because I asked him whether he would choose fame or family, to which he responded that family is most important to him and that he would feel uncomfortable with fame. What a cutie. Regardless of the outcome I'm definitely gonna try to keep in touch with [REDACTED]. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Barbara [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Little mixed about [REDACTED]. He started off shy and quiet but opened up a lot more once we established we had mutual interests (farms, concussions and dogs). He was going to come here to play hockey but got too many concussions so had to stop. But still on club hockey. He wasn't the most engaging but would open up and talk when I asked him directly - can't tell if this was nerves or not. Seems very close to his family. He said he wants to do ivy to meet more people - which seemed especially relevant since he said he's had to figure out a new identity without hockey. Still conflicted. I guess this is a high 3 low 4 "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{member": "Julia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I LOVED [REDACTED]. Though a little bit shy at first, he was very endearing. We talked about his experience playing hockey (juniors) before coming to Princeton. He was hoping to play varsity in college, but had to give it up after six concussions. He still coaches hockey in the summer. [REDACTED] is very close to his family- he talked a lot about his parents who met at Princeton and about playing baseball with his older brother. When asked why he was bickering Ivy, he explained his dad who recently passed away had been in Ivy and the friends he made there were so strong that they are still a large part of [REDACTED]'s life. He said he is looking for friends as close as that.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Konadu [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Conversation started off a little dry. But [REDACTED] was a really good sport about juju-ing on that beat even though he was really bad at it. [REDACTED] was just responding to my questions at first, but I found his responses to my questions later on about diversity and current events pretty interesting. Though he grew up in a homogenous town in suburban Massachusetts, he seemed to understand pretty well how his perspective as a white male might skew how he perceived campus and the world, which I found refreshing and quite unexpected. The impression he left the first half of the bicker vs the second half was pretty different, but I think the overall impression was positive and he would make a good addition.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Sammy [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I'm giving [REDACTED] a 4. He didn't have tons of interesting stuff to say during our conversation, but he was very funny and down to earth and kept me entertained. He talked about Boston in a way that made me want to visit the city and he also told a really funny story about cows escaping his house that cracked me up. I think he was a little nervous (he kept touching his nose haha) but it didn't affect the flow of the conversation. He's the kind of guy that I think would be an active member and make a lot of friends here. Wouldn't die for the guy but I'm hoping he gets in. Solid 4, and would add to the club.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Peter [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a solid guy. Nothing stuck out too much about our conversation but I do think that he would be a remarkably easy person to sit next to at a meal. He was pretty funny and I felt as if he would grow on me the more we hung out.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Sarah [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a pretty standard guy. Although I found him nice, I just thought that he wasn't terribly exciting. He put sports as his interest which is cool? but also kind of broad and just kinda like glossed over some sports teams that he was a fan of. I am not totally against [REDACTED] being in the club, I just think I have had better bickers. He was nice but just maybe would do better elsewhere.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Rebecca [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I only had a short conversation as it was nearing the end of the night but I felt like I got a good idea of his down to earth and chill personality. We didn't talk much of substance (most of our conversation revolved around hockey) but when he talked about playing hockey at Princeton and the community he has felt being in the club, I really saw him light up. He got more animated and I felt his excitement. I think he might've been tired by this point as I wish I would've got more from him but nevertheless I think he's sweet. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Ana [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""It was a pretty boring tbh. I do not have much to write about him. He just was pretty underwhelming and di't really have much to contribute to the conversation. I feel like if I saw him at a meal I wouldn't want to sit next to him. I tried to get things out of him, but he was just kind of redundant and vague in everything he said. "" , ""score"":2} , , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Alexander [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] is coming in as a total outsider to this process. He told me he only knows Aubree/Hannah vaguely from Cyclab and has never been to a meal/night out. This is not to say, however, that he hasn't seriously considered whether he would fit into Ivy. He has clearly reflected on his intentions and, although he provided a rather roundabout answer to the all-important 'Why Ivy?' (he said he had heard so many bad things, but couldn't believe an institution could be that bad yet keep attracting quality people that he felt compelled to give it a chance and get to know it a better during bicker), he was candid and upfront and I do think he would be a positive addition and advocate. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Laura [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] and I had a good conversation. He would certainly bring a unique outlook to the club, and I enjoyed speaking to him about artificial intelligence. It seemed, however, that the conversation was a bit forced and he was waiting for me to bring up new topics. He was honest in telling me that he didn't know many people in Ivy and was hesitant to bicker, but told me that his previous conversations had convinced him of the value of membership in the club. I think many members would also enjoy conversing with him. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Fabian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] was fun to talk to. We had an interesting conversation and I think he would make a good addition to the club. He seems to be interested in a wide variety of activities. I particularly enjoyed talking about his experiences with wrestling and kendo. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Sophie [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""Ah I actually loved [REDACTED] - he is such a nice guy. So quirky yet so cool. I was pretty unsure at the beginning of the conversation but he totally won me over. We need more people like this in the club! Definitely a bit of an oddball but omg just so refreshing. We had a super interesting conversation, he's from New Mexico which is where High School Musical is set so I was sold on that. Also he said that if any actor could play him, it would be Audrey Hepburn. What a baller!?!? Honestly such a fan of [REDACTED]. Lets paint him green! "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Sophie [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""Ah I actually loved [REDACTED] - he is such a nice guy. So quirky yet so cool. I was pretty unsure at the beginning of the conversation but he totally won me over. We need more people like this in the club! Definitely a bit of an oddball but omg just so refreshing. We had a super interesting conversation, he's from New Mexico which is where High School Musical is set so I was sold on that. Also he said that if any actor could play him, it would be Audrey Hepburn. What a baller!?!? Honestly such a fan of [REDACTED]. Lets paint him green! "" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Meaghan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I really really wanted to like [REDACTED]. He was very nice, but I just am so neutral :(I think maybe he was too nice. I asked him SO many questions, trying to get interesting/satisfactory answers out of him, but he was really just giving me nothing super interesting. He is even Chinese so I was trying to bond w him over that, but he friggin wouldn't. His answers were short and not thought out. I am disappointed. I thought he would be a great bicker, but I am aggressively indifferent as to whether or not he joins Ivy. I was speaking more than he did during our conversation. He could have given me more, but I could be convinced by people who liked him."" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Gonzalo [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] seems like a super nice and smart fella. Things started off with a group bicker, and I could tell [REDACTED] was a bit uncomfortable acting out a skit or just horsin around in general. After we split off and I was able to learn about his interests, the experience took a turn for the better--he spoke at length about his upbringing in Los Alamos, NM, his goal to pursue a career in Neuroscience, and his interest in the Japanese martial art of Kendo. Genuinely interesting stuff. But, overall, he was very reserved and confessed he has little interest in social nights of the club. I like this guy, but I'm reluctant to go above a neutral here. "" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Julia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I had a hard time connecting with [REDACTED]. He has some cool interests like bikes and neuroscience but it felt like I was digging information from him and he wasn't trying to have a genuine conversation with me. When I asked him why ivy, he said he only heard terrible things about the club and then met people who were nice so he decided to bicker as a \"spontaneous thing\" because he is a \"spontaneous guy\". I don't think he belongs to the club."" , ""score"":2}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Charles [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""In England we would call [REDACTED] a GC. First word is good. Double bickered him with Yuni and he was pretty cool with her weird questions about babies. Great at acting out a role that we gave him to play and threw himself into it. He loves surfing, is from Southern California, and is an electrical engineer. Pretty eclectic mix of traits. He wants to save the environment too, but wasn't boring about it. Would be very happy to sit down next to him at a meal, [REDACTED] is a man very at ease with himself and therefore is easy to talk to."" , ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Brennan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was tight. He's super outdoorsy and recently had to drop the volleyball team due to an unfortunate knee injury. With his newly found free time he is trying to start the surf club on campus, which I thought was really cool. He spends all of his breaks either surfing or skiing, and told me about this incredible startup out in Utah that he wants to work for. We really connected and I'd love to see him join the club. I could see him fitting in well with any group of members, and think he'd bring a diverse and refreshing personality in to the club. I hope to see him again at a meal soon.\r\n\r\nLove,\r\nBrennan"" ,""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Lauren

[REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] seemed like a unique individual. At the same time, it was hard to break through his shell and really get to know him. His answers to my questions were quite vague and really awkwardly put. He had never been to Ivy on a night out or even during the day and didn't really even have a solid answer for why he was bickering Ivy. While I want to expand the club and include people that are new to the atmosphere, he actually laughed when I asked him why he's never been to the club before. I truly believe he would not be an active member."" ,""score"":2}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Ruben [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Very nice kid but doesn't anything or anyone about the club, doesn't go out. I think coming to ivy on sunday was his first time. He just wanted to try because why not. Nice kid but won't be a good fit."" ,""score"":2}",, CARD: "{""member"":""Liting [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Was a little awkward at first, but loosened up. Very earnest person - we talked about politics. He voted for Johnson (boo) but was thoughtful in his responses. Conversation flowed very easily. Someone who could easily contribute at meals - worth bringing in his perspective and having at meals. Also on the heavy weight crew team. love them and can always add another, but more importantly I liked that he wanted to be with his team. that shows me he'll be an active participant. all good things. active member, good talker. bam. "" ,""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Jack [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""My first impression of [REDACTED] was that he definitely was an awkward guy, but I saw soon that he's a really interesting person who would get along with everyone in the club. He happily accompanied me to get coffee at Frist, where we talked about his interest in European history and old maps - he seemed to genuinely enjoy reading old books on medieval history, and his favorite class is the Western Way of War. He's on the rowing team and seemed to really like the bond formed from spending time with people on the team. He seems like a weak 4 - but I also was pretty tired when I bickered him, and would be happy to revise my score if people felt strongly. "" ,""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Colleen

[REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] is one of the sweetest, humblest, and smartest people I have bickered. We had a fantastic conversation about his family, and he shared a really touching story about how adopting his 12 year old sister from Thailand was a really formative experience for him. He prefaced our conversation by saying that he comes off as very shy and closed off, but he really does love talking to/getting to know people better, which is why he wants to join Ivy. Although he's a little bit awkward at first, I think he would be a really valuable member of our community. :) "" ,""score"":4}",

CARD: "{member": "Tara [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Had a really good conversation with [REDACTED]. He was definitely laid-back but also engaged and wasn't afraid to make jokes. He told me about being on the crew team, enjoying acting and learning new languages. He also told me about the process of his parents adopting two girls into his family. He seemed to be interested in Ivy because he has friends in the club but was also eager to meet new people from different backgrounds. He also talked about how he feels like a smaller community like Ivy would be a better fit for him to really have the chance to get to know people. Although a bit reserved at first after initial introductions we got into more interesting conversation that I enjoyed.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Ayesha [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seems like a really kind person. He was pretty shy at first and conversation was a little stilted - I think he was a little nervous. Wants to join Ivy for the sense of community. Also obsessed with old maps - got very excited when I took him to the crypt and showed him the map on the Scribner desk. Really conflicted between giving him a 4 or a 3. Other members may get along with him better but I just didn't find him super easy to talk to. Nice guy though and would be happy to get to know him better if he joined the club.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Meaghan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was an interesting character. Very confused by him- he's super slow in speech but openly talked about the fact that he's super slow in speech; he said his least favorite thing about his best friend is that he's \"dumb as rock\" and \"doesn't wrap (as in a condom)\" so that was very strange and off-putting. But I can see how he might come off as charming to some?? Maybe. Willing to give him a chance. He is a self-proclaimed history buff. Hmm. Curious.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Thomas [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a natural relaxed conversation with [REDACTED], who seems like a kind and gently dude. He is fairly awkward and was uneasy answering some of my questions but a nice guy overall. He hasn't had a meal at Ivy or showed up to nights out much but he had good reasons behind doing Ivy and I don't think he would be a bad fit. Nice guy but uninspiring", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Isabel [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is an oddball. He's quite an awkward conversationalist and we never seemed to establish a normal conversational rhythm. He wants to join Ivy to meet people who aren't on the crew team, which is nice, but he never got me excited about our conversation. We talked for a while but I honestly can't remember what we talked about, which is a telling sign. He seems sweet but I really don't care if he gets in the club and I'm not sure if I want to have a conversation with him again because I found him so awkward. He doesn't mean poorly but he didn't come across very well.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Christopher [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was nice enough but wasn't an engaging conversationalist at all. Also, when I asked him which rower (since he's a rower) he'd retrohose, he gave a serious and unfunny answer which was pretty weird.", "score": 2},

CARD: {"member": "Cason [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I'm pretty torn between a 2 and a 3 for this one. [REDACTED] was nice but was super awkward and difficult to make conversation with. I know that he's on the rowing team and that a bunch of his friends are in the club, but I feel like it would be difficult to imagine people being OK sitting next to him/making conversation with him at dinner. I could be wrong, but would have to be persuasively convinced in discussions. Also misheard a bunch of things I said which made the conversation even more awkward (though hilarious). On the bright side, he did say he would marry Julian in fuck/chuck/marry which I give him props for. All in all, a better fit for a different club.", "score": 2},,

CARD: {"member": "Tobi [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was great to talk to. She checked out my instagram and had many nice things to say about it. She talked about some type of poetry she's really into which was also interesting. Conversation flowed super easily and I think she'll make an awesome member.", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Charlotte [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Holy shit. [REDACTED] might be my new favorite person. No matter the topic, whether it be politics, German poetry, or puns I was hanging onto every word she said. She showed me funny videos of her 12 year old sister, described what constitutes a perfect day for her (Norfolk in the summer time), and was able to inject a bit of humor into some of the more serious things we talked about. I can imagine her taking over Ivy and making everyone fall in love with her because she is interesting, cute, happy, and outgoing. I think it would be a detriment to not let her in the club, and at the risk of sounding #lame: paint her GREEN!", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Elizabeth [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was extremely sweet and is here with the best of intentions, but after our long conversation I am finding it difficult to say what I learned about her personality. She was a great sport and taught me a hilarious dance, but conversation did not really flow between the two of us and I am concerned it'd be the same with the rest of the membership. it could just be the time of night, but I wish our talk had been better. On the whole a seemingly great girl, though.", "score": 3},

CARD: {"member": "Meaghan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Very nice girl, but an awful conversationalist. Said \"you know what I mean\" at least 9 times throughout our conversation, but I'm also absolutely exhausted so maybe I was irrationally irritated by that. Seemed trained to ask me back every question I asked her, which felt very strange. But like I said, she was very nice! Seemed a bit boring but I could be convinced otherwise.", "score": 3},, CARD: {"member": "Carolina [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was an incredibly golden hearted person. He was so perceptive, I was absolutely cuted out by him. Talked about how he admired the perseverance of his brother and how he got into rowing and made it to the world championships + youth olympics and got bronze, but he was all the time super humble and real about it. It was super easy talking to him, and he was absolutely open and unafraid to put himself out there; I felt like I already knew him from before. Would really love to hang out more with this guy, he was so talented and an absolute sweetheart. "" , ""score"":5}" , CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Lauren [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I may have only talked to [REDACTED] for 25 minutes, but it feels as though I've known her for 25 years. This girl is so easy to talk to, and her accent makes you feel kinda sexy on the inside. We talked thoroughly about almost everything from her background to our shared love for old Hollywood to the fact that we both set alarms for when to go to sleep (do it it helps). I don't know how to put it into words just how much she needs to be in this club. She would contribute SO much to this club and we would be at a LOSS without her presence. "" , ""score"":5}" , CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Mina [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Best way to describe this girl is the ideal little sister. So sweet while also witty, intelligent, and passionate about shit (unlike my sister who is mean and totally impassioned) . She loves the arts; grew up in Russia as a kid watching American movies from the local rental. she had some typical bicker stories to share (foreign blah blah blah) but really blew me away when our convo moved past these, revealing a really geniuie, cool smart gal. Could see her not impressing people who treat bicker convos as one way interviews and dont dig for more, but undeniably someone who would be loved here. Paint her green b4 we lose her to the superior club that is terrace"" , ""score"":5}" , CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Jan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is a interesting person to have a conversation with. She seems like she is confident and reasonable in forming in her opinions. Her confidence and obvious love of conversation would definitely bring good conversations to the dinner table. I think she would be a good fit. "" , ""score"":4}" , CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Barbara [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was really nice to talk to. She asked lots of questions and really helped carry the conversation. She kept talking about how she's international which is clearly part of who she is but also felt a bit weird like she wanted to fill the ivy stereotype. I don't know I'm a lil tired so maybe just cranky. Overall she'd def fit in and be an active member and has lots of funky interests that would make meals so nice. "" , ""score"":4}" , CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Paul [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a great bicker. I enjoyed speaking to her about her experience in Shere Khan, as well as her experience growing up in Russia. Throughout our conversation, she was enthusiastic and engaging, and it was obvious to me that she was excited to be bickering ivy. I think she'd be someone who people would look forward to sitting next to at meals."" , ""score"":4}" ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Derek [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""My conversation with [REDACTED] was absolutely sick! I really really liked this girl. She was engaged, excited, and chill. She is from Switzerland and used to be a ski racer! She also is on the cross country team but despite I am confident she will be an active member of the club. She used to be a ski racer and is very passionate about environmental studies(which I like as well). Ali was also super chill about the skit I made her do/gave me good songs suggestions- so that was a plus. Again I would like to implore that she would make Ivy a better place. Really Hope she's in the club. Definitely one of the best bickers overall I have had. PAINT HER GREEN!"" ,""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Gabriela [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Okay seriously I LOVE this girl so much. I literally want to arrange a marriage between her and my brother so we can hang out all the time and also be related. [REDACTED] was incredibly easy to talk to, so much so that our bicker lasted well over an hour and could have gone on for much longer. Definitely someone I would want to sit next with at a meal! She is truly a breath of fresh air and someone that is confident, genuine, and curious. We talked about architecture, her life in Switzerland, large families, the refugee crisis, the fact that she speaks two versions of German, cool Instagram accounts, latte art, and much more. Ivy needs this girl. Seriously. "" ,""score"":5}" ,

CARD: "{""member"":""Nicholas [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] was a very personable fun individual. We had an awfully nice conversation. She seemed to be extremely down to earth, and I think that is one of the most important qualities in a person. I thoroughly enjoyed the time I spent with [REDACTED], and I know she would fit well into Ivy. [REDACTED] was very excited to meet people from diverse backgrounds, and I think she would do awesome as an Ivy member. Her smile was very inviting, and she seemed like a kind warm person that would be interested in making a lot of new friends. In total, I really enjoyed [REDACTED], I hope I get to know more about her, and I hope she gets in Ivy because she belongs. "" ,""score"":5}" ,

CARD: "{""member"":""Spencer [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Had an excellent time bickering [REDACTED]. She was everything an Ivy member could want in a bicker session - incredibly easy to talk to, very engaging, friendly, and open-minded. I think she would be a terrific addition to the club and would fit in seamlessly with the other members. Our conversation flowed with ease, from discussing our shared interest in environ. sustainability to traveling around South Africa to the differences between college sports in Switzerland and America. [REDACTED] was a breeze to talk to and always had an insightful thing to say. I definitely recommend her to the bicker committee and look forward to her getting in the club."" ,""score"":5}" ,

CARD: "{""member"":""Eduardo [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED], a Swedish Norwegian super track athlete, is a pleasure to spend time with. What I enjoyed most about [REDACTED] is her easy going nature and seemingly genuine kindness. The type of gal I would be pleased to sit with during any meal. [REDACTED] has a passion for sustainable development, particularly of urban spaces. She is far from 1 dimensional. My favorite part of the interview was talking to her about her first American history clas and the circular nature of Americas history, as highlighted by the current political climate "" ,""score"":4}" ,

CARD: "{""member"":""Adnan [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] is a nice girl. We spoke about the track team, her crush on James [REDACTED] and environmental studies. I think her warm personality would be well suited to Ivy and I would be happy to eat lunch or dinner with her on any day. She has decent to good banter."" ,""score"":4}" ,

CARD: "{member": "Laura [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Very sweet! We had a lot of things in common, having both gone to international schools. I think she'd fit right in, given her open and bubbly personality. She runs track but seems to have built a friend group outside of the team as well, which is always great to hear about. There wasn't anything that really stood out to me, but I had a pleasant time and would not hold it against her as I think it'd be easy for all types of people to get along well with her. Also, her style is rockin'. Always down for another fashion luvah~", "score": 4} ,,,, ,

CARD: "{member": "Megan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Think this girl is doing Ivy for the completely right reasons; very brave in venturing out. Made a decision to take a gap year between frosh/soph year. While initially kind of timid I really admire her audacity and her genuineness and ability to be straightforward, especially in our interaction: she kept me engaged, always asked me questions, made a lot of observational comments (I know this sounds weird but she was actually really cool), and stayed really real. She comes off as shy but I think she would definitely be a great person to talk to at dinner. Really did not think I'd give her a strong up but I think this is the kind of diverse member Ivy would definitely benefit from.", "score": 5} ,

CARD: "{member": "Madeleine [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Wow. I need more words. Reasons are this: conversation flowed like no other, and we talked about things that actually matter to us. Struck a perfect balance of getting to know me but showing her true self. Major thing though: this girl is honest. She is REAL. She took a gap year between freshman and sophomore year to work on her relationship with her mother, and to help raise her younger siblings. That's the hardest fucking thing to do and to be mature enough as a freshman to recognize that it's your responsibility to leave what is easy behind to mend a broken relationship is so commendable and selfless. She's adorable, lighthearted, and knows few people, so I pray she gets in for my sake. ", "score": 5} ,

CARD: "{member": "Michael [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was awesome, super easy to get along with, very personable. She took a gap year and had really interesting experiences. She's had meals at almost every club and has found Ivy to be the most welcoming and comfortable to be in and she wants to be a part of that community. Good sense of humor, will get along with almost anyone and be an active member. For these reasons I think [REDACTED] will be a great addition to the club and will contribute positively to Ivy's community and welcoming culture. ", "score": 5} ,

CARD: "{member": "Paul [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "My bicker with [REDACTED] started slow, but ended up being great. I originally found myself having a tough time keeping the conversation going, as she would give pretty short and basic answers, but she eventually opened up and revealed a good sense of humor and great attitude. Her answer to hottest girls in ivy was \"caz, jordan, and sassi\", which is an above average answer. She's like a more type-A meaghan oneill...would be a good fit. ", "score": 4} ,

CARD: "{member": "Conner [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "The biggest impression I got was that [REDACTED] is dynamic. I was surprised and impressed by witty answers to some tough questions I asked, and she did a great job not taking herself too seriously. She also turned a few of my own questions back on me, which sparked really some really funny exchanges. I had to pay a little attention and work a little to keep up with the conversation, which I found awesome and unique in a bicker. She also had some insightful questions about the club, and was a ton of fun to talk to."", "score": 4}",

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Ruben [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was nice but I don't think she will be a good member. Conversation wasn't that interesting (and I really tried), she talked a lot, lacks self-confidence because of personal issues; I was just thinking 'do I want to have this person next to me at a random meal?' - the answer is a clear 'no'.\", \"score\": 2}\",

CARD: "{ \"member\": null, \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"It seems [REDACTED] has many interests. She enjoys trying new things which I appreciate. I found our discussion at times a little superficial. I cannot really imagine myself wanting to talk to her very often.\", \"score\": 2}\",,,, CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Roberto [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"He's overall a really nice dude and a great storyteller. He'll definitely fit in with all the different personalities in the club. He said that his favorite thing about ivy so far was coming to a couple of dinners and talking to a bunch of people he had never met before. He looks like he's always down to forget about school for a while and just go for drinks or have an awesome dinner conversation.\", \"score\": 5}\",

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Christian [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"During our conversation, [REDACTED] consistently demonstrated friendliness and humility. While playing a game of pool, he was relaxed and easy to speak with. Generally reserved, there were flashes during which he lit up. He eagerly expressed admiration for Elon Musk's penchant for creativity and boldness, which interestingly contrasted with his own self appraisal of awkwardness and shyness. In middle school, he said, he grew his hair down to below his shoulders, which represented his feeling of insecurity and desire for solitude, despite having a sociable, gregarious older sister. [REDACTED] seemed natural and did not appear intent on impressing me, which I appreciated. He would be a welcome addition to the club. \", \"score\": 5}\",

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Sara [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was so amazing to talk to! I really enjoyed talking to him about Drake and his plans for the summer, and our conversation went super smoothly. I think he seems incredibly sweet and genuine--he kept saying that he was having a great time during bicker and was so happy to meet so many great people--and definitely someone who would be a positive and friendly presence in the club. I would be so happy to see him in the club, and I think he would be an incredible member. I can already tell that he was one of the best people I'll talk to and I truly hope he gets in. \", \"score\": 5}\",

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Tara [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I had a really great time talking to [REDACTED]. He was super easy to talk to and kept the conversation flowing - it definitely felt like a conversation instead of a bicker with me asking all the questions. He told me about his involvement with AdThis and was super humble about being the new president of the group. He also seemed really interested in joining the club to meet new and interesting people and talked about how his favorite nights out are the ones when everyone is just hanging out and wanting to have a good time. I think he would definitely be an active member and you would definitely have a great conversation if sitting next to him at any meal. "", "score":5}",

CARD: "{member": "Melissa [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "this was maybe my favorite bicker. he brings something really different to the club, claiming (while i disagree) to be the socially awkward has led him to be friendly and \"the tall awkward guy always smiling\" and wanting others to feel more included and interact with people in small groups on a much deeper level. we talked about his memories with his mom when she had cancer and his perceptive judgment of social situations and friends. can see him as a Ben [REDACTED] type where you can have such a deep insightful one on one conversation while sitting next to him at dinner. he goes out more than twice a week and wants to be active at members nights. KIND SOUL. "", "score":5}",

CARD: "{member": "Krishan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is intelligent, funny, and respectful. He is a great conversationalist and is interested in many different subjects, from the history of war and philosophy to computer science and cyber security. We bonded over our mutual appreciation of visionaries in tech. His rationale for bickering is that people in Ivy come from many different groups on campus and he feels that he will get more fulfillment out of the meals at Ivy than any other club on the street. On the subject of music, he has very good taste and gave me a very convincing commentary on how rap music gets an undeserved bad reputation. This is a clever guy that we should welcome into our club. "", "score":4}",

CARD: "{member": "Christian [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Something felt off about my conversation with [REDACTED]. Halfway through the bicker, I asked if there was anything he would like to speak about, to which he responded, \"I like talking about anything other people are interested in.\" Towards the end of the conversation, the topic of academics came up. He expressed interest in pursuing the History and Practice of Diplomacy certificate. When I asked if there was any particular region he was interested in, he fumbled through South East Asia, then the Middle East, but ultimately concluded he didn't have any particular interest. Throughout my entire conversation with him, I sensed that he was trying to say what he thought I wanted to hear. In all, the conversation lacked substance. "", "score":2}",,,, CARD: "{member": "Ana [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I really liked getting to know [REDACTED]. I'm not sure if it was that he was shy or a little quiet, but regardless, he came off as kind - there was something very gentle about him. He's from Nigeria and went to boarding school since he was 11. He talked about how his transition to Princeton has been tough but it's helped him to join certain groups like Dorobucci and one other one that I can't remember the name of. He talked a lot about how he loves soccer and described his ideal day as watching soccer, playing video games, and hanging out with friends. I liked that he was mellow and he seemed like he would open up with more conversation. "", "score":4}", was that he said that he knows himself to be a passive person. This makes me slightly worried that he wouldn't be an active member of the club, but that is really just speculation. Could be totally wrong. Either way, he seems like he could be a cool person to get to know, as he's from Nigeria and seems to have a bunch of great stories from his childhood. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{member": "Harry [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] would likely make a good Ivy member. He was easy to talk to and personable, but perhaps one worry

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Ayesha [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""I was [REDACTED]'s last bicker and I think he was a little tired although he also just seems to be a pretty laid back guy in general. The combination of the two didn't make for the easiest conversation. However, I did enjoy talking to him about his intense love for soccer and how he started dancing and singing at Princeton for the first time. He wants to join Ivy because of the diverse membership and also because he really likes all the members he's met. Conversation did feel pretty one sided and he didn't really ask me any questions/ make that much effort to keep it going which is why I'm between a 3 and a 4. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Rebecca [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] and I had a lovely conversation, he seemed quite subdued and I definitely carried the conversation asking the questions but his answers were thoughtful and interesting and I learnt a lot from him. I loved hearing of his experience singing in public for the first time at Princeton and overcoming his nerves and I think he could come out of his shell at Ivy as he really seemed that he wanted to engage with the community here. He definitely seemed a good guy even though he was quite introverted/quiet. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Emma [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] seemed like a nice guy. He told me about how he tore his ACL and it sounded like it was a really terrible injury, but he was really positive about the whole thing, which was pretty cool. He was a little quiet and didn't really engage with me, but I think that that's just because he's shy. He also said that he hasn't been out at Ivy but I think he said that's because he hasn't gone out that much because of various injuries. He said that he wants to be in Ivy because he knows a handful of people in the club that he likes. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Manuel [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] is very laid-back and chill, and I'm sure he would be a good member if he got in. Unfortunately, he was definitely a little bit nervous and it was hard to get him to break out of his shell. I wish I could have gotten to know him in a setting where he would be under a little less pressure, because I think he's probably a really interesting guy, but we just weren't able to have a really great conversation. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Layla [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] seemed like a really nice kid, but was very reserved and didn't initiate conversation at all. When I asked him to reflect on his Princeton experience he had some thoughtful answers about crossing grade boundaries and focusing less on results/success and more on the process. He seemed to really love playing soccer, but other than that I couldn't get much of a sense about what else excites him. When I asked what his perfect day would look like he said he would need more than one day to sleep as much as he likes to and then would probably chill out with friends and play soccer. I can't see him being very involved in the club or coming to nights out, or branching out. "" , ""score"":2}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Jack [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was nice, but I had a hard time getting past the surface with him. I double bickered him and the other bickeree completely dominated the convo, although he tried to include [REDACTED] in the conversation and get to know him. After some stilted conversation, I reverted to the more classic bicker questions: he didn't have a joke so he passed on that one, then I asked him about anything funny in general- for which he had no answer. When asked which club he would obliterate if forced to pick one, he was silent for about a minute, then said it would've been Ivy up until a few months ago because of the douchey reputation. I wouldn't want to sit next to him at dinner. "" , ""score"":2}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Christian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] seemed disengaged during our conversation. He lamented that many people at Princeton were just \"resume building,\" whereas he has joined activities that fulfill him (he belongs to an acapella and a dance group, and used to play soccer before he tore his ACL). When it came to the subject of \"why Ivy?\", he said he was close with Achilles and has heard positive things about the club from him. He expressed apprehension about \"meeting new people\" if he becomes a member. [REDACTED] seems well-intentioned, but unless others had a drastically different experience speaking with him, I would argue that his attitude would not translate into good membership. "" , ""score"":2}",, CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Liting [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Initially thought would be hard to talk to; realized he's just extremely chill and laid back, takes it v easy. in disiac and of course I would love to expand disiac dance circle that makes me self conscious about my dancing but always fun. apparently gets wild on nights out which contrasts his calm and chill demeanor. love that. would be involved in ivy community given his involvement in his other communities - on butler college council, was publicity for disiac; i believe he would really find ways to invest him self, both during the day and night. "" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Rebecca [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was really lovely and was equally engaged in what I had to say as well as the questions I asked him. I genuinely smiled throughout our whole conversation and as we talked about his love of arts and creativity, I could see how passionate he was. Whilst our conversation was short, his smile brightened my mood and his easy going nature meant we had a lovely chat. I would be more than happy to sit with him at a meal in the future. "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Sophia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] killed it. I played his iTunes music on shuffle and his taste in music is awesome; he listens to rap, gospel, classical, and other songs that I didn't know but were very ~cool~. He was humble and calm and I feel like I could have talked to him for longer than an hour. I told him to write a letter foretelling my future, and according to him I will be a famous architect who designs an opera house in Australia, have a child named Hope, live in a castle, and a framed and sent to jail for 5 years for assassinating a drug lord. [REDACTED] is very cool and would be an awesome and unique addition to Ivy. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Jan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] seems like a nice guy. We had a good conversation and he does a lot of interesting stuff on campus. However, during the conversation I did not get the feeling that we connected very well. I could be convinced that he would make a good member."" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Julia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Had a great conversation with [REDACTED]. We talked about the year she spent in Germany, her time traveling in the south of Spain (her parents are from Madrid and her family lives in Spain) and different cultures/the embarrassing experiences we've had misunderstanding social cues especially in different places. She does engineers without borders and worked in Peru last summer. She also does business today and is interested in ~finance~ We also talked about her metaphysics class and whether colors/sounds exist if we can't describe them/what they add to our life. That was really interesting. Thought [REDACTED] was really friendly. This is more of a 4/5 than a 4"" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Kial [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I did a double bicker with a crew guy, Yablon and [REDACTED] and overall [REDACTED] had a very uninteresting story to tell when we asked his most embarrassing story and by the end it became a 3 way convo while [REDACTED] was nearly silent. While a double bicker is tough, he wasn't able to contribute anything outside of assigned questions"" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Christian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is a friendly individual, but seemed slightly unwilling to engage in meaningful conversation, and appeared uncomfortable. While nice, [REDACTED] wasn't particularly conversational and did not elaborate during responses, nor did he transition from answering questions to a natural exchange between the two of us. "" , ""score"":2} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Sophie [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Not a good fit for the club I don't think. A sweetheart, just very quiet. I wouldn't be pumped about sitting next to him at dinner. I have no doubt he is a wonderful human being, he just wouldn't fit in. I don't even know what else to say...very bland bicker. But a nice guy still! I feel bad because he was so nice, just not right for the club. "" , ""score"":2} , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Carolina [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was really great! Struck me a bit quiet at first but talking one on one was an amazing experience. This girl was so real and extremely passionate. She les most of the conversation and I had to make minimum effort to keep the conversation going, it was super natural and easy to get to deep meaningful topics and get a memorable\ conversation. I feel like she would be a great person to talkt to in the club! "" , ""score"":4} "

CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Sarah [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a nice girl. We had a pretty standard conversation. I kept staring at her eyelashes, they were so long. Also i kept trying to make her laugh because she has a great laugh. I would like to hear her laugh every day in the ivy club. She seems like she was a little nervous and although we didnt connect super well, i think she would still be a fine member of the clobber. Id sit next to her at meal and I would also probably invite her to a pregame. Go [REDACTED]! "" , ""score"" :4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Charles [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] is a great girl. A self-declared adrenaline junky who loves skydiving, she was game for anything. Most importantly, she ran up behind Matt and made him jump a mile. She does not have a filter which made for a really funny conversation about anything that crossed her, or my, mind. From her biggest fears to her funniest stories, everything was genuine. She will be a very active member and come to every member's night. I found her MoneyThink teaching in prisons really interesting and she is also directing a cool play on campus. Her plethora of interests and fun loving approach would liven any mealtime at Ivy. "" , ""score"" :5} , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Samantha [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"" : ""Enjoyed my bicker with [REDACTED]. She was sweet and bubbly and definitely easy to talk to. She seems like someone who is pretty easy to get along with and have a good conversation with. I really liked her reasons for why she wanted to join the club- she clearly had really positive experiences here both at meals with members and on nights out. My only qualm is that some of the conversation felt a little bit rehearsed (but I guess that is sometimes hard to avoid in this type of interaction). "" , ""score"" :4} , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Julia [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"" : ""I had a good conversation with [REDACTED]. She is incredibly easy to talk to and we were able to discuss so many topics. We talked about our common obsession for China and the Chinese department at Princeton. She is interested in so many cool things: contemporary art, food, traveling, history... She also gave me great tips to improve my Chesties skills and said I actually had the perfect boob size to be a pro at the game (in a very funny and non-awkward way). However, I wasn't super convinced by her reasons to want to join the club. I understand her brother was in Ivy, but the other reasons she gave me for joining were a bit superficial (having fun on nights out, the club being less gross than others, having had good convos at meals...). I still do think [REDACTED] is a kind, fun and interesting person and that anyone would have a great conversation with her at a meal. "" , ""score"" :4} , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Folasade [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was very nice. Our conversation flowed smoothly and ranged from academics to weird family activities. Her older brother was in Ivy so naturally she was against it, but nevertheless she felt like she has had the most fun in Ivy and is her favorite club and feels like Ivy has a lot of great people she wants to meet. I think she'd be a fine member and even though this is a three, this is really like a 3.5 "" , ""score"" :3} , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Jason [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was easy to talk to -- easygoing, not awkward in the least. I liked when she spoke about documentaries she's seen about fashion -- helped prove her interest wasn't superficial. I admire her eagerness and decision to go into the art world after school. She says she's introverted at first and that shows. I worry about her ability to make friends with people outside of a core group, as she hasn't seemed to branch out too much in her Pton experience. She did say she liked Ivy as a way to meet more people, but sometimes she didn't feel genuine and definitely felt prepped. I wish she had more energy/ been more lively/fun/passionate. Could be good -- almost gave her a 4. "" , ""score"" :3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Samantha [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Solid bicker with [REDACTED]- nice and easy to talk to. I made her tell me who she thought the hottest member was (Answer: Gonz) and then yell it from the top of the stairs. TBH she didn't give the yell as much enthusiasm as I would have liked but I definitely give her props for rolling with it. [REDACTED] was certainly perfectly nice but sometimes I felt like she was maybe a bit bland- not that that is a bad thing but I just don't know how interesting a conversation with her would be at a meal. Super nice girl, seems like she'd be fun to be around, I think we just didn't hit it off as well as I did with others. 3.5"" , ""score"" :3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Katelyn [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""i really really realllly wanted to like [REDACTED], and i really tried, but she was definitely my most disconnected bicker so far. she was so boring and didn't seem enthused about literally anything. we had a long conversation too, but the whole time she was passively answering my questions and not even really making eye contact. it should be noted that i was her 10th bicker, so she may have been worn out by then, but it is only 8:00 on monday, this started 2 hours ago. this isn't a 'she was nice but i wasn't excited about her' 3, its a 'she didn't say anything incriminating to earn her a 2, but was soo unbelievably disconnected and unamused' 3. maybe a 2.8. "" , ""score"" :3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Madeleine [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was sweet, and an art history major so we connected on that level. We walked to the museum but it was closed... She clearly already has some connections in the club that have been good friendships, and I'm sure she'll get in and have a great time. In my opinion however, I didn't find her incredibly engaging, which was disappointing because it seemed like there was a lot of potential for us to find common ground personally and intellectually (art history, San Fran, her sense of style, her love of animals). Still, the conversation was pretty stagnant, so I'm not inclined to say I want her in the club. But a perfectly nice person who I have nothing against, and bicker is hard. "" , ""score"" :2} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Krishan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Was not swayed in a positive way on this one. [REDACTED] mentioned she was bickering in order to expand her friend group, though I have concerns that she may end up sticking to her close group of friends based on her interactions with other bickerees. I also had a hard time connecting with her; furthermore, compared to the other people in our multi-group bicker, she was not as excited to be participating in bicker. She seemed a bit aloof, bordering on standoffish. It seems like she's been at the club before, over meals and nights out. I can certainly be dissuaded if I were to learn how she would provide a new perspective. "" , ""score"" :2} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Christian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was pleasant to speak with, but did not particularly engage. She seemed formulaic in responding to questions and did not make an effort to get to know me, really. She identified art history as something about which she is passionate, but then described it without much emotion. Also, as a fun fact she claimed to be \"obsessed with goats,\" but when asked to elaborate she said \"obsessed\" was an exaggerated word and had not actually ever seen or interacted with a goat, which struck me as strange. \"\", \"score\":2}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" \":\"Deana [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was my favorite bicker so far! We had a 40 minute conversation (didn't realize we had been talking that long). He played for the US soccer team, but was incredibly humble and ultimately wants to go pro. He enjoys woodworking and builds furniture, including the coffee table at his house and the lamp in his room. His love for wood started in the 8th grade when he carved a plaque that included Chester the Cheetah (Cheetos logo). This goes to show his fun personality. He also told me about his elementary school where he had to wear suits everyday. \\\"I knew how to tie a tie before my shoes.\\\" He was polite, outgoing and funny! He would be an amazing addition. Paint him green!!\", \"score\":5}\",

CARD: \"{ \"member\" \":\"Melissa [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"soooooo awesome to talk to and he was really hot\\nseems so committed to be in a club and branch out from the many people he already knows on soccer and from friends - know he'll come out to meals and nights out. i honestly really really want him in this club because he's so easy to talk to and get along with. wants to know people in disiac. wants to be a pro soccer player \"\", \"score\":5}\",

CARD: \"{ \"member\" \":\"Krishan [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Joga bonito! [REDACTED] is a great conversationalist and overall a very chill person to kick it with. He is very serious about soccer and aspires to play professionally. He would be a great addition to the club and I have no doubts that he would turn up on member nights. Even though I was exhausted at the start of this bicker, by the end of it I wanted to play the beautiful game of soccer. \"\", \"score\":4}\",

CARD: \"{ \"member\" \":\"Katelyn [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"if i came in for a meal and saw [REDACTED] sitting at a table, even if he was with a huge group of large men (which normally prompts me to get a to-go box bc am scared), i would 100% feel so comfortable sitting down next to him. he's the kind of person that makes you feel v important and funny when ur talking, and is so actively engaged in the convo the whole time. i could have talked to him for hours more, rly easy to have a fun conversation with.\"\", \"score\":4}\",

CARD: \"{ \"member\" \":\"Mary [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I really enjoyed talking to [REDACTED] and getting to know him. He was engaging and the conversation flowed easily, from anecdotes about sneaking onto roofs at Princeton, to his best friends, to 3hr long commutes to soccer practice in high school, to woodworking, which he started in first grade (seems dangerous but he wasn't fazed). He'd be a great member because he would make an effort to meet new people, which he has already done by joining a fraternity, even though no one on the soccer team did. My one reservation is that I asked him for another interest besides what was on the sheet and he couldn't think of anything. I really liked him though and would love for him to be a member!\", \"score\":4}\", [REDACTED]"", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was SO nice and fun. She was honest with me that the seating policy makes her nervous but that she would love making friends by sitting next to someone she doesn't know--she's on the soccer team so doesn't know as many people in the club but seems like someone who would have no trouble coming in and making friends with everyone. I think she'd tear up the dfloor on nights out and would be such a fun and active member in the club. I think she'd be a great asset to the club and would love to see her at our next members night :) paint her green!! ", "score": 4}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Alicia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was easy to talk to and we had a good conversation. I could tell he was pretty nervous at first but eventually warmed up. He asked good questions and was honest when speaking about his own Princeton experience, life on the soccer team, and personal hobbies. He seems like he would be an active member and wants to meet new people. Really likes Friday pizza night at Ivy which I don't hear a lot so that was exciting. I think he would make a good member but it was hard to tell why he was bickering Ivy as opposed to other clubs. There was nothing bad in our conversation just didn't feel like he was that enthused about becoming an Ivy member. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Onyemaechi [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Pretty cool guy, he has never driven a car which is kinda interesting. We talked about how he played soccer and said he would want the ability to heal people which is the same as me. Besides that we didn't fully click, which may have been my fault. From NYC and wants to move back to NYC, so not too adventurous I guess. Wants to get to know people he doesnt in the club though which is nice. Honestly could be swayed if other people like him as I was in a rush towards the end. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Jan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a nice guy and I am impressed with his achievements in his soccer career. He truly liked to talk about woodworks... like a lot, a lot. Even though we had a nicely flowing conversation, I walked away realizing that his woodwork and soccer skills are the two things I remembered from the conversation. This might be do to the late hour and my shortening attention span. However, my gut tells me that I just wasn't particularly intrigued by our conversation. ", "score": 3}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Katherine

CARD: "{"member" ":"Caroline

[REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "\r\nRavenous and drained after one Sunday Funday, I found myself leaving my friends at Cottage in search of food and more sober company. I had met [REDACTED] a couple times before, and recognized him as he strolled down Prospect toward the safe haven of Frist with similar motives in mind. As I walked into Frist, a zoo on a Sunday around 4pm, I regretted leaving my friends. I wasn't really feeling a solo C-store run. Yet, as I entered the C-Store, [REDACTED] immediately struck up a conversation with me. He noticed that I was alone and took the initiative to interact. We perused the infinite snacks together, and bonded over our mutual preference of Doritos and Cheetos. [REDACTED] proceeded to buy 6 packets of chips of multiple varieties for us to taste test and compare. Though this anecdote might seem silly and trivial, it in fact exemplifies many of [REDACTED]'s wonderful qualities. Ok, so he likes the same consumables as I do, but he exudes confidence, he's incredibly friendly and a great conversationalist. [REDACTED] would be the perfect person to find yourself sat next to at Ivy dinner. Paint him green! """,,, CARD: "{""member" ":"Abigail [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] is awesome. He's an English major who originally came to Princeton as an engineer. He takes MAE classes and can quote Kurt Vonnegut. Find a guy who can do both. I think I am in love. He came across as incredibly down to earth, thoughtful, amicable, and kind. He grew up in rural New Jersey next to an Alpaca farm and knows an absurd amount about obscure Australian fauna. Total weirdo, but I'm in it. I think [REDACTED] would make a fantastic addition to Ivy. """, ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Nina [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""I was really impressed by [REDACTED]. He seemed focussed on maintaining the ability to change & try new things. I liked his story about arriving at Princeton as an engineer and then surprising himself by doing English. He also gave the best 'Why Ivy' answer I'd heard, describing a gradual transition from hearing about the club's negative reputation to getting to know more and more people in the club. It seemed as though he belonged here already, I could imagine him hanging out at the club all day, making conversation with whoever comes into the great hall. I found him very genuine (actually though) and self-aware. Great guy, I wish we could have spoken for longer.""", ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Nicolas [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Very interesting to talk to. I thought he was trying to be someone who he thought I wanted him to be at first, but soon changed my mind. Outgoing person who loves to meet new people, would definitely add value to the club.""", ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Litig [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Positive impression. easy to talk to. wants to join ivy for the community, which is always great. says he enjoyed all of his dinners. liked the building (the crypt lol). would easily make friends w people here and would contribute to lively meals i believe. Something that worries me: admitted most of his close friends are bickering other places so slightly concerned about his full investment into the club / his full enjoyment. granted that's not a killer, but something worth considering. Still, i guess i would give him a shot. can i give 3.5? is that a thing? round it up to 4 because i guess i would be down to see him again.""", ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Olutobiloba [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] is a homie. He's outgoing and easy to talk to. He talked about his favorite authors and why he switched from engineering to an AB degree - smart kid. He told me a pretty absurd story about how he lost odds and had to pierce his nipple in some dodger tattoo parlor completely sober. seems like the type of guy who will show up on nights out and have a good time. """, ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Julia [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""I had a great conversation with [REDACTED]. He is easy to talk to and was really relaxed. He was very honest about why he switched majors and told me about his passion for Latin. He was also very open to tell me about the challenges he faced his freshman year. He had mono, bronchitis and like 4 other diseases but still managed to have a good year and make great friends. \n\nIt sounds like he knows the club really well and already gets along with so many different people in Ivy. I really see myself having great conversations with him at meals. "" , ""score"" : 4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Ruben [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] is a nice guy, the conversation was very chill but no 'wow this is guy is very cool and I want to hang out with him'. I think that people will appreciate him but nothing special."" , ""score"" : 3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Adnan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""I don't think [REDACTED] would be a great fit for Ivy. He talked a lot about how he loved interacting with people but to be honest I didn't feel as if I could interact well with him at all. He didn't give me direct answers and related almost every question I asked him with his supposed passion for interacting with people, which I didn't think was very genuine. He also barely made eye contact with me, which also didn't leave a great impression. "" , ""score"" : 2} , , , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Jason [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was a nice kid. I got Phil Cooke vibes because he was awkward (almost off-puttingly so), didn't seem to know too much about the club (described liking it despite its \"stately, regal appearance\") but was one of the most genuinely interesting people I've talked to. It's clear he's bickering because he enjoys the few people he currently knows in Ivy and is excited to meet more of the kids of people Ivy attracts. What really struck me was how articulate and smart he was. He is also incredibly passionate about avant-garde film which epitomizes how niche, but interesting he is. He was genuinely sweet and deserves a real shot. Would be curious what others thought."" , ""score"" : 3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Charles [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] and I had a great chat. I taught her how to play settlers of catan while we spoke about her love of soccer and school. I especially enjoyed hearing about her reason for doing Ivy. She wants to join a community of diverse people involved in all areas on campus who love to interact both during the day and at night. I find this a compelling reason. I am also convinced she will be an active member because she kept on talking about how she loved both food and going out. Paint her green."" , ""score"" : 5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Paul [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""I really enjoyed bickering [REDACTED]. We talked about her interest in board games and how she took the SAT 5 times to get into Princeton. She talked about its difficult to meet non-athletes as a member of the soccer team and how being a member of Ivy could give her the opportunity to do so. Overall very genuine sweet girl who would make a great member."" , ""score"" : 4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Sammy [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""After bickering [REDACTED], I think she'd be a solid addition to the club. We had a fun conversation, talked about growing up playing soccer, having siblings, and enjoying board games. The conversation wasn't forced at all - she's a good talker and id enjoy sitting next to her during meals (I think most people would enjoy sitting with her at meals, which is why I'm giving her a 4). I'm not giving her a 5 because the conversation didn't turn into something delightful or profound that made me feel really passionate about getting her in. She's got a funny self-deprecating streak though and it was refreshing to talk to someone who is able to speak about her princeton experience so openly. "" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Samuel [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Very interested in what we were talking about. I really like that she really doesn't know many people in the club. Said she wants to join out of fear of being a junior who only knows athletes (she's on the soccer team). I think that's a great mindset. Wasn't put off by my fucking weird bicker technique. Strong. Not super interesting honestly on paper (interest was board games....) but had some wild stories underneath that. \n\nWould do well here. "" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Charlotte [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I really wanted to like [REDACTED] more. He is definitely very fun, outgoing, and nice, but I did not get invested in our conversation. To most of the questions I asked him he would give me fairly short responses that did not foster any further discussion. There were points during which I laughed with him and enjoyed his company, but I then went back to being disinterested. He did say Katherine [REDACTED] is his favorite member which won him brownie points in my book, so he had a moment of redemption. "" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Elizabeth [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I thought [REDACTED] was a very nice girl but I had a hard time holding a conversation with her. At some points she came off a bit superficial (e.g. she brought up how she was a huge feminist, but she couldn't articulate why she cared about women's rights so much; or when i asked what her favorite class at Princeton was, she didn't have a reason why she loved that class). She's a soccer player, so it's awesome that she is trying to branch out with a different eating club, but it seemed like she was mostly interested in Ivy because she is dating a member. I don't see her as a great fit for the club, but I also wouldn't mind her joining. "" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member" ":"James [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] would be a great addition to this club, she was very engaging and interesting throughout the conversation. Her passion for extreme sports was entirely unexpected given her appearance, and sparked what should have been a much longer conversation about her excursions skydiving and bungee jumping. She jumped into a double bicker with Adnan and role-played bickering stapleton like a champ. I'm a fan. "" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Katelyn [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""This is my first bicker so I have nothing to compare it to, so please keep this in mind! Didn't know if I should give a 3 or a 4. she was really really nice and has an endless supply of fun, adventurous and interesting stories. we had a long conversation, I just felt it was kind of surface level and a lot of just story after story. she was really sweet though and would be nice to sit next to at dinner. I am just kind of indifferent. "" , ""score"":3}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Clayton [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I had a fine conversation. She is eager to be a part of the club and I think she would be a present member, but there were no real highlights from our conversation. It didn't quite have the same flow as other bickers. She would be a good person to sit next to at meals but no part of our conversation really stood out.""", "score": 3}], CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Jack [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I had a decent time with [REDACTED], but the conversation was very slow and stilted. [REDACTED] liked to talk about the going-out component of Ivy, but I'm not convinced that she would add a new/interesting perspective to the day-by-day experience. That said, I can't say anything bad about her. She was perfectly pleasant and I'm sure that other peeps in Ivy could get along with her well. Personally, though, I am indifferent. \"\", \"score\": 3} \", CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Emily [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] seemed like a perfectly nice guy. I wasn't super excited about him but he seems fine and easy to talk to. He's interested in throwing 'study breaks' even though he hears we have great members nights. He's into tech. We didn't totally vibe but i'm open to him being in the club. He wants to do ivy to meet lots of new people. \"\", \"score\": 3} \",

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Lauren [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I know what exactly whay you're prob thinking right now as you read this card: 'Lauren's just writing for [REDACTED] because she's Jesse's sister' bla bla. Well if you think that, then you clearly don't know me well. While it is true I met [REDACTED] through her sister, the reason why I'm writing for her is that she has independently become one of my closest friends on this campus. People often take for granted having an older sister at the same school - most think it makes everything easier than facing everyting for the first time alone. But in reality, it was truly hard for her to come here. She played the same sport as Jesse and was automatically expected to be the same in every way: the same friends, the same major, even the same eating club. But [REDACTED]'s different. She wants to do everything in her power to make Princeton her own; to make her feel like [REDACTED] instead of 'Jesse's sister'. In doing so, she has branched out to make her friends organically, including me. Her independent personality enables her to radiate a feeling of comfort when you're with her. Maybe she doesn't know as many people in Ivy as the conditioned Greek Life bros and sis's or the Disi peeps, but I know (given the opportunity) she would do the same thing at Ivy that she did at Princeton - make the best friends with people from all facets completely on her own.\"\",,, CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Kial [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] had a really funny story as her brother goes here as well and apparently she was with this guy on the dance floor and her brother freaked out (was drunk) and called his family and had her escorted to McCosh on her second day of school. She clearly had a very tough start of the school year and I appreciated how she could look upon it so fondly. She was very funny and easy going and it was a good conversation\"\", \"score\": 5} \",

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Ana [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I was hesitant at first with [REDACTED], but the more we talked, the more and more interested I was in the conversation. She's one of five and lived in South Carolina for eleven years until her family moved to Puerto Rico her junior year. She's super quirky and easy to talk to and we were able to connect on our experiences at Princeton, our roles in our families, and the distinctions between different cultures we have experienced. I think she has a lot more to her than might come off at first. She made me laugh, asked me a lot of questions, and continued to impress me. I think she would be an incredible addition to Ivy and will #keep #ivy #weird. "" , ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Sammy [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I felt like [REDACTED] was one of my strongest bickers because I came away thinking she truly belonged in the club. She was cool and interesting in a really broad, relatable way. I didn't feel like she was my long lost soulmate or some other horseshit, but I think we'd be really good friends if she was in the club. I think that'd be the general sentiment from the entire club (I'd be surprised if she wasn't doing well in other bickers). She talked about moving to Puerto rico as a sophomore in high school and becoming part of a tight knit community and it seemed like it would apply to ivy, meeting new people in that way. She's dope af, get her in."" , ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Cason [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] seemed nervous. It was an odd bicker. I went from thinking it was def a 5 to becoming less sure. [REDACTED] and I had a wide-ranging and easily flowing conversation (from her fave gelato place in SanJuan, to girls nights and silly romcoms, to our mutual obsession with Julian [REDACTED]). But at the same time I just didn't get a \"blow-me-away\" vibe. It was, overall, a fine conversation and I'd be happy to have her in the club but wouldn't go out on a limb for her. Did love her smile and laugh though! Also had concerns about committment level/time considering what she said about her heavy time dedication to BT, but she did say that Ivy was her go-to night-out spot. So, four."" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Madeleine [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is infectious. Charming, witty, and silly. Before she auditioned for Shere Khan her sophomore year, I knew her as the girl who I really wanted to get to know better. She isn't shy, but isn't in your face either, she just does what she finds interesting and fun and hopes others join her. Judgement isn't in her vocabulary, in terms of her actions or the way people interact with her. She auditioned for SK (even though it's beat) because she wanted to branch out of her freshman ways, and also rushed and got into saint A's (lol am I allowed to say that? If not #sry). Point is she's the kind of person who when she feels too comfortable pushes herself to meet new people. I would be so disappointed for Ivy to not recognize this as valuable. A little bit more about her: she lived in Moscow for most of her life but is from Cambridge and has the adorable accent to prove it. She has a quirky sense of style (Maechi and Jiyoona, she also wears overalls). At her SK newbie arch she sang heath ledger's version of Eyes of You from 10 things I hate about you and in her drunken state pulled someone out of the audience. She takes risks without leaving people behind in the process, and looks at the world with a willingness to embrace anything it has to offer. That's the kind of person Ivy wants."" , , , , ,

CARD: "{""member"":""Lyon [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was all the right type of quirky. She was able to straddle the line between passion and aloofness very well (if there ever is one). We learned a lot about her adventurous side, moving to Puerto Rico and being BT's new editor-in-chief. I began the conversation being a little skeptical but eventually ended on a very warm and nice note. She's got spunk!"" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{member": "Kevin [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I wouldn't be that disappointed if she doesn't get in, and I thought about giving a 2, but she is a very nice and good person. I just feel like our conversation was a little boring. She doesn't seem to be a party animal, and her favorite Ivy experience was a night early October when she sat outside talking with everyone and meeting people. I liked her fascination for pasta and vegetables (zoodles), and her funny relationship with her brother. She is kind and cares about scuba diving and currently lives in PR but is from South Carolina. I think she's a good person but very neutral on whether she gets in", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Nicole [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was sweet and engaged. I feel that she would be a thoughtful conversation partner if the situation called for it. However, I'd say we didn't connect in any significant way. I did appreciate how thoughtful her answers were to questions like what would you change about ivy and where do you feel most at home. Basically, she seems like a nice enough person but there was nothing that really stuck out to me about her personality.", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Hannah [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "\"Of course I love Olives\" was a pretty typical [REDACTED]-line from this conversation. We dabbled in topics of school, major, courses, intercession plans but never deviated out of it. The closest we came was to talking about her move to Puerto Rico but even with some heavy prodding most of what I got was \"i learned a lot from the experience.\" She talked about listening to The Economist on her iPod each week and about deciding to choose a consulting class over a finance class. Maybe I was tired, maybe she was nervous, maybe we just didn't hit it off, and while I would be happy to see her around, I would prefer to see someone else in Ivy. ", "score": 2}",,,, CARD: "{member": "Julian [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Really high quality conversation. [REDACTED] was engaging and genuine. Her background is incredible. She seems to have a talent for picking up different languages and is really interested in what she studies here. I cant imagine a situation where she has trouble talking or socializing with anyone in this club. I don't see her having trouble getting in at all. ", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Jack [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I was skeptical about [REDACTED] when we first started talking - she seemed pretty basic - but we started talking about her academic interests and I was really impressed by her genuine interest in languages and traveling. [REDACTED] reminded me a lot of sophomore me - she spent her summer in Toledo, she picked up Arabic on a whim this year, and she wants to see the world. I asked her how she thought she was perceived, and she had a thoughtful response on how she often comes across more reserved or serious than she actually is, and how she really opens up around her friends. I think she'd be a strong addition to the club, and people would really like getting to know her. ", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Christopher [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I had a good conversation. She seems to genuinely like Ivy. She also talked about how much she likes to play BP which is a big positive. Would be a good addition to the club", "score": 4}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Sammy

[REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"[REDACTED] was nice and cool. I'm giving her a 4 (although I'm looking at it as a borderline 3/4) because we got along well and she was passionate about her interests - but there didn't seem to be much there to rave about. I think she'd be a good addition to the club, but for some reason I found our conversation to be slightly rehearsed and a little lacking in depth. When we spoke about her interest (the Rangers) she had a fun story that got me laughing. I guess the flow of the convo was a little choppy and I didn't come away convinced that she's someone I'm keen on always sitting next to at meals, though I think the club would like her."","score":4}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Hannah

[REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"[REDACTED] was so easy to talk to, and I could totally see her sitting down at meals chatting up any member. She shared a super memorable story about her love for the New York Rangers, and that she with her best friend made it to the top three finalists for Eagles fan of the year. She would bring this charismatic spirit and energy to the club. [REDACTED] speaks both Spanish and Arabic, and is interested in studying the confluence of these cultures, revealing her intellectual curiosity. She was sincere in her answers, and thought that she gave a compelling "why ivy." I think she would be an active contributor to the club. "","score":4}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Julia [REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"I had a nice conversation with [REDACTED]. We talked about her interests in sports, foreign languages and comparative literature. She is a very sweet girl and actually tried to get to know me. However, I felt like she was always blindly agreeing with what I said just to please me. It was a bit much. \n\nShe said she likes Ivy mainly because of what she heard from other people but it was hard to understand what she actually thought about the club. It felt like she didn't have genuine and personal reasons.\n\nI do think [REDACTED] is a sweet girl but I still don't know if she's bickering for the right reasons. "","score":3}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Colleen

[REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"[REDACTED] is a sweet girl. We had a good conversation about her love of languages, her passion for the Rangers (ice hockey?), and the highlights of her Princeton experience. However, what turned me off was her response to what she would change about ivy. She said she felt that many members were fake and put on personas to fit the "ivy stereotype" and she would love to "talk to them about why they did that" and "make them stop". If she felt this way about the membership, I'm not sure why she would want to join the club. She also retro-hosed Deana bc she has followed Deana's footsteps through CA and Piphi, and wants to know if she would still-join-ivy-if-Deana-weren't-in-the-club. "","score":3}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Colleen

[REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"[REDACTED] is a sweet girl. We had a good conversation about her love of languages, her passion for the rangers (icy hock?) and the highlights of her Princeton experience. However what turned me off wasn't her response to what she would change about ivy. She said that many members put on personas to fit the "ivy stereotype" and she would love to "talk to them about why they did that" and "make them stop".if she felt this way about the membership, I'm not sure why she would want to join the club. She also retrohosed Deana bc she has followed deanas footsteps through CA and Piphi and wants to know if she would still join if she wasn't in it.""", "score": 3}""", CARD: "{""member" ":"Charlotte [REDACTED]""", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]""", "content": "Off the bat, I knew i would like [REDACTED] because she was wearing a turtleneck that I happen to own. Good girl. She only continued to appeal to me by discussing her love of art history, and telling me about the time she got mauled by a kangaroo in Australia. We talked a lot about our favorite types of books, falling in love, and it was interesting to hear her thoughts on how she's spent her time at Princeton. I think she would be a good fit for the club, and hope you do too :)"", "score": 4}""",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Michael [REDACTED]""", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]""", "content": "[REDACTED] was really easy to get along with and to talk to. She's bickering Ivy for its strong social and intellectual aspects. Because of this I believe she would fit right in and be an active member of the club. She was really chill and down to earth making her someone I would get meals with. We were able to discuss a wide range of topics showing that she's a well rounded person who is able to hold a conversation. I think she would be a positive addition to the club contributing to its culture and diversity of members.""", "score": 4}""",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Adnan [REDACTED]""", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]""", "content": "[REDACTED] is a sweet girl who I would very happily eat lunch or dinner with at least twice, if not three times a week. A very interesting and fun-loving young lady, she enjoyed the dares I gave her and carried them out with no qualms whatsoever. They mostly included going up to random members who she had never met before, which can be intimidating but she did them with pleasure. [REDACTED] would be a good fit Ivy.""", "score": 4}""",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Kevin [REDACTED]""", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]""", "content": "[REDACTED] is sure of herself, sincere, and really fun in a chill way. She said the funniest things in never have I ever (it was a double bicker with Ben Sorkin and his person), and she clearly would be a fun person on a night out. She does some incredible research on campus for neuroscience, and i truly wanted to talk more with her about it at the ivy dinner table. She would add to the club in a diverse and eclectic way, with her chill demeanor and great personality. Only downside is she's a little too laid back and stoner-y, but that ain't too bad""", "score": 4}""",

CARD: "{""member" ":"John [REDACTED]""", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]""", "content": "[REDACTED] is a really cool girl and seems to have some unique interests, such as the intersection between art history and neuroscience. All I was interested in sophomore year was crushing lattes. Just kidding. She also had a cool idea- to hike part of the PCT and start a \"Humans of the PCT\" photo project. Her reasons to join ivy we're solid, e.g., to branch out, have more exciting conversations with people outside of the classroom, etc. Overall solid bickeree but pretty much indifferent to the possibility of her membership """, "score": 3}""",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Olivia [REDACTED]""", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]""", "content": "Really sweet girl. Creative- she wants to combine neuroscience and art to make her own major. From Princeton. She was a bit shy but I think it was because she was nervous about the conversation.""", "score": 3}""",

CARD: {"member": "Paul [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I generally enjoyed my bicker with [REDACTED], but didn't find myself hoping that she would be in the club by the end of the bicker. I was interested in her discussion of art and neuroscience, but her answer to why ivy (people who can party but you can also hold a conversation with) didn't impress me. Overall very nice girl - i'm just indifferent to whether or not she gets in.", "score": 3},

CARD: {"member": "Colleen [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seems like a very sweet girl, but tbh, she made me very uncomfortable. Her answers were consistently short and unexplained... We had very little in common (she is interested in soccer, nature, and photography), which would have been fine if she had explained why she was so fascinated with these things and demonstrated a lot of passion. But she opted to be very terse, making me feel very tense and scramble to find more/better questions to ask her. Her answer to \"why ivy\" was based on her experiences on nights out, and had little to do with the people or the community, which was a bit disappointing, and I think speaks to her lack of interest in the club. 2.5/3", "score": 3},

CARD: {"member": "Hetty [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "My conversation with [REDACTED] was very onesided, but my not-so-great impression of her started with her story of being attacked by a kangaroo last summer in Australia. It turns out that what she called an \"attack\" was actually just a defensive tail-swing on the kangaroo's part, which I didn't think merited the copious revenge-eating of kangaroo burgers she said she did for the rest of the summer. I tried to give her a chance to redeem that statement but she didn't seem willing to go deep into any conversation topic I proposed. She had very cool academic interests (the intersection between neuroscience and art), but when asked to elaborate she made only very cursory remarks which were hard to work off of.", "score": 2},, CARD: {"member": "Katherine [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was really really awesome we talked for a pretty long time and had a fun conversation. He was really funny and chill and I think would be a really great member. He helped me make a bitmoji so I will be forever grateful. I think he would be a fun and active participant in Ivy. He is from venezuela and did not know many people in ivy when he first came to Princeton but has gotten to know some of the members and really likes the people in ivy. He was really interesting to talk to--he is majoring in econ but also loves art history! Paint him green!!", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Charles [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "He is a black belt in My Thai and has promised to spar with me after bicker. So probably have to give him a five. On a serious note he is a really interesting guy. A little introverted but definitely a diamond in the rough. His dream job is being a professional kife surfer and his favorite person in the club is Jose... good lad. He was very animated when talking about Venezuela and the current political situation there. I think he would be an excellent member and turn up to the club.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"James [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is very likeable, he would certainly be a great member in this club. He has a diverse range of interests and our conversation never got stale. I left [REDACTED] having made plans to spar in Muy Thai next week. I have no doubts that [REDACTED] would be interesting to sit down next to at a meal.\"\", \"score\" : 4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Caroline [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] was friendly, we spoke about his international background and his love of warm climates. However, he seemed reticent when answering questions and slightly spacey. I was double bickering him with someone else who absolutely outshone him, so perhaps this biased my impression of him. [REDACTED] seemed to piggyback off of the other bickeree's responses and the claims he made seemed slightly disjointed. Nice guy, not the best conversationalist.\"\", \"score\" : 3}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Emma [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] seems nice, but I didn't feel like I really connected with her. She told me a lot about how she spent her intersession on campus training to be a tour guide at the art museum, which I thought was pretty cool, but when I asked her about her interest in art, she didn't have a ton to say about it. I also felt like our conversation was pretty one-sided with me mostly asking questions and her answering. She was a little quiet and overall, I thought she was sweet but not a great fit for the club.\"\", \"score\" : 2}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Matthew [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Very outgoing and easy to converse with. Was making an effort to involve the other (quieter) double-bickeree in conversation, which a lot of people would not do. Nailed 'why Ivy', and loves Johnny Cash. Paint him green\", \"score\" : 5}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Mary [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I immediately found [REDACTED] engaging and easy to talk to. He was funny and self-deprecating in his answers, from his description of his awkward first kiss, to which traffic law he breaks the most. He's on the crew team and talked eloquently and honestly about why he does it, the unique environment of the crew team and how his perspective changed when he got injured. I was touched by his description of his best friend (his sister) and by his enthusiasm for menswear (objectively, he does have great taste in socks). He would be a huge plus to our members nights and the dfloor based on his answers about favorite nights out and I would love to sit next to him at a meal!!!\", \"score\" : 5}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Jack [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is great!! Really cool and relaxed, but also very engaging and easy to talk to. We started talking about his interest in menswear, which initially made him sound like an asshole, but I eventually realized that he just genuinely likes dressing well and cares about his appearance, so I guess I respect his passion and shamelessness. It's not every day that someone tells you they love wearing cravats. Well, actually that's not true, I bickered someone this fall who told me he loved cravats. Yikes. Anyways, while [REDACTED] and I didn't talk about anything exceptionally profound, I think [REDACTED]'s demeanor and personality would be perfect for Ivy, and of all the people I bickered I think he'd be a very active member.\"\", \"score\" : 5}",

CARD: {"member": "Paul [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seems like a great guy who would be a good addition to the club. I enjoyed talking to him about his transition from lacrosse to rowing in high school and how much the rowing team here at Princeton means to him. I think he's genuinely interested in Ivy because it'll give him an opportunity to meet people with interests that are different from his own, and he seems like someone who'd be a great addition to the breakfast crew. Lets get him in the club.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Nicole [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I enjoyed my conversation with [REDACTED] -- he had a lot to say about his interest in behavioral economics and his depth perception-related accidents as a child (they're a little horrifying tho, poor guy). At the same time, it was a little hard to connect with him beyond pleasantries and so I'm not feeling extremely enthusiastic about whether or not he becomes a member. He said the most eccentric thing about him is that he's jovial, and emphasized that he just likes being 'in the middle' as far as extremes of personality go. He can definitely hold a conversation well and seems to be just a little reserved so I'd be curious to hear about others' impressions. Wish I saw a bit more personality!", "score": 3},,,,

CARD: {"member": "Conner [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "This may be a repeat card for her - I tried to submit one and the page glitched. Loved this girl - it was fun hearing about how engaged she was with AdThis and BT, and it really seemed like it wasn't just a resume builder but something she was passionate about. Also super embarrassing because she taught me about AdThis and I was talking about it literally just last night. I was impressed by how, in her words, she was too focused on just making friends freshman year, and this year she was excited to put herself out there and try as many things as possible. One reservation, bit shy at first but that's pretty normal and I'm pretty tall so whatever. PaintHerGreenHeyIFoundAWayToBreakTheSystem", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Liam [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I really enjoyed talking with [REDACTED]. We discussed her time studying abroad in Venice this past summer and the ways that it contributed to her deciding to major in Art History. She seemed to have a good appreciation for the diversity of Ivy and the way that the seating policy would let her taking advantage of meeting different kinds of people. I appreciated her involvement with marketing activities on campus and finding ways to involve this passion into her Princeton experience when the school doesn't offer any classes in this area. I think that she would be a good presence at meals and members nights. \r\nMost importantly, she believes Ting will be the next Ivy alum porn star.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Brennan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a fine conversation with [REDACTED], and could tell she is a warm person on the whole. I could see her finding something to talk about with most members of the club at a meal, and socially integrating herself into our membership. When asked her favorite and least favorite things about the club, she responded, \"the people and the stereotypes.\" It's possible we just have different personalities, and I'd be happy to see her in the club.", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Tyler [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "My conversation with [REDACTED] was a solid one. She spoke about coming from SF and not being happy with the level of diversity in her surroundings. She specifically said that she likes Ivy because she believes it to be a diverse community that's nonetheless intimate and welcoming. I asked what she disliked the most about America at the moment and she cited frustration at the amount of hatred all over the country. I also asked an admittedly more difficult question (whether protest was indicative of a healthy or unhealthy nation) and she gave a solid, diplomatic response, saying it was healthy but not a black and white issue. Ultimately she's a pretty solid candidate for the club but came across as not wanting to offend."", "score": 3},

CARD: {"member": "Antoine [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was an incredibly knowledgeable and interesting guy. We talked about his music composition all the way to film noir. He also seemed like he would fit in well in the club, he talked about liking to talk on the patio on nights out over a smoke. He might come out as a little reserved but I truly thinks he's the kind person that makes Ivy such a cool, diverse club. Great why ivy relating back to his Forbes experience being in a close-knit community. Really liked the guy, I'd be stoked if he got in. ", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Gabrielle [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I just met my soulmate. From music composition to investment banking, [REDACTED] and I are twins in terms of interests. Aside from speaking about my favorite topics, his ability to be both calm and energized at once captured my full attention. I didn't feel like I was bickering someone, but rather than I was having coffee with an old friend. He would be a fantastic member. I cannot see him as being insanely rowdy on the dance floor, but not every member needs to be a party animal. [REDACTED] is kind and it would be an honor for the club to have him. ", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Layla [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was super interesting to talk to!! He had a really diverse array of interests, from music composition to economics to traveling throughout Europe. He seemed really genuine and excited about meeting and talking to new people, as I could tell from the various stories he told me about traveling in Vienna last summer and the people he met there. He also told me a crazy story about a night out in ivy when Adnan jumped on his back while he was in the restroom and told him he looked like a nice guy. The fact that he laughs about that event instead of being shook by it speaks to his easygoing and amiable nature. ", "score": 4},

CARD: {"member": "Colleen [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is an incredibly smart, kind, genuine individual. I thoroughly enjoyed my conversation with him and learned a lot about his childhood growing up in London, South Africa, and Miami. He has a passion for Econ, film, music, composition, and is a super respectable guy. However, he doesn't seem to have a ton of energy- not sure if he's going to be super fun on the dance floor. His wildest night on the street was when Adnan told him he was \"a great kid\" while he was pissing. Great person overall, not sure how great of a member he would be.\" ", "score": 3}, CARD: {"member": "Sophie [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I liked this guy, I didn't love him. V intellectual, had a good why ivy, I'm just not sure he would fit in. We are definitely very different people, but he could maybe be an asset to the club, I'm just not sure. Doing i-banking this summer which he was a little keen to tell me, like he thought it would make a difference or something...overall I feel lukewarm so I'm giving him a 3, but still a positive presence. Fundamentally a good kid. "" , ""score"" : 3 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""Samantha [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""I'm not sure what to make of my bicker with [REDACTED]. He was definitely very sweet and had interesting things to say. We started talking about his passion for music composition (which he brought up and happened to be the interest on his sheet) which he spoke really well about. However when our conversation took different twists and turns and I asked him other questions he seemed nervous and stumbled over his words. I enjoyed talking to [REDACTED] and hearing what he had to say, but our conversation didn't really flow smoothly which made it a little bit difficult at times."" , ""score"" : 3 } , CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""Joshua [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] and me did not really hit it off. His reason for doing Ivy is that it is \"Stately and Dignified\" and the rest of his answers sort of followed along with that trend. It was a short conversation because we did not gell much. This could be a neutral I guess except that he was definitely one of my weakest bickers of the 15 I have done so far (15!!) so he gets a weak down."" , ""score"" : 2 } , CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""Emma [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""I don't think that [REDACTED] would be a good fit in the club. It didn't sound like he was bickering ivy for the right reasons. He said that he liked that the club was stately and civilized. He also said that he liked that there is a large international constituency especially people from London and Switzerland. I think he was really playing into Ivy stereotypes and just telling me what he thought I would want to hear. He didn't ask me a lot of questions and wasn't a great conversationalist. Overall, I thought that he was nice but not a great fit for the club. Also apologies if I submitted this card twice because I'm not sure if the system is working :("" , ""score"" : 1 } , CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""Tola [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""He's such an intelligent and cultured guy, even by Princeton standards. He means well and is honestly so sweet, but our conversation was a series of missed connections. I wish him the best and he's definitely got a lot to say about art and culture, I just don't know how well he can engage other memebbers. "" , ""score"" : 1 } , , CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""Derek [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""My convo with [REDACTED] was great. Being her first bicker she was surprisingly super comfortable. She seemed very passionate about dance and gave me some great song suggestions. She genuinely seemed interested in getting to know me and who I am and what I was about. She is unaffiliated and doesn't know too many people in this club so I think she is brave for coming out. I think she is bickering for the right reasons. I think she'll make a solid member, if given the opportunity. "" , ""score"" : 4 } , CARD: "{ ""member"" : ""Paul [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was fun to bicker. She talked about her interest in dance and how, as someone who has been independent, would gain a lot from the Ivy experience of meeting new friends and people from different groups. Seems like a genuinely kind and enthusiastic person.""", "score": 4}], CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Adam [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Talking to [REDACTED] was a pleasure. Having lived all over the world, including Kenya for most of high school, her life experience have been far different from my own, but she was able to tell compelling stories. For instance, she was late to school once because lions were sleeping in the middle of the road. She wants to do ivy because of the diversity of the membership and the opportunity to meet new people -- many of her friends are doing other clubs and she wants to branch out to make sure that her circles of friends keeps growing. She would be a positive addition to the ivy community. \"\", \"score\": 4}\", CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Hannah [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"My conversation with [REDACTED] began with a story about lions making her late on the way to school. This anecdote was full of color and humor, where she talked about her time living in Kenya. She has a worldly sense to her, with a great knowledge of pop culture and movies. As a member of BAC, I'm sure we'd see [REDACTED] killing it on the d floor. \"\", \"score\": 4}\", CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Gabriella [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was sweet and engaging. She seemed genuinely interested in getting to know me and learning more about the club. She told me about all of the different places she has lived and her passion for dance. She seems like a happy-go-lucky kind of person who has many interests. I would be happy to have her in the club. \"\", \"score\": 4}\", CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Brett [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was really lovely. The daughter of a diplomat, she has lived in Korea, Paris, Geneva, and Kenya, which has given her such a unique perspective on the world; she's studying development as a woody woo major just to make a difference in countries like Kenya. She's also in BAC, and cites friendship with people in the company as a huge reason why she wants to be in Ivy, plus the draw of the eclectic group of people. The conversation had a nice pace, but at times felt a bit stilted. She was clearly very interested in making it a two way street (asking \"how about you?\" a lot), which I appreciated, even if it made the pace somewhat awkward. Overall, good bicker. \"\", \"score\": 3}\", CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Emily [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was a really sweet girl. She was outgoing and loves talking to people. She's really eager to join ivy and loves the idea of meeting lots of new people. In general she just kinda quickly answered my questions (enthusiastically) but we never had a flowing conversation. Sometimes she would throw my question back at me but it always felt kinda forced like someone told her to. I asked her if she submitted something at midnight whether she would go out or not and she was kinda meh about it - seems like she does like to go out but not a real \"rallier.\" I don't hold this against her though, just noting, she seems perfectly nice but just kinda forced in conversation. \"\", \"score\": 3}\",

CARD: "{ \"member\": \"Christopher [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] discussed her interesting upbringing as the daughter of a South Korean diplomat. She grew up in South Korea, Kenya, and

Switzerland. She also speaks like five languages so that's dope. She's a member of BAC which she seems to enjoy. Admirably, [REDACTED] wants to be a human rights lawyer after college. While she's certainly an interesting person, our conversation was pretty choppy and didn't feel very organic. Maybe it was just because she was nervous, but she interrupted me a lot. She was overly earnest, trying to force a conversation by constantly asking me questions. While I could see her in the club, I didn't really enjoy our conversation and don't think we'd lose much by not having her. "" , ""score"":3} "" , , , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Leo [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was an absolute delight. We talked for nearly an hour about Tigressions, her experiences in London, North Carolina, and she was earnest and funny throughout. I felt completely at ease and organic, and she answered the classic fuck-marry-kill scenarios with unique answers (Charlotte would be flattered). Never during the conversation did I feel awkward and there weren't any pregnant pauses. I would love to sit next to her at a meal or drink with her at a member's night. Paint her green. I love this girl. A fantastic mix of down to earth and cultured. "" , ""score"":5}"" ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Roberto [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I think [REDACTED] will be a great addition to the club. She's extremely nice, willing to talk about anything, and super comfortable with being herself. She was by far the most genuine person I talked to through bicker, and I'm certain others will like her a lot. It might be a little bit difficult for her to get out of her comfort zone at first, but it seems like she'll make an effort to talk to anyone she hasn't met. "" , ""score"":5}"" ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Krishan [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] knows how to have a great time. She has the skills to crush beer pong and chesties, chat it up in the great room discussing existential questions, and plan an awesome boozy dinner at Thai village. We spoke in depth about her studies, which she was very passionate about. I think her energy and balance between having fun and learning would make her an excellent addition to our club. I was surely swayed by her ability to tie a cherry stem into a knot with her tongue within 4 seconds. "" , ""score"":4}"" ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Gonzalo [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is a really sweet girl and very easy to talk to. She was by far my most inquisitive bickeree. She was very curious about my personal interests and princeton experience; seems like she's treated this process as an opportunity to make new friends and leave the pressure at the door, which is awesome. She was able to talk about Giants football, rip on the NC panthers despite being from North Carolina, give me a background on show tune music and laugh at herself when describing how she has to dance for her upcoming performance in hairspray. She would be a great member and I hope others have also rated her highly. "" , ""score"":4}"" ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Liting [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""So pleasant to talk to. I would describe her as mild. But she was extremely engaged; loves to work with kids; making crafts with kids; would potentially want to open a preschool; can sing! Love music. Her calm demeanor was so soothing during our conversation. Admittedly I was kind of tired, but she kept me laughing and kept me interested in her stories because they revealed how kind she is. Has hilarious stories about kids saying dumb shit while babysitting- would be great for more people to hear. "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Nicholas

[REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is sweet but unfortunately our conversation was a bit staid and seemed forced at times. [REDACTED] told me about her hairstyling business on campus and how she uses it to encourage positive body image. She recently joined the cheerleading team and sings with Tigressions, too. She was genuinely so kind; her dream day would consist of arts and crafts. I would certainly be happy to see her join the club if she consistently impressed other members, but I was not gripped by our conversation. "" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Peter [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was fun to talk to and was good at keeping conversation. I thought it was interesting how she has her own hairstyling business. Entrepreneurship is very cool. I would enjoy sitting with her at meals. My only fear is that she may love the sound of her voice a tad too much. "" , ""score"":3}", [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was so sweet and nice. I loved hearing about her work with empowering women. She was quiet but seemed genuinely nice and friendly. I would like to get to know her more and think she would be a good member. "" , ""score"":3}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Katherine

CARD: "{""member" ":"Gabrielle

[REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was very sweet and nice to talk to. She's involved in tons of activities on campus and would offer a lot to the club. I think she is very open to making new friends and sparkled as she described her desire to meet new people in Ivy. I would be happy for her to get in, and so am between a 3 and a 4. But I think I bickered people more endearing than [REDACTED] who I would be more excited to have a meal with. "" , ""score"":3}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Konadu

[REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a really sweet girl who was a really good sport about doing an interpretive dance/ play with two other bickerees. She told me about some of her interests which included music and a really cool hairstyling business all about empowering and encouraging young girls of color. All of this was really cool, but for some reason I just couldn't connect with her. It was a little hard to keep the conversation going, and it was clear we didn't really click. But maybe someone else would have a much different experience with her. Could be convinced. "" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Arthur [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Really tried to connect with [REDACTED] but we never quite got there. I think she's a lovely person, but the initial shyness never went away, and I have a hard time really thriving in the club at meals or member's nights. Would be happy with her in the club, but can't really go to bat for her. "" , ""score"":3}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Samantha [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I am a little conflicted coming out of my bicker with [REDACTED]. I thought [REDACTED] was super sweet and had a nice time talking to her. We spoke about her hairstyle business and compared our braid Instagram accounts (what a match!). We also discussed her Princeton experience thus far and what her goals and aspirations are. I really appreciated how candid [REDACTED] was in answering my questions. However, I was disappointed when I asked her about her interest (music) and her response was \"yeah I like pop music and also hip hop and rap.\" When I tried to dig a little deeper but didn't really get much else from her. I also thought her answer to \"why Ivy\" seemed very generic to me.\"\", \"score\":3},,, CARD: \"{ \"member\" \": \"Serena [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] IS MY FAV! Really wonderful guy, went for a long walk and spoke so freely about ivy, our funny political opinions, who would best represent us in the club etc. He made me laugh and feel at ease. Great conversationalist/philosophy major and I think he'd be a wonderful addition to the club :)\"\", \"score\":5},, CARD: \"{ \"member\" \": \"Isabel [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I am in love with [REDACTED]. This boy. This is the highest 5 I could ever give anyone. We talked for over an hour about philosophy, art, navigating the Princeton academic scene and our mutual inability to do simple arithmetic. These sound like heavy topics but honestly I was in hysterics for most of our conversation - he is hysterical and has a really boyish, charming wit. We discussed sensory deprivation chambers (we might go to one! Together!) and he kept the conversation going so smoothly. I really didn't feel like I was bickering someone because of his conversational prowess. Everyone needs to get to meet [REDACTED], this boy is my soulmate and an absolute gem. I will weep if he does not get in. \"\", \"score\":5},, CARD: \"{ \"member\" \": \"Katherine [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was SO amazing. I think that was my longest bicker and I could've kept talking to him. He was so nice, funny, personable, and engaging. I feel like he could probably talk to a wall...he would definitely be an active member and I think would add to the ivy community. I'm really tired so can't even really think of good words to put to this card but I know he would be amazing in ivy. I feel like he would walk in and sit down and make friends with anyone and foster an inclusive environment in the club. Paint him green!!!!!!!!!!!!!!\", \"score\":5},, CARD: \"{ \"member\" \": \"Tara [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Great conversation! He was such a nice guy and we talked a lot about his interest in visual arts, despite his minor color blindness. He also told me about starting a figure drawing club on campus and being a part of Model UN. He had an amazing answer for \"Why Ivy?\", talking about meeting people with different backgrounds in a small and close-knit community; he also talked about how conversation is a form of art that is often undervalued and loves that Ivy values it when evaluating potential members. He also took the initiative to ask me about my interests which I appreciated and he easily shifted between intellectual conversation and more laid-back/fun discussion. Definitely someone you would want to have a meal with. \"\", \"score\":5},, CARD: "{member": "James [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] made a good first impression when asked where we are going for food with his response of hoagie haven. This may say more about me than him, but regardless he explained his life philosophy as we walked, and there was never a moment of silence. He would be a great member of the club.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Meaghan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is cool. He wasn't doing too well with questions like \"how would you ask me to prom?\" but once our conversation became more serious, I was very convinced and impressed by his \"why Ivy\". He seems to really enjoy and thrive in more serious, slightly thought-provoking conversation, and that's something that I really value and that we all know Ivy really values. He's a portrait artist even though he's slightly COLOR BLIND, which is absolutely wild. And he took a Color Theory class here, which I also find to be insane. Maybe the color-blind are into self-torture like that. But it's awesome :) he's a great guy, great conversationalist, and a good sport when asked slightly annoying joke questions. Paint him green!", "score": 4}",,,,,, CARD: "{member": "Gabrielle [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is the ideal Ivy bickeree. He starred in Blues Clues and Law&Order SVU, and told me about how Katie [REDACTED] bit his arm in line for Tower Underground. He's passionate about aerospace, drawing for the Nas, acting, and teaching children art every week. He also told me several hilarious stories about crazy things he did on nights out. He would be an outstanding member both at meals and at member's nights. He's both fun and introspective, and would certainly add to the club. I highly suggest that the bicker committee lets this kid in.", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Caroline [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I took a stroll to Starbucks and had a great chat. I wasn't blown away by him to begin with, but I quickly attributed this to nervousness. [REDACTED] seemed introspective and was quick to ask me more personal questions about my experience at Princeton (regrets, hopes, dreams). He was genuine and very down to earth. He spoke poetically about love and I found myself really warming to his personality by the time we returned to Ivy. Very sweet guy.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Deana [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I thought [REDACTED] was really sweet and intentional with the questions he asked me during the conversation. Overall, he was nice, but at times it was a little hard to carry on the conversation. I liked how he opened up about his interest in Ivy and although he's never been to a meal or several big nights out, he seems to genuinely like the club. I enjoyed learning about his love for music as well as art. He also told me his most embarrassing moment-- getting locked out of the locker room and having to exit across the football field in the dead of winter. He had a fun personality and would be a nice addition.", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Elizabeth [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I very much enjoyed my chat with [REDACTED]. He seems like a very chill guy. We talked mostly about art and music, and though he looooves EDM and going to EDM concerts (I hate EDM) we were able to find some good common ground. He is an MAE major from Brooklyn in the Nass. He loves visual art and is very into illustration, but also wants to be an astronaut, which is a pretty unique combo. He is very Brooklyn and very Nass (if that is an adjective), and I think he would be a very solid fit for the club.""", "score": 4}], [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a very sweet kid. I seems that he's pretty lowkey and shy so his strengths may not shine through in a conversation as easily as other people's. He didn't even think to mention he is on the path to become an astronaut! He seems to like going out at Ivy and feels like he would vibe with the people. I didn't feel like he was passionate about much but is an interesting person on paper. I worry he wouldn't flourish here but he seems like an optimistic chill guy and maybe we just didn't vibe completely because of different personality types. It felt like he took up whatever I started talking about but didn't take us in a new direction.\n\n", "score": 3}], [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was alright. Was a boring conversation but he is a sweet kid and maybe was nervous. Seems very smart but not necessarily the most interesting cat I have ever met. Said he thought Chuck was really cool. Take that as you choose. I wouldn't be upset if he got in or if he didn't. I am neutral", "score": 3}], [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED]. I am genuinely unsure about how I felt about our conversation. I enjoyed his explaining his love of art as a release from the classroom. An MAE major thats also artistic director for the Nassau Weekly, that's a pretty cool combo. However, at times the conversation was slow and I felt like I was really pulling for answers. He seemed like a perfectly nice guy, just not sure how much he would add to the atmosphere. I could definitely be convinced he would be a good addition, maybe other people feel this way.", "score": 3}],

CARD: {"member": "Camila

CARD: {"member": "Joshua

CARD: {"member": "Charles

CARD: {"member": "Alexander [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] Nice enough kid but not amazing to talk to. He mostly talked about his 7 classes, and how he thinks he might have to drop one. he's MAE. His interest was art but he didn't seem super passionate about it. he is art director of the Nassau weekly, and said that he wants to do ivy because when he's met upperclassmen and liked them, they've tended to be in ivy and he thinks thats a sign. He also said that he liked the people in Ivy who work on the Nassau weekly, but when I asked him who he liked he couldn't name a single person and froze up. Had to do most of the heavy lifting in keeping convo afloat and wasn't ideal.", "score": 2}],

CARD: {"member": "Christopher

[REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was very funny and has a bubbly personality. My bicker session with her was the one so far that felt most like an organic conversation. Definitely would want her in the club", "score": 5}],

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Camila [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I am not kidding, I will freak the fuck out if [REDACTED] does not end up in Ivy. I could have talked to her forever and I honestly want to be best friends w her. She said her best night out was this \\\"random night they kept playing latino music\\\".. a match made in heaven. She didn't really get to know the club until this year when she started to branch out socially, I think she'd be present in the club and would make friends with all kinds of people. She's also a huge savage and left high school her Senior spring to study abroad in Germany and technically didn't formally graduate. She'd be a perfect addition to Livy and the club as a whole. \"\", \"score\": 5}\"",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Jack [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was the most upbeat, engaged bicker I've had to far! I usually have had to resort to asking hypotheticals to keep the conversation going, but [REDACTED] seemed genuinely interested in my background, what I care about, what motivated me, etc. - it felt very natural and like a normal conversation, and I liked how she was confident enough to turn my questions around on me. She also seemed very comfortable in her own skin; she likes meeting different people, but doesn't feel the need to put on different hats to make strong connections with them. Her outgoing personality and talkative nature makes me think she'd be active in the club, and I think members would really like getting to know her and vice versa. \"\", \"score\": 5}\"",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Jordan [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was super sweet and easy to talk to. She was very soft spoken in the beginning of our conversation but ended up opening up to me about her love life and her year abroad in Germany. There was nothing about her personality that was particularly striking but I felt really comfortable chatting with her and her body language showed that she was really relaxed and she's very passionate about Ivy. She loves going out here, particularly bc of the mixture of dancing and talking that goes on and likes the \\\"diversity\\\" aspect. \"\", \"score\": 4}\"", , , , , ,

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Harry [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] seemed like a pretty good guy. He's from a small town of 400 people in northern Virginia and grew up wanting to be an archeologist which is pretty cool. It didn't seem like he knew a ton about Ivy, but he seems like an enthusiastic guy so that probably isn't much of an issue. Definitely someone who has no problem holding a conversation and engaging others. Has a really interesting background, and could be a pretty cool member. \"\", \"score\": 4}\"",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Caroline [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] is a really cool guy and we had a fun bicker! He told me about his family's farm in Virginia and we bonded over our shared love of horses and equestrian sports. [REDACTED] was so easy to talk to and joke around with during our conversation. He made me laugh with his embarrassing story and even poked a bit of fun at me for asking him some sillier questions. He really made an effort to get to know me during our conversation and I think he would be a good addition to the club! His fun personality was so refreshing and I think anyone would have a good time talking to [REDACTED]. \"\", \"score\": 4}\"",

CARD: {"member": "Nicholas

[REDACTED]","bickeree":["[REDACTED]"],"content":["[REDACTED] was a nice human, and I really appreciated that about him. He was a little shy, but I did not mind at all. I almost appreciated his corkiness because it showed he really respected the bicker process, and that he wanted to be in Ivy. Once he started to open up more, he was actually very personable and funny. I enjoyed our conversation, which revolved a lot around how close [REDACTED] was to his family. He grew up in a military family, which forced him to live in several places while growing up. He said this allowed him to become very close with his family, which is something I appreciate. [REDACTED] was a funny kid, and he will do well in Ivy."],"score":4},

CARD: {"member": "Brennan

[REDACTED]","bickeree":["[REDACTED]"],"content":["[REDACTED] was a friendly guy. Clearly nervous, we struggled to connect. I could see him being a friendly face in the club, and would be happy to have another conversation with him in the future. This could easily have been attributable to nerves, but he refused to answer a few relatively straightforward questions, just saying, \"nah man that's too hard\" which didn't make the conversation as exciting as it otherwise could have been. All around a fine bicker."],"score":3},

CARD: {"member": "Brett [REDACTED]","bickeree":["[REDACTED]"],"content":["There were a few glimmering moments in this conversation where we laughed and got a good rhythm going, but for the most part I felt like I had to keep digging around and asking questions to keep [REDACTED] talking (could have been my question-asking style, or him). He's a really open and genuine guy, and I appreciated his honest answers and easygoing nature. He had great stuff to say about the close community of his (current) home in Virginia (army brat) and gushed over his 10-month-old twin siblings. Definitely a nice guy worth getting to know, but his short answers to some of my questions (couldn't really explain his history interest beyond \"I like history\") counteract some of the better laughing moments - net neutral."],"score":3},

CARD: {"member": "Carolina [REDACTED]","bickeree":["[REDACTED]"],"content":["Nice guy, easy going but really nothing interesting came out of our conversation. I was basically leading the whole conversation forward. Said his favourite time at the street was chilling at terrace and upon asked why Ivy he said because it was fun and he wasn't wild enough for TI... Also hadn't thought up of any answers for a lot of my more obvious questions, and could not give me an answer for best or worst moment at Princeton so yeah."],"score":2},

CARD: {"member": "John [REDACTED]","bickeree":["[REDACTED]"],"content":["This dude was weird. He's from a farm on Virginia which sounded cool at first but clearly ended up cultivating a weird ass dude. Talked about his dad loving babies so much he hired a surrogate to have more. I mean to each his own but that's a weird thing to bring up a few minutes into a bicker. also told me his GPA which is usually a fiend move but this guy definitely wasn't bragging about his. Nonetheless, weird move. Lastly, and pretty importantly, he had shit reasons to want to join ivy. Seems to have not thought about why he wanted to join","score":2},

CARD: "{member": "Charlotte [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Through my interaction with [REDACTED], I was not convinced that he would be a good Ivy member. To begin with, he was dismissive of a majority of the questions I asked him, and would subsequently give very brief and shallow responses. When I asked him \"Tell me about yourself\" he looked at me with both shock and a bit of condescension. I felt as if I had to pull the answer to this simple question out of him. Furthermore, when I said I had a list of questions to ask him he said \"Oh, I hate the lists of questions!\" Maybe he was trying to be funny, but it rubbed me the wrong way. ", "score": 2},

CARD: "{member": "Nicole [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I enjoyed my conversation with [REDACTED]. She's friendly and funny, and despite some tiredness on both ends, the conversation flowed pretty well. She was very open talking about her choice to drop TI and bicker Ivy, and in discussing her decision she made it clear that she's put a lot of thought into the kind of community she's looking for. I think her thoughtfulness in regards to this decision would translate into her being a very active and enthusiastic member, and I have no doubt she would look to connect with a variety of people in the club. [REDACTED] seems like she'd make a caring and entertaining addition to Ivy; I'd love to see her as a member!", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Katherine [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was nice but we did not have a very great conversation--I was kind of pulling teeth and he was not making it easier with one word answers. He didn't have a very strong answer for why he would want to do ivy, and even said that he should have a better answer after having been asked that four times. I dnt mean this in a judgmental way, but he also said he does not know anyone in the club. He also told me that he cheated on his girlfriend so that's not the best look, but again don't want to judge him entirely off of that. I just feel like I tried to get to know him and really engage him and couldnt.", "score": 2},,

CARD: "{member": "Caroline [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "LOVED [REDACTED]. Gorgeous, chatty, politically informed, engaging. We spoke about her accidental appearance on Fox News even though she's a hardcore Democrat (lol). She seems like a major #kween and a #nastywoman. [REDACTED] is also unbelievably talented and splits her time between BodyHype and PUB. I only chatted with her for 40 minutes, but I could carry on talking with her for hours. She spoke without pretense and I felt, by the end of our conversation, that we had established a truly genuine rapport. PLEASE PAINT HER GREEN, AWESOME GIRL!", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Barbara [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "dadayum. It has to be 30 words but it's all I wanna write. She is the full package: smart funny engaging cute and talented. I wanna be friends with her. But actually she's super involved with politics (woody woo major but worked for dnc this summer) is in pub and has an amazing energy that made the bicker truly enjoyable. She's so friendly and made the conversation so easy. ", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Laura [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "She was sweet, but probably not the best fit for ivy. The conversation mostly centered around her academic and community service interests, and there didn't seem to be much more to talk about. She mentioned that people sometimes misperceive her as mean because she is quiet/an introvert. Overall, we had a great conversation, but it was the type of conversation I would expect to have with a girl from precept rather than a girl from Ivy. """, ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":""Camila [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I had a little trouble carrying the conversation and struggled to find something she was passionate about. The positive about her is that she seems open to meeting new people, she has moved around a lot and says she has a one foot sort of in a lot of different friend groups on campus. She doesn't seem to know much about ivy and her friends aren't bickering so I was really happy that she was taking a chance on us and I think that reflects well on her. My concern is that I don't think she would be a very active member since she doesn't seem that passionate about other things she is involved in like her major or her extracurriculars. """, ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":""Madeleine [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I had a pretty difficult time engaging with [REDACTED]. She was very nice but I don't think she's confident enough to feel comfortable here. We really didn't connect. What do I know though... Very kind, very smart, and would have a great time here I'm sure. """, ""score"":2}", CARD: "{""member"":""Spencer [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Had a great time talking with [REDACTED]. The conversation flowed very nicely and I loved discussing our mutual interests together and learning more about her point of view on many topics. We talked mainly about politics - not our political views, but about how she became interested in the field and her work in it - and we discovered we had shared passions and are taking the same Environmental Policy class next semester. She also displayed an easy open-mindedness and friendliness that I think would fit in well at meals and around the club. She was very enthusiastic both about her time at Princeton and about the potential of joining Ivy, and I think she'd be a great fit and give her a strong up. """, ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Jonathan [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""It would be an injustice to this world if [REDACTED] doesn't get into Ivy. She is great to talk to really genuine. She has a passion for ballet and there are few people who have found something they enjoy so much. Although our interests are very different, it didn't stop us having a great conversation and she would be a great member. """, ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Kial [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Really cool girl. She knew a lot about sports and we talked 20 minutes about sports, i love sports. She agreed that we should create a stronger tailgate culture and I loved that. She had really genuine reasons for wanting to do Ivy and she was very easy going. She seems like someone who would be very funny to have at dinner as she made a lot of good jokes and references as well. She would be a great addition to the club """, ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Ana [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I thought [REDACTED] was really nice. Both of her parents were dancers and it's clear she had a really creative childhood. She's in PUB and body hype and talked about her experience in the two clubs. I can't really say we talked about anything deep, but I do think she was sweet and curious and genuinely wants to be in ivy. I'm gonna give her a three just cause I think maybe with someone else she'll have better luck connecting, but there wasn't much between us. Really smart though - she worked at DNC this summer and it seemed interesting (although she didn't really go into detail). "" , ""score"" : 3 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Emma [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""\tWhen I grow up I want to be [REDACTED]. She is by far one of the most talented, artsy, cool, smart, passionate, fun people I've ever met. I know that sounds like I just threw together every positive adjective I could think of, but I swear I didn't—she is straight up all those things. [REDACTED] and I are in the same dance group and she literally awes me with her talent whenever I watch her. Every semester I want to be in the pieces she choreographs because they're so cool and she always is super kind and casts me in them even though we both know I'm way too washed up to do her extremely advanced choreography. You would think that she's just some incredibly creative, uber right-brained dancer, but she is also incredibly smart, levelheaded and passionate about social justice and politics. I really think Ivy could use someone who's so multifaceted. \r\n\t[REDACTED] is also a really fun person to go out with. I took her as my date to formals and didn't drink because I was sick, but had an amazing time with her anyway. She's just the type of person who you can go out with while sober and still have a blast. I know that if she were to join Ivy she'd be the first person on the dance floor at every members night tearing it up and being crazy in the best way possible. Paint this gal green!\r\n"" } , , , , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Layla [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""I loved him!! We had a really great conversation that could've gone on for another hour had my fingers not been freezing outside. He's really passionate about cycling and very much seems like an adventure-seeker. I asked him what the craziest thing is that has happened to him and he told me a titanic-like story about a ship that he was on, traveling to Antarctica, that hit a huge wave, broke the windows and got partially flooded. He's super friendly and I could definitely see him being a great addition and a very happy presence in the club - he seems really excited about meeting new people and I think people should be excited about meeting him!!"" , ""score"" : 5 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Rebecca [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Writing this card, all I can think about is how much my cheeks hurt from smiling and laughing so much in the conversation we had together. I completely lost track of time talking to him about cycling, France, his dreams, his family and so much more. His ambition to race professionally was admirable and I loved his honesty about not following the beaten path in his career and future. He was funny, charming and an absolute pleasure to get to know. I think that he would be an amazing asset to the club and that he has so much to give. I wish that I had more space to write about how awesome he is, but for now I will just say, PAINT HIM GREEN! "" , ""score"" : 5 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Camila [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was super personable and seemed to genuinely want to get to know me and learn about being a Ivy member. He wants to become a pro-cyclist and was super passionate about that and had a million interesting things to talk about. My only concern is that he has had the same friend group since his freshman year, I worry that he would not branch out of that group or bring anything new to Ivy. However, he did say that he thinks it's important to try new things in order to really enjoy life, which makes me hope that he would try to go outside of his comfort zone and meet new people which I think is a key part of being a good member.

 "" , ""score"":4}" ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Deana [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] was a joy to talk to. He is very passionate about cycling and is the president of the Princeton Cycling Team and is spending his summer with the US Cycling Team. I really liked his personality and you can tell he's a go-getter, based on the story he told me of how he landed the internship. He's also a twin and we talked about how interestingly enough, he's closer to his older sister than his twin sister. His reason for joining Ivy: \"You don't join an eating club to sit by yourself or be with the same friends you made freshman year. You do it to meet new people and that's what I want to do here.\" He would be a great fit."" , ""score"":4}" , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Folasade [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] was nice and I enjoyed our conversation. He is very passionate about cycling and wants to become a pro-cycler! He is interested in becoming a history major (I think I actually just helped him decide lol!). I think he'd be a fine member but not yearning to let him in, I'd be fine either way. He said he wants to be in Ivy because it will keep Princeton fresh for him because he looks forward to having conversations with new people and people he's not constantly around. "" , ""score"":3}" , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""David [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] seems like a nice guy. Very focused on cycling, sounds like he might be really good at that. But couldn't really learn much more other than that. He's definitely a chill dude, I definitely wouldn't have any issue with him being in the club but also didn't connect with him super well. He would probably come out to the club a lot which is a good thing. "" , ""score"":3}" , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Julia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""I had a fine conversation with [REDACTED]. We talked about cycling, dreams, how to choose future jobs and how it's bad to overextend on activities. He struck me as someone who is honest and thoughtful and very serious. Something about his demeanor made me feel that he was uncomfortable and was presenting to an interviewer rather than having a conversation. His passion for cycling is evident. He might have been exhausted by the time we talked though, I was his last bicker of the night. It's possible we just didn't connect. He has great taste in music! Deep into 90s rock. This is more of a 3/4 than a 3. "" , ""score"":3}" , , , , , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Rebecca [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""I loved my bicker with [REDACTED] because it was effortless. Conversation was natural yet wasn't superficial and maintained an interesting and deep thread throughout. His eloquence and engagement with the flow of the conversation was impressive. His 'why ivy' answer really spoke to me about wanting to know some of the most interesting people on campus and being friends with and able to sharing ideas/backgrounds with some incredible, diverse, intellectual and talented people. Echoing this, he definitely could be one of those and hence would be a great fit in the club. "" , ""score"":4}" ,

CARD: {"member": "Katelyn

[REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "[REDACTED] at first I didn't think I would give a good score to. we played heads up and he was kind of in the background, not really shouting out any guesses or acting anything out. after we broke off from our double bicker though, and a while into our conversation, I realized he was a really nice person to talk to. I feel like my 4 is more of a 3.8, but I think that with a little effort he would be a great addition to the club. he also gets really passionate when talking about certain subjects, which I really appreciated. I could tell it was genuine. ","score": 4}", CARD: {"member": "Olivia [REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "he was a little bit more reserved at first and then opened up. W3 talked about high school experiences and existential crises. I don't know how well I got to know him but that's probs cus I did a double bicker hot seat . But, I felt that he was very open and honest in his answers and he also asked me a lot of questions about himself. Sweet and chill dude. ","score": 3}", CARD: {"member": "Adam [REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "[REDACTED] was the editor of the sports section of the Daily Princetonian and expects to stay involved now that his term is up, even though he is balancing that with mentoring at McGraw and working with a club that manages a fund where the returns are donated to charity. Though he was initially interested in the humanities, he really sees the world through a quantitative lens. He was a rather quiet guy but was animated when talking about traveling to China to visit his family. I enjoyed talking to [REDACTED] and hearing his perspective but he didn't make a particularly strong impression on me. ","score": 3}",

CARD: {"member": "Christopher

[REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "[REDACTED] seems like a nice kid but not especially interesting. Wouldn't mind having him in the club but wouldn't care if he didn't make the cut. He's a nice enough guy","score": 3}", CARD: {"member": "Julia [REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "To be honest, when I first talked to [REDACTED] it was really awkward. The conversation seemed forced, and I was kinda worried. However, after talking for a few minutes we really clicked. It was clear he was just really nervous. He had an amazing sense of humor intensified by a number of hilarious anecdotes- like the time his girlfriend's dad (the dean of admissions at Notre Dame) walked in on them hooking up a week before he submitted his application (he said it made choosing Princeton easier). He says he wants to bicker Ivy because he likes how so many different types of people are able to get along. Would call him a perfect fit if not for the first few awkward minutes. ","score": 3}", CARD: {"member": "Harry [REDACTED]","bickeree": "[REDACTED]","content": "[REDACTED] was really sweet! We ended up having a lot in common and she was incredibly engaging in our conversations. Definitely showed a real interest in my life. She talked a lot about how much she enjoys meeting new people and learning more about others, and given how our conversation went i totally believe that. She also seems like she has a good diversity of interests, which is a good thing. I would definitely recommend [REDACTED] for Ivy, she would fit in great with our membership","score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Charles [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Why do all the tigressions keep melting my heart?? [REDACTED] is an incredibly sweet, intellectual girl with an infectious smile. She loves to sing and has an incredible life story. I would love to sit down at any meal and spend more time talking to her. She says she loves to go out at ivy and would be an incredible addition to our ivy family. I am confident that she would be an active member. Please paint her green. If you don't I will be sad. Don't make me sad.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Colleen [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I did a double bicker with [REDACTED] and another soph, and must say that she was pretty awkward. She even referred to herself as a 'not fun person' and 'colonial [REDACTED]' because of how unadventurous she was, which definitely came through in her responses. Most of her answers were very unsafe and polite, which deviated from the genuine, interesting and deep ivy member profile that we are looking for. She was also at a slight disadvantage because her sophomore counterpart was super energetic and easy-going. I don't see her being a great ivy member- can't see her tearing up the dance floor or bringing interesting perspectives to the dinner table. That said, she is a very nice girl!", "score": 3},,,, CARD: "{member": "Rebecca [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Her spirit animal of a dolphin perfectly sums her up. She was cute, bubbly and smiled the whole time. Her entrepreneurial spirit was admirable but more so the story behind why she started her business was what really held my attention, and her loving nature and desire to make a difference did shine through in our conversation. We didn't necessarily talk about anything in depth but I enjoyed my time with her and I know she'd make a great addition to the club.", "score": 4}, CARD: "{member": "Meaghan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Holy friggin shoot I LOVE [REDACTED]. What is love, you ask? My feelings towards him. Look it up!! He was my best bickeree by FAR--hilarious, thoughtful in his responses, curious about my answers to the questions I asked him, and very genuine. Honestly so funny--guaranteed amazing banter if you ever talk to this guy. We covered so much ground in our conversation--nothing was forced, and no awkwardness. He really knows how to keep a conversation going. Anyone would be lucky to sit next to him at a meal, find a seat next to him on the couch, or cheeeell with him in the Great Hall. He has a complicated relationship with a girl but I can change that :) PAINT HIM GREEN.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Sophie [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Ah such a sweetheart - absolutely hilarious. Great sense of humour, very self deprecating which I like, he def didn't take himself too seriously. Classic rower type so definitely fills the mould we already are familiar here with. I would definitely be down to sit next to him at dinner. Paint him green!", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Sophia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I'm not convinced that [REDACTED] would be a positive addition to Ivy. When he responded to my questions, I got the sense that he was not responding genuinely, but instead trying to be someone that he thought would be a stereotypical Ivy member. I don't really know how to articulate this feeling about him, but it was difficult to connect to him because I felt like he wasn't interested in giving honest or personal responses to what I asked him.", "score": 2},

CARD: "{member": "Charles

[REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"[REDACTED] and I had an alright chat. Though I don't really think we hit it off very well. He seemed a little quiet and didn't seem very excited about the prospect of being in Ivy. I don't really think he would be an active member.","score":2},

CARD: "{member": "Sophie [REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"Ah I feel bad but he was just so boring. So so quiet we had like a million awkward silences - and I am not an awkward silence kind of gal! I asked him what his favorite part of ivy was and he literally paused for 60 seconds trying to figure out what to say. He seemed way too quiet and shy, and I just could not get him to come out of his shell. I would not be enthused to sit next to him at dinner - he does not seem to be a fit for the club. May be we are just very different people, but generally I just did not get good positive vibes from him. I think we can do better.","score":2},

CARD: "{member": "Eduardo [REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"The conversation started a bit slow and stiff, but once [REDACTED] warmed up he ended up being pretty warm and talkative. He's from Venezuela but spent a gap year in Portugal and Spain, where he learned to cook (apparently his best dish is curried chicken), and gained an appreciation for art (if he could invite anyone to dinner, it'd be Van Gogh). He's very close with his family, mentioning his brother and grandfather and times he's spent with them; and also outdoorsy, enjoying soccer and kitesurfing. Overall, it was a decent conversation and I enjoyed getting to know him, but not the best today and required more specific questions, rather than having an easy flow.","score":3},

CARD: "{member": "Benjamin

[REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"[REDACTED] was nice and pleasant, but not very outgoing. I don't want to judge him too harshly because I was starting to get very tired, but he didn't seem to have all that much to talk about, which concerns me a bit. What he did say seemed fair and I think he appreciates the diversity of the club.","score":3},

CARD: "{member": "Gianna [REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"I found my new boxing partner in [REDACTED]. We had a nice chat about our love of sushi, fondness for foreign art museums, and past time of boxing. He had a hard time talking about himself and opening up though, not sure if that was just because it was the end of the night or because he was more shy about that. I think his interesting background and variety of interests would fit in well with Ivy and he would be a fun member. Although our conversation went well I'm not convinced about him, something just didn't click. Could be persuaded up but this is a neutral.","score":3},,,, CARD: "{member": "Leo [REDACTED]","bickeree":"[REDACTED]","content":"[REDACTED] was highly academic. Unfortunately, that's where most of the conversational zeal ended. He exhibits the trademark Princeton \"humble arrogance\" when it comes to answering questions about his academic prowess/accomplishments, an unavoidable task due to his listing of only academic pursuits under his interests/facts. When probed about why he liked Ivy, what he liked/disliked about Princeton in general, he gave vague, formulaic answers that made me feel akin to a walking essay prompt. He never attended a meal, by his admittance, and I never came close to breaking past that veneer of even experiences. Kris and I made her dance with Kris' bickeree - mediocre performance but she was happy to do it. She will be very liked in the club. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Nicolas [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""A ton to talk about, genuinely a very interesting person with a lot of stories to tell. Sings acapella, plays golf. Very kind and easy to talk to. Conversation flowed smoothly. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Alicia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""Really loved talking to [REDACTED]! She was full of energy and we had a great conversation. She is very involved on campus and is always looking for ways to meet new people. I think she would be a great member of Ivy and that she would make a genuine effort to get to know as many people in this club as possible. She was very open about her strengths and weaknesses, talking about her time at Princeton, and was also eager to learn more about Ivy and what it means to be a member. I could have talked to her for a long time. Strong four. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Nicole [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""My conversation with [REDACTED] was pleasant. She was sweet but our discussion stayed pretty surface. A lot of her responses felt a tad rehearsed -- it's possible she just has a more formal personality. Regardless of the cause, I didn't feel like I necessarily really got to know her. She does seem like a positive person who would be nice to be around. Wouldn't mind getting to know her better, but still, I don't feel particularly enthusiastic about our session. "" , ""score"":3} , , , , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Charles [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""Wow, what a sweetheart. [REDACTED] and I seemed to never be able to stop talking. She's involved in so many different activities. She's a track runner, marketing manager for a startup and loves art. I don't think she stopped smiling the whole conversation. She is so excited about all things ivy and I am utterly convinced she will be at every members night, every meal and even here during the day. She would make an excellent addition to our ivy family and I think we would be incredibly foolish to not paint her green. Each member's Princeton experience will be made that much better. Get this girl in. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Eduardo [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""She's short, bubbly, and on the track team. She's Melissa 2.0, except I'm sure she (unlike Melissa) will say hi to me in every situation. But in all sincerity I can't imagine this girl in any club except Ivy. She is kind and interesting. She is looking to break out from her track team and be around a bunch of interesting people. I am sure she would be an active member. She's more than just an athlete. Her work in social entrepreneurship, working to create markets for traditionally neglected artistic forms, is the kind of thing I would love learning about over a nicely prepared Jean Giunta dinner. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Abigail [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] is an absolute sweetheart. She is a sprinter on the track team, but her interests extend to architecture, fashion and Italian culture. Incredibly easy to talk to, we covered just about everything from her love for travel to Ray Menin's unique taste in clothing, and especially commiserated on our mutual inability to keep track of our belongings. [REDACTED] would be a fantastic addition to Ivy. She's funny and easy going. All around a great girl. """, ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Harry [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] is frickin awesome. So nice, does all kinds of stuff, passionate, talked my ear off about her life and showed a genuine interest in mind. No brainer, get her in. Couldn't have gone better """, ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Leo [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I really enjoyed meeting and hanging out with [REDACTED]. She's a sheer delight - cheerful, charming, genuine, outgoing, and insightful. Our conversation ranged from discussing the benefits and drawbacks of the paleo diet to critiques of the Italian macroeconomy. Smiling nearly the entire conversation, I was easily won over by her positive attitude and almost conspiratorial conversational style. I felt like I was getting the Real [REDACTED], no matter what we talked about, and it was a pleasure to sit next to her. I could absolutely see myself sitting next to her at meals, and I would love to see her a member of Ivy. Great bicker!""", ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Aubree [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] is a really cool girl. She is super passionate about her interests and gave me a lot of energy even though it was pretty late at night and I was tired. She seems to be really set in her ways, on the track team and with her interests in entrepreneurship, which i have respect for. She said she would be a part of the breakfast club which is a plus. I don't know what new perspective she would bring to this club, but she is really nice and I would be happy to see her around. """, ""score"":3}",,,,,, CARD: "{""member"":""Rebecca [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] melted my heart. After serenading me with his rendition of \"With You\", I learnt all about his time in the Footnotes, his passion for music and his open and warm nature. He seems like a bit of a wild card and he didn't falter in sharing his crazy antics and wild nights out. I'm sure he would kill it on the dancefloor at every members night. He seemed a little apprehensive about bickering, but felt that Ivy was right for him for the interesting people and great conversations he's had with every member he has met. He doesn't \"want a club for one night out, but a lifetime\". All in all, [REDACTED] was a great guy, and would definitely do well in the club. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Benjamin [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Will is very down to earth, rounded, and interested in Ivy for all of the right reasons. He is a part of the Footnotes, always down for a good drinking time, but also very concentrated on being successful in academia and career. Will would be a great Ivy member!""", ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Olivia [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""Was down to get goofy/ did a weird skit loved it. got solid vibes from this kid. Initially a little bit hard to get past the kind of rote answers and stuff but then we got into deeper territory and he's actually quite the crazi and open dude. Started acapella at Princeton, would ideally be a singer songwriter and not on the orfe major track. I think he would really be interested in getting to know other people in the club.

"" , ""score"" : 4 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Gianna

[REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] has the voice of an angel, our bicker ended with him serenading me with some chris brown jams, brownie points. But we also had a really nice and long conversation before the singing. He had some great travel stories from his summer backpacking around Germany and his travels seeking out delicious and weird foods (cow tonuge, ew). He seemed a bit quiet and shy at first but opened up as we got to talking about his passions and his family. Seems like he would be a good conversationalist at meals though Im not sure about how often he would come out. All in all, this was a good bicker and I enjoyed getting to know him. "" , ""score"" : 4 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""David [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Will was a solid kid, easy to talk to. Interesting and nice. Nothing special though. I'd say he's the definition of a three. He's in a singing group called the Footnotes and is a super finance-y type guy. He's an ORFE major, but not the cool kind of orfe like tiggy, the super intense type of orfe. He even went to a vocational high school focused on finance. So he can definitely talk to you about derivatives or some shit like that. He loves traveling, as most of our bickerees seem to do. I'm very neutral about him. I was also his first bicker so maybe he was a bit nervous, maybe in later bickers he'll open up a bit more like a flower blooming. "" , ""score"" : 3 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Adam [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""He was hard to get talking but very nice. My primary concern is that he said he does not come to ivy often / showed little interest. He said that he does not come here for nights out often (generally goes to Cap or TI) but that he is looking for something different in the club he joins than the club he goes out to. He has not been to a meal either I am pretty sure, so it seem like he has no real basis for liking Ivy. Just kinda meh... Also his interest story did not make sense - seemed like he was trying spin a fratty story that did not really fit his personality. "" , ""score"" : 3 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Tola [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""He's definitely an interesting kid with a lot of great stories to tell. He's also for sure using bicker as an experience to put himself out there and meet new people, I just wasn't engaged in our conversations despite my best efforts. I was his last interview of the night (number 8) so that definitely affected something, but yeah.... "" , ""score"" : 3 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Cason [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was very nice, don't get me wrong. But at the same time I felt like he was bickering for the wrong reasons. He admitted to me that most of his friends are in a different club and that he doesn't come to Ivy often, which I think is a HUGE red flag with respect to whether he'll be an active member. We had a pleasant conversation about his singing group and food interests, but the conversation felt a bit stale and unexciting. I always feel bad giving someone a down, but at the end of the day, I really do think he's a better fit for a different club. "" , ""score"" : 2 } , , , ,

CARD: "{member": "Conner [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Cool guy, he had some fascinating insights into NY government, education, tons of cool stuff. We got along really well and he had some funny and unique answers to the standard retrohose/fmk/hottest nonsense. My only reservation is he seemed a little staid, might be the kind of guy to coast in his comfort zone. He did seem very dedicated to his activities on campus though, so I think once he got a little more comfortable in Ivy, he'd be a great guy to have around.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Gabrielle [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was sweet and nice to talk to. He told me all about his passion for politics and education reform. He was comfortable and honest to open up to me about some personal subjects, and I really appreciated that. It showed me that he would be unafraid to form genuine relationships with other members. However, I cannot see him necessarily being wild at member's nights or an enthusiastic storyteller at dinners. Though this is not necessary to being a member, if someone is as kind as him and would perhaps be more fun, then I do think they should be in the club before him. Nonetheless, I enjoyed my time with [REDACTED] and would be happy to get to know him more.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Sara [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I thought [REDACTED] was sweet and enjoyed my conversation with him, but at times I felt like I didn't completely mesh with him. He seemed a little nervous/reserved, which definitely isn't a bad thing, but it made conversation a little stilted, and I couldn't get a good grasp on what he felt passionate about. I think he's a sweet kid with a lot of interesting stories to tell, and at times he really came out of his shell and became more engaged, but I feel conflicted about whether he would be an engaging/active member of the club.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Jordan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a sweet guy. He wasn't overly outgoing and never tried to fill the pretty awkward silences during our conversation. When I got him talking about things he knew about he lit up and had a lot to say, but otherwise he was timid and seemed a bit uncomfortable. He was also really easy to open up to and was an attentive listener but the conversation felt a bit forced overall.", "score": 3},,,, CARD: "{member": "Ana [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I loved talking to [REDACTED]. He was so vibrant, intelligent, and curious. He was also hilarious. I definitely think he can come off as a little bit intense, but I also think that's just because he's so passionate. We talked in detail about his interest in financial technology, his family in India, and his experiences living in New York. Funny stories included doing a food tour of China Town and being a TA at UChicago when he was a high school. There seemed to be infinite things to talk to [REDACTED] about and if I weren't so tired I would've wanted another hour of conversation with him. He was super engaging and I think would be an incredibly unique addition to Ivy.", "score": 5}, CARD: "{member": "Folasade [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a sweet girl. She is on the soccer team and wants to join Ivy because she doesn't know many other people outside of her teammates and wishes she had more time to meet new people and thinks that she can through Ivy. We had a pleasant conversation and she loves nights out on the street. Seems like a chill girl.

"" , ""score"" : 3 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Julian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] has a great sense of humor and a flexible personality. He dealt with our conversation very well and was able to engage me in everything he said. He's also very driven. I was impressed with his interests in computer science, finance, and tech. He was ambitious, and I can tell that he will go places. If Ivy is a place of diversity, [REDACTED] is a prime example of someone that we need to have in this club. He's cool in his own way, and I know that he will make the same impression on others. He expressed some really valid and deep opinions on the bicker process. I think his opinions and point of view are a perfect addition to ivy."" , ""score"" : 5 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Olutobiloba [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was full of energy throughout our conversation and always had something to say. He came across as very genuine and spoke openly about his interests in computer science and model United Nations. He asked me a lot of questions and seemed interested in getting to know me. He's definitely on the talkative side but is also an attentive listener. Good guy overall"" , ""score"" : 4 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Rebecca [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was very sweet and obviously very intellectual. We had a nice conversation and I learnt a lot from him about COS and the people he admired. I don't know if we were very comparable as people but I think he would be interesting but I don't know how great a fit he would be for the club. I didn't feel strongly either way!"" , ""score"" : 3 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Elizabeth [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""I had a lot of fun talking with [REDACTED]-- he was cry eloquent and engaging when talking about his interests and I really enjoyed listening to him. At times, however, I feel that he was more trying to get information out and explain himself to me that he was trying to have a two way conversation. On the whole, though, great guy who'd be great to sit next to at dinner. "" , ""score"" : 3 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Katelyn [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] is really quirky, and i don't think that he's a typical ivy member, but i had a really good conversation with him. he also gave one of the best 'why ivy' answers I've heard (without me even asking). he demonstrated a real understanding of what ivy really is, and he knows exactly why he wants to be here, is super excited about ivy, and has a lot of respect for each member. i think he'd be a cool person to sit next to... odd but interesting. the talk though was mostly about why he loves ivy... even when i asked him about himself, it reverted back to the club, so idk the real him ???"" , ""score"" : 3 } , , , , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""David [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was cool and seemed pretty passionate but she also seemed, in some ways, too smooth. She, like EVERY single other person I've bickered, has said that Ivy is diverse as the first reason for \"why Ivy?\" Is our club really that diverse? Who knew. She's big into opera music and I should have asked her to sing for me but I didn't. I probably messed up there, my b. I think she'd be a good member, and would show up to nights out, but at pregames she's drinks \"A nice red, but not the kind that puts me to sleep.\" I'm not sure how I feel about that. I'll let you, the omnipotent bicker committee decide.\n\nMuch love,\nDHC\", \"score\":4},

CARD: \"{\\\"member\\\":\\\"Paul [REDACTED]\\\",\\\"bickeree\\\":\\\"[REDACTED]\\\",\\\"content\\\":\\\"[REDACTED]\\\" was a great bicker. Enjoyed speaking to her about her involvement in the tigerlillies on campus and her experience playing golf. Realized about halfway through the bicker that she was from Greenwich as well (even went to GA), so was great to discuss high school memories and see that not much has changed since I was a young brunswick boy. She's a confident, well-spoken and interesting person who would be a great addition to the club. \\\", \"score\":4},

CARD: \"{\\\"member\\\":\\\"Julian [REDACTED]\\\",\\\"bickeree\\\":\\\"[REDACTED]\\\",\\\"content\\\":\\\"[REDACTED]\\\" was well spoken and very careful. She used my name a lot, which seemed a little bit forced. At times I could tell that we were having a bicker conversation and didn't feel fully engaged. She did play along with some of my weird questions though, and I liked that she was able to adapt. I think she would be fine sitting with a group of people she doesn't know, she's smart and can read people well. Overall, not a standout impression, but I think she would be a fine member of Ivy.\\\", \"score\":3}, CARD: \"{\\\"member\\\":\\\"Julia [REDACTED]\\\",\\\"bickeree\\\":\\\"[REDACTED]\\\",\\\"content\\\":\\\"I just had the best conversation with [REDACTED]. He was so easy to talk to and so hilarious and sweet and down to earth. Even though he had just gotten off a flight, his positive energy was infectious. With incredible honesty, he told me how he quit premed and decided to do Econ with a dance certificate. He is so impressive yet incredibly humble: he joined body hype without having danced before and learned how to do an ariel in 10 minutes. We also had a great conversation about bicker and even though this was his first interview, I was so impressed by his ability to analyze and take perspective on the whole process. The club would really benefit from his positive energy and honesty!!\\\", \"score\":5}, CARD: \"{\\\"member\\\":\\\"Conner [REDACTED]\\\",\\\"bickeree\\\":\\\"[REDACTED]\\\",\\\"content\\\":\\\"This guy needs to be in Ivy. Joined BodyHype his freshman year having never danced, has great insight into some of my favorite books, would microwave a baby for 3 seconds to receive $1mil each second (perfectly reasonable). Really funny guy, if I could choose two words to describe him: sweet and happy. He asked me some good questions about the club, and was really excited about everything we spoke about everything he was involved in. We have no overlapping campus activities, and are quite different people, but I have never been more excited about dance. Would be really bummed if he didn't get in.\\\", \"score\":5}, CARD: \"{\\\"member\\\":\\\"Nicolas [REDACTED]\\\",\\\"bickeree\\\":\\\"[REDACTED]\\\",\\\"content\\\":\\\"A dancer in bodyhype. Very good addition to the club. Almost got arrested in high school for playing an assassin game with friends. Goes hard in the paint and is a very laid back guy. \\\", \"score\":4},

CARD: \"{\\\"member\\\":\\\"Tara [REDACTED]\\\",\\\"bickeree\\\":\\\"[REDACTED]\\\",\\\"content\\\":\\\"I had a nice conversation with [REDACTED], he answered questions confidently and kept the conversation flowing. He told me about his love for skiing which we talked about for a while. He also told me about being an

ORFE major and his involvement with the rugby team. He also seemed to have been to Ivy on nights out and said he really liked Ivy because of its small size and close-knit community. He also wants to meet new people with interesting and diverse backgrounds. Overall I had a solid conversation with him. """, ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Abigail [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] couldn't have been nicer. Although he was quiet, he was so easy to talk to. I really enjoyed him. He's an ORFE major from Philly who loves skiing. He also makes a mean Earl Grey tea-- something that should not go overlooked. I found him very down to earth with a subtle self-deprecating sense of humor. I think many members of the club would have a similar, positive experience with him. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Gabrielle [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I would describe [REDACTED] as an adventurous gentle giant. He wore really nerdy, cute sneakers, but clearly likes to drink beer and go out. I would definitely like to sit with him at a meal. Though I would probably have to make most of the conversation, I would look forward to his quirky, sensitive answers. I would like for him to get in, but I do think there are more endearing boys bickering. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Megan [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I thought [REDACTED] seemed like a fun guy, but I'm not persuaded that he would contribute that much to Ivy. We talked about how he loves to ski and the ongoing debate about the two best places to get cheesesteaks in Philly. I made him play Smash with me, Maechi and Ben [REDACTED] (he came in second, me third). Overall I just felt like he was just answering my questions and not really engaging in conversation, and I found it difficult to carry our interaction. He just doesn't seem like someone I'd be able to have a meaningful conversation with, but maybe that he was just me. I will say he was really nice and seems like he knows how to have a good time!""", ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":""Charles [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a solid guy. He seems like he's enjoyed his time at Princeton thus far. He's on the rugby team and in BT. He didn't seem very enthusiastic and seemed pretty quiet, maybe he was tired. I am unsure how involved he will be. """, ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":""Hetty [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a nice guy and seemed easygoing, but didn't ask me many questions or elaborate much on some answers that he gave, which made the conversation stall at times. He did impress me with his knowledge of the difference between teacher benefits at private and public schools, but at times I felt he was changing his answers to fit what he thought I'd want to hear--for example, he added that he wanted his private equity job to benefit society in some way after I mentioned that I might be interested in teaching. All in all, I don't have very strong feelings either way. """, ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":""Sara [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] seemed pretty unengaged in our conversation, which I'm sure was either exhaustion or nerves, but it made things a little difficult at times, and we didn't totally vibe--I felt like I had to keep pressing him, and our conversation became somewhat stilted. I totally think he was a super sweet kid who'd be a lowkey but kind presence around the club, but I couldn't get a clear sense for him or what he's passionate about. I didn't feel like he was particularly interested in talking (which is totally fair, I'm not super interesting lol), and I'm not sure how he'd be to hang out with. I'm giving a 3 because I think it may have just been tiredness. "" , ""score"" :3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Emma [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] seems like a chill guy. He told me that he's on the rugby team and wrote on his sheet that he is interested in smiling, which was funny. I didn't feel like we really clicked, but I think that he may have been nervous because I was his first bicker. When I asked him why he decided to bicker ivy, he struggled to answer and eventually just said that he thought it was a nice mix of people and he liked the tablecloths. He was a little hard to talk to and shy, which makes me think that I wouldn't want to sit next to him at a meal, but like I said, he may have just been nervous. "" , ""score"" :2} , , , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Jack [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""I really hit it off with [REDACTED], and I would imagine that it would be difficult to find someone who would say otherwise. Just a great dude across the board. He is an English major who can go on and on about the entire literary world. We both discussed why we wanted to be English majors and his answer absolutely destroyed mine, in fact it was the best one that I've ever heard. Great taste in music and such. He plays varsity football and runs track, among many other activities; I truly don't understand how he has time for it all. Most importantly, he does all this for the right reasons. He's passionate about improving himself and his community. LET THIS MAN IN"" , ""score"" :5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Tara [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""I had a good conversation with [REDACTED]. The conversation flowed and he asked me a few questions when the conversation came to a pause which I appreciated. He told me about his involvement on the varsity track team and the varsity football team as well as being a member of the content team of Business Today. He also told me about his interest in classical movies and how he has integrated that into majoring in English. He also seemed to have been to Ivy often for both nights out and meals and is interested in Ivy for its sense of camaraderie. "" , ""score"" :3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Katelyn [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""OK i am really torn about this one. I had a very very long conversation with [REDACTED], and he was good at the act of bicker (if that makes sense?? like gave nice answers, asked me the appropriate questions in response), but i still just feel very neutral about him. if i saw him sitting at dinner, i wouldn't take a to-go box, but i also would want the conversation to be short. this sounds so rude I'm so sorry. he's a good guy. idk. my 3 is a 3.75 really. "" , ""score"" :3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Laura [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was very eager to speak about all sorts of topics, which made for great conversation. His eagerness was a bit much at times, but perhaps understandable considering he is re-bickering. I'm not sure that he'd be everyone's favorite person to sit next to at meals, but he approaches everything in life with admirable intentionality and I walked away thinking I could've spent all day speaking with him about various subjects. I only wish he would've let his guard down a little and wasn't so stressed about laying all of his cards out on the table. This is a very positive Neutral. "" , ""score"" :3} ,

CARD: "{member": "Julia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had an okay conversation with [REDACTED]. He is a sweet guy but I wasn't really able to connect with him about anything. He did not try to have a conversation and was just waiting for me to throw questions at him. This is not his first time bickering so I'm sure he likes the club but he wasn't able to express it during our conversation. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Emma [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seems like a nice guy. We had a conversation about how he plays football and used to do gymnastics. He asked me a lot of questions about things I did on campus and why I chose Ivy and he seemed pretty personable. I didn't really connect with him because we don't have a lot in common and at times our conversation was a little stilted, but I think that other people in the club might like him. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Elizabeth [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] started out super strong by telling me his favorite movie was Star Wars IV, but conversation didn't really flow very naturally from there. The first couple of times he verbatim quoted historical figures was very impressive, but I was confused at why he continued to do so. He was perfectly nice and might have earned me a million dollars by teaching me about the stock market, but I didn't feel like I was able to connect with him deeply. Kind guy on the whole, just wish I would have felt closer to him after our relatively long conversation. ", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Christopher [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] and I discussed how he both runs track and plays football. Surprisingly enough he doesn't feel as though his schedule is too full. He enjoys investment banking and told me about how he applied what he learned from working at a hedge fund to his personal investments. He wants to make a lot of money and use that money to improve the education system. While he certainly seems like a nice guy, our conversation felt pretty awkward, as though it was more of a formal interview than a natural conversation. ", "score": 3}",,, CARD: "{member": "Carolina [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "A+ guy, I am super happy i got him! My mood was immediately uplifted when I started talking to him. [REDACTED] was super energetic and you could tell he gave good thought to his answers and was super genuine about it. He was very confident but great to get along with and I felt like I could have from super deep conversations with him to a super fun night. Immensely charismatic, I feel like he would be a super involved member that would get along with a lot of different groups of people super easily. After talking to him I feel like I'd love to get to know him better, would be dope to have him in the club. ", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Olutobiloba [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was easy to talk to and pretty funny. Comes across as a down to earth guy. Conversation flowed pretty easily and didn't feel forced, he talked about his siblings and is a Russell Westbrook fan which is a big plus. Seems like the type of guy who will show up on nights out. ", "score": 4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Furman [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Most cards that start out with \\\"I could tell she was nervous\\\" don't end up giving a strong up, but in [REDACTED]'s case, I found her initial nerves quite charming, especially as the conversation wore on. In the variety of topics we covered, from her Spanish family to our shared pet peeve about people who talk to you too much in Dillon, [REDACTED]'s attitude was laid back, engaged and cheery. It was also readily apparent to me that she wasn't putting on any airs -- her answers were honest and genuine. For her upbeat demeanor and candid approach, [REDACTED] deserves a spot in ze club.\"\", \"score\" : 5}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Ayesha [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is a sweetheart with an adorable smile. He has two sets of twins in his family and is a twin himself!! Had a pleasant conversation with him about Boston, his involvement with AdThis and skateboarding. He wants to join Ivy because some of his best friends are bickering and also seems excited to meet people he wouldn't have a chance to meet otherwise. Also enjoyed talking to him about his favorite author (some Russian guy). Just seemed like a pretty easy going person. Think he might have been a little nervous but overall a good conversation and could see him being a good fit in the club.\"\", \"score\" : 4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Lydia [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I did a group bicker with [REDACTED], JCL and [REDACTED]. We had a great convo all together - the guys were super easy to talk to and seemed willing and ready to engage on any topic. [REDACTED] had a lot of energy (sometimes I wished he would stop moving around so much lol) and I think he'd bring a great energy to the club and be able and willing to talk to a lot of people. He also seemed to be able to listen as he added on to what others were saying in the convo and discussed how in friendship it was important to him to engage with and respect his friends' values.\"\", \"score\" : 4}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Brett [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"A self-proclaimed existentialist (when asked his life philosophy), [REDACTED] is the kind of person who holds a few things very dear, and remains super loyal to them - his friends, his five siblings (especially his twin), his hometown. Pretty elated from the Pats win as a Boston native, his energy was great (especially for the last of the night), and overall an enjoyable conversation. It was a little all over the map (I asked a lot of random questions), but friendship and family were definitely recurring themes, and it was nice to see his evident good nature. He's really easygoing, open and thoughtful, and his interest in literature and film made for interesting conversation about books and the best American films of all time.\"\", \"score\" : 4}",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Colleen [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is a super sweet guy, but our interaction was very awkward. He was fidgeting the entire conversation, couldn't keep eye contact, was constantly readjusting his sitting position, etc. He also didn't have an real answers about the questions I asked him, including \\\"why ivy\\\", to which he responded that he identifies with a small sector of the club (\\\"Zetes\\\"). When I asked him about his prior bickers, he said \\\"He/She was great\\\" for every single one... If he were to be a member of the club, I see him staying friends with this same friend group and never really branching out. Overall good guy, but I am pushing for members who will be friends/friendly with everyone, not just the people they knew coming in. """, ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":""Hannah [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""For having a surprising amount in common, this was a surprisingly lame conversation. Was jovial and fidgety, but wasn't able to sustain very much flow. Maybe it was because I was tired, and maybe it was because he was nervous, but his answers to my question barely skimmed the surface of interesting. When asked who he would invite to a dinner conversation - he just listed people from different majors (WoodyWoo, Math, Art ...) and said they would discuss politics. We talked Arsenal for a little while but still... felt like I was a wolf leading a timid sheep in a clover field. Meh. """, ""score"":2}""", CARD: "{""member"":""Clayton [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I had an easy and flowing conversation. We talked about her time living in Costa Rica, her interests at schools, and her favorite (and least favorite) parts about Ivy. She is eager to join the club and for all the right reasons. [REDACTED] would be a good person to sit next to at meals and a solid addition to the club.""", ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Julian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""We have a lot in common, which she was really able to recognize. She says she's a really talented pianist, and she speaks 3 languages, and a COS major! Really impressive. Conversation was a bit stunted at times and I could tell that she had a little trouble coming up with good answers to some questions, but that's understandable. I think that if she's given time to become more comfortable with the club, she would do very well here. """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Gabriela [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Honestly if there was a 3.5 option I would probably give that rather than the 4. [REDACTED] was incredibly sweet and easy to talk to, even having a really funny story about sleepwalking into a random guys quad and spending the night. However, conversation was kind of slow and sometimes felt a little forced. It probably was just her being shy and if other people had great conversations with her I am more than happy to have her in the club! """, ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"":""Nicole [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""The conversation with [REDACTED] was quite slow and stilted --- definitely felt more like an interview than a convo, as her answers were pretty short and did not leave a lot of room for elaboration. Her answers about her interest in Ivy and something surprising about herself were rather lackluster. I just wish I saw more of her personality, because I currently do not have much of a sense of her. Nothing against the girl and maybe as she warms up through the bicker process (I was her 2nd interview) she will open up more, so would like to know how later members enjoyed their conversations with her.""", ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":""Peyton [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""It took some time to get a conversation with her but once it started I enjoyed the conversation. She seems as though she is very nice and pretty easy to talk to when she is not nervous. I don't know if I vibed with her as well but can definitely she her getting along and talking to other members in the club. I think that she would do much better outside of a bicker setting. "" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Abigail [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is very chill and laid-back which I certainly appreciate. We had a nice conversation about her time at Princeton and being a COS major. Like me, she is a big appreciator of Casino Night. However, I had a hard time getting her to talk about many of her interests beyond cursory details such as major, hometown, etc leaving the conversation to fall a bit flat. Again, she was incredibly sweet and endearing we just didn't quite click. Also perhaps keep in mind that I bickered her at 10:30 PM after a long day of classes. "" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Fabian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I spoke for a while but I found it quite hard to engage her in a meaningful conversation. She seemed charming and I can imagine that with more time and a more relaxed environment we could of connected better but what we discussed did not amount to very much. "" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Joshua [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Pretty solid convo. Was very nice and a pretty engaging conversation. I'm not sure that anything stood out so much but she would definitely be a nice addition to the club. She said Chuck could improve his conversational skills which is undoutable. I think this card could be stronger but these kids are starting to mesh in my brain. As a kid she used to drink tobasco-sauce. That is a bit terrifying. "" , ""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Caroline [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I connected. We are both comp-lit majors and share a love of all things spicy. I found [REDACTED] eloquent and intelligent and I enjoyed listening to her as she expressed why she wanted to join the club. However, to be honest, I don't think [REDACTED] would be happy in the club. She explicitly mentioned that she was double-bickering and threw Ivy into the mix last minute. She also added that she wasn't that keen on Ivy's party scene...Nice girl, not sure she's right for the club. "" , ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Rebecca [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a delight to converse with. She was interesting, insightful and had a lot to contribute to our conversation. Unfortunately I'm not sure if she would be the best fit for ivy, as she told me straight off the bat that none of her friends were bickering and she only is because it's double bicker so 'why not'. I very much appreciated her honesty and decision to step out of the box, but this seemed like a red flag to me. Besides this our conversation was absolutely lovely and her intellectual nature meant that it was deep and enjoyable nonetheless. "" , ""score"":3}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Onyemaechi [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Interesting kid. Defintely rolled with all my punches and gave me some coookie answers to my q's. I dunno didn't connect with him though. Tried asking him about things like the biggest way he has changed in a year and his answer was pretty surface (better at handling work load). He does have a cool background being from Peru and being able to speak both Spanish and Italian. Kinda worries me that he has never been for a meal and his interest was Ivy food because he thinks since the club is expensive the food must be good (told him to lower his expectations lol). Could be swayed as he had some fun with the light hearted portion though. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Folasade

[REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a chill dude. He was pretty funny and was very chill and was honest. We talked about Princeton and what he liked most about it and he said he was pleasantly surprised about the party life because when he first visited, he thought Princeton was turned down. Even though this is a 3, this is really a 3.5. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"James [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] seemed like a very nice girl, but I did not get the impression that she would be a great addition to the club. She was fairly uncomfortable during the conversation, and did not ever sustain any topic of conversation long enough for me to take an interest, we simply jumped around several different topics I brought up until I ran out of things to talk about. "" , ""score"":3} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Charles

[REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I had an okay chat. Though she didn't seem very happy to be speaking with me. She said she only wanted to bicker ivy to keep her options open if tower didn't work out (she offered that information I did not ask). She has never been to Ivy on a night out and when I asked why she was bickering ivy in particular she couldn't really give a good answer for why. I don't think she would be a good fit. "" , ""score"":2} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Tara [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I had a nice conversation with [REDACTED] but I would be concerned about her level of involvement with the club. She told me about growing up in Ohio and her involvement with the Nass, Princeton Business Volunteers and the writing center. I was going to give a 3 but when I asked why Ivy she didn't have much to say beyond liking the formality of the dining hall, the food and Ivy's reputation. She also said since its double bicker now she thought \"why not give it a try\" (disclaimer: I didn't ask if she was double bickering but she brought it up). She also hadn't seemed to come to the club much previously. Nice girl but didn't make me believe she wanted Ivy. "" , ""score"":2} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Kevin [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I would cry if she doesn't get into this club. We talked for 45 minutes, ranging from the ideas of what we'll name our future band, to how cinematography affects the experience of a movie, to what we each hope to get out of our extracurricular experiences at Princeton. She was honest, natural, and genuine about why she so loves Ivy. I had a ton of fun talking with her. She seems incredibly smart and very creative (mother is a photographer, she plays the bassoon, she paints watercolors of flowers, she critically appreciates movies, she thoughtfully crafts classic rock playlists (so I)). I give my highest support for [REDACTED]. I see her connecting with truly anyone in the club and being an invaluable member. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Antoine

[REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was interesting to listen to.

She's a comp lit major and is definitely not someone who comes out to the street a lot (she told me so herself). My biggest worry with [REDACTED] is that it didn't seem like she wanted to be in Ivy at all. She mentioned several times that she was double bickering (didn't ask) and she even said that Ivy was her second choice... Seems like she didn't know much about Ivy, or didn't know many members as she said she would have liked to see more publicized sophomore events at Ivy. Anyways, I'm torn between a 2 and a 3. I enjoyed meeting her but I just don't really see [REDACTED] enjoying Ivy..."" , ""score"" : 2} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Julia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""I had a hard time connecting with [REDACTED]. We talked about her academic interests, her interests outside of the classroom and her life in Ohio. I think she was a little nervous and ended up talking about restaurants in Ohio for like 10 minutes.\r\nWhen I asked her why Ivy, she literally said that Tower felt like a \"home\" and that it was where all her friends were. She did say that she liked Ivy because of its rich history and prestige... It felt like she was only bickering because she could bicker two clubs.\r\nI don't see [REDACTED] getting along with other members. \r\n"" , ""score"" : 2} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Nicholas [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""I do not believe [REDACTED] is a good fit for Ivy. She spoke extensively about her future career plans as a professor and her vegetarianism. She talked about her passion for animal rights, which I respect, but I felt as if I had to keep the conversation going the entire time. When asked why she wanted to join, she said that she is double-bickering with another club but wanted to, essentially, give Ivy a shot. She said, in pretty explicit terms, that she has not spent much time at Ivy for meals or nights out. Unfortunately, though kind and well-spoken, I would avoid sharing a meal with [REDACTED] at Ivy. "" , ""score"" : 2} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Arthur [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] admitted that she didn't know many people in the club, and told me that par to her interest in joining was ivy's \"mystique\". Conversation was already solidly neutral, but after that took a turn towards down in my book. "" , ""score"" : 2} , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Tyler [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""A sweet person with an interest in politics and the criminal justice system. She spoke at length about her involvement with Petey Greene and how passionate she was about it, and it truly came across that this was what she was invested in. She also spent time in Taiwan and China and is taking 3rd year Chinese. She came across as a caring person willing to listen to others and admitted that she was shy in a some of social situations but really values spending time with others and developing close relationships. She would definitely make an involved member. "" , ""score"" : 4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Katelyn [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Ok im unsure what to write for [REDACTED]. we had a pleasant conversation and she was very engaged and kind and sweet, but i dont have the desire to go out of my way and continue our conversation like i have had w other people (not in a rude way, hopefully this makes sense). it's a situation where i have absolutely nothing bad to say, and she probably doesnt have a bad bone in her body, i just didnt feel interested or invested in the conversation. BUT i dont think she would be like a bad person to have in the club neccesarily. im not against her at all, just v neutral. "" , ""score"" : 3} ,

CARD: "{member": "Christopher [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seems like a nice girl, but we didn't have a particularly engaging conversation. She didn't have much to say that was interesting or funny. Maybe she was nervous or something. Wouldn't be upset if she was in the club though", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Sara [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "My bicker with [REDACTED] was mediocre. She talked a lot about her travels, and her gap year which consisted of living in a different location each month. She did woofing (farming in exchange for living) in Ireland which sounded cool, and met a bunch of new friends at a hostel. She seems very independent, cool and friendly. Unfortunately, our conversation was not terribly intriguing but she is probably one of those people that takes a little longer to get to know. I will leave my score a bit impartial, as I believe she could turn out to be a great member. \n\n", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Carolina [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Our conversation was very easy going, she would be someone easy to get along with, but otherwise wasn't too crazy about her. Don't really feel strongly either way, our interaction was not too meaningful.", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "James [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was a very nice girl, but despite talking about some interesting things, our conversation never seemed to get going. She did not seem very enthusiastic about the things that she did have to say, and didn't seem to enjoy explaining the things that she said she was most interested in and passionate about. I wasn't convinced that she would overcome the nerves she seemed to have in the very casual conversation that we were having should she sit next to someone at dinner.", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Roberto [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a good time with [REDACTED], but most of the time it was difficult to find things to talk about. She was mostly comfortable talking about journalism, and I got to hear about her work in a story related to private prisons. She was quite shy, and I don't know if she'll make an effort to meet new people in the club. I could be completely wrong about this though, because when she was comfortable talking about her work in journalism, she was very nice and talkative.", "score": 3}", CARD: "{member": "Melissa [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "nothing great to write, she's interested in journalism and east asia and pretty passionate about that but none of her stories were that extraordinary and i got tired and bored after bickering her. no really compelling reason for her to be in the club, nothing really to say.", "score": 3}",,,, CARD: "{member": "Tara [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a great conversation wit [REDACTED]. She told me about her semester abroad in Cuba, majoring in history, transitioning to Princeton from England and her involvement with the PACE center, leading a break out trip over spring break. I think she is someone that you would definitely have a meaningful conversation with at meals since each topic we covered we went into depth on and it was not superficial at all. She took the initiative to ask me questions as well so it felt like a genuine conversation. She also said she really liked Ivy for its atmosphere and the people and has seen one of her good friends have an amazing time since joining. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Jack [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"":"" [REDACTED] "" , ""content"":"" [REDACTED] was my most engaged and interesting bicker so far - she basically introduced herself proudly as a nerd, and proceeded to talk about how she loved studying political institutions and how they affected inequality, within countries and between them. She has a very measured delivery, which initially worried me, but as we talked I hardly had to ask any questions as she literally just kept talking - story after story about her time in Cuba, her plans to work on a professor's documentary traveling along the Mississippi, her JP on the history of the passport. I really really liked her, and definitely respected her academic interests, but I would wonder how she would acclimate to the more social aspects of the club. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Justine [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"":"" [REDACTED] "" , ""content"":"" [REDACTED] was so interesting to talk to. Definitely a bit more awkward than the average member, I really appreciated her view on the many topics we discussed, such as the differences between Europe and the US and how this shapes our opinions of capitalism. She was really interesting and could talk about everything from the Parent Trap to the importance of family. I could see some people being uncomfortable with her initial awkwardness but I appreciated she did not sugarcoat her more radical political views for bicker and could see the members who enjoy deeper conversations finding her a good member to find at dinner. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Julian [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"":"" [REDACTED] "" , ""content"":"" At first, [REDACTED] does not give the impression that she is a particularly talkative or vivacious person. We had a quick chat on our way down the stairs, and I found myself already concerned that our conversation would be boring and one sided. However, much to my pleasure, I quickly discovered that [REDACTED] is a deeply intellectual, interesting, and engaging person. She was more than capable of keeping the conversation afloat on her own. At no point did I feel that I was bickering her. I hope others find the same depth and quality of conversation as I have. She deserves to be in this club, and I hope she gets in. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Charlotte [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"":"" [REDACTED] "" , ""content"":"" Although [REDACTED] was very calm and collected, I had a thoroughly enjoyable conversation with her. We talked about everything from the politics of Picasso and Jackson Pollack's art to our idea of a perfect day. As she studied abroad in Havana her sophomore spring she didn't bicker, and thought she would try being independent this fall. After coming to meals with Alexander [REDACTED] (<3) and spending time with new and familiar faces, she knew she found her community. I know anyone would enjoy sitting next to her at a meal because she speaks with such eloquence and passion about whatever topic she's on. When I asked her what board game she would be, she said strip poker. What a savage. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":" Spencer [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"":"" [REDACTED] "" , ""content"":"" [REDACTED] was fairly friendly and talkative but also seemed a little bit apprehensive about the conversation. She explained that she intended to bicker last spring but had been studying abroad in Cuba. I was hoping that she would talk more about her time in Cuba exploring the country and studying there but we didn't really discuss that at all. She has an interesting story to tell about her upbringing in Devon and her decision to ultimately come to the States for college, but beyond that, we didn't get to discuss too much else. She did ask me a few questions and I think she would open up more around the club in different settings, but based on our time together, a neutral is appropriate."", "score": 3},

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Olivia [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"British babe. Funny as hell. I have known [REDACTED] since freshman year international orientation and I think in many ways we have grown up here together. She is down to clown. Whether it is skinny dipping or rogue dance parties (she hosts lit soirees in her off-campus apt). [REDACTED] is also one of the most open and trusting individuals I know. In tough times in my life she has been endlessly supportive and she extends this quality to everyone she meets. [REDACTED] studied abroad in Cuba her sophomore spring and has many a crazy tales to tell- she makes quite the meal-side partner. [REDACTED] also has a deeply adventurous spirit. Recently, after her travel partner had to cancel because of a family emergency, she ventured on a trip to Switzerland by herself. I also know she was very upset to miss bicker her sophomore spring and as I knew that she really loved the club. I encouraged her to try again this year. I think she would make a wonderful addition to the club, because she gives every community she is a part of her all. I can imagine her getting to know the membership at dinner, as well as initiating a dance-floor grind train. In all seriousness, this girl needs to be a part of Ivy this year. Paint her green. \"\"}\" ,,,,\"

OUTSIDE CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Olivia [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"British babe. Funny as hell. I have known [REDACTED] since freshman year international orientation and I think in many ways we have grown up here together. She is down to clown. Whether it is skinny dipping or rogue dance parties (she hosts lit soirees in her off-campus apt). [REDACTED] is also one of the most open and trusting individuals I know. In tough times in my life she has been endlessly supportive and she extends this quality to everyone she meets. [REDACTED] studied abroad in Cuba her sophomore spring and has many a crazy tales to tell- she makes quite the meal-side partner. [REDACTED] also has a deeply adventurous spirit. Recently, after her travel partner had to cancel because of a family emergency, she ventured on a trip to Switzerland by herself. I also know she was very upset to miss bicker her sophomore spring and as I knew that she really loved the club. I encouraged her to try again this year. I think she would make a wonderful addition to the club, because she gives every community she is a part of her all. I can imagine her getting to know the membership at dinner, as well as initiating a dance-floor grind train. In all seriousness, this girl needs to be a part of Ivy this year. Paint her green. \"\"}\" ,,,,,,,,,,\"

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Liam [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I LOVED [REDACTED]. We talked about his experiences in Ghana this past summer shadowing doctors and the ways in which he wants to get decent healthcare equipment and facilities into similar areas. So shallow, but he has a great accent and used it to ask if he could 'be cheeky and steal a cookie with his tea'. He seems like an extremely grounded, well-spoken and passionate individual that I would love to share meals with. I seem him thriving among the membership and taking full advantage of being a part of the club. PAINT HIM GREEN. "", ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Jan [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] and I had a delightful interview that was full of laughter as well as some thoughtful moments. To me it seemed like a complete interview as it resembled all components of a conversation I would wish to have with a future ivy member. He has a happy attitude towards life and I think he would bring a lot of positivity to the club. In my opinion, he would make a great member. Let's paint him green. "", ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member"":""Meaghan [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""Honestly wow. [REDACTED] is the friggin best!!!!!! His accent is amazing, but besides that he is KIND; he is involved, but more importantly he is clearly passionate about those things that occupy his time; he wants to be in Ivy for all of the right reasons; and he was a great conversationalist. He asked me so many questions! We were chatting away and the time passed like the blink of an eye, like the flap of a bird's feather in the wind :-) [REDACTED] wants to have Albus Dumbledore and Nelson Mandela as dinner guests which is a GREAT sign, and he loves being in love. What a guy!!!! A chaser of romance. Also we share a deep love for learning languages PAINT HIM GREEEEEEEN"" ,""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Barbara [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""I found a gem of princeton. [REDACTED] immediately Impressed me with his love of cookies and hot chocolate. But more importantly he was laid back and engaged and friendly and perfect. I'm not doing this card justice which is so frustrating because he truly was great. We talked about going back to Ghana this summer, orchids, and dim sum. And discussed our confusion/concern about Ivy's negative stereotype. From the beginning to end of the convo I knew this kid would make this club a better place. Please for all of us let's paint him green. "", ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"":""Sophie [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""I was sold the moment he sung for me - like seriously what a dude. HE SUNG 90s R&B. SOLD. But honestly he should totally get in the club, I really liked him. Great to get some more track guys as well. Also english which I am obviously partial to. We had a really long and great conversation, and I could have kept talking to him. I am holding off from a 5 because he took a little time to open up, and felt a little nervous at times, but honestly such a wonderful human being. HUGE FAN. We need more chillers like this in the club. "", ""score"":4} ,,,,,, CARD: "{""member"":""Justine [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""This guy is the male version of Gaby Garr. like literally. SO much energy! He was incredibly nervous at the beginning which showed in different ways - one sentence responses, sticking to international experiences and tennis, but once he relaxed he became a joyful ball of energy. He may seem a bit of a stereotypical New Yorker (did I mention he and Gaby Garr are identical?) but he answered more provocative questions very thoughtfully and seems very sweet. He mentioned liking the upperclassmen at the club and the closer community as his reasons to bicker, although I will be honest I was a bit disappointed his suggestions for what to do with a day in new york was a pic nic in central park. Cliche?"" ,""score"":4}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Caroline

[REDACTED]","bickeree":"","[REDACTED]","content":"","[REDACTED] and I had a nice conversation. At first [REDACTED] seemed pretty nervous and the bicker felt a bit like an interview, but after he got more comfortable, the conversation flowed more easily. I really enjoyed hearing about his time on the tennis team and we had fun talking about our favorite TV shows and music. I can't say that [REDACTED] was ever totally at ease during our conversation, but I would chock this up to nerves. Otherwise. [REDACTED] was very kind and energetic. He seemed interested in getting to know me and asked me a lot of great questions. He is really excited by the idea of meeting new people and expressed a genuine interest in being an active member of the club. ","score":4}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Arthur [REDACTED]","bickeree":"","[REDACTED]","content":"","Can I give [REDACTED] an inside outside down for being more Yablon than Yablon? I didn't know you could be more of a New York Jew. If the inside outside down is out of the question, then [REDACTED] definitely deserves an up. Meteorology is in his blood. ","score":4}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Clayton

[REDACTED]","bickeree":"","[REDACTED]","content":"","[REDACTED] is a goofy kid. I double bickered him with Camila and we had him and another sophomore do a skit and bicker each other. [REDACTED] rolled with the punches and made us laugh out loud. He's an entertaining guy who loves to talk and tell stories. I think he'd be a fun person to sit next to at meals and a good Ivy member. ","score":4}",

CARD: "{"member" ":"Matthew

[REDACTED]","bickeree":"","[REDACTED]","content":"","[REDACTED] was an absolute delight to bicker - she seemed very comfortable and had a great sense of humor. I am confident that she would fit in well with everyone at Ivy and would be great company in and around the club. She is a very talented tennis player but has ambitions beyond the realm of tennis, something that I value very highly. [REDACTED] was very down-to-earth, modest, and funny - exactly the kind of person that would light up not just members nights but also the general ambiance of the club. She was very receptive to my words and is both a good listener and a talker - she should absolute be a member. ","score":5}", tennis, well traveled, very humble, very engaging, and very fun to talk to. Needs to get in.

CARD: "{"member" ":"Charles [REDACTED]","bickeree":"","[REDACTED]","content":"","A+, all star, champion. [REDACTED] was one of the best bickers that I have had. She is incredibly smart and down to earth and I wish she and I could have talked for hours longer, we really could have. The time just flew by when I was talking to her. She wants to be in ivy because she feels like she will be back at home and comfortable when she can \"walk into breakfast and speak spanish with jose.\" When I asked her what her greatest accomplishment was she said she was most proud of the bonds she had made with other people during her time at princeton. I believe she will continue to do so as an ivy member. Paint her green. ","score":5}", CARD: "{"member" ":"Nicolas [REDACTED]","bickeree":"","[REDACTED]","content":"","Hands down favorite bicker. Genuinely interesting person with a TON to offer the conversation. From Chile, plays

"" , ""score"" : 5} " , , , , , , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Clayton

[REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] and I had a great conversation. She's chatty, outgoing and really easy to talk to. She's on the squash team and is actively involved with a couple different community service organizations here at school. She's bickering Ivy despite the majority of her team being in a different club and seems eager to branch out and meet more people. She was as interested in asking questions and hearing what I had to say as she was in talking about herself. I'm convinced she would be an active member and a strong addition to the club. "" , ""score"" : 5} " , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Ruben [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] is a very chill dude and Hannah Bauman's boyfriend. He was very genuine which led to a super easy conversation where he talked about his great interest for politics (worked on a campaign last summer) and the reasons why he wants to do ivy. I think that he's the kind of guy that could become friends with members that are not directly in his social group, which I find very cool. "" , ""score"" : 4} " , score"" : 4} " ,

CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Brett [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"" : ""Super energetic and animated, [REDACTED] was definitely a character and fun to talk to. He had great stories and answers for all of my questions, and we developed a quick and funny rapport. He told me of his most interesting tennis experience - alone in Bulgaria and unable to speak the language, his secret fear of heights, and of his not-so-secret allergy to red wine. Each story/answer kept the conversation going and was really funny and engaging. However, it was a bit hard to gauge how genuine it was, or whether it was a bit of an act for bicker. I'd love to have a more serious, down to earth conversation with him. Great that he's so enthusiastic, but also a little tiring. "" , ""score"" : 3} " ,

CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Gianna

[REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] and I started off great bonding over a video of Josh Groban singing Kanye West tweets, hilarious stuff. He was a sweet guy willing to tell me all his most embarrassing stories, of which there are plenty including one with MP himself. Although I liked our conversation it felt a bit forced at some points, almost like the conversation was superficial. Although he made me laugh at times, I had a hard time really getting to know him. Nice guy and I could be persuaded to give him an up but I'm going to give him a neutral. "" , ""score"" : 3} " ,

CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Achille [REDACTED] "" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED] "" , ""content"" : ""My conversation with jimmy had one high and many lows. I enjoyed our convo when we talked about our mutual love for Dwight from the Office. But then he would say things like \"I feel most at home when I'm in Whitman Lib w/ [REDACTED].\" Or imply that I must have had a \"rough upbringing\" because of the way I look. Or pander to me, upon hearing that I helped start the B.J.L. I'm pretty sure he has spoken to total of 2.5 black ppl in his entire life. I left the convo feeling the same way I felt after watching Hillary Clinton hit the whip on Ellen. Yikes. I was rooting for [REDACTED], we all were (Tyra included). Nice kid, but overall meh. "" , ""score"" : 2} " , , , , , ,

CARD: "{member": "Ruben [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Very chill, nice and interesting girl. We talked about her experience at a random village in China when she was in high school. Very easy to have a conversation with and very genuine. She will be great and an active member - hope she gets in", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Spencer [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Had a fantastic bicker with [REDACTED]. I think she would be an excellent fit for the club - she's doing it for the right reasons, was a lot of fun to talk to, and would get along really well with other members. The conversation flowed very nicely and she did a great job of balancing talking about her interests - which were all fascinating in their own right - integrating me into the conversation, and answering very tough questions with grace and ease. We talked, among other things, about her writing for Journal of Bioethics, her time visiting Japan, and her thoughts on growing up in Manhattan. I found myself learning something new on each topic and am happy to write her a strong up.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Brennan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I couldn't conceive of giving [REDACTED] any evaluation other than a 5. She was charming and charismatic, and answered all of my questions enthusiastically. I loved meeting her, and am confident that dinner table conversations with her will make this club a more enjoyable place for me. We talked about things of intrinsic value, as well as her independent exploration of religion in college despite atheist parents. I only ended the bicker out of consideration for her time, or else I would have loved to explore her thoughts for hours. She is extremely bright, thoughtful, and well spoken, and this club would be making a big mistake if we didn't offer her a bid. Paint her green.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Brett [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Talking to [REDACTED] was so lovely, it felt like I was just chatting with a friend over coffee as opposed to a bickeree. When asked how her friends would describe her, she answered \"loyal and determined...and I hope genuinely nice.\" And genuinely nice she was!! She's pre-med studying classics, so has a wide variety of interests and might study abroad in Greece or Italy. We talked about Donald Trump and speculated over his media presence, dying to ask why he tweets what he does, as well as her experience on the club volleyball team and in PFA, where she's found a super close community. She really emphasized how she loves the team/community vibe, so I think she'd be an active member for sure.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Charles [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a nice girl. We had a very pleasant conversation about her desire to practice as a Doctor. She is good at making conversation and recognized Stairway to Heaven by Led Zeppelin, which is a plus. She had some good answers to my questions - values honesty, self-deprecating humor and loyalty in people, all of which I agree with. The conversation was interesting, but sterile - I did not feel like I really got to know her. As such, I am neutral about this bicker. Nonetheless, I think she would turn up to the club and would be very happy for her to be a member.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Diego [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "The conversation with [REDACTED] was interesting, however we didn't quite hit it off. She is a classics major doing premed, however I wasn't really excited about our conversation. We talked about her experience at princeton, and I was a little surprised that her best story at princeton was going out with her roommate to cloister during her first frosh week. I felt like she was a little nervous and wasn't super eager about ivy, she didn't convey her enthusiasm when I asked her about her reasons for doing ivy, she just talked about meeting new people. I tried to be fun and outgoing trying to ask her funny questions, but she was very shy. """, ""score"":2}""",,,,,, CARD: "{""member"":""Jared [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was so great! I kind of brutally asked him about his bicker fears from the get go, and he opened up so genuinely and deeply - never needed to ask him \"Why Ivy?\" because it was so implicitly clear in the way he talked about his bicker feelings (no superficial \"I've loved every night every meal\" with no specific backup like so many people). He is the perfect blend of chill and charismatic, and I think this club would be foolish not to seriously consider him. Weird thing that might need to be thought about - he's technically studying abroad in Cambridge right now but is here all the time? Can't wait to have another conversation with him whether he gets in or not. """, ""score"":5}""", CARD: "{""member"":""Laura [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I had a great conversation with [REDACTED], who was very sweet and personable. I could see how some might see him as pretentious, when he mentioned his time at Eton and his childhood in various international locales. However, as we spoke more, he seemed like a very genuine kid who is open to new experiences and who develops meaningful relationships with his friends. I enjoyed hearing about his artistic grandmother and a hilarious story about a time he lost part of his earlobe in a drunken escapade. At first, I thought he seemed a bit out of place at Ivy, but he seems to know a lot of members and told genuine stories about formals, meals etc. Paint him green! """, ""score"":4}""", CARD: "{""member"":""Christian [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] expressed he's interested in bickering Ivy as a way to meet new people. As someone who did have a close group of friends that bickered, but whose friends largely joined other clubs, I sympathize with this sentiment. Unfortunately, I just don't think he's the type of kid who will be an active member, particularly as it relates to the club's social component. When asked how he likes to spend time with friends, [REDACTED] said \"just chilling\" and listening to music. I asked if he had any funny stories about himself; he responded with two anecdotes about others. If other he met felt differently about this aspect of [REDACTED]'s candidacy, I could be convinced that he'd make a fine member. """, ""score"":3}""", CARD: "{""member"":""Caroline [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was nice and we had a decent conversation, but I do not feel very strongly about him either way. He kept bringing the conversation back to things that he felt most comfortable talking about, which resulted in him giving me answers that felt a bit prepared. Whenever I tried to bring up new topics, I found that the conversation got a bit awkward and was pretty surface-level. I had a fine time talking to [REDACTED] - just did not feel totally convinced by our convo and didn't find that there was anything special about the bicker. """, ""score"":3}""", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Melissa [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"he was well-travelled and had interesting anecdotes to add, pleasant to talk to, scholarly but he didn't answer the questions very creatively. nothing really stood out with this guy. i could definitely be convinced to a higher score but felt like he's a little too nice and normal for this club. don't know what that says about this club but i like some quirkiness and spunk! \"\", \"score\" : 3} \", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Isabel [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I really wanted to be more enthusiastic about [REDACTED]. We have a ton in common (living in Hong Kong and London) and he made a great first impression. Unfortunately, I can't get very excited about him. Our conversation was fine but not at all memorable. He was quite low energy and didn't ask me many questions about Ivy or even about our mutual experience going to school in England. He was a very sweet guy but I just don't know if he would add anything particular to Ivy. I'm indifferent as to whether or not he becomes a member because he didn't stand out in our conversation but also seemed like a very nice guy. \"\", \"score\" : 3} \", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Julian [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Not very engaging conversations. I don't think he had much to say that was very genuine. I don't think I'd really enjoy sitting next to him at dinner. Wouldn't be a good fit for Ivy. \"\", \"score\" : 2} \",,,, CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Abigail [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is a potential physics/mol major from Nashville. She has a wide array of interests both in the arts and sciences and is very easy to talk to. Although she and I weren't necessarily clicking on all cylinders, I very much enjoyed my conversation with her and think many people in Ivy would find her an engaging and enjoyable member who would bring diverse interests to the club. I took [REDACTED] to labyrinth and asked her to recommend any book in the store. She chose 1984 but also expressed appreciation for F.Scott Fitzgerald. Take from that what you will. \"\", \"score\" : 3} \", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Nicolas [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Seemed nervous. Nice girl. She is from Nashville Tennessee! Sounds like a very serious pianist, would be cool to have another person who plays well in the club! Nothing particularly strikingly exciting about her personality, but very mellow vibes. \"\", \"score\" : 3} \", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Spencer [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is an interesting person that seems really passionate about what she does. I enjoyed learning about her time doing exchange in France (though her experience in Paris around the time of the Charlie Hebdo attack sounded harrowing). She's really committed to piano and science and has a clear idea of what she wants to do after school. However, we had some difficulty keeping the conversation going and she seemed a little timid about bickering/being more open. I think she is definitely the kind of person that would be more comfortable at meals and meeting members if given the opportunity, but in my opinion the conversation did not go well enough to give her a solid up. I'll defer to others that bickered her. \"\", \"score\" : 3} \",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"[REDACTED] Richards\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED]'s friendliness was what really stood out during my bicker with her. I could tell that she had a kind heart and would be genuine and open with everyone that she met. We talked about classes and I tried to progress the conversation further but found some difficulty as she wasn't really involved in anything on campus or have anything that she did besides her work. Conversation was difficult and I don't feel that I got to know her very well. This may easily have been down to nerves however. She wasn't my favourite bicker but she was a nice girl for sure.""", ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":""Katherine [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I am a little torn about what score to give. [REDACTED] was super quiet at first and I almost wanted to just call it a day after a few minutes, but she started to open up and was super sweet. She doesn't know any members in the club, so I feel like she may slip through the cracks, but she just seemed like such a genuinely nice girl. I'm not convinced by why she wants to do ivy, and do not feel like she really knows that much about the club, which makes me question why she's bickering--she told me that she liked how the club had tradition and history. I'm torn because I think she might be the sweetest girl I have bickered.""", ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":""Olivia [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""This girl was so sweet and very courteous. She is from Nashville and loves classical music. I think she was very shy and nervous and was a bit uncomfortable in a double bicker situation. I wasn't able to get to know her to well. She was really really lovely and a beautiful soul. """, ""score"":3}", CARD: "{""member"":""Jason [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""I really admire [REDACTED] for coming out to Ivy. She doesn't seem to have many friends in the club or bickering with her, but I have confidence that she's a cooler, more interesting person than initially let on. I think the fact that she isn't particularly outgoing or passionate hurts her in bicker, and overshadows what is probably a very interesting person. Bu she seemed very nervous, unwilling to be honest about her experience bickering and didn't really give me a sense of who she was and how she made friends outside of class. Highlight was seeing her speak with force about her dedication to curing pancreatic cancer (despite the odds) stemming from an afflicted family friend. Don't think she'd be a great fit.""", ""score"":2}", CARD: "{""member"":""Isabel [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was very shy and seemed quite uncomfortable in an interpersonal setting. She had never been to Ivy before and does not know any members, citing \"tradition\" as her reason for bickering. I wasn't really sure what she meant by this and she said she knew F. Scott Fitzgerald was in Ivy, which he was not. She didn't ask me any questions and the conversation was very stilted and awkward. She seemed like a sweet girl but not someone that I would want to sit next to at dinner or engage in conversation again. She said she very rarely went out to the street and did not envision being a presence at members' nights. Sweet girl but not someone I want in the club.""", ""score"":1}", CARD: "{""member"":""Jack [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]""", ""content"":""[REDACTED] was certainly sweet, but I had a terribly difficult time talking to her. Got mainly one-word answers and just could not keep up a conversation. She wants to Ivy because she has \"heard it is good and isn't familiar with other eating clubs,\" but she didn't seem to know anything about Ivy. I tried to keep the convo going, but after 10 minutes of consistent awkward silences and blank stares, I decided to call it quits. "" , ""score"":1} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Harry [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED]"" really struggled in our conversation. She didn't really have anything interesting to say, and wasn't engaging me in the conversation at all. Some of the funnier/tougher questions I asked she just said she couldn't answer. Not someone who would do well in Ivy. "" , ""score"":1} , ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Camila [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""PRATEEK WON MY HEART!! First person I was really excited about and looking forward to get to know if he joins. He doesn't seem super familiar with us but decided to bicker because he liked some members he met in his EGR class. Super personable and talkative. I feel like almost anyone would enjoy having a meal with him. I especially liked how honest he was in answering all of my questions even some that were challenging. One thing that struck me is that he was super optimistic and isn't afraid to go with his gut, for example he has changed his major 3 times because he's trying to find something he really loves and I think he'd embrace Ivy in the same way. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Folasade [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Bruh this kid was speaking to my heart! We were so similar. He is a 'go with the flow' kind of guy, similar to me, and describe his pre-college self as stupid, smart, and lucky. He was so honest and open with me and I really think he would be an awesome member and would try to meet a lot of people and be very involved. When asked 'why ivy?' he said honestly he didn't think too much about bicker but that he knew a few awesome people and that he just went for it. I think that is awesome he was so honest and he was so really great. At one point I was literally getting all the feels! Paint him green!!!"" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Brett [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""After a long night of conversations, [REDACTED] was such a breath of fresh air. I loved talking to him; the pace felt friendly and so comfortable. We talked about so many different things, from deep to silly, that I don't know where to begin. He has a great sense of humor and answered my questions with unconventional, thoughtful responses - creating the most outrageous and innovative 'life story' for me, describing his favorite spot on campus (Blair kitchen), and keeping the conversation going with witty anecdotes about growing up in India. I spent the whole conversation either nodding in agreement or laughing. He is just the kind of person Ivy needs - different, fun to talk to, and overall just an awesome person!"" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Clayton [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I had a good talk. He told me about his time growing up in India and his desire to go back to India upon graduation to make a difference in government. He's an interesting guy with a lot to say and is eager to ask questions. I almost gave him a 3 but decided on a 4 because I think he would be an active member and would be happy to sit next to him at a meal. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Caroline [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""When asked to describe himself in a couple words, [REDACTED] said 'spontaneous', 'understanding' and

'introverted'. As he continued to explain each of his qualities in detail, I gauged just how unique of a character [REDACTED] truly is. He is warm and bubbly but also likes to be alone and to think. [REDACTED] lit up when he spoke of his travels to West Africa. It was truly awe-inspiring to hear about his first plane ride to his home country, a plane ride that left such an impression on him (not only because the President of Liberia was onboard), but also because it marked his journey to discovering his heritage. Kind soul, would be a great fit for the club. Paint him green! """, ""score""":4}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Rebecca

[REDACTED]""", ""bickeree""":""[REDACTED]""", ""content""":""[REDACTED] was like a little burst of sunshine. He was endearing and in listening to him talk about his background and his passion for dance, I couldn't help but smile. He made me feel his passion and that's a wonderful quality to have. We didn't talk to much in depth about anything, but our conversation was light hearted and fun and I get the impression that that captures him as a person. Overall a very sweet guy and would be happy to have him. """, ""score""":4}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Fabian [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree""":""[REDACTED]""", ""content""":""[REDACTED] was good fun to talk to. Our conversation was natural and engaging. He seems passionate about life. I could imagine him being a good addition to the ivy community.""", ""score""":4}",,,,,, [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree""":""[REDACTED]""", ""content""":""[REDACTED] will make a great member; I would love to spend hours speaking with him over a meal. Originally from India, he has committed his life to improving his country. [REDACTED] has, I shit you not, written out his plans for how to improve the humanities programs in Indian colleges, but said he would not \"bore me with the details\". He wants to pursue entrepreneurship in the US after graduating, but eventually want to return to India to fight \"brain drain.\" [REDACTED] said he looks up to our in-house tech guru, Kris Kania. This card may make him sound \"nerdy,\" but I think he is more \"nerdy-cool,\" if that makes sense.""", ""score""":4}",,,,,, [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree""":""[REDACTED]""", ""content""":""[REDACTED] was an incredibly nice and intelligent girl. She kept on impressing me with all the classes she was taking as a sophomore and how involved she was on campus. However, although I found our conversation great I got the sense she wouldn't be that involved with the club. I could be wrong though.""", ""score""":4}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Tara [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree""":""[REDACTED]""", ""content""":""I had a good conversation with [REDACTED]. She was very nice and told me about her involvement with Model UN and about starting a club with a group of friends to reduce food waste from campus dining halls. When I asked \"Why Ivy?\" though she gave quite a general answer about liking the atmosphere and the people and didn't have an answer for one of her favorite nights out at Ivy. Overall the conversation flowed but I'm not entirely sure about her involvement with the club.""", ""score""":3}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Nicholas

CARD: "{""member" ":"Charles

CARD: "{""member" ":"Julia [REDACTED]""", ""bickeree""":""[REDACTED]""", ""content""":""I had an okay conversation with [REDACTED]. She told me about her experience growing up in China and adjusting to life in the States. But despite having common interests, I had a really hard time connecting with her.

She wasn't really trying to interact with me and was just waiting for me to throw questions at her. \r\n\n also had a hard time understanding why she wanted to be in club. She mentioned having a good friend here but couldn't tell me about any cool experience in particular she had in the club. I don't really see her bonding with other members, whether at meals or on a night out.""", "score": 2}, CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Cason [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"LOVE this girl. We totally bonded over our mutual love of Harry Potter (and our agreement that #4 was the best movie), but that was just the start. She's an active girl (squash!) and all that but was just seemed like a fun, natural fit for the club and always kept up an easygoing and interesting conversation that ranged from favorite books to pharma to stats. While normally I get a weird vibe from people who don't smile a lot, [REDACTED] won me over despite this and I got the sense that despite her sometimes stonier exterior she's a very warm and friendly person. Excited to give her a 5 and even more excited to welcome her to this club. WOOOOO!\", \"score\" : 5},

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Adam [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] was a great conversation. I double bickered her with Christian K and a girl named [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] dominated the conversation and [REDACTED] was very relaxed and did not try to match her. Basically she came out looking very composed and much more mature and comfortable. When we started speaking about serious topics she switched to a great debate mode and out argued us... She clearly has a fun side and a serious side and nailed the balance between the two. I would like to find myself next to her at dinner and think she would be a great addition to the club. \"\", \"score\" : 5},

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Benjamin [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Honestly great conversation, she's really into music which is an automatic up for me. Moreover she's not afraid of her own intelligence and embraces it to have good intuitions about society and the world. \"\", \"score\" : 5},

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Eduardo [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Whereas a lot of people try to pretend to be quirky because, let's be honest, being normal is boring, [REDACTED] is actually a strange cookie. But not the kind of strange cookies your aunt makes brings to the family reunion. She's the kind of strange cookies that you stumble into at the state fair, that look weird but taste great. But seriously. [REDACTED] is unabologetically herself, a trait she learned at Princeton through the guidance and tutelage of Gabrielle Garr. [REDACTED] plays SQUASH! When she is not nerding out over her favorite Harry Potter characters, or debating the relevant merits of the Gryffindor Slytherine debate, she can be found making make-up tutorial video. Her fall back if this whole college thing doesn't work out. \"\", \"score\" : 4},

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Jack [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] seems classic Greenwich - when we talked, she had just gotten off a phone interview with JPMorgan, she plays squash, and is poised in a way that reminded me of Gabby Garr after having taken 1/2 a Xanax. Despite her smiles, her answers seemed slightly rehearsed; she had interesting responses to my questions like 'would your younger self be proud of you now?' and 'where do you see yourself in 5 years?', but it seemed like she'd prepped a lot of her answers beforehand. Her drive and aspiration to succeed was pretty obvious, but I also think she has a fun spirit and we'd see her on nights out. I'd say this is a strong 3 but not a 4. "" , ""score"" : 3} " , , , , , , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Sophie [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Not a good fit for the club. Very shy and couldn't really get in a conversation. I asked her a ton of questions and she just didn't have a good answer. Not a fan at all - she should NOT be in ivy. As a person there is obviously nothing wrong with her, she seemed very sweet I just feel confident she is not right for the club. Far far far too quiet. "" , ""score"" : 2} " , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Alexander [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] seems nice, but I don't think she'd be a good addition to the club. She seemed shy/uncomfortable/awkward, wasn't very engaged in conversation and didn't provide answers to several of my questions (incl. Why not Ivy? / What's one thing you would change about the club and why?) , which made it seem like she hadn't really reflected on the experience she would have as a member. I would struggle to make conversation with her over a meal and she would not be fun on a night out. I asked her what her favorite dance move was and she said \"I don't really dance. I just stand in a corner with my friends and try not to look too awkward.\" "" , ""score"" : 1} " , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Antoine [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Realistically [REDACTED] would not be a good fit for Ivy. I tried so hard but I mean her fun fact is she has pet hedgehog and when I asked her about it she said \"yeah, so I had a pet hedgehog\" and just laughed for while... I mean, she had no favorite night out (honestly don't know if she ever went out at Princeton), no real reason for why ivy, I just don't know what drives this girl other than biology classes... she's also pre-med and said to me many times how busy she's been with that so I just can't see her being and active member. Our conversation was so awkward and one-sided... For her sake, don't let her in. "" , ""score"" : 1} " , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Cason [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was a very nice person but she's hands down not a good fit for this club. I'm not saying that in an insulting way, but it was apparent from our conversation that Ivy wasn't ideal for her. She is WAYYYY busy with Model UN, SIX classes (mol bio and pre-med!!!), and her other commitments, and I have MAJOR doubts about her ability to attend members events. She could only name 1 person in the club, and couldn't answer what her favorite Ivy night was. I always feel bad giving someone a down but this is NOT a reflection of her character. She is smart and sweet but she should join a different club. I will stand up for this strong down in discussions. Sorry. "" , ""score"" : 1} " , , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Elizabeth [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was extremely sweet and ready to open up and talk about what was most important to her. I feel like we connected both superficially and more deep down and I can see her being such a fun person to have in the club on both nights out and mealtimes (she's a huge breakfast fan, and would be a big help solving the NYT crossword). I think she'd add so much to the club with her approachability and warmth, and want other members of Ivy to get to know her too! "" , ""score"" : 5} " ,

CARD: "{member": "Krishan

[REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is really dope— we talked about her favorite Kanye albums and interests in ballet. She must be a great dancer because she's in both PUB and Bodyhype. She is fun loving and seems to be bickering ivy for the right reasons. She spoke enthusiastically about the idea of just hanging out on the club porch after lunch or dinner and shooting the shit with new face. She's been to the club before over meals and nights out and has always felt comfortable meeting new people. I very much hope she gets in.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "David [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was cool and nice and would be a good member of the club. She's big into dancing and was pretty passionate about that. I didn't connect super well with her but I wouldn't mind her in the club, she was sweet. She doesn't like the song \"Closer\" but she does like the song \"Caroline\" by Amine.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Diego [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seemed like a very nice girl. She dances in body hype and does ballet and the conversation was ok. I think she was a little bit to shy and we didn't quite hit it off with the conversation. She seemed super sweet, but I don't know if she would be a very good fit, cause she seemed a little awkward when I asked her about why doing ivy. Her reasons weren't super compelling and I'm not sure if she was completely sure that ivy is the place she wants to have meals and hangout.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Megan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I liked [REDACTED]. I asked her how she chooses music when she choreographs PUB/BodyHype dances and she says she actually texts her friends to see what they want to see be turned into a performance, which I think is awesome (it's kind of my dream to be asked that). She follows Derek [REDACTED] on Spotify and listened to his \"chill\" playlist all throughout finals (Derek also made me follow him on Spotify in PR, so I will be checking it out). I found it cool that she likes hip-hop and genuinely is very knowledgeable about it as well. I just don't feel that she was a strong conversationalist, and I felt like our interaction was somewhat one-sided. But can definitely be persuaded.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Leo [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I started out the conversation pretty weary of bicker, at 10:31pm, and the start of the conversation reflected that sluggishness. She was pleasantly engaging and I envisioned a \"2\" initially, because she was nice/friendly/interesting, but I was tired and cranky. However, luckily as we both suppressed a yawn and actually got into it, I discovered she was deeply fascinating, especially in her ballet expertise. She gave witty answers to my classic Ivy bicker \"funny\" questions, and she took the initiative to make me shake off my weariness and engage her back in conversation. Not having much in common, we nevertheless had a perfectly charming chat about mutual friends and her likes/dislikes about Ivy, which were honest and relatable. Could see her here.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Colleen [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "This one was rough... It was very difficult to keep a conversation going with [REDACTED]. And even though she seemed like a sweet girl, I can't imagine sitting next to her at an Ivy meal and having a deep or meaningful conversation. Her description of a night at Ivy was \"running around the back porch and looking for people to talk to\". I understand that sophs don't know many members, but people should be bickering Ivy because it's a fun club during the day and night, and because they love the membership (that they do know)-- not just because they've been to the club before. Her answer to \"why Ivy\" was a vague \"everyone seems so interesting\", and lacked any substance. Overall unimpressed.

\"\", \"score\":1}\",,,,,,

CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"George

[REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"Undoubtedly, [REDACTED] was one of the more outwardly vibrant bickerees I've ever had. That being said, he was also one of the more insightful bickerees I've ever had and he seemed to have a really honest and optimistic attitude toward the bicker process and the club in general. He never goes out but the questions he asked me about the club indicated that he had a genuine interest in finding a home at Ivy and developing a community. I think he would one of the more profound members of the club and would provide much-needed honesty and reflection to every conversation he had in the club. \"\", \"score\":5}\",

CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Caroline

[REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] epitomizes eccentricity. He's fabulous, bizarre and outgoing in all the right ways. While I was initially taken aback by his unusual choice of outfit (a bin-bag dress, garish makeup and jewelry), I warmed to his personality as conversation ensued. When asked what his ideal promposal would be, he told me he'd love to plan a creative scavenger hunt. He was bubbly and when pushed to ask more difficult questions he seemed to offer really original answers. While he doesn't know many people in the club, I'm sure anyone would enjoy dining with him. \"\", \"score\":4}\",

CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Folasade

[REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was very pleasant and we had a nice conversation. He asked questions about me, my experience in Ivy, and my experience at Princeton. He didn't seem to know a lot about Ivy, but he said he wanted to bicker to meet new people and because he felt most interested in Ivy as a club. I think he'd be a fine member but am not super passionate about him being a member, but he'd be fine. He was a very thoughtful person and a good conversationalist but I didn't feel a strong pull for wanting him to be a member. \"\", \"score\":3}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Samuel [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"A bold and impressive choice to come in drag. Really curious how others reacted. Was fun and engaging in the triple part of the triple bicker. Not afraid to get involved at all an admirable guy. Would have a blast in Ivy. Slightly hard to connect with but once I did I really enjoyed it. \"\", \"score\":3}\", [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was kind and genuine. We had a wonderful conversation about the nature of exclusive clubs and his perspective was very insightful. However, just because he is an incredible person does not mean he would be an incredible member. He doesn't seem to know much about Ivy or to even approve of an institution like Ivy. \"\", \"score\":2}\", CARD: {"member": "Olutobiloba

CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Gabrielle

[REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] seemed like an interesting guy but didnt have much to say unfortunately. He didn't seem fully engaged in our conversation and was relatively ambivalent about ivy overall. I don't think he will be very present in the club unfortunately.
", "score": 2},

CARD: {"member": "Vivian [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I really appreciated [REDACTED]'s intentions for bickering Ivy: trying to find new spaces on campus to fit in, new people to talk to. However, by virtue of his interests, I don't think he would be able to enjoy a lot of what Ivy has to offer because he does not drink, enjoy dark spaces (referencing dance floor). However, he can be a really personable person if you take the time to know him!", "score": 2},

CARD: {"member": "Peter [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a pretty mundane conversation with [REDACTED]. Judging from [REDACTED]'s manner of dress, I had anticipated that [REDACTED] would have some interesting things to say. On the contrary, I found it difficult to maintain conversation with [REDACTED], as [REDACTED] seemed shy and kept [REDACTED] answers short and open-ended. [REDACTED] does not know anything about Ivy other than a few anecdotes [REDACTED] heard through \"hearsay.\" While some might argue that [REDACTED] clothing style adds to [REDACTED] character, I would not. I contend that [REDACTED] would be a genuinely feeble addition to the club due to [REDACTED] lack of conversational skill and interpersonal awkwardness. ", "score": 1},,,

CARD: {"member": "Brennan
[REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was absolutely fantastic. Our conversation took an average start, but she really opened up as she became more comfortable with her interview. She's from Budapest, and was once ranked number one in the world at an online game about horses. She also told me about she's conducted independent social media experiments just because she's interested in observing how different people react to certain situations. I could easily see her sitting down with anybody at a meal and being a lovely contributor to discourse. She was engaging and asked probing follow up questions that took me by surprise in a refreshing way. By no means a homogenous bickeree, I'd love to see her join the club this spring. ", "score": 5},

CARD: {"member": "Camila
[REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] was really nice and happy. She said she was planning to go independent but decided she wanted to try to meet some new people which I appreciated. She didn't have a lot of questions though and didn't have a lot to say about herself. Mainly I was concerned bc she said she doesn't go out and she often doesn't have time to go to meals (in the dining halls) and that's the main reason she didn't go independent. ", "score": 2},

CARD: {"member": "Peyton
[REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is dope! I had such a great conversation with her. She seems very genuine and interesting and I know she would be a fantastic fit for this club. I happen to have a soft spot for anyone that is interested in Pokémon but she was able to show a wide range of interests and I can tell that she really thinks about the things that she's interested in. She's also the type that I feel would show up to the club often and be a contributing member. "" , ""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Christopher
[REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] seems like a friendly and entertaining person. She had some funny stories about an online horse breeding game and growing up in Budapest. I could see her being a good member of the club\r\n"" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Matthew
[REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is a cool girl with a pretty funky sense of humour. She would definitely bring a something new to the club that would be a refreshing presence at meals. She was unsuccessful in bickering last spring, but didn't seem phased by this in our conversation. I will say that I think there are people who want to be in Ivy more than her, but I don't think this would be a reason to deny her a place in the club. She also has a puppy on campus who she said she would bring to the club... can't really say no to that. "" , ""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member" ":"Visala [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I loved talking to [REDACTED]! She is kind, energetic, and sincere. She was really honest about bickering as a junior and not getting in. She said the conversations she had last year only made her want to bicker more this year. She spends so much time at the club and I can tell would be an awesome member. She has a very unique perspective having grown up in Budapest and doing Bridge year in china. I learned so much from her and could have kept speaking for much longer. I think anyone who would sit down at a meal with her would enjoy speaking with her! "" , ""score"":4} , , , , , , , CARD: "{""member" ":"Sara [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Such a gem! Right off the bat we got into one of the most stimulating, intellectual and real conversations I've had in a while. His ability to articulate his ideas, make powerful insights and support his claims with real-life examples was captivating! We began talking about his dynamic with his roommates, the implications of going to Princeton, the imposter syndrome and more. [REDACTED] expressed a deep thoughtfulness, true care for his best friends and highly respectable values. I loved him! A big reason he wants to join Ivy is to meet more people that share his interest in fiction and writing. [REDACTED] is extraordinarily creative, intelligent AND super outgoing-- the perfect candidate to sit next to at meals and mingle w during member's nights. PAINTGREENNOW"" , ""score"":5}", CARD: "{""member" ":"Nina [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] and I spoke for an hour and could have gone on for much longer. He's crazy smart and had really cool ideas about literature and its role in society (we talked about this for like 40mins). I had a great conversation with him and could imagine him being endlessly engaging at dinner. Honestly just a great guy who I absolutely want in the club. Very impressed by the way he defended his views and his sensitivity in expressing opinions. One of the most interesting conversations I've had in a long time. "" , ""score"":5}", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Lyon [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is an inquisitive soul and we covered our mutual interests in basketball and Tarantino films. He carried the conversation well, was well engaged and was able to back up his bold claims on Lebron and Pulp Fiction. Rolled with the punches and provided witty insight along the way. I welcome his possible addition to the club. \"\", \"score\" : 4} \", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Laura [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"I am incredibly torn about my opinion of [REDACTED]. On one hand, we had the best conversation I have had all week– and probably all school year. He is impeccably insightful and has a ridiculous vocabulary. We talked about everything from the intellectual nature of nonacademic reading to the essence of cynicism versus genuineness. He had a sold three-pronged answer for why Ivy which incorporated both his sophomore friendships and the potential for a plethora of new friendships. His Ivy-related concerns/questions were very insightful. On the other hand, he was overly intense, somewhat awkward, and openly admitted being very choosy with his friendships. I can't see him getting along with the entire membership– or even half. But we do need more people like him... \"\", \"score\" : 4} \",,,,,, CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Jared [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] seemed like a solidly genuine guy - really excited to have a conversation, and his positive energy was impressive. A lot of diverse interests (spring football RIP, Usg, asian-american association), and he seemed to be bickering out of a real interest in meeting new kinds of people. His fact, 'surprisingly good at chugging beer,' however, seemed to be listed for the show of it, and he wasn't really able to talk about this in a meaningful way whatsoever. \"\", \"score\" : 4} \", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Antoine [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"Overall, I got a great impression of [REDACTED]. He was very genuine and we had an interesting conversation about his sprint football experience (he lost 36lbs) to be able to play. He's a SHARE peer and will be an RCA, and he gave me great reasons why he's doing it. He seemed very interested in ivy and meeting new people. Only reservation that I'm not convinced he'd come out at all because he had a pretty brutal best night out story and said he hadn't gone out before dean's date this year, which isn't necessarily a minus, I'm just trying to paint a full picture. \"\", \"score\" : 4} \", CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Barbara [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"nick was great! We hit it off immediately talking about cooking and family and oddly had pretty much the same perspective about everything we talked about which made the conversation super fun and natural. He's a SJW (student justice warrior) and is really pationate about equality on campus. He clearly wants to give the campus all he can and seems passionate and genuine about it. He said all of his friends are telling him to bicker elsewhere :(but we gotta paint this kid green. He would add energy to the club and be amazing to talk to at meals. He seems very happy which I liked. Also this is verging on a 5\", \"score\" : 4} \",

CARD: "{ \"member\" : \"Thomas [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\" : \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\" : \"[REDACTED] is a genuinely nice guy and we had a very natural conversation. He's bickering ivy knowing only a couple of members and wants to meet a new group of people. He was a little awkward answering my questions and it's clear he hasn't really come out on ivy night outs or engaged with members particularly. Good guy but perhaps not the most inspiring convo"" , ""score"":3}" ,

CARD: "{""member"" :""Adam [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""We walked to Frist and back and he never really settled down into the conversation... he seemed very on edge. He did not seem very enthusiastic about Ivy. We ran into a bunch of Cap people who he seemed to be best friends with. They all seemed very surprised when he said he was bickering Ivy as well as Cap. He hesitated a bit to say he was bickering ivy....not sure if I am allowed to include that detail. Seems like a perfectly nice guy, but, to be honest, if the starting point is a \"3,\" he made a slight bad impression. "" , ""score"":2}" ,

CARD: "{""member"" :""Olutobiloba [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a kool kat. She was lively throughout our conversation and was unphased even when I asked some of the weirder questions I could think of. We talked at length about her family and brother and why she's trying to get more involved in mental health awareness initiatives. She was also woke which you gotta appreciate. I think she'd be an active member. "" , ""score"":4}" ,

CARD: "{""member"" :""Paul [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I really enjoyed my bicker with [REDACTED]. She's originally from LA and is a member of the track team here, and she comes across as a super genuine and energetic person. Was fun learning about the youtube tv show she starred in during the summer before she started at Princeton. She seemed interested in getting to know me throughout our bicker which conveyed to me her interest in the club and its members. "" , ""score"":4}" ,

CARD: "{""member"" :""Justine [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I feel a little ambivalent about [REDACTED]. She was very energetic and the conversation flowed easily, but at times I got the impression she was a little basic and would not necessarily get along with most of the club. She is very passionate about mental health and seems to be a generous person, I definitely would not mind sitting next to her at dinner but she seemed to be playing it a little too safe - saying what she thought I wanted to hear instead of what she really thought. "" , ""score"":3}" ,,,,,, CARD: "{""member"" :""Paul [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a terrific bicker. She was extremely enthusiastic and fun to talk to; I never felt like I had to come up with more questions to keep the conversation going as she always had smart and interesting things to say. Enjoyed learning about her experience as a walk-on on the squash team and her feud with her brother's ex-girlfriend. Ovreall just one of those people that you'd be excited to sit next to at a meal. I think we'd be really lucky to have her in the club. "" , ""score"":5}" ,

CARD: "{""member"" :""Chandler [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was stellar. Manuel and I double bickered her, and [REDACTED] both glowed immediately on her own and brought the best out in the other bickeree. She couldn't have been easier to talk to, and I'd be shocked if her other bickers disagree. She was up-beat and still funny, positive and warm but still witty, and constantly down to earth. She made up Manuel's life story entertainingly, taught me all about the city my grandma is from in Australia (where she spent last summer), and was confident disagreeing with the other bickeree on a brainteaser. She had probably the best and most heartfelt answer I've heard to \"Why Ivy.\" Would love to sit next to her at a meal.\"\", \"score\":5}\", [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was such a gem - what a nice surprise! We had such a long conversation about the meaning of life, how people change over time, and about how we have seen ourselves grow and change as people since coming to Princeton. He was very enthusiastic and had a lot to say and the conversation flowed very smoothly and naturally. I think he would be great to talk to at meals and he said he likes the intellectual diversity at Ivy and the chill vibes on a night out. [REDACTED] was super thoughtful and had a lot of energy which helped keep me pumped for bicker. Paint him green! \"\", \"score\":4}\",

CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Folasade

CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Furman

[REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was cool because she didn't try to say or do too much, and because she didn't drop the fact that she knows GGarr and LBerger until the end of the conversation, when I forced her hand by asking her about Ivy. She also gave an original answer to that question in talking about people in the club being confident in themselves. This answer stuck out because [REDACTED]'s own self-assuredness was my favorite thing about her--she knows, for example, that she wants to do both Woody Woo and pre-med, even though it doesn't really make sense to take on so much while also being a varsity athlete. [REDACTED] appears grossly unaware that most in the club are really damn insecure, but get her in anyway.\"\", \"score\":4}\",

CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \" John [REDACTED] \"\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] is a chill dude. He's the kinda guy you can drink beers and watch football with. Now I don't watch football but I know a lot of guys who do and they're good guys. He was also the first person to comment on the haus disco music playing on the d floor. Bout time someone mentioned it. He's Latinx too. Big plus. Anyways, He crosses me as the kind of guy who'd be around ivy all the time. Crushing meals, definitely going out all the time. Also just seems like a high quality lad. would certainly bring something to the table\"\", \"score\":4}\", CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Nina [REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"I thought rodrigo was a really nice kid who seemed super friendly and keen. I enjoyed talking to him and heard a funny story about him getting out of a speeding ticket in a funny original way. We talked about his favourite books and his experience growing up in the south as a Peruvian-Italian. The conversation was pleasant but a touch lackluster. \"\", \"score\":3}\",

CARD: \"{ \"member\" \"\": \"Folasade

[REDACTED]\", \"bickeree\": \"[REDACTED]\", \"content\": \"[REDACTED] was a chill dude. He was pretty funny and was very chill and was honest. We talked about Princeton and what he liked most about it and he said he was pleasantly surprised about the party life because when he first visited, he thought Princeton was turned down. Even though this is a 3, this is really a 3.5. \"\", \"score\":3}\",,,,,, CARD: "{member": "Adnan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED]" is a very sweet, talkative, confident and all round great girl who grew up in LA and whose heritage lies in Spain and the Phillipines. We talked a lot about her interests in dance and photography and we connected over these topics, despite myself not knowing a lot about either one, which I think speaks volumes about her empathetic nature. Her philosophy on life was centred around kindness and, although this might be considered a slightly cheesy answer, I could really see in her eyes that she was being completely genuine. I would be delighted to eat breakfast, lunch and dinner every day of the week with [REDACTED] and I would highly recommend that we give her a spot in Ivy.", "score": 5}, CARD: "{member": "Thomas [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED]" seems like a lovely girl. I feel bad because I suggested playing pool and it turns out she has never played before... However the fact that she went along with it without complaints and was very relaxed about the whole thing says a lot about her I think. She is very easy going and had plenty of interesting things to say about a range of topics. I also think that the fact that she was part of the opening credits sound effects was pretty cool! This could easily have been a 5 to be honest, the only reason it's not is bc nat said not to give 5's out just bc I was feeling nice.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Emilio [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a nice and easy conversation with [REDACTED]. I can tell she's extremely talented at dancing and photography, but she's very low key about it, which is awesome. She may come across as shy but she has a good amount of stories she'll say once she gets a little bit more comfortable. She'll definitely make an effort to meet people she doesn't know in the club and would make for a great member.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Rachel [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "What I loved most about [REDACTED] is how down to earth she is. She was easy to talk to and made it a really natural conversation, sharing funny stories about herself and asking me a lot of questions as well. She seemed to strike the perfect balance between being very engaged and having a super laid back vibe. [REDACTED] is a dancer and is actually considering pursuing a career as a professional dancer after graduation, and it was wonderful to hear her open up about this passion. My only small concern would be that [REDACTED] seems to be on the quieter side so she may not be the first to strike up a conversation, but I don't think this should be held against her!!", "score": 4}, CARD: "{member": "Manuel [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED]" is a little bit shy, and when we started our conversation she was a little bit reluctant. But eventually we started talking about dance, which she's really passionate about, and I could tell that she's really interesting and smart – she talked about the differences and similarities between choreographing a dance piece and writing a story, which I thought was really interesting. I think she would be a really cool addition to the club.", "score": 4},,,,,, CARD: "{member": "Elizabeth [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "When I asked [REDACTED] what he thought was the most important thing to know about him, I was stunned when he answered with such simple, quiet openness that he wanted me to know he was an introvert. I am so touched that he felt he could share this with me, along with stories of his struggle adjusting to a campus seemingly full of extroverts, especially considering that I self identify as a hermit woman as well. We talked about a lot-- sports and family and he taught me to speak gibberish-- but mostly about he thinks of Ivy as a place where he can thrive because of the value it places on one-on-one relationships. Haven't met anyone like him and he'd be a great member. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"David [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] is a really cool guy who would fit in really well with Ivy. He seems to know a bunch of older ivy guys really well and fits in well with them. He's interesting and a great conversationalist. I think he would be fun on nights out and even more fun to talk to at meals."" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Elizabeth [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""I really enjoyed getting to know [REDACTED]. He is a Woody Woo major from NYC who is interested in education reform and law. He loves to travel, and he shared great stories from his adventures in Chiang Mai (painting and playing darts with elephants), Berlin (wild nightclubs), and New Zealand (dope fjords). He was a little reserved, but once he got comfortable we hit it off and had a great conversation. I think he would be a very good fit for the club, and he said himself that he would love to be a part of this community and be an active member. I am a big fan! "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Benjamin [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Pretty unimpressive fun fact. Otherwise an awesome dude who we definitely need in this club. Great broomball material, which is super important considering we are losing some heavy hitters this year (club hockey). Conversation was flowing great as if we had already been friends throughout college, someone who could sit down next to anyone and immediately bond with. Would be a shame not to let him in!"" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Serena [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] has some seriously amazing travel experiences and impressed me with his reasoning for becoming a vegetarian. He expressed that consumers can support industries with every dollar spent and I think this is a valid point. Also, unlike many of the other people bickering, he didn't seem to know that many people in the club but was genuinely looking to branch out from his frat's affiliation. Easy conversation, great potential member!"" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Sara [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Cutieeeeeeeee!!!!!! Nice smiles and smelled good. I think those are important things. He was relaxedness in conversation and allowed for it to carry, which confirmed his easy goingness. [REDACTED] was recruited for crew but because of interesting theories he explained to me about its culture and couch, he decided to quit and join rugby. He came off extremely thoughtful, calm and friendly. Got really good vibes from him and would love to continue our conversation at... drum roll ... a meal. He has a very curious and open mind that I think MANY of our members would love and appreciate. Paint him green!!! "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{member": "Brennan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "I had a decent conversation with [REDACTED]. He told me he was in a hurry to get bicker over with and thanked me that our bicker was short, because he had a lot to do. When asked 1 thing I needed to know about him he told me he was super stubborn, which was a bizarre selection of attribute. Finally, when asked what he wanted to do after college, he said 'I don't really wanna work, like I just don't wanna be hired by anybody.' Nothing he said was egregious, and it's possible we just didn't connect, but I was not particularly enthused.", "score": 3},

CARD: "{member": "Thomas [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is a super cool dude who I would probably wanna hang out with. It seemed pretty clear to me, however, that he doesn't care about this club at all. He was almost bragging to me about how he barely signed up for ivy bicker on time and couldn't answer some of my questions (one of which was because he only knew one girl in ivy and only crew guys in cottage). Ivy is very much a #2 choice for him and I would rather someone who actually likes ivy to get in. He got a 2 and not a 1 because he's a chill guy but not right for this club I don't think", "score": 2},

CARD: "{member": "Justine [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Ouch. If we still had interests this guy would have 'travel'. There were many things that put me off about [REDACTED], his lack of eye contact and a general cockiness, the fact that his reason for bickering Ivy was 'I know tons of people in Cottage. I didn't want to do that', but seriously I felt like all he could talk about was his traveling. His dream job? He'd rather not have one and just be rich. He had really cool stories from the people he met while traveling, but it didn't seem like he had many of his own. Weird vibes. He brought soccer balls to Myanmar (he'll insist it's Burma) for kids to play with, very noble but boy was he proud.", "score": 2},,,,,, CARD: "{member": "Adam [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] is awesome. He is really nice, easy to talk to. He is exactly the kind of guy you want to sit next to at dinner. It seems he can speak intelligently about any topic and really engaged with my questions. This was one of those conversations that feels nothing like an interview - after half an hour with him, I felt like we had been friends for years. No concerns at all about how good a member he would be. Please let him in.", "score": 5},

CARD: "{member": "Nicholas [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "[REDACTED] will make a kind member. A varsity Squash player, [REDACTED] spoke a lot about his Pakistani family in the US and the UK for a while. He was very articulate and knowledgeable when he spoke about the various Pakistani communities around the world. [REDACTED] was also quite easy-going (he even agreed to walk to the slums with me as I did my laundry). I doubt [REDACTED] will be a Conner [REDACTED]-esque savage, but I would enjoy sitting next to him at a meal.", "score": 4},

CARD: "{member": "Liting [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Hot voice. Great eyebrows. Enhanced by great conversationalist. So fun to talk to. Fluent in French. Has been to Pakistan a bunch. Family is a minority's sect of Islam that is very interesting to learn about. Also wakes onto squash as a sophomore! So brace and I really respect decision. Says he loves being the butt of jokes and loves banter, great for ivy. I think everyone would love to sit and talk w this kid. Also could see him enjoying all aspects of life here. Go hamza"" ,""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"" :""Paul [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] was fun to talk to. he seems like a chill and easy-going guy who would be fun to have around in the club. guessed that my reputation on campus was one of an international fashionista, so i can't not like him. "" ,""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"" :""Lydia [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""I enjoyed my convo with [REDACTED]. We talked about how he walked onto the squash team as a sophomore, his Pakistani background and how it affects his feelings in regards to Trump's immigration orders, my fave q about little houses vs. big houses. Sometimes I felt like he was presenting things to me rather than having a conversation and I wasn't sure how much he listened to what I said or engaged with what I said. I was his second bicker though so that may play a role. Side note, he has a great smile!"" ,""score"":3}",,,,,, CARD: "{""member"" :""Jason [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] is fun! She'd be part of the breakfast crew which is a major plus (and claims to get up as early as Gabs.) She'd fit right in with the club -- knows a lot of people but is visibly eager to get to meet more. She's genuine, funny but not afraid to be vulnerable. I was really impressed at how candid her answers were (she's most terrified to be bickered by @Tash) and also at how she rolled with the punches (we went and met Tash.) Fun fact: she's swum at the Crane's house even though she doesn't know David or Cason. I know she'd make the most of her membership here and we'd be lucky to have her. Great time with ChaiTea. "" ,""score"":5}",

CARD: "{""member"" :""Liting [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""So bubbly!! So energetic! Whole family loves water slides! Thinks Tiggy is the coolest! May need to wear a permanent helmet because she's had 4 concussions! Loved talking to her. At first i thought she was just nervous or high strung but realized she is jsut so bubbly and loves to converse with others. She also had me laughing quite a bit, like when she told me she would love a helmet with a blonde pony tail. Would be such a joyful addition! I would love to talk more w her and laugh all the time. Yay"" ,""score"":4}",

CARD: "{""member"" :""Manuel [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] is a really nice girl and she's really excited to join. She told me about one dinner she had here where she got separated from Sassi, who she was supposed to eat with, but ended up just having a great conversation with the members she didn't know. I think she was a little nervous so it took a little while to get her talking, but that's normal, so I think she'll be a great member. "" ,""score"":4}", CARD: "{""member"" :""Krishan [REDACTED]"" ,""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" ,""content"":""[REDACTED] would be a really interesting and quirky addition to the club. I found her to be very engaging, asking me as many questions as I was asking her. That was certainly refreshing. She plays on varsity squash, has done a 28 day backpacking trip around Alaska, will be living in Jaipur, India this summer (props to her for going out there), and dreams to one day work at the World Food Program (a subsidiary of the UN). We bonded over having old ass parents. "" , ""score"" : 4 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Christian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""While friendly and quite enthusiastic, [REDACTED] was, at times, a bit too excited and overpowering. When discussing water parks, [REDACTED] demonstrated her energy by launching into a several minute account of her family visiting one in Wisconsin. Her eagerness was simultaneously endearing and slightly uncomfortable. She is completely friendly, so I am certainly not opposed to her gaining entry to the club, but cannot explicitly advocate for her admission as there was nothing to separate or differentiate her from others I have bickered. "" , ""score"" : 3 } "" , , , , , , , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Benjamin [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""This girl is awesome. She was super friendly and genuinely interested in our conversation, which soon led to a game of team pool where we kicked David [REDACTED]'s ass. The conversation was full of friendly bicker (no pun intended) and funny remarks. She's a girl I'd love to have a meal with and hang around the club after. This girl would make a superb ivy member!!"" , ""score"" : 5 } , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Matthew [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] was an absolute delight to bicker - she seemed very comfortable and had a great sense of humor. I am confident that she would fit in well with everyone at Ivy and would be great company in and around the club. She is a very talented tennis player but has ambitions beyond the realm of tennis, something that I value very highly. [REDACTED] was very down-to-earth, modest, and funny - exactly the kind of person that would light up not just members nights but also the general ambiance of the club. She was very receptive to my words and is both a good listener and a talker - she should absolute be a member. "" , ""score"" : 5 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Charles [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""A+, all star, champion. [REDACTED] was one of the best bickers that I have had. She is incredibly smart and down to earth and I wish she and I could have talked for hours longer, we really could have. The time just flew by when I was talking to her. She wants to be in ivy because she feels like she will be back at home and comfortable when she can \"walk into breakfast and speak spanish with jose.\" When I asked her what her greatest accomplishment was she said she was most proud of the bonds she had made with other people during her time at princeton. I believe she will continue to do so as an ivy member. Paint her green. "" , ""score"" : 5 } ,

CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Nicolas [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""Hands down favorite bicker. Genuinely interesting person with a TON to offer the conversation. From Chile, plays tennis, well traveled, very humble, very engaging, and very fun to talk to. Needs to get in. "" , ""score"" : 5 } "" , , , , , CARD: "{ ""member" " : ""Clayton [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""[REDACTED] and I had a great conversation. She's chatty, outgoing and really easy to talk to. She's on the squash team and is actively involved with a couple different community service organizations here at school. She's bickering Ivy despite the majority of her team being in a different club and seems eager to branch out and meet more people. She was as interested in asking questions and hearing what I had to say as she was in talking about herself. I'm convinced she would be an active member and a strong addition to the club. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Harry [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] was really easy to talk to. She's involved in a ridiculous amount of things on campus, including the beekeeping club which is sweet. Also on the squash team and involved in the farmers market club. Serious breadth of interests. She should be in the club, really nice and wants Ivy for the right reasons. "" , ""score"":5} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Lyon [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""Wow. I really did not think we were going to go so far in depth but she did a great job of taking very mundane things like extracurricular commitments and highschool to weaving a vivid and very interesting story. She was also very attentive and open to meeting new people and being the person that can care for and be there for people in any capacity. Overall, she is a great teammate, daughter, friend, and bickeree as well. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Christian [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""Gregarious and affable, [REDACTED] was natural and fun to talk to. Her enthusiasm was infectious as she described spending time on a crab fishing boat in Maine, showed me the \"finsta\" she keeps of dishes she has made, and told me about her squash playing. She made an effort to relate her interests to mine, and expressed curiosity about my activities. Throughout the conversation she had an energy that drove the bicker and made it exciting. [REDACTED] seems like a person that would inject positivity into someone's day. "" , ""score"":4} ,

CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Folasade [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""[REDACTED] is awesome! She's from Chicago so of course I already like her because of that! She is interested in working in the fashion industry after college and is an art history major. She is so mature and our conversation was natural and flowed so great. I want to genuinely get to know this girl more! She's so cool and can dress well and is super open and brings a fresh energy to Ivy that we need. I think she would be a great member and said she wants to be in Ivy because she wants to be in a club where not only do people come to eat and go out to the street but are deeply invested in it. Paint her green!"" , ""score"":5} , CARD: "{ ""member" : ""Charles [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"": ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"": ""This girl is fucking awesome. Best bicker. I challenge anyone not to have a smile on their face when talking to her. Couldn't even ask tough questions because she made me laugh so much. Her energy and enthusiasm is incredibly infectious. A bit like Folasade. She loves fashion design and styling and freely criticized my style. Apparently my shirt is boring and my socks don't match my shoes - what brutal honesty. Great stuff. She will be here at every meal and every member's night. More importantly, she is the kind of person that everyone wants to sit next to. This girl has to be an ivy member. Cannot imagine a boring moment in her company. "" , ""score"":5}", CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Elizabeth [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""This girl was awesome. I don't think I have ever met someone as bubbly or vibrant. [REDACTED] had a huge smile throughout our whole conversation, and though at first I was wary that her sweetness might be fake, I realized that she was just genuinely excited to talk about her many passions and interests (modernist art, high fashion and design, travel, fried foods, Chinese language and culture, all things ~aesthetic~). I wanted to smush her she was so cute, and I left the conversation feeling revived after a long day of bicker. [REDACTED] seemed to be a bit personally conflicted about doing a bicker club (vs a sign in), but it seemed like she was enthusiastic about the club and getting to know new members."" , ""score"":4}" , CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Sara [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""It was super interesting to hear about [REDACTED]'s interest in language, art, and fashion. She gave the best answer for my question about making up your own Ivy theme night that I've got so far, so that was really great. I think she seemed a little jittery/nervous, which is totally fine, but at times our conversation felt a bit forced. I definitely feel really ambivalent about this card because I think she would be such a fun addition to the club--she has amazing stories and seems to have real passions--but I'm not sure if her enthusiasm was super genuine, and I didn't feel that we exactly hit it off. "" , ""score"":3}" , CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Olivia [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""Curly hair and a beautiful smile. This girl will easily add her poise to the Ivy Club. [REDACTED] always looks effortlessly put together. Not only is she a daring and sophisticated stylist, but also a girl ready to embrace new adventures and new people. I don't know of anyone else who is so easily able to be herself with everyone she meets. She is a ray of sunshine that you can't help but dance like crazy with. Apart from her unique aura and sparkle, [REDACTED] is a global babe. She speaks Mandarin and has had some crazy experiences abroad. Just ask her about them. [REDACTED] would be a fundamental presence at Ivy because she spreads so much joy and goofiness, would come to every meal and go all out on members nights. Fun fact: she was an actress on Prison Break. What's not to love. Paint this girl green.\r\n ""}" , , , , , , , , CARD: "{ ""member" ":"Haryuni [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"":""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"":""[REDACTED] was a fantastic bicker. She was super friendly and had a great attitude. I did a double bicker and made her enact what she would do if she were to aggressively hit on a guy on the TI dance floor, and she gave a stellar performance. [REDACTED] was also really interesting, she surfs, skates, is on the lacrosse team and is a huge environmentalist (part of two green clubs on campus) so she would definitely make this club sustainable (it's time that our 'sustainability chair' is given to a TRUE environmentalist (AHM KATZENSTEIN). [REDACTED] gave very good reasons for why she wants to do ivy (e.g. expand her social circle outside of the athletic ones, finds ivy inclusive despite of its reputation etc). PAINTHERGREEN!"" , ""score"":5}" , CARD: "{member": "Michael [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "It was awesome getting to know [REDACTED]. Incredibly easy to talk to and connect with. She was very engaging and asked great questions sparking some interesting conversations. After talking with [REDACTED] for only 45 minutes, it feels like we've already been friends for a long time. She wants to join Ivy to expand her circles and have a space and community for intellectual stimulating conversations and to get away from the athletic bubble of the Lacrosse team. She'd be an awesome addition to the club, and I think anyone who meets her would agree. Definitely someone I would get a meal with and want to know better. ", "score": 5}", CARD: "{member": "Jordan [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "[REDACTED]", "content": "Huge fan of this girl. I was her first bicker and she seemed super comfortable and confident right off the bat. She said she debated joining a club at all and was actually super honest about why and said that the reputation of the club is something that worries her but she knows a lot of juniors and sophomores who defy the stereotype and she would hope to do the same. She had a lot to say about every topic we covered, and i would love to be sitting next to her at a meal in the future. ", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Christian [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "Spencer Anton", "content": "My conversation with Spencer flowed smoothly aside from the bathroom break I took 20 minutes in. He's grown up playing squash, and was devastated when an injury sidelined him for the second half of last season. He made me laugh a few times, particularly when he recounted Gabs' post-match antics. He'll definitely make for an extremely social member of the club. The only thing that gave me pause during our conversation was that Spencer claimed joining Ivy would be a change of pace for him coming from Men's Squash, but also said that the majority of his friends were bickering. He did say he has had trouble branching out in the past, and I hope he doesn't get comfortable when he's a member. ", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Sara [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "Spencer Anton", "content": "I enjoyed talking to Spencer! Our conversation went well, and he seemed really down-to-earth and personable, which I felt was refreshing after a few bickers that felt kind of forced. I enjoyed hearing him talk about running a marathon in Athens, and he genuinely seems like someone I'd be able to get along well with outside of bicker. For once someone who majors in Econ but actually has an interest that isn't finance! Honestly, that alone was pretty great. I think he'd be an active member and seems genuinely interested in Ivy. ", "score": 4}", CARD: "{member": "Julia [REDACTED]", "bickeree": "Spencer Anton", "content": "I liked talking to Spencer a lot. We chatted about our shared love for running. Interestingly, he ran the Athens Marathon on the 2500th anniversary. He also educated me on some of the rules of squash, which I know absolutely nothing about lol. He was a little bit shy at first, but warmed up quickly. He was a good sport even though my voice is lost and I was clearly very tired. Spencer said he likes Ivy because he thinks the community is welcoming and eclectic. He thinks the bicker process speaks volumes about the personality of the club: that people want to get to know new people. I think Spencer would be a great fit for Ivy. ", "score": 4}",

CARD: "{""member" ":" Jack [REDACTED]"" , ""bickeree"" : ""[REDACTED]"" , ""content"" : ""My conversation with [REDACTED] really never got off the ground - I found myself asking question after question because her answers were so abbreviated and didn't really give me a sense of what she was interested in, or that she was very engaged in talking with me. I think I asked her some variation of what she was passionate about / interested in / liked doing about three times and I still couldn't really tell you what that is. She doesn't seem to know many people in the club, and her answer for \"why ivy\" centered around the fact that it was a 'cohesive unit' that she currently didn't have in her life. Um, join the band? Idk happy to reconsider if others feel strongly. "" , ""score"" : 2}"" ,,, ,,,

*“Hope is the thing with feathers,
That perches in the soul,
And sings the tune without the words,
And never stops, at all.”*